Modern Market Is One of 4 Stores Operated by Grocer

Art Stiffler Manages Sullivant Avenue Store; Efficient Clerks

Everything is in readiness this morning for the formal opening of Gregg's market, 2697 Sullivant-av, following complete remodeling of the store. Twenty-five baskets of groceries and other merchandise prizes totaling more than $125 in value are being given at intervals throughout Friday and Saturday. Tickets given to each customer will be used in the drawing.

Under the management of Art Stiffler, 399 S. Eureka-av, this modern market has been completely rearranged with new store fixtures of the latest design installed. It is one of four stores operated by W. F. Gregg, a Columbus grocer of many years experience. Other stores are located at 2081 N. High-st, 237 King-av, and 2500 Summit-st. The policy at each of the markets is "prices at a saving level to the consumer."

All employees of the store are Hilltop residents. Stiffler was formerly employed on the Hilltop but went to another part of the city for employment. He has been connected with the grocery business all his life. He is a member of the Westgate Blue lodge and the Junior chamber of commerce. Other employees are Wick Pennington, Robert Whetstone and Hugh Parker.

Additional help will be on hand for the opening. The store will be kept open until 9 p. m., today and until 10 p. m., Saturday. All prize winners will be notified and it will not be necessary for the ticket holder to be present to claim his prize.

Included in the prize list will be two complete Birdseye dinners for four persons. Special demonstrations will be conducted on Treesweet orange juice, V-8 vegetable cocktail and Feiber's toasts and jelly. Special sales will be held on Fels soaps and Boscul products.

Space for parking 20 cars is available in back of the store at all times.

Massive food displays have been arranged throughout the store, all in easy reach of the customer. Every item and display rack is priced and clearly labeled. More than 2,100 items are stocked in the store. Many prices have been reduced for every day sale under the new store management. Increased volume of sales makes this policy possible.

Noble Allen Is Veteran Hilltopper

Noble Allen, 2586 W. Broad-st, veteran Hilltop funeral director, is a lifetime resident of the Hilltop. Born in Jackson, he was brought to Columbus before he could scarcely walk, and has been here ever since.

Noble attended West Broad-st school, Highland-av school and West High school before going to Ohio State university. He then graduated from the University of Cincinnati. Later he graduated from the Cincinnati College of Embalming. He served his apprenticeship in Cleveland.

He was a member of West high's track team, running on the cross-country squad. He is now serving his second consecutive year as president of the West High school PTA.

Mr. Allen is married and has a son, Noble jr., who is a student at West Junior high.

His hobbies are boating and fishing. He has a speed boat at Buckeye lake.

merous instances wherein such compensation has been paid but no objection was raised by the state.

On the other hand, a man who is taken from his work because of illness over a long period is not entitled to any such compensation, according to the law. We merely ask how one can be justified and another not.

If such payments are to continue the burden will be carried by an already too heavily laden industry. We maintain the present state administration can do a much better job than it is doing in the unemployment compensation commission.

The bureau of motor vehicles of the Ohio department of highways in 1939 and 1940 will net $228,672 for the state, compared with only $5,077 in 1937 and 1938, Governor John W. Bricker announced.

Fruits and Vegetables

View of new fruit and vegetable display counters with Wick Pennington in charge.

Fresh Vegetables Are Nourishing

"Salad greens are greener, delicious fruits are tastier and vegetables are fresher, nourishing when they are dewey fresh at your market," says Art Stiffler, manager of Gregg's market, 2697 Sullivant-av.

"That is the way we like to get them to our customers. We speed them to you fresh every day, so fast that I doubt if any of their goodness is lost on the way and yet you get them at prices lower than the average from a complete selection."

One of the most complete vegetable departments on the Hilltop will be one of the features of Gregg's market. Large display bins will hold the produce and a special display for fresh merchandise is maintained.

Meat Department

New Refrigeration Keeps Meat Fresh

Only the best grade of meats are sold at Gregg's market, 2697 Sullivant-av. Choice tender cuts are designed to give the greatest value possible. All meat is guaranteed.

With the installation of the new Herrel refrigerated case the meat department will be one of the most important departments of the store. Manufactured and installed by the John Herrel and Son Co. of Columbus, the display case is kept at the right temperature by several refrigerating machines. It is constructed of glass and porcelain and kept crystal clean at all times. Hugh Parker is in charge of the meat department.

An extra large ice box will serve for storage of large pieces of meat. No second grade meats are sold over Gregg's counters at any time.

Four Reasons For Easier Shopping At Gregg's Market

These four reasons show customers why it is easier to shop at Gregg's market:

1. When you enter you get gliding carriages to hold the foods selected.

2. You serve yourself with what you want, shopping as quickly or leisurely as you wish.

3. Every package is plainly marked so you know what each item costs as you make your selection.

4. When you are finished shopping a clerk checks and packs your order at the same time giving you an itemized cash register receipt so you may check the savings made on each purchase.

Feibel Brothers Handle Leases

Leases on the Gregg market by Julius G. Feibel of the Feibel Brothers Realty Co., 145 N. High-st. The firm composed of Mr. Feibel and Louis A. Feibel act as managers for several Hilltop business and residential properties.

Julius Feibel is chairman of the industrial committee of the Columbus chamber of commerce. In that capacity he has been working in close cooperation with the program of national defense.

Openings Exist In Mixed Bowling Loop

The Hilltop Recreation bowling alleys mixed league still has a few openings available for beginners who wish to bowl on Wednesday nights. The loop opened Wednesday and a great deal of enthusiasm was shown by the pin smashers. This will be a handicap league. Those interested can get in touch with the managers at the alleys.

Mrs. Irvin Nusbaum, a former Hilltop resident, now of Indianapolis, Ind., is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. M. Hutchison, 87 Eldon-av.

Group To Hold Box Lunch

The Phyllis Sunday school class of Hope Memorial church will hold an old fashioned box social at the church Thursday evening, Sept. 19, at 7 o'clock. Each lady is requested to bring a box with food enough for two persons.

The event is open to the public and is not confined to members of the class.

W. Broad St. School News

Activities stepped up to a rapid pace this week at West Broad-st school where Miss Marguerite Adams, formerly of Southwood school, will join the staff today.

The Safety Patrol boys have been organized and the school is cooperating with the Columbus Auto club and the police department in protecting the school children.

The film "Safety While Bicycling" was shown at school Wednesday.

Mr. Hamlin from the state department of education talked on "Health" Tuesday afternoon.

Tuesday, Sept. 17, there will be a group meeting at school room 109 with Mrs. Bootie chairman of the group.

Thursday, Sept. 19, at 7:30 p. m. the regular PTA program and social will be held.

(The verses below are absolutely true)

The Train That Was Decked In Crepe

Second Number six left Dennison on time headed for various points east
The train was heavy but it had the power for sixty miles an hour is the most Eleven cars of freight it hauled each day express and the U. S. mail
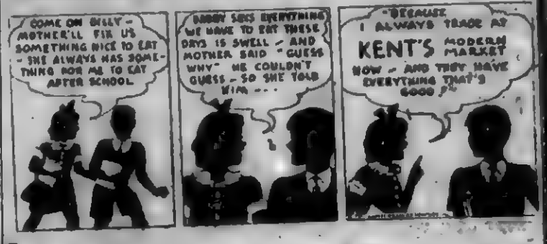
On a curve at a bridge without any warning the whole train left the rail.



I can't number the dead on that fatal day that caused brave men to quiver
As that valuable train on its eastward flight left the track and went in the river
They didn't need the wrecker to clear the track, only the section men
Who gauged the track and drove a few spikes and it was ready for service again.

Second Number six left Dennison on time the next day without delay
But a different train and a different crew and the cars were painted gray
It carried the express and the U. S. mail and people stood agape
All along the line with heads uncovered they viewed a train in crepe.

City Church Softball Title To Calvary

Calvary Presbyterian, defending city church champs, finally repeated their 1939 performance by defeating their league brothers, Salvation Army, 3-2, Monday evening to take the city title after the two teams had been rained out twice and then played to a "called-on-account-of-darkness" draw last week.

The victory entitles the Calvary boys to a berth in the city champ-of-champ series which opens soon at the State hospital grounds.

Kitsos paced the winners by pounding out a single and double. Both teams secured five hits but Comer was stingy with his hits with men on bases.

The scores:

Calvary Pres.	0	0	2	0	0	0	1	—	3
Salvation Army	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	—	2

Local Team Wins League Title, 12-4

State Hospital gained the coveted class A title in the Saturday Afternoon league by virtue of an easy 12 to 4 win over FOE No. 297, Saturday on the Hospital field. It was the lone league game played as all other teams had been eliminated.

The victory was the Hospital's third win over the Eagles, the "Patients" having previously downed the FOE in first and second round games.

Weser, Rebholtz Hit

Heavy hitting by Glen Weser and Tommy Rebholtz, Hospital outfielders, featured the tilt, the two sluggers banging out four hits each, three of Rebholtz's blows being doubles.

Chuck Koterba, Hospital manager and outfielder, injured his ankle while attempting a shoestring catch in the fourth frame.

Shenandoah Valley

Going some place this fall? Really want a beauty spot not so far away? Then why not plan a week-end visit to the Shenandoah valley?

It was our pleasure to visit this scenic spot this past summer and we'll recommend the sojourn to anyone.

"The valley of the stars," as the Indians called it, contains some of the world's natural wonders. There are Endless Caverns, Melrose Caverns, Massanutten Caverns and Natural Chimneys—all of these wonders within an hour's drive of Harrisonburg, a hospitality spot typical of the kind you read about in the old south.

At Endless Caverns, a few miles from New Market, we took an evening walk back through the mountain two and one half miles in an underground paradise that needs only a little imagination to bring out a wonderland that might be equalled only by the one Alice saw when she went through the looking glass.

We were told these passageways were formed thousands of years ago by underground streams and the intervening multitude of years have allowed all the other majestic formations to be wrought in nature's own inimitable way as these mineral waters have seeped through the rocks and built up deposits of stone, drop by drop.

Politicians!

This business of being a candidate surely must be a headache to some of the men running for office.

For example: Every club, organization, meeting of any kind must have a program about this time of year and everyone figures the candidates should head every sucker list.

And it is really surprising how gullible most of the politicians are. A great number of them bite for most anything that comes along, the less legitimate propositions sometimes attracting the biggest "take." It's easy money for many a promoter who promises 5000 or 10,000 circulation on a program and then goes to the printer and orders 500 copies.

Most politicians don't have enough backbone to tell a solicitor directly "yes" or "no." In all probability they are losing friends and votes by giving a solicitor the run around.

Fish Story

Dan Kavanaugh tells the following fish story. Use your own judgment as to what proportions of truth it may contain.

"It seems that the three men went fishing. One of them caught a good sized bass and as he attempted to land it, he got the pole tangled up with his tortoise shell spectacles. The bass got away, and the fisherman's glasses dropped into the lake.

"Upon returning home, the doubly unfortunate angler told the story to his wife. About a week later, the same three men went to the same place to fish again. The "unfortunate one" again hooked a bass. This time he was careful not to let the fish get away. On landing it he noted a torn place on the fish's head, indicating that the fish had been caught before, but had pulled loose.

"He noted the fish was the same size as the one he had caught before, but which had wiggled loose from his hook. But was he surprised when he

Local Girl Is Member of World Famous Dancing Troupe

Miss Janice Davis

Another Hilltop dancing lassie has hit Broadway in the diminutive person of Miss Janice Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Davis, 130 N. Warren-av, who is a member of the world famous Rockette dancing line of Radio City Music Hall in New York City.

Janice is a graduate of West High school and received all her local training from Miss Stella J. Becker.

The Rockettes are the most celebrated dancing troupe of modern times. Aside from a few benefits, they have never appeared elsewhere than Radio City Music Hall except for their spectacular trip to Paris in 1937 at the invitation of the French government to dance 16 minutes at the Paris Exposition.

The exact machine-like execution of their dance routines has brought them world-wide fame. Although only 36 appear on the stage at one time, there are actually 48 girls in the troupe. Ten always are on a week's vacation. A Rockette works three weeks and then gets the fourth week off—with full pay.

They range in height from five feet three inches at the ends of the line to five feet six inches in the center of the line, creating for the audience the optical illusion that they are all the same height.

The girls, who come from all parts of the country, range in age between 18 and 23. Twenty-three states are represented in their "lineup."

The troupe is directed by Markert, their originator. Gene Snyder designs many of their intricate routines.

Calvary Team Is Eliminated In City Title Chase

The Calvary Presbyterian softball team, city church champs, and only local entry in the "champ of champ" series for the city championship, fell before the speedball hurling of Ralph Solt and were eliminated 8-3 last Saturday under the State hospital field lights by the National Guarantee outfit.

The Presbyterians had previously defeated the Neil House team, 5-4, in a nine inning pitchers' duel on Thursday to enter the semi-final tilt.

Valleyview Celebrates New Status With Fun for All

Residents of Valleyview found plenty of entertainment at the Hilltop swimming pool last Saturday, Sept. 14, as the women of the newly incorporated village sponsored their first of what is hoped to be an annual "Jitney Jubilee" with a large crowd present.

Shown above, at the picture at the left, are A. Rodgers, president of the village council, and Mrs. Ruth Burnside, only woman member of council, as they "figured" just what the devil's food cake would net the women. It was one of about 60 cakes donated by the women of the village who prepared and served home-cooked food cafeteria style at dinner time.

Contests were played in the afternoon, miniature auto races were held, and a dancing program completed the evening and the celebration adjudged by all "a huge success."

West High Gridders To Face Tough Foe Tonite

Springfield Team Is Heavy Favorite; Medlick May Start

By Dave Shiflet

Having had its initial charge halted by a tough Newark High grid machine to the tune of 14-0, West High's Buckaroo "Light Brigade" will swing into action again tonight in a second seasonal nocturnal tilt in the lair of the Springfield Wildcats, who last week defeated Aquinas 40-26. The contest is scheduled to begin at 8 p. m.

Ray Medlick, stellar halfback on the 1939 West team, will probably see action in the fray tonight for the first time this season. Medlick, out for the past week with a bruised shoulder, will take over the tailback duties in place of the speedy Danny Brown.

The 14-0 score tells in no way the trend of the Wildcat-Buckaroo tussle. The locals put on one of the finest defensive exhibitions ever witnessed in White stadium but two "breaks" decided the issue in the final half. The first was a Buckaroo fumble, the only one of the game, which Newark hopped onto in West territory, while the second was an intercepted pass shortly before the end of the fracas.

Tough Defense

In the second period the Buckaroos, led by Les Brandenberg, tiny guard, stopped the Wildcat offense on the West 12-yard line, and then reversed the procedure and drove to the Newark 13 before being halted on a pass interception. This was the only Buck scoring gesture of the game and came as a result of a fine 32-yard jaunt by Dan Brown along with some fine passing by this same 139-pound senior.

After the intermission the Wildcats really got wild and drove to the locals' 1-foot mark before the Bucks rose up to stop the assault. But Newark was not to be denied and after Smith had kicked out from behind the goal line the home team scored on the first scrimmage play. The winners tallied again soon after the last canto started as Smith's attempted punt from the 8 was blocked for a safety.

The final Newark tally came as a result of a desperation pass which was intercepted by a Newark boy on the West 20-yard line and converted into a score six plays later.

For the luckless locals Brandenberg and Jack Hobbs, a junior halfback, were the defensive stars, with Danny Brown doing practically all of the offensive work. Brown averaged seven yards per try as he garnered 66 of the 68 yards gained by the Cowboys by rushing. In addition he was on the throwing end of the six completed passes by which the locals gained 87 yards in 18 attempts. Hobbs and Dick Smith, junior end, were on the receiving end while Smith did the punting in place of the injured

Hilltop's Penelope Johnson To Return For Thursday Concert

One of West High's students who has made "good in a big way" is Miss Penelope Johnson, brilliant youthful violin virtuoso, now of Long Island, who will return to her native Columbus next Thursday, Sept. 26, to present a violin concert at Central High school auditorium under the sponsorship of the Oakley Ave. Baptist church of which the Rev. Jacob Ashburn jr. is pastor and Deacon R. S. Johnson is general chairman.

Miss Penelope Johnson

Miss Johnson, who studied violin originally under the direction of Columbusite Oscar Krauter, has excited high praise from musical critics throughout the east and in other parts of the country where her amazing technique in the violin has been heard.

She has appeared in Town Hall, at Julliards, and YWCA's throughout the country, always to an enthusiastic audience.

Outstanding Artist

Last June she was one of the outstanding artists appearing on the brilliant program which highlighted the concert sponsored by the Amsterdam News for the benefit of Brooks Memorial church in Long Island.

Miss Johnson also studied violin under Carl Krauter and the Julliard School of Music, where she was sent on a scholarship from the Delta Sigma Theta sorority.

Hilltop folks are familiar with the haunting strains and melodies emanating from this artist's violin and one of the largest crowds ever to attend a concert at Central auditorium is expected to be on hand.

Tickets may be secured at the door or at the Oakley Avenue church or from members of the congregation who are sponsoring the event.

Rent Chains Bind Many Hands

The burden of paying rent all of your life is not unlike chaining your own capacity for the money thus spent can never be classed as an investment for future use. Rent checks are only mementos of a job you never started. They never lead to financial independence in later life.

Few people can honestly say after years of paying rent, "Well, there was nothing I could do about it." If they are honest with themselves they will be forced to admit that neglect and not necessity has kept their hands tied.

MODERN POETRY

Edited by Esther Weakley

TO ODD McINTYRE OF HALLIPOLIS

In the river town you praised by name,
There's many a heavy heart—
"The Old French," given a nation's fame
By your enduring art.

There's a few of the old-time comrades left
Who weep the most of all,
But a nation's Main Street is bereft
By a blow so quick to fall.

Dreamer of all the good old days
By the broad "Belle Riviere,"
A mist should rise in a gentle haze
From the tears of those who care.
Your body moved to the eastern shore;
Quick mind won wide renown,
But your soul stayed by the "Gatewood" door—
Back in the dear old town.

Henry Frank Features Service In Dealing With Hilltoppers

Henry Frank

Since the fall of 1937 Henry Frank, Franklin County Treasurer, has been the only Republican office holder in the court house. Perhaps some may wonder why Mr. Frank has been able to weather all political storms with such unwavering success. An unblemished record of public service is probably the best answer.

Henry Frank was born and reared within a stone's throw of the court house. He was elected treasurer in November, 1932 and took office in the dark days of 1933. He had been connected with the office for four years previously. Mr. Frank's extraordinary organizing ability stood him in good stead through the years which followed. In 1934 he inaugurated the installment plan to aid the "little fellow" in paying delinquent taxes. He launched a successful drive to collect delinquent taxes and thus enable the county to meet its obligations.

On the Hilltop, residents have had an especially good opportunity to see Mr. Frank's service in action. After the state sales tax agency was removed from the Hilltop, business men were forced to go down to the court house to buy the stamps. Mr. Frank remedied this situation by having one of his employes, Harry Englehard, make delivery to the merchants on his way home—after working hours—and at no expense to the taxpayers.

Despite the additional load of work brought about by this program and the advent of the sales tax and other duties, Mr. Frank so organized his office that no increase in operating expense was necessary.

He is probably one of the most widely known men in Franklin county, has always been recognized as a diligent civic worker and has been constantly active in fraternal orders. He is an active member of Livingston M. E. church and has been choir director for 35 years. He is married and the father of four grown children. His residence is at 542 Mithoff St.

ABSENCE

Your absence has keyed my heart
To a greater love than I
Ever imagined from the start
Could instill my soul to sigh,
My eyes to yearn for
The sight of your dear face.
I cannot be happy, nor
Will I be content, till the space
In my life has been filled
With your presence, dear,
The longing in my heart stilled;
You with me, always near.
Myrtle L. Reeder.

QUIET NOON HOUR

It is a little rift of blue
Like you see on some dark day
Suddenly look down at you
From great, drifting clouds of gray.
Just a little bit of peace
From the surging press of things,
From Time's swiftly-beating wings.
Cora K. Gooch.

VISITING HOURS

If I could walk down the hall
And look through each cool, clean wall,
I am sure I would look up and say
"Dear God, help them—
My wants are small, today."

APPRECIATION

Morning mists are clearing,
All is peaceful rest.
The poplars only—
Which are never motionless—
Tremble and dance in breathless ecstasy
And seem to whisper with my throbbing heart
What I can never tell,
The wonder of your care
And gentleness with me.
Fredricka K. Winslow.

Genial Jim Cooper Is Our Most Familiar News-Caster

Jim Cooper

By Esther Weakley

It seems only yesterday that "Genial Jim" Cooper did his six-thousandth news broadcast for the same sponsor, yet a few weeks ago he celebrated his seven-thousandth, still same sponsor.

As one resident of Belvidere-av to another we called to congratulate him and our conversation inspired the idea for a series of telephone interviews we are optimistic enough to believe might appear in The Hilltop Record now and then.

During the conversation Mr. Cooper told many interesting things about people he has met through his broadcasts, gifts he and Mrs. Cooper have received, and how his broadcasts are arranged from the four teletype machines installed in his home. He also spoke of his hobby, which is gardening, and of the chair presented to him in celebration of the afore-mentioned seven-thousandth broadcast by the staff of WBNS.

It is easy to understand why many of Mr. Cooper's "listeners consider him one of the family. He is sincere and sympathetic—and kind to dumb interviewers! He is, as the announcer introduces him, "Your friend and my friend."

He and Mrs. Cooper and their daughter, Patty Lou, have lived at 522 Belvidere-av, for the past four years. Strangers passing their home would be surprised to know that in that cozy white house behind the hedge at the end of the street, surrounded by vacant lots, are little gadgets which tell the news, both foreign and national, at the same time it is received by all the newspapers in the United States.

Columbus Evening School Begins Registration

The Columbus evening school will begin enrollment this year on Monday evening, Sept. 23, continuing to Sept. 25. The regular class work will start Sept. 30.

The work includes the full high school course and is planned especially for older people who were not able to earn a high school diploma when they were going to school. These classes are held three evenings each week, Monday, Wednesday and Thursday, beginning as early as six o'clock. It is possible for a pupil to earn four credits each year.

In addition to the high school there are many vocational courses. These are carried on two evenings each week for 24 weeks.

Machine shop, drafting, electricity, printing pattern and cabinet making are emphasized; commercial work is popular, shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping, secretarial, business arithmetic, commercial law, business English. This work is all needed by those who look forward to becoming certified public accountants.

Everyone should enroll early and be on the job regularly. The tuition is moderate and should be paid in advance.

Local Man Is Brother of Crime Bureau Head

Ozni H. Cornwell, Xenia police chief, whose reputation as the organizer and head of the "most efficient little town police force in the country" was known far and wide, and who recently resigned that position to accept appointment as superintendent of the state bureau of criminal identification and investigation, with headquarters at London state prison farm, is a brother of Dave Cornwell, familiar Hilltop photographer and projectionist at the Rivola theatre, Oakley-av and Broad-st.

Long interested in police work, with identification records his particular hobby, the 47-year-old police chief was credited with introducing efficient record systems which brought the Xenia department wide recognition as a model among smaller Ohio police forces.

Some years ago he devised, for the Greene county prosecutor's office, an extensive and complete system of maintaining records of law violators. This card system, still in use, brought many queries from other Ohio prosecutors, with a view to adoption.

During the Easter Monday fire of 1930 at Ohio penitentiary, the Xenia chief was called to Columbus to assist, through fingerprinting, in the identification of bodies of convicts burned beyond recognition.

Beulah Park Horse Racing Ends Tomorrow

Beulah park closes its 19-day fall meeting of running races Saturday, with a program of eight events, including the $1500 added Ohio Horse Breeders association stake. A total of 54 Ohio-owned two-year-olds was nominated for this event, which probably will find J. J. Collins' Flying Count the favorite.

Also on Saturday's getaway card is a marathon race at two miles. This contest will bring together such tried and true routers as Play Shoot, Secret Lover, Brigler, Black Crusade and Sylacauga.

The final ladies' day of the meeting is Friday.

T. W. Birmingham, former teacher of art at West Junior High school, is opening a studio at the Chittenden hotel where he will specialize in drama, music and art. He invites all his former students to visit him.

Mrs. Henry Welker and Miss Elizabeth Layman of Washington, D. C., are house guests of Mrs. A. F. Zellner, 201 Eldon-av.

Every year we spend $1,000,000 too much in taxes. Public funds wasted on gold badges, dry swimming pools, twin courthouses, needless insurance and other foolish and cynical extravagances could easily pay for twenty-six new battleships. Don't miss this startling article by James Vernol Clarke of the tax foundation, New York City, in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week's Sunday Chicago Herald-American.

Highland Pupils Have Flower Show

Members of the 4B, 4A and 5B classes of Highland Ave. school sponsored a flower show this week at the school with over 100 entries being subanitted by 85 pupils.

One Dollar Down And A Dollar A Week

He traveled through mountains and over the plains; his face was bleary and black

He didn't complain though his shoes were thin and he never would turn back To friends and relations and ask them for aid—failure he wouldn't confess.

He endured many years to see better years when money he would possess.

Then times got better, he got plenty of work down at the lumber mill.

He purchased some oxen and trained them to pull and began to climb the hill

To fame and success in the Farmers realm he wasn't afraid of hard labor.

Products he sold and bought tractors will I gold and willingly helped his neighbor.

This advice he offers to young married people—lay a few dollars away.

These installment plans are dangerous hazards—don't buy unless you can pay.

One dollar a week, pay ninety-nine years, interest does on each day.

Three per cent they say but they mean thirty-six or they'll haul your goods away.

Delicious apples that formerly sold for $1.85 per bushel now reduced to 99 cents.

Flour that formerly sold for $5.95 per hundred pounds now reduced to $4.00.

Bacon that formerly sold for 28 cents per pound now reduced to 19 cents.

Aspirin tablets which formerly sold for 95 cents per thousand now reduced to 50 cents.

Perhaps by now you have come to the conclusion that the above is a list of extra specials from the "Super-Drooper" market which the printer got mixed up with news copy for this issue. Such is not the case, however. The figures show the difference in prices being paid by Franklin County officials before and after the establishment of a Centralized Purchasing system. Operation of this new department saved the county $30,000 during the first six months of this year."

Clerk-of-Courts Art Yoder Is Sports Lover

J. Arthur Yoder

One of the biggest politicians in town (he weighs a mere 280 poukds) is also one of the greatest sports enthusiasts, backing numerous athletic teams. The "little man" is J. Arthur Yoder, clerk of courts, who is seeking re-election this November to the same post.

Art is an old time grocery store man and laughs when he recalls how his first day's business netted him exactly 42 cents.

Yoder started his business career as a bus boy in the Mills restaurant at Spring and High streets when he came to Columbus. Later he was manager of the restaurant. He then worked for the Ward Baking Co. before becoming associated with the Blue Valley Creamery Co., where he was recognized officially as their star salesman and was awarded a prize for the greatest increase in sales of any man in their employ.

Sports Lover

A short time after that he bought the grocery store at Fern and Denune avenues, Linden, totaled 42 cents his first day and built that up to a $145,000 a year business.

He is a native of Louisville in Starke county and came to Columbus after studying three years at Mt. Union college at Alliance where he played fullback on the grid team, first base on the ball nine and put the shot as a member of the track team. He graduated from the Canton McKinley High school where he was a member of the football team.

Yoder has never lost his love for sports. His team was named central Ohio grid champs in 1933; his 1939-1940 basketballers were Class B, Class A, Class AA champions and his bowling teams twice have won league championships.

He is a member of the Kiwanis, Charity Newsies, Eagles and Moose.

He is married and has a daughter, Mrs. Harold Headlee, and a son, Jimmy, who at the age of 13 wears a 12 size shoe and weighs a mere 206 pounds. No doubt about him following in his dad's footsteps.

New Hilltop Homes

When Ken Dickerson came to Columbus to engage in the building business, it was the common custom to discontinue building through the winter months, according to Guy Cunningham, sales and promotion manager of Ken-Dickerson, Inc., 3127 W. Broad-st.

This year the demand for homes is so great that the Dickerson organization is going to continue its sales, promotion and building activities right on through the winter months.

At the present time the organization has an extensive building program going on in Rome, Valleyview, Marion Park and on Orel, Heldy and Mecca-rd in Columbus.

Able Building Co., 1099 E. Broad-st, has plans completed for the construction of four single-family frame dwellings on Chestershire-rd.

Mary J. Barnette, 1863 Sullivant-av, will have William R. Barnette, the contractor, start work at once on the construction of a one-family and shingle dwelling on Binns-blvd.

Ira G. Everett, 40 N. Roys-av, contemplates construction of a one-family home on Powhatan-av.

Eddie Guyer, 22 W. Terrie, will have S. Z. Neff, the contractor, start work at once on the construction of a single-family frame home at 216 N. Terrace-st.

Hoge Young People Start Sun. Meetings

The young people of Hoge Memorial have started their regular Sunday evening meetings. An encouraging number have been present for the first two meetings and with the spark of enthusiasm burning deep they hope to have more in the future.

All the young people are urged to come and enjoy the interesting service, to take part in the snappy discussion and to enjoy the brief social period following.

The meetings are held at 6:30 each Sunday evening in the church auditorium.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

I have an attractive English stone house with center hall plan (picture in Thursday morning Journal). If located in Bexley or Arlington would sell today for $10,500. Because it is located on one of the better streets east of Westgate and south of Broad it will not bring that much.

This home is immaculate and like new inside and any builder will tell you he cannot duplicate it at today's prices on a similar lot for $7500. It has a large living room to the east and master bedroom above with windows on 3 sides. It also has a dining rm., modern kitchen, brkfst. room, 2 other bedrooms and attractive bath.

The basement has unusually high ceiling and good furnace. The lot is narrow but deep. Has a 3-car garage and there is an abundance of flowers and shrubbery. Since this house is on a corner there is an open view from three sides.

It is a bargain at $6000 but due to an exchange which is under contract an offer for a shade under that figure would be considered. Might accept a trade.

STRAWS IN THE WIND

THE certainty of a national ground swell against the social effects of repeal is indicated by certain "straws in the wind".

Some of these are:

Definite and frequent statements by wet leaders that the industry must reform itself, or else—.

Increasing recognition by the public of the part alcohol plays in traffic accidents and deaths; plus a strong tendency toward enforcement of laws aimed at drinking drivers, with increased severity of sentences.

Isolated, but increasing, steps to close taverns charged in court with having helped cause delinquency of youthful defendants.

Increasing editorial and "Voice of the People" criticism of alcohol's social effects. This is considered to be very suggestive, as editorial comment, from a press in large part pro-repeal, is certain to be following, and not leading, a change in the public's thinking.

A projected current effort to reorganize the women's repeal group, which publicly led 1933's legislative fights, evidently in an effort to strengthen alcohol's public and legislative position.

A noticeable movement, despite financial needs, in the daily and weekly press toward further banning of alcohol advertisements.

This winter's effort in Washington to prohibit beverage alcohol advertising by radio and the action last year of some chains and many individual stations in banning such advertising.

Growing strength of movements dedicated to national rebirth of spiritual and moral values.

Labor Saved Money.

Clark Warburton, economist, who personally was opposed to prohibition, said in his book "The Economics of Prohibition," (published in 1931 by the Columbia University Press):

"The expenditure of the working class upon alcoholic beverages is probably a billion dollars less than it would be without national prohibition."

And that "during the first three years of prohibition the liquor bill was reduced about two billion dollars per year."

A Cause for It.

A "loose tongue" often puts one in a "tight" spot. What loosens the tongue to the undoing of its owner more quickly than beverage alcohol?

By C. C. Hartley

He Laughed

One of the best pieces of anti-Roosevelt material I've seen was the picture last week in which our third term seeking president laughed while he signed the conscription bill. I see little in such an event to laugh about except that it was merely another success in his long list of pieces of "must" legislation to change the entire plan of living that people of this country have so much enjoyed.

In the news reel later he expressed his thankfulness for this piece of "social" legislation which would now provide for those thousands of men of all stages of life in this country to mingle together in a common life, side by side.

Mingle together they will, and there's nothing wrong with it. But unless there comes to be a more firm resolve on the part of the American people that the government of the United States absolutely cannot govern our every move and cease taking liberty after liberty, there will be a continual mingling together for all time . . . mingling together in want in a land of plenty.

This country's finest approach to preparedness is to instill more of a desire on the part of every individual to work rather than use every waking moment in developing regulations and laws that will provide inactivity through protection from work.

Have you ever observed individuals at work? Have you asked yourself why it is that one man is conscientious and a producer while another just doesn't care? And why is it this man gives only what he has to, while the other man pours on a little or a lot for extra measure? Which one is strengthening his job, this thing that provides his weekly groceries, his house rent, his pleasures?

A Look Ahead

The outlook ahead is disappointing. I speak with considerable knowledge on the subject. Our particular type of business is like that of many fields . . . we must have men with training. Just any man cannot step into our jobs. They must be trained or we must train them.

An interview with a young man of the past week is typical. He knows but one thing. He has never felt it was worthwhile to learn anything else. If we can guarantee him a good salary right from the start he may consider the job if he likes the location. He would be willing to take additional instruction "while working." In other words he would like to have us know that he might some day be an asset to our organization if he can immediately consider us an asset to his own welfare but very definitely we should count him only as a liability for several months.

Two "good" workers from last year's high school graduating class wanted jobs. Neither had a semblance of an idea of what they might do to make themselves valuable but both had ideas of how much they were worth.

Soon young men will be called to train for the army . . . and this column predicts this great big toy of the army most certainly will be played with . . . they'll see service . . . and when these employed young men leave their jobs others must be found to fill these jobs.

Positions must be filled by men with no training, no ambition, no knowledge, no desire to work. What their finished products will be like is hard to anticipate.

A country that has not been strengthened these past several years most certainly will come out of this in a weakened condition comparable to that of France unless there is a new national wakening up that starts immediately.

And that wakening up will not come through legislation or any move from the great and mighty Roosevelt. It will come only by you, and you and you and me, taking stock of ourselves . . . rearranging our own private lives with a program that resolves itself about only one thing—to do our very best job and not depend on social legislation to provide our every need. It means WORK! It means that our democratic system will be no stronger than the individuals who make it up.

New Store To Be Built At Powell - Broad

Albers To Take Over Hilltop Site For Store

The finest streamlined supermarket in the city is the prospect in store for Hilltoppers as a result of negotiations completed this week by the Albers Grocery firm and W. E. Jones, realtor, in charge of the row of buildings facing Broad-st between Hague and Powell-av.

Albers have already opened several huge stores in the city and expect to make this the finest one of their entire group.

Work on the construction of the building and the revamping of four of the store-rooms already built on Broad-st began this week.

New Lights

The new building will be lighted with the new type fluorescent lighting, it is expected, and will be completely stocked with goods of every description.

A parking lot with a capacity of 500 automobiles, with black top surface, is also to be constructed in the rear of the building.

In addition to Albers taking the last four store-rooms, other storerooms in the row will be occupied by a new dry cleaner firm and a new beauty shop in addition to several other shops for which W. E. Jones is negotiating.

"The entire row will furnish the Hilltop with another complete business center," W. E. Jones said.

Mr. Jones has also opened his new insurance and real estate office in this block.

Camp Chase Team Champs, Honored

The Camp Chase post's Americanican Legion baseball team was feted Wednesday night at Schmelzer's restaurant as guest of Camp Chase post No. 98 of the American Legion.

All members are urged to attend.

Headed For California

Dr. J. H. Czatt

Dr. J. H. Czatt, physician with offices at 2637 Sullivant-av, is making plans to terminate his practice on the Hilltop about Nov. 1, it was learned this week. Shortly after that time he and his family will move to California where he will resume the practice of medicine.

Dr. Czatt has been active in affairs of the Hilltop Business Men's association and other civic groups for several years. He is a past president of the HBMA and has served on many of its committees.

Libby Lee, child of the Czatt's, is well known for her dancing in several of the Hilltop's minstrel shows. She is a student at West High school.

Now We'll Believe The Story Of Jack And The Bean Stalk

Members of the Hilltop Business Men's association wouldn't have to worry about their bean supply if they could get John Evans, 81-year-old retired farmer of 97 N. Oakley-av, to tell where he secured the bean seeds for the 30 foot tall bean-stalk growing in the yard of Mrs. Dewey Stout, 90 N. Wayne-av, which he planted this spring.

Although Mr. Evans asserts he secured the beans from his sister-in-law, Miss Clara Berger of S. Third-st, he doesn't know where she got them or what they are called.

Wayne Avenue Bean Plant Reaches Roof

This spring Mr. Evans asked Mrs. Stout if he could plant the beans and she consented although he had to "dig the hard as cement" ground a bit before he dropped the seeds in next to the Stout back porch, just across his back yard.

Months ago the bean plant started shooting skyward until finally about three weeks ago it reached the top of the porch roof and began winding its way over the top of the porch. Mr. Stout then clambered to the porch roof and nailed a bamboo fishing pole to the roof and trained the plant up it.

It has kept right on growing and now the Stouts and Evans' are wondering if they'll have to build an addition to their porch or just let the thing climb around on top of the roof.

Yes—the plant is bearing a good crop of large sized beans which Mr. Evans is going to save for seed for next spring—if the grasshoppers don't eat them all off.

Mr. Evans, native of Hilliards, is a familiar figure on the Hilltop. He was former caretaker at Greenlawn cemetery.

You Need New Drivers' License Before Tuesday

With only three days until the Oct. 1 deadline, the State Bureau of Motor Vehicles estimated today that less than 50 per cent of an estimated 2,765,000 Ohio drivers had purchased operators' licenses for 1941.

"The prospect for a serious last-minute rush is particularly bad this year, in view of the fact that licenses did not go on sale until Sept. 9, more than a week later than usual," asserted Cylon W. Wallace, state registrar of motor vehicles.

Auto Hits Mother And Two Children

Police Say Driver Used Parking Lights

A mother and her two children were injured Tuesday night when an auto being driven with parking lights struck them as she carried one and led the other across W. Broad-st, at Guilford-av. A third child ran back to the curb in time to escape injury.

The mother, Mrs. Ruth Swank, 28, of 177 N. Guilford-av, suffered a laceration on her forehead and contusions on her right arm. Her youngest child, Frederick, 14-months-old, whom she was carrying, suffered contusion on his upper lip and abrasions on her chin.

Treated at Mt. Carmel

All were taken to Mt. Carmel hospital for treatment.

Phyllis, 9, gave the oncoming car in time to jump out of the way.

Patrolmen R. W. Phillips and William Carney said the auto was driven by Joseph Parr, 27, of 50 N. Warren-av. Parr was going east in Broad-st. Police said he was driving with only his parking lights on.

The game will be a benefit affair, with the proceeds going to Jim Rea, who was injured in a recent diamond battle. The West Market "oldtimers" will play under the name of the Pastime club.

Forget-Me-Not Days Observed Today, Saturday

"Forget-me-not" days are to be observed throughout the city today and tomorrow when hundreds of salesgirls will participate in the sale.

All funds realized from the annual forget-me-not drive, sponsored by the disabled American veterans of the World war, are expended strictly for the maintenance of the local offices.

The annual forget-me-not campaign has always received the endorsement of the president of the United States, General Frank T. Hines, administrator, Veterans' Administration, and of all civic minded citizens.

The campaign offers every citizen an opportunity to assist those in whose bodies and minds the World war will always exist, in establishing their just claims.

Floyd Green and H. W. Holt are members of the committee sponsoring the drive.

Free Kits Are Available For Volunteers In Willkie Club

With their offices at Broad and Hague open from "ten to ten," officers of the Willkie For President club are enthusiastic over the response from voters throughout the Hilltop in the campaign to elect Wendell Willkie president at the November election.

Members who wish to register may call at the headquarters for enrollment in the club which is open to anyone, either Republican or Democrat, who is interested in the campaign.

Plans are being made for a big rally at some school auditorium in the near future.

Police List 3 Suicides On Hilltop

Mail-Man, Clerk And Waitress Take Own Lives

Police listed their third suicide death on the Hilltop in less than a week's time with the finding of the body of George C. Stoodt, 51, of Washington, D. C., who was visiting relatives at 285 N. Wheatland-av.

Dr. Edward E. Smith, coroner, expressed the opinion that the visitor had been dead since Saturday and that death had been caused by disinfectant the man drank before composing a farewell note which revealed that Mr. Stoodt, who was employed in a liquor store in Washington, had been despondent over financial problems.

Winding a snood around her throat, Miss Martha Blake Smith, 28, hanged herself from a rafter on the third floor of her home at 2139 W. Broad-st last Saturday night, police said.

Dr. Edward E. Smith, coroner, issued a verdict of suicide. Police said they were told that the girl had been despondent over financial worries. She formerly worked as a waitress at a downtown department store.

The body was taken to the Spears funeral home. She is survived by a brother, James Smith of Columbus. The body was taken to Jackson for burial.

Services were held at 9 a. m. Monday at the Spears funeral parlors for Frank Nehr, 34, of 632 S. Ogden-av, who committed suicide last Friday morning. He was a letter carrier for 13 years.

Nehr, according to police, went into his garage and fired a .12-gauge shotgun into his breast. He was found by his wife, Hazel, and sheriff's deputy, Ed Carroll, a neighbor, both of whom heard the shot. Mrs. Nehr was in the basement.

Besides his wife, he is survived by six children, Ollie, 12; Francis, 11; Betty, nine; Nancy, seven; Morris, five, and Charles, two; two brothers and two sisters.

He was a lifelong resident of Columbus.

George Hardy Again Heads West Alumni

Election Results Announced At Wiener Roast

The name of George Hardy again heads the list of the West High Alumni association as a result of the election of officers which took place Tuesday evening at Westgate park shelter house.

George, familiar to Hilltoppers for his sterling performance as blackface comedian in the Hilltop minstrel, has long been active in alumni work.

He also held the presidency last year.

The votes were tabulated and the results announced at the wiener roast held at the park Tuesday. Despite the rain, a fairly good sized crowd was present.

The West High swing band furnished a program of entertainment and dance music during the evening.

Other officers elected included Paul Fulton, vice-president; Dorothy Clark, secretary; Evelyn Griffith, treasurer, and Frank Richey, sergeant-at-arms.

Plans are going forward for the membership drive. All former West high students who are now members of the Alumni association are asked to get in touch with some active member.

The annual homecoming game and dance are scheduled for Nov. 1 when Dayton Roosevelt meets the Buckaroos in an afternoon tilt. A homecoming queen will be selected and will preside at the game and dance.

Members of the alumni are entitled to free admission to the game and dance and all graduates are urged to sign up as soon as possible.

Old Rivals To Renew Feud Of '16

Local Man Was Central Figure In Initial Game

Coach George Williams is looking high and low today for a florist to give him some practical advice on how to trim "peonies."

The West High team was scheduled to leave at noon today, by bus, for Van Wert, where the courageous band of battling Buckaroos will tackle the team representing the "Peony City of the World," in a game scheduled to get under way at 8 p. m.

But while George is spending his leisure time, if any, in looking for the florist, his boys are interested in only one thing—winning their first encounter of the year in this, the final tune-up before their opening encounter of what may prove to be the wildest city high school grid race in all history.

The Polar Bears from North, who last year upset West and smashed their hopes for being one of the few undefeated teams in the state, will be here next Friday, at West stadium, in an afternoon tilt. North has already trounced Aquinas and Grandview.

But to get back to tonight's game, under the lights, at Van Wert. The game, on paper, looks very much like a tossup. Both lines average around 165 with the Van Werts taking a slight advantage in beef but whether they can match the slashing speed of Buckaroo backs is something that the boys themselves will have to answer tonight.

Local Boy Was Giant-Killer

Tonight will be the second time in 24 years that the two teams have met, the first game in 1916, when Rodger L. Jones, now a Hilltopper, scampered 77 yards across the goal line after intercepting a pass to

The first dance of the 1940-41 school year will be held at West High's gym next Friday, Oct. 4, with Pete Frances' orchestra furnishing the dance tunes from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m.

The dance, termed the "Pep Hop," is sponsored by the Student Council.

North High invades West stadium that afternoon for its annual tilt.

Sandusky-st Bridge Plan Is Prepared

The long awaited news concerning the widening of the "bottle-neck" Sandusky-st bridge came this week when an expert, working for County Engineer Allan Slade, submitted plans to the state highway department.

The plans drawn by the county expert call for a four-lane structure after removal of the present bridge.

The NYC grade crossing would be eliminated and the tracks relocated and an underpass constructed close to the Pennsylvania R. R. underpass.

It was at first feared that Hilltop and other Columbus motorists would be forced to "detour" around the road for a two-year period, but the new plan calls for only a 48-hour ban while the present bridge is moved over to permit traffic to go over it while the new structure is being built.

The county engineer's recommendations will be studied by county, city, state and railroad officials before final plans are drafted.

About two hundred members and visitors met to pay honor to the grand representative of Tennessee, our own sister, Florence Alexander, at the regular meeting of Robert Morris Chapter No. 372, OES, in Westgate temple Tuesday evening, Sept. 17.

Chapter was opened in regular form with Worthy Matron Hazel Hide and Worthy Patron James Druman in the east and all officers in their stations.

A special tribute was paid to our sister Florence by the worthy matron and the associate matron, Esta Sharp presented her with a gift from the chapter. The chorus sang "Because of You."

King and Harry Linebaugh of Grove City and a long line of our own past matrons and patrons were presented and escorted to the east. The room was beautifully decorated in the circle colors, green and white. Circle members formed a court, each holding a lighted candle the color of her station, through which the guests passed. A Dream
COME TRUE
John and Mary were not JUST dreamers but many were the hours they spent planning for the day when they could build their own home just like they wanted it.
Next week they will move into that home—the result of careful planning and intelligent financing. They consulted an official of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association. By a period of savings they were able to accumulate enough money to make the down payment on their home. By a well worked out plan of home-financing they are able to pay for it just like rent.

give the Van Wertians a surprise moral victory. West had entered that game a heavy favorite. Mr. Jones' daughter, Marilyn, is a senior at West high school now. They live at 36 Midland-av.

The locals will still be in a crippled condition for tonight's contest, with Medlick unlikely to see any action, or very little, due to his shoulder injury, and Brandenburger also slated to "coast" with several bumps received in last week's fray when the locals took that 19-7 defeat at Springfield.

Center Murnane has been absent from school all week due to illness and will not see action tonight, it is believed.

Meanwhile West has been having rather tough drills daily. Don Rogers appears to be a coming star at fullback while Fausnaugh and Bynon are battling for left tackle position in a hectic fray.

The first score of last week's game came two minutes after the starting whistle at the conclusion of a 65 yard drive when a Springfield player scored from the one-foot line.

1st. West Scores

West came right back with a power display after taking the kick-off on their own 15. In 12 plays they scored when Medlick tore through the line for the score from the one-yard line. Hobbs' kick was good and the locals enjoyed a 7-6 lead until Scott of Springfield broke loose on a wide sweep around end and raced 60 yards to a score in the second period. The kick was good.

A third quarter pass good for 30 yards put the Wildcats on West's 7-yard stripe and Jarnagin went through center on a fake score. The successful conversion made the final score Springfield 19, West 7.

THE PASSENGER
CONDUCTOR

With smiles and care he collects your fare
when you travel the Railroad way
If you knew his life, his sadness and strife
you would not envy his pay
It looks easy to you in his new suit of blue but he's close to the end of his run
He switched cars in snow in the years long ago when Railroading wasn't much fun.

If the train broke in two as trains often do going over a level or dip
Frantic rules on hand where there is no time to read
is not a pleasant trip
To stop each section takes almost perfection and couple them up again
Especially at night by dim lantern light and keep from wrecking the train.

In the long ago days through the haward of haze
all coupling was made by hand
Before the next dawn one arm may be gone from the brakeman then in command
For a standard price or cars dressed to use with speed he often ran
Danger he went through before adoption
the blue

Specials For Mack's Lunch Anniversary

Mack's Lunch, the original "no beer" restaurant in Columbus, will be observing its fourteenth anniversary Thursday, Oct. 3, at its 749 W. Broad-st location, just three doors east of Lawwell-Beasley Ford dealers.

During this time the McBrides, Mr. Merle and his wife have prepared all of the food except the pies and have given the customers old-fashioned meals without any of the fancy frills. To insure the highest quality food, Mr. McBride buys all the meats and groceries himself.

Next Thursday, their anniversary, they will give free ice cream, cake and a beverage with each meal purchased. They will have special lunches all day.

The McBrides spent seven years in the restaurant business in Nelsonville before coming to Columbus.

This story was told in the presence of several ministers recently so it should be sufficiently censored.

A city man was conversing with a native of a backward section of the country.

At the conclusion of the show a reverse order of the same routine was gone through and he went comfortably on his way home.

Something Definite

County Engineer Slade has been quite active in building roads these days.

But it seems that most of the roads are either north or south . . . at least people living west have very little to remind them that the county engineer has been doing all that he might have done for their section.

This community has one main outlet from downtown—Broad street. Most certainly more are much needed, and we maintain more needed than a program that improved a north side outlet that was already much better than any the west side had.

Now comes the Sandusky bridge improvement which should make possible some attention to this section. But as yet we see little that has been done that will assure these improvements for the Hilltop. We hope Mr. Slade's office has this ace up his sleeve when he appears at the meeting of the Hilltop Business Men's association Tuesday evening to explain this project.

World Series

What is so rare as a day in . . . October . . . ? And what could add more to that day than to have a reserved seat at Crosley Field for the opening game of the World's Series?

These were questions I asked myself . . . me a Cincinnati fan, after I had picked a score of 4 to 2 in favor of the Reds . . . and then I knew the answer after that second inning when the Detroit Tigers started blasting Derringer and drove in five runs . . . yep, the answer was that a rarer day would be to have the Reds come up with a mighty rally But that never came to pass.

Once in a lifetime . . . It was my first World Series game . . . certainly I wouldn't pay any such prices for many such games.

But when nearly 33,000 people crowd into a ball park paying average prices of $6.30 per seat it is proof of a mighty spectacle. And standing room went for $3.45 with plenty of takers.

It was a colorful event, with all the big leaguers present and sports notables from all over the country on hand. News cameras flashing, radio broadcasts and telegraph keys clicking attested the interest of all the world in what was going on in Cincinnati.

Hitlers, Mussolinis and all the mighty war mongers, had they been present, might be more inclined to swallow a few of their words toward this country after seeing at first hand what constitutes this American spirit.

Observations: Hank Gowdy, Columbusite, Reds coach, and first big leaguer to enlist in the World War, out there giving directions from back of first base . . . Al Schact, the baseball funny man, doing his stuff to entertain the crowd before the game opened . . . Met Judge and Mrs. Cecil J. Randall outside the gates after the game. They were guests of Cincinnati friends . . . Members of the winning team in the series will receive somewhere in the vicinity of $5000 each as their share of the winnings—the losers will take about a thousand less. So it seems that anyway you take it either side is in the money.

Burglars Fired On By Policeman

Patrolman Roy Morgan reported to superiors that when he went to investigate an auto parked in the yard of a filling station at W. Broad-st and Roys-av, shortly before dawn two men ran from the place.

Morgan said he fired two shots, one at each man, and that one of the suspects stumbled as if he had been hit but managed to get into the car before the other man drove away.

The filling station had been entered by breaking a front door glass and a pay telephone had been torn from the wall. When he fired the shots, Morgan said, a third man who had been seated in the auto jumped out and ran north in Roys-av.

Record Will Present Pros And Cons On Gas Question

Besides making a choice between numerous candidates for county, state and federal offices the voters of Columbus early next month will accept or reject the new gas rate proposal submitted by the city council.

Early in May of this year, at the behest of Gas Co. officials, members of city council agreed to pass on to the voters in the May primary the problem of deciding between the present gas rate as set by the Public Utility commission and a higher gas rate deemed "fair" by company officials.

The matter was not carried to the voters at that time as the result of a taxpayer's suit, who held that the issue could not submitted at the primary.

In September city council enacted the proposal, which will be put to the voters next month The proposal which will be accepted or rejected on Nov. 1) at the polls, involves three main points:

1. For two years Columbus gas consumers will pay the regular 56 cent rate, then a 61 cent rate for the two following years.

2. The $1,500,000 impounded by the courts will be redistributed to those who were gas consumers during the time at which the money was impounded.

3. A guaranteed $150,000 will be paid into the city's general tax fund from the unclaimed surplus of impounded money.

Those who support the proposal on this basis want to end "the prolonged and wasteful litigation." Those who oppose, affirm that the present rate is "fair enough" and that the cost of litigation to the taxpayer is many times absorbed in a lower gas rate.

Feeling that the electorate will not be in a position to decide the matter on its own merits without having access to the arguments pro and con, the Record will present both sides of the question in its next issue.

C. W. Weaver, president of Gas Co., will present the case for the utility, while Prof. Hunter, secretary of law at Ohio State university, will give his reasons for opposing the increased rate.

On the following week the Record will present the reaction of the public to the new rate proposal. An independent survey of the entire city has been conducted for the purpose.

A Gas Co. official will present the case for the utility, while a prominent spokesman from the other camp will give his reasons for opposing the increased rate.

Third Artery To The Hilltop Is Planned For McKinley-Av With Sandusky-St Bridge Project

Four Lane Highway Is In Prospect As $900,000 Project Is Considered

With the announcement by County Engineer Allan Slade that plans were almost completed for the removal of the "bottleneck" at Sandusky-st over the Scioto river, the third project in the "four artery plan" for the betterment of the Hilltop is being realized by Ray Hauntz, W. Broad-st grocer, member of city council, and one of the staunchest community loving citizens in Columbus.

Hauntz, former president of the Columbus board of education, fostered a dream three years ago when he stood before the Hilltop Business Men's association and outlined his plans for major improvements for the Hilltop.

His first plan, repairing and resurfacing of Sullivant-av has been completed. His second proposed project was the installing of modern busses on Broad-st from the center of the city to west city limits. That has been completed.

Third Project Ready

And now his third project, the straightening and extending of McKinley-av from Sandusky-st or Olentangy-blvd, straight through to west city limits, giving through traffic to the north and downtown seems about to be realized, for in the bottleneck elimination plans of the Sandusky-st bridge, details call for the extension of McKinley-av, from Souder-av east along the south bank of the Scioto river to make it eventually become an extension of Washington-blvd.

This combination of Washington-blvd and McKinley-av, which in reality will be one continuous thoroughfare, will then serve as a parallel relief route for W. Broad-st and provide main east and west highway.

It is also planned to widen McKinley-av to a four-lane highway and improve it west to Wilson-rd, connecting it with Crystal Springs-dr. Under passes would be constructed at the intersection of Sandusky-st and McKinley-av, with ramps so that all turns can be made without interrupting the continuous flow of traffic.

Long St. Bridge Planned

Provision is also made in the future for a new bridge across the Scioto river at Long-st to connect with the proposed boulevard.

The new Sandusky-st bridge, along with the recently improved Olentangy river road, will provide a main north and south thoroughfare for Hilltoppers.

Engineer Allan Slade said State Highway Director Robert S. Beightler has agreed to construct the two railroad underpasses, one in Sandusky-st and the other in McKinley-av. The county would build the new Sandusky-st bridge.

The city would pay a portion of the cost of relocating the railroad tracks and a portion of the underpass in McKinley-av.

To Cost $900,000

The plan for immediate consideration, which includes the Sandusky-st bridge, the relocation of railroad tracks, the construction of two underpasses and the extension of McKinley-av from Souder-st to Sandusky-st along the bank of the river will cost about $900,000.

The state is expected to pay $400,000, the county $300,000, the city and the railroad each $100,000.

The project will be discussed at the Tuesday night meeting of the Hilltop business men at Schmelzer's restaurant which gets under way at 6:30, when a member of the county engineer's staff will bring plans from the office.

Mother, Seven Children Flee From Flames

A mother and her seven small children Tuesday night escaped injury when swiftly spreading flames from an upset oil stove almost trapped them in their home at 1715 Sullivant-av, a small frame residence remodeled from a building of the former Columbus baby camp

Mrs. Miriam Masters, wife of N. A. Masters, a meat cutter, said the children were playing in the dining room and kitchen when her son, Don, six, accidentally kicked over the oil stove in the kitchen.

Flames shot into curtains. She led her family to safety. The other children range from three to 10 years old.

Mrs. Nina E. King, 419 Helen-st, saw the fire from her home and called the fire department.

Polar Bears Are Favored To Repeat 1939 Victory Today

Buckaroos In Good Shape For First Home Game of the Season

West High's battling Buckaroos, still remembering the kick in the pants they got last year from North's Polar Bears, will be out to avenge that upset this afternoon when the two teams meet in the opening city high loop game for West, on West field, in a game scheduled to start at 3:15.

North has already downed Aquinas in a city loop tilt in addition to Grandview and Fostoria St. Wendelin.

Although it is the initial tilt of the loop season for West, it has long been regarded as the big game of the year for the Buckaroos.

Last year West was one of half a dozen undefeated teams in the state until North upset them 21-0.

North appears to have a powerful unit that will bear watching at all times. With six lettermen back, two of them regulars last year, North showed flashes of a tricky backfield. Two of the touchdowns against Grandview came on long runs

The lines of both teams are on a par, North outweighing West by about two pounds per man, or less. The North line, bunched on a scale, would total 1176 pounds while the West line hits the Fairbanks at 1164.

Coach Williams will put a full strength team on the field for the first time this season. Medlick's shoulder is still a little ouchy but he is ready to start and the same goes for the entire team, every lad a fighting bit of machinery just waiting to skin the Polar Bears.

West will be attired in buff pants with red socks and white jerseys with red numbers while Mike Hagley's North team will be sporting gold jerseys with maroon numbers and gold pants with maroon stripes

Comparative scores, ranking North, Aquinas, Springfield and West, give the Polar Bears a 14 point margin in today's tilt.

Trounce Cougars

Meanwhile the Cowboy gridiron unit garnered its initial victory of the campaign last week in downing a fighting Van Wert eleven by a 25-12 margin. It was the first defeat for the Cougars on their home field in four years, and according to the Van Wert newspaper, "West was the best football team the Cougars have met in the last few years."

Danny Brown and Ray Medlick carried the Bucks' offensive punch with the latter turning in a fine job after some early season injuries which still have not healed to the fullest extent. Medlick tossed a six-yard touchdown pass to Ray Smith in the first minute of play to put the Bucks ahead Van Wert tied the score at 6-all in the second period by connecting on an aerial from Sells to B. Good. Ere the quarter had ended, however, West had counted with a 41-yard drive led by Brown which resulted in a 13-6 margin at half after Jack Hobbs had kicked point.

Medlick headed a 49-yard touchdown drive late in the third canto to put the Bucks ahead 19-6 after which the second-stringers took over. But Van Wert was not down yet and the Cougars made the count 19-12 by scoring in the early moments of the fourth chukker. At this point Brown and the other varsity men returned to the fray and the 138-pound speedster led another 45-yard touchdown march and scored after a beautiful jaunt from the 15-yard line.

All-Hi Gridder?

Ray Smith

While we may be putting him on the spot at an early stage of the game, nevertheless it is the opinion of those who have witnessed him in his three performances to date that he will make a strong bid for All-High honors on the grid for West high this year Ray is a blocking back.

Local Missionary Believes Russia Will Conquer Orient

Father Gregory McEttrick, the first pupil of St. Aloysius school to be ordained to the priesthood, has been spending the past two weeks at the home of his mother, 1033 Cable-av, on a brief vacation before going to Des Moines, Ia., for a special study, after which he will begin a series of mission services throughout the country.

Fr. Gregory has had an interesting life the past 18 years, dodging bandits, who captured him five times, and riding mule-back on his travels 900 miles in the interior of China.

His work in setting up refugee camps and emergency hospitals for the war's injured took up most of his time in the past few years since the two yellow races have been at each other's throats.

But the yellow man will not be returned the ultimate victor, Mr. Gregory believes. The only winner will be Russia."

He explained that the Russians, although they are giving some aid to the Chinese, are really waiting for the time when both China and Japan become so exhausted, both financially and physically, that they will be easy prey. Russia, he believes, will then form a protectorate over China and conquer Japan.

Fr. Gregory made his initial journey to China in 1924. There he lived as a native and spent his time in the Hunan province which is in the south center of China.

Rides Mule-Back

He was forced to travel throughout the province on mule-back and the 300-mile journey is often made in this manner. He explained that the area which was once so desolate is now marked by roads and bus service awaits many travelers. The war's influence is causing the construction of roads, Fr. Gregory stated.

The priest does not believe he was in much danger of his life when captured by the bandits. They were "gentlemen bandits" and merely took him in custody for a few days, hoping for ransom, and then released him minus the few valuables he had on his person.

Forty-five air raids by the Japanese endangered his life since the start of the war and more than once he has had to take refuge in crudely constructed wooden shelters.

Two St. Aloysius schoolmates of Fr. Gregory, Mrs. Harold B. Gillivan, 77 S. Brinker-av, and Mrs. Vincent P. Hannigan, 283 S. Richardson-av, entertained with a reception at the Gillivan home recently. Father McEttrick received the guests dressed in his native Chinese clothes which he wore in China.

Sandusky Inaugurates Practice Of Taking Finger Prints

Jacob E. Sandusky

More than 14,000 persons have been fingerprinted in the county sheriff's office since Sheriff Jacob E. Sandusky was inaugurated into office. Prior to that time so such records were kept by the local sheriff's office. Realizing the importance of an identification bureau which could cooperate efficiently with the FBI and other law enforcement agencies, Mr. Sandusky set up this department soon after taking office. As a result the war on crime in Franklin county now proceeds with greater speed and effectiveness than ever before.

Sheriff Sandusky's force was the first in Ohio and the second in the United States to complete advanced Red Cross training. He was also the first sheriff's office in the state of Ohio to organize a mobile Red Cross unit. Today every man on the sheriff's force has completed Red Cross training and every car is fully equipped to render first aid in cases of emergency.

Mr. Sandusky was born in Gahanna, his father having been constable of Mifflin township for 30 years. He came to Columbus more than 30 years ago and entered the automobile business. He is seeking a second term this fall and his record for honesty and fair dealing and his efficient administration of the office have gained him widespread support.

The sheriff is a member of the Eagles, Elks, Odd Fellows, Moose, and various civic organizations. He is 48 years of age, married and the father of one son.

Rev. Wesley Dissette Ordained In 1908 In Hillsdale, Michigan

Rev. Wesley Dessette, new pastor at Immanuel Baptist church, Belvidere-av, has been a minister for 30 years.

He graduated from Crozer Theological Seminary and was ordained in Hillsdale, Mich., in 1908, his first pastorate. Other Michigan pastorates were in Monroe, South Haven and Lansing. In Ohio he had churches in Toledo and near Obeslin. He was the immediate predecessor in Chicago of Rev. J. H. Hughes who came from Chicago to Hillcrest church some years ago. While in Chicago Rev. Dessette built a $125,000 building. He went to Oregon in 1936, but his health failed while there, and came back to Ohio and took a small rural church near Oberlin while recuperating.

He was born in Medina, and came from a family of preachers. His father and two of his brothers were preachers and one of his sisters was a missionary. He has two sons in Michigan, one of them in Benton Harbor, a newspaper man, the other in South Haven with the Telephone Co. He has a married daughter living in Elmira, N. Y.

Rev. and Mrs. Dissette arrived in Columbus Oct. 1 and are living at 668 S. Harris-av.

Kitchen Shower Honors Bride of Jack Bonn

A kitchen shower was held Wednesday, Sept. 25, at the new home of Mrs. Jack Bonn, 280 S. Brinker-av, with Mrs. Harold Smith, 405 Clarendon-av, and Mrs. Edward Fisher as co-hostesses, in honor of their sister, Mrs. Lester Rumbold, the former Miss Dorothy Fisher, formerly of the Hilltop, a bride of Aug. 28, 1940.

During the evening the guests prepared a scrapbook of the past, present and future life of the bride, by cutting appropriate pictures from magazines, and presented it to her.

As an unusual stunt, the bride was given instructions in rhyming verse as to the whereabouts of the gifts which were concealed everywhere from attic to coal-bin.

The house was lavishly decorated with bright autumn leaves. The table at which the 20 guests were served ice cream, cake, mints, etc., also carried this theme.

Mrs. Arthur W. Kimes, 246 Maple-dr, is chairman of the finance committee in charge of this annual affair. The following are members of her committee: Mrs. Robert Edwards, Mrs. Sam C. Heinzman, Mrs. Melvin Dutton, Mrs. Howard Breckenridge, Mrs. Robetr Giehl, Mrs. Oscar Baker and James Groves, principal of Rome school, Floyd Grimie, Carl Jenny and Richard Glass.

Tickets may be obtained from any of the committee in charge or may be purchased on the school grounds on the night of the carnival. Proceeds go toward improvements in the school.

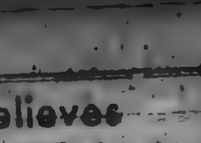
Carnival At Rome School Lot Tonight

A carnival, a play and grand drawing will be given by the Rome PTA tonight in the Rome school grounds.

The play, "Hen Peck at the Hitching Post," will star Mrs. John Giehl as the bride, Russell Hughes, groom, Carl Jenny, parson, and Mrs. John Creasy, father of the bride. Mrs. Floyd Armstrong is directing.

THE INFIDEL

With an insolent nod he says there's no God.
When he is strong and free
But a different story is the theme of glory
When he's facing eternity.
He was an infidel, when he was well.
When the end was drawing nigh
A different story was his theme of glory
As it came his time to die.



Sinners weave a veil with mockin o'er head.
A structure strong and fine.
Can you truthfully say, as you view each day.
It isn't a thing divine?
There are rivers wide o'er which we ride.
Over bridges which make the span.
Lest we forget, spiders weave a net
Never equaled by hands of man.

With an insolent nod he says there's no God.
At religion he will sneer.
When death is near, too late to repent—
He'll cry aloud in fear
He'll cry aloud, at the thought of his shroud
And the Lord may hear his cry
He was an infidel, when he was well.
But different when he came to die.

Harold Bratt Makes 'Em Want His Autograph

Harold Bratt, 19-year-old Columbus dramatics aspirant, 384 S. Burgess-av, doesn't sign his name Laurence Olivier but he might if appearance means anything.

Following an impromptu appearance on the "Inquiring Reporter" program over WCOL recently, spectators were struck by his resemblance to that movie personality and the next week he was invited back for a return engagement.

Harold, a graduate of Holy Family school, where he majored in dramatics, wasn't expecting the turnout which made its appearance to see the boy "who looked so much like the star of 'Pride and Prejudice'."

A bevy of lovely young ladies, scores of craning males and matronly women anxious to see Columbus' counterpart of Mr. Olivier appeared on the scene and overflowed into High-st. Nonplussed, Harold stuttered a moment, then regained his Olivier-like poise as he reiterated previously stated desires—to become even more like his movie double through the medium of a Hollywood contract.

STRONG DUAL BILL AT LOEW'S BROAD

Loew's Broad is now showing a strong dual bill, with "The Great McGinty" and "Comin' Round The Mountain" as the two features. Brian Donlevy plays the title role in the first, playing a bum who becomes governor of the state. Muriel Angelus and Akim Tamiroff are in the cast. Bob Burns is in the second with such hill-billy favorites as Uncle Ezra, Bill Thompson and Gildersleeve, plus Jerry Colonna.

Mickey Rooney at Ohio

Loew's Ohio is now playing as a single feature the joyous youthful musical treat, "Strike Up The Band," with Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland and Paul Whiteman and his orchestra. This is the tuneful successor to last season's "Babes in Arms." Starting next Friday, Oct. 11, the Ohio will show Cary Grant and Martha Scott in "The Howards of Virginia" and Ann Sothern in "Dudley."

Two tired business men were riding home from their stores on the street car. Side by side they sat, both looking worried, and both remaining silent. Finally one heaved a deep sigh. The other studied him for a moment and then said in an annoyed tone: "You're telling me?"

Jim Farley admits in his book, "Behind the Ballots," that he became a Democrat just because his father was one.

Bob Draper, who once pitched for St. John's in the city's first church league, now does well to throw the ball from the mound as far as the batter's box. From him and John Wolfe we gathered the following facts about that first Hilltop church team:

Listed as a pitcher in addition to Draper was Moneychanger Elmer Hegenberger. John Wolfe played in left field. Lloyd Thompson caught. Ralph Welch first base. Hardwareman Paul Rausch second base. V. E. Wolfe third base. Howard Young center field. Big Barney (Walter) Schultz right field. and Little Barney (George) Schultz was a utility man.

The Wolfes played an important role with that first team. V. E. had a field meet in that first game, banging out 4 triples and 3 homeruns. In the game that decided the city championship that year J. W. dropped a tenth inning fly that cost the game.

Bob Ferguson attended a wedding Saturday p. m. after eating a garlicy spaghetti dinner. It didn't keep him from kissing the bride though . . . Herb Deems had quite a time in New York according to his own reports. Walked in the exit door of Radio Center Music Hall when it opened up in front of him. Got himself mistaken for a clerk in a Washington department store . . . Bill Jones is a graceful figure riding a bicycle down West Broad St . . . Jim Shields got himself pressed into service as best man when he went to Chicago on his vacation this fall. Not possessing the proper wardrobe for such an occasion on short notice he came away with a new necktie and a pair of shoes for his time . . . Jim Farley's head reflected the Saturday afternoon sun like a sundial up at the Ohio Stadium when he was introduced during the game.

Attending the Pomona Fair while on their recent trip to California, Melba Powell, of this office, paid her dime to a man who pretended to guess your age within three years" or you get a VALUABLE PRIZE." Melba turned in her age on a slip of paper.

The man looked at her and guessed 10 years under her 38.

The prize was a cane.

We suppose the implication was that if she was as old as she claimed to be it wouldn't be long before she would need it.

MODERN POETRY

FOR EYES THAT SEE

Today I saw a blind man smile,
As kindly led by a young boy
He followed down the streetcar aisle,
His sightless eyes alight with joy.

If he can smile, I should not sigh,
I saw three lovely things today:
A robin and a woodpecker,
And a saucy bright bluejay.

PRAYER

Today I thank You, God,
Because You did not give
The thing, without which, yesterday
I thought I could not live.

I am too often wrong
To pray for concrete deed,
So now I leave it all to You.
Please give me what I need.

With you and me and all the race,

While hands still clutch at man-made things.

THE FATHER

Little tendrils, holding tight
To the trellis, painted white,
Place sublimest confidence
In the swaying garden fence.
Groping fingers have a flair
For searching in the upper air.

Tiny fingers cling to mine
With a trust that is sublime.
Violet-blue eyes, grave, intense,
Search my face with confidence.
Grant me boundless wisdom, God,
Direct my hand aright
That I may train this tender flower
To reach its topmost height.

OBSERVATION

I know no magic formula
To bring back love when love has fled;
I know no way by which a dream
May be revived, once it is dead.

But I have known love, bruised and torn,
Denied, rejected, lingering still;
And dreams, are such resilient things,
Notoriously hard to kill.

Seven-Year Man

Ed Melvin

By Esther Weakley

Mr. Ed. Melvin said it didn't matter what he said about himself for we wouldn't get it right anyway. So if he DOES look like Clark Gable as another prominent Hilltopper is supposed to, don't blame us for he said he did not. Sotto voce: our notes are "cold," but we're reasonably sure he said he was better looking than Mr. Gable.

Mr. Melvin was born on a farm in Jackson county and has lived in Columbus 38 years. He is married and lives at 107 S. Warren-av. He is the proprietor of the Melvin Hardware and Paint Co. which has been located at 2409 W. Broad-st, for the past seven years. Before that he was connected with building and manufacturing concerns.

His hobbies are colored movies, photography, traveling and fried chicken, which he says his wife is "tops" at fixing. (Mr. Adrian Fuller, please note). The Melvins recently took a trip to Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin are the parents of one son, George E., who is associated with the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

Governor Bricker Fulfills Contract

By a mere nod of his head, Governor John W. Bricker could have had the nomination for vice-president at the Republican national convention at Philadelphia. Hours before the final session which was to nominate a candidate for vice-president, some 15 or 20 delegations called personally upon Governor Bricker, urging him to accept the nomination, but to all such pleas, the governor replied that he "definitely and positively would not accept" because "I have been honored with an unopposed renomination and have a contract with the people of Ohio." Governor Bricker was given quite an ovation when he appeared before the convention at the end of the last ballot and placed the motion which declared the nomination of Wendell Wilkie for president to be unanimous.

WHY?

The jaunty blue jay, handsome in
His smartly tailored coat,
Sends out such rasping, raucous sounds
From his dark-ruffled, ruffy throat.
I wonder why.
—Ola S. Runyan, in Quickening Seed.

LIFE HAS NO END

I shall be free . . . even though I fall
From off this towering prison wall;
And freer still, though a sentinel send
Whizzing steel . . . life has no end!

City Slicker

THE city slicker of American folklore again has his eyes on the pretty milkmaid.

In other words, the liquor industry is out to woo the population of the small city and farm.

In mid-1939 the director of public relations of the National Distillers told the liquor industry:

"Instead of dumping more hundreds of thousands of dollars into the coffers of big-town newspapers, I have advocated for two years and will continue to advocate the diversion of distiller advertising to the smaller towns, even the county seats."

The reason for such attempts to mislead the small city and rural population is easy to find. The liquor industry fears the reaction of the intelligent, individualistic, thinking rural resident to the social evils which have followed repeal. The industry will spend much money to try to woo public opinion in the small cities and on the farms, long the centers of temperance sentiment.

Despite this campaign, 59 per cent of more than 10,000 weekly newspapers still refuse to accept advertisements of distilled spirits; 50 per cent (one per cent more than in 1938) refuse even to accept beer advertising.

A large number of metropolitan newspapers and periodicals also refuse such advertising. The Ladies' Home Journal makes a definite, forthright statement of refusal to advertise liquors. Its editors say that its readers and its advertisers are the guests of the magazine but that there are some paying guests it does not welcome, such as those who influence others to their own detriment.

Mental Cases Increase.

The first six years of repeal showed a 55.5 per cent increase in new cases due to alcoholic intemperance at Illinois mental hospitals, as compared with the 1922-1928 period.

The survey covered the 1923 to 1939 years, 1923 being the earliest year tabulated by the Department of Public Welfare.

The total for the six years, 1923 to 1928, was 5,113, as against 7,951 for the first six years of repeal.

The tabulation showed a steady increase (only 1935 showing a temporary drop) beginning in 1933 of "first admissions due to intemperance."

In the last year tabulated, 1938, it was shown that 20 per cent of all first admissions to Illinois mental hospitals were patients described as "intemperate," the largest percentage officially reported in the 16-year period.

Farm Bureau Co-op Plan Is Successful

Ohio Farm Bureau Co-operative associations have been so successful the past year as to attract national attention and now the federal secretary of agriculture, Henry A. Wallace, has given out that he is backing a move to bring all such organizations "under the government wing." There are more than 10,000 farmer-co-operatives in the nation and last year these organizations handled products valued at approximately $2,000,000,000.

Fund Drive Slogan

The above has been adopted this year as a standardized emblem and slogan for the community fund of Columbus and Franklin county. The slogan, "Help Build Life," voices the spirit of saving lives as opposed to the destruction of life in war-torn foreign countries. The fund drive begins Oct. 14 and the goal is $669,271.

Local Boy Wins Poster Award

More than 5,000 students from 47 states submitted posters to the fifth annual national peace poster contest in Philadelphia where 118 students were awarded recognition.

America Our Home Sweet Home

TO A NATION that can point to approximately 40% of its 130,000,000 people who own their own homes, "Home, Sweet Home" is no mere figure of speech. Here, home has a deeper, richer significance than it has in any other land throughout the world.

Since its glorious founding, America has adopted millions of the hunted, the persecuted and the oppressed. It has taught them the love of tolerance, the love of liberty, and the love of being able to own and to fervently say . . . "Our Home, Sweet Home."

To those few who would lend any moral or physical aid to the forces of dehumanization seeking to violate the sanctity of our home-loving people, a united, aroused America thunders "Beware."

America and its home-lovers do not dread the future. Our love of free speech, free religious worship, free assembly and a free press is today more deeply imbedded in the heart of each American than ever before. We place our unbounded trust in a Providence who has blessed us for over 150 years. We place our destiny and guidance in the souls, hearts and bodies of our people who will fight to the death for the freedom of their hands, the freedom of their intelligence and the freedom of their conscience.

We are proud to be part of the first line of defense of American liberties . . . to always stand militantly at the side of every true American against the inroads of doctrines seeking to destroy America's priceless heritage.

This reminder of our heritage is presented to you through the co-operation of the following leaders of

New Hilltop Homes

An announcement of importance both to the building trade and the Hilltop in particular was made this week by Sam Roessler, president of Sam Roessler, Inc., builders and real estate brokers, 1099 E. Broad-st.

A home building program of $120,000 is already under way with three new structures started at the corner of Rankin-rd and Chestershire-av. Twenty-three more homes will be erected on Chestershire and Wilshire Heights. The homes will range from a basic of $4200 to $7500.

"These homes," Mr. Roessler stated, "are being built to alleviate the scarcity of desirable properties now prevalent in the west side area. All the proposed homes are located with an eye on proximity to schools, transportation facilities and commercial centers of the Hilltop. The progressive spirit of the Hilltop populace will allow this building program to fit in very readily."

This program is the largest and most expansive ever undertaken by the Roessler organization in this section and one that should induce home ownership.

Freedom of The Press

This is National Newspaper Week

We sincerely believe all the freedom so much enjoyed in this country today and the thing that is fast becoming extinct elsewhere in the world is and will be maintained only so long as there is freedom of speech and freedom of the press in this country.

Those elected to public office are elected to become public servants. They are sent into office to carry out the orders of those who elected them. They will do so only so long as their actions can be brought out into the open for public inspection through the medium of the press.

One of the first steps toward those dictatorships abroad was that of eliminating a free press. Their program could and did succeed only when the newspapers were muzzled and controlled. Today every printed bit of news or propaganda has first been approved by the powers that be.

There have been some efforts in this direction in this country. Right today the administration seeking a third term would like to turn thumbs down on much of the information that is going into the public prints.

Any abuse of the freedom of speech or of the press in this country is a definite step toward destruction of individual liberties. And so it is that this week, National Newspaper Week, is being observed to point out more clearly how closely related are this freedom of the press and the individual liberty enjoyed by you, and you, and you.

To Be Fair On Gas Question

Today The Record is presenting the first of a series of articles which we believe should be of interest to every voter in deciding how to vote on the proposed gas ordinance in November.

We have no desire to fight the battle of the Gas Co., or of any individuals with dislikes for the Gas Co. We are interested in seeing that the Gas Co. case is fairly presented and at the same time that gas consumers of the city get a fair rate.

We believe the voters can be depended on to vote fairly in the matter. It is a question of long standing and one that should have careful thought of every voter before casting his or her ballot.

Boys Junior Bowling Loop Is Started

Membership buttons are now available for all members of the Boys' Junior Bowling club, a group of boys who have not yet reached the age of 14, who meet at the Hilltop Bowling alleys on Saturday morning for supervised bowling and instruction.

The boys are given special rates of 10 cents a game, and are permitted to bowl three games between 9 and noon for these prices.

Proprietor Bill Wolfe and Gaylan Painter are on hand to give instructions. All boys of the Hilltop are invited to join. There is no charge.

The Hilltop group is a part of the city-wide club that is seeking to promote interest in bowling among the boys of the city.

Each week a record is kept of the boys scores, their conduct on the alleys, and their neatness. A committee will be selected at the end of the season to go over the scores and also check on the boys school work.

Tenth Ward GOP Planning Rally

The tenth Ward Republicans are planning a rally Friday, Oct. 18, at Glenwood shelter house. All members are urged to attend.

Hilltop Ministers To Meet Wednesday

The Hilltop Ministerial association will meet on Wednesday, Oct. 16, at 5 p. m. at the Hillcrest Baptist church. All Hilltop pastors are asked to be present.

M. W. SEILLER IS ROTARIAN

M. W. Seiller has been elected to membership of the Columbus Rotary club, it was announced this week.

Buckaroos To Meet Grandview

West High's band of aerial-minded Buckaroos will attempt to ring up their initial win on the home lot this afternoon at 3:30 when they play host to a slumping Grandview eleven that is a far cry from the outstanding teams produced by the Grandview lads in the past.

On paper, the game looms as a toss-up, with comparative scores giving the local Buckaroos a one-touchdown margin, or less, and one of the season's most exciting, if not important, game is the outlook sideliners are preparing for.

Coach Williams has had his boys working hard all week in an effort to plan a defense for the Whipple, Haddox, Reed and Motz running attack which the visitors are expected to put on.

Tippy Dye's eleven, a fighting-for-ground-squad, has a potent smashing attack once it gets started.

Pass Attack Weak

Coach Williams devoted much time this week to developing receivers and accurate passers for his offensive. Ball handling was also one of Williams pet peeves this week and the boys are going around handling the pigskin as if it were glued to their fingers.

North 20, West 0

Last week's North-West game, which you may have heard was won by North, 20-0, closely resembled the air battle going on "across the pond." A total of 37 passes were thrown by the two teams, West completing five of their 23 attempts and North receivers holding on to six of their 14 tries.

North also intercepted three Buckaroo tosses, one of them being converted into a 40-yard touchdown jaunt by Bill Craig, North's defensive halfback.

Last Friday's game was merely a case of a good "big man" having the better of an argument with a good "little man."

After a scoreless first quarter in which West threatened twice, the Polar Bears put on the steam and in the second period one of Medlick's long high passes was intercepted by Craig and the scoring ice was broken. Hatfield added the place kick to make it 7-0.

Many Fumbles

Phil Drake added another touchdown on a two-yard line thrust a few moments later and in the third period, Dwight Crawford snatched a fumbled pass out of mate Bob Ford's hands and went over for the final count.

North contributed nine first downs to West's seven. Both sides were guilty of numerous fumbles which slowed the game down to an unsteady pace.

Between 4,000 and 4,500 spectators watched the fracas. West, to date, has won one game, at Van Wert. West has lost three games, to Newark, Springfield and North.

Next week West plays at South High in a night game.

Bondholders will be admitted free to today's game, it was announced. They will also be admitted free to the Dayton Roosevelt homecoming game.

PTA Sponsors Show At Ritz

The John Burroughs Parent Teacher association will sponsor a picture show at the Ritz theatre on Oct. 23 and 24. The double bill has been carefully selected to please both children and adults.

The features will be "Out West With the Peppers," starring Edith Fellows and Tommy Bond, and "Beyond Tomorrow," starring Charles Winniger, Jean Parker, Harry Carey and Richard Carlson.

On Wednesday, Oct. 26, there will be a special children's matinee at 3 o'clock. Tickets for the shows may be secured from the executive board members, room mothers, pupils of the school or at the theatre box office.

Republican Club To Hear Candidates Tuesday

The regular meeting of the Eleventh Ward Republican club, Inc., will be held Tuesday, Oct. 15, in VFW hall, 2393½ W. Broad-st, at 8 o'clock.

This will be candidates' night, and the public is invited to come and hear the candidates speak.

There will be entertainment.

Booth To Speak To West Pupils

Charles Brandon Booth, national secretary of the Volunteers of America, and a member of the world-famed Booth family, founders of the Volunteers, will speak on "You and Company" at the West High school assembly Tuesday morning.

These Are Pros And Cons On Gas Question

As announced last week The Record is herewith presenting pros and cons regarding the proposed gas rate ordinance to be submitted to the voters at the November election.

Points on the pro side are arguments used by the Gas Co. in favor of passage of the ordinance. Those on the con side are arguments that have been used by persons interested in retaining the present rate and leaving the matter of settlement of the case to the courts and utilities commission.

In the next issue of The Record reactions of the public will be presented. An independent survey of the entire city has been conducted for the purpose. Furthermore, The Record will be glad to attempt to secure the answers to any questions regarding the issue that may be presented by our readers.

Pros

The compromise rate submitted by the city council is in every sense a true compromise.

Taking into consideration the current rise in prices and job costs the gas rate should be close to .64½ in order for the company to realize a "fair" return on its investment as guaranteed by law.

The 56.22 rate set by the state public utility commission is based on cost conditions of 1934. These conditions have been altered substantially since that time.

Taxes on the Gas Co. have increased approximately 84½% between 1935 and 1939. Job costs, including material and labor costs, have gone up by over 30% during the same period. Since 1934 additions to plant and equipment have totaled more than a half million dollars. Likewise, distribution costs in the city of Columbus alone have gone up by approximately 18%.

Thus, on the basis of the calculations of the public utility commission, itself, the rate today should be approximately .64½ as compared with 56.22c in 1934. The Gas Co. compromised, however, on 61.18c.

Besides being willing to absorb the loss due to the compromise rate the utility is willing to take additional steps in order to settle, once and for all, the age-old rate controversy.

Furthermore, it has agreed to forego any claim on the $1,500,000 impounded by the courts between May, 1926 and June, 1927 and turn this back to the gas consumers. The average check to every consumer who purchased gas between 1925 and 1927 will amount to $21.34. Furthermore, the company has guaranteed that a minimum of $150,000 (from unclaimed checks) shall be then given into the city's general fund.

In spite of all that has been said to the contrary, the proposed rate is favorable to the small consumer. During the years 1941-42, according to the compromise rate, the cost to the consumer of the first thousand feet of gas will be 90c. For the following two years this will rise to $1.14. Yet, even before the gas is turned on, the cost to the company for meter service, pipe line installation, regulator equipment, etc., amounts to $1.18 per customer. Thus, the Gas company will be compelled to take a loss on many of its small consumer accounts.

The fact that the present rate is manifestly unfair to the company can be more vividly understood by a comparison with rates

Cons

One of the first questions posed is: Why is city council, after having spent thousands of dollars of taxpayers' money on the gas case unwilling to wait for the decision of the courts on the matter?

The 56.22 rate case is now before the Ohio Supreme court, while the case of the impounded money is to be decided in the United States District court.

It is maintained that a decision would have been rendered by the latter before now if city council had not agreed to submit the compromise ordinance at the polls.

Many believe there are several indications that the decision on the impounded money will be favorable to the public. It has been pointed out that Gas Co. officials are more than anxious to have their own rate accepted before the court hands down its decision.

Members of city council have assumed that they could arrive at a rate which would be fair both to the company and the public, it is agreed.

Ascertaining a fair rate base is a job which requires years of detailed investigation, for which members of city council have neither the time nor the competence to do. In this regard, witness the time spent by the Public Utilities commission, the city attorney and staffs of engineers in an effort to arrive at a fair rate base.

Persons well acquainted with public utility methods state that their methods of calculating rates are filled with fiction after fiction.

They claim a rate base, under present methods, is determined by the cost of reproduction. In the past all sorts of intangible factors were thrown into the porridge pot, including stupendous amounts for "good will," "going concern" and the like. Many of these items have been thrown out by the courts.

All money spent by the utility in fighting rate cases through advertising and legal action usually goes into the rate base and the public pays.

In view of such things as these, opponents of the proposed rate maintain, it is amazing that city councilmen can feel competent to arrive at an equitable compromise.

The proposed rate is manifestly unfair to the small consumer, it is claimed. During the years 1941-42 he will pay .90 for the first thousand cubic feet. And from 1943 on he will pay $1.14 for the first thousand cubic feet. This high initial rate, the gas company officials claim, includes the service charge. If this high initial rate is for a service charge, what is the minimum rate for? Obviously, there are too many service charges.

By all measurements, the proposed 61c rate is too high. The figure set by the Public Utility commission is conservative and favors the utility, if anything, is the claim.

Gas Co. officials argue that costs have risen so high since 1935, the base year for the utility commission's 56.22 rate, that a current rate should approximate

HBMA Hears How Europe's Scribes Work

"We need not fear for loss of freedom of the press in America, at least for a few years," J. Allison Bors told members of the Hilltop Business Men's association in their meeting at Schmelzer's restaurant, 3178 W. Broad-st, Tuesday night. Mr. Bors, assistant state manager for International News Service, described conditions under which newsmen work especially in foreign fields during times of war.

The program was arranged by C. Carlton Hartley in observance of National Newspaper week.

Mike Boland and Bob Werner, representing the county engineer's office, discussed the proposed Sandusky-st bridge project and its accompanying McKinley-av boulevard improvement. A representative of the community fund outlined the need for support for this year's drive. The Planter's Peanut Man entertained with demonstrations of how to grow nine inches in height in 35 seconds. Ray McVay jr. played several accordion numbers during the dinner hour.

The Record takes this opportunity to express regret that all members of the Hilltop Boulevard committee were not mentioned in the story regarding the Sandusky-st project in last week's paper. The committee membership is made up as follows: W. H. Coulthard, chairman, Alvis Nafzger, H. G. Deems, R. G. Haunts, Walter Stephens, Fr. Raymond Bauschard, Harry Haney and C. C. Hartley.

Parker's 5c to $1 store was voted into membership by the association. The application of Art Stiffler, operating Gregg's market, was read to the group. Herbert Deems, Lou Saunders and Gene Hays were named to head the Community Fund drive in the association this year.

At the conclusion of the meeting C. Carlton Hartley showed a motion picture taken on the Hilltop and depicting the production of the Hilltop Record.

Booster prizes were won by Mary Bentz, Ed Planck, Gene White, Ray Percy, C. A. McDonald, Mary Lou Kimball, E. L. Skipper, Eva Berman and C. H. Penfield.

The committee is now trying to make arrangements to secure the West High school auditorium.

The committee chairmen appointed by George Sinclair, Eleventh ward committeeman and general chairman for the rally are: Publicity, F. E. Robertson, president of the Eleventh Ward GOP club; invitations, Lawrence Roach, president of the Eleventh Ward Republican club; parade, Mose M. Williams; decorations, Arthur J. Bellar; reception, Harry Hopwood; candidates, Joseph C. Nailor. The program committee is headed by George Sinclair, assisted by F. E. Robertson, Harry Park and Lawrence Roach. Other persons named were Mrs. Ursula Roberts and Mrs. Della Wagner on the invitations committee; Harry Park, vice-president of the West Side "Willkie for President" club, and Lawrence Roach, committee on publicity; John Howell, committee on reception.

William Schneider, chairman of the Franklin County Republican committee, was appointed chairman of the speakers committee and will be master of ceremonies. Arrangements are being made by Mr. Schneider to secure a nationally known speaker for the rally.

Contract Made During Life For Burial Upheld In Court

A contract a man had made with a Hilltop funeral director for his funeral and burial was upheld Tuesday by the county court of appeals.

The decision was made in an appeal from municipal court where Wylie S. Shroyer, funeral director, 1278 W. Broad-st, was granted a judgment for $654.95 against Harry L. Hopwood, as executor of the estate of David Harry Stem, for funeral and burial expenses for Mr. Stem.

The court said that the late Mr. Stem, while in good health, contracted with Schroyer to buy a coffin for $500 and burial garments and other matters incident to his burial. The bill was to be paid out of Mr. Stem's estate.

After Mr. Stem died, Schroyer conducted the funeral as directed, he said, and presented a bill to the executor for $620.81. Hopwood, the court said, offered to settle for $350, maintaining that was the limit for funeral expenses under Ohio law.

The appeal court's decision, written by Judge Frank W. Geiger and concurred in by Judges Roscoe G. Hornbeck and Joseph Barnes, held that Mr. Stem "in his lifetime had a perfect right to enter into a contract with the funeral director for his burial and to select the goods and agree upon a price and that if this contract was made as alleged and amply supported by the evidence, it is a claim against the executor in the amount agreed upon," irrespective of the limitation advanced by the executor."

Independent Grocers, Hilltop Record To Present Magic Show

Tickets Available At Hilltop Stores; Gala Program Planned

There's magic in the air—and there'll be plenty of it on the stage, too, on the evening of Friday, Oct. 25, when Jack W. Thomas, 170 Huron-av, the famed Jack Frost magician, presents his dazzling display of necromancy at West High school auditorium under the sponsorship of the local Independent Retail Grocers in cooperation with the Hilltop Record.

The show is free, costs not a cent. The only requirement is that you secure your free ticket from your independent retail grocer. He will supply you with all you need.

This Hilltop magician is in constant demand throughout the state and his "quicker than the eye" feats cause gasps of amazement to arise from his audience constantly during his performance.

His mass display of flowers is the largest of its kind ever created for a magic show.

His program will have many tricks seldom shown by any other magician. It's a full evening's entertainment and will be well worth your while to attend.

Further details will be found in future issues of the Hilltop Record.

To provide a fitting opening for National Grocers' Week a parade is to be held Monday evening, Oct. 21. City officials will be asked to participate, bands will march and all wholesale and retail members of this association will be given an opportunity to enter their finest delivery truck. There will be no entry fee and the committee has requested that no decorations be placed on delivery trucks entered in the parade. According to present plans, the parade will form at 6 or 6:30 p. m. and will begin to move at 7 or 7:30 p. m.

Seek Willkie For Local Appearance

Efforts were being made this week by members of the Ohio Nomis club to have Wendell Willkie, GOP presidential candidate, make a local appearance at Red Bird stadium on the night of Nov. 2, when 35,000 persons are expected to crowd their way into the stadium to witness a bantam-weight football game and see and hear Republican politicians.

Tickets are being sold for the event, labeled the Willkie-Bricker football game and rally, at the offices of W. E. Jones, 2765 W. Broad-st.

The gates will open at 6 p. m., with a bantam-weight game scheduled to start at 8 p. m.

There will also be a motion picture shown.

The event is being sponsored by the Ohio Nomis Corp.

Oscar Gutheil To Appear On Carnival Program

Oscar Gutheil will present four half hour magic shows as a part of the West Broad Street PTA carnival to be held at the school grounds during the day and evening of Oct. 26.

Mr. Gutheil has appeared on previous Hilltop programs and his appearance on the carnival program will add to the great variety of events planned. He will appear at 5, 8, 9 and 10 p. m.

Look Behind the Gas Rate Ordinance —See What This Compromise Means

TO THE CUSTOMER

Columbus will have one of the lowest gas rates in the United States of cities over 100,000 population. The ordinance provides the same rate you now pay for two years and then a small adjustment for two years not to exceed 34 cents per customer per month.

Removing the possibility of the rate going considerably higher through litigation during the next four years. (The Ohio Supreme court recently sustained a rate averaging nearly 69 cents per 1000 cubic feet for Cleveland.

Continued assurance that gas will be the far most economical fuel for general household purposes.

A refund of $1,500,000 to be divided among all customers who used gas in Columbus from May, 1925, to June, 1927. The refund amounts to 11 cents on each 1000 cubic feet of gas used, an average of $21.34 per customer.

TO THE CITY

Ending 16 years of gas rate litigation, including four cases now pending . . . Taxpayers spent over $500,000 in litigation expense, yet rates have gone up.

Compromise rate ordinance definitely takes rate out of politics.

All unclaimed refunds go to City Treasury, amount guaranteed by The Gas Company to be at least $150,000 . . . . This $150,000 cash available shortly after the ordinance is approved to help the City's financial distress.

Settling rate ordinance gives Columbus more favorable bid to attract new industries.

TO THE COMPANY

Provides a rate more nearly compensating for actual cost of service . . . . Permits operating on a known rate basis, rather than relying upon an unknown rate to be found later by litigation.

Ends litigation expense costing over $1,500,000 in 16 years which courts hold must be paid ultimately by the consumer as part of the cost of service.

Out of the $1,939,155 impounded money and accrued interest the Company relinquishes its rights to all but $439,155, which goes to the Company . . . . Also, the company agrees to pay the entire cost of the refund, estimated to reduce this figure by about $150,000.

"I AIN'T MAD AT NOBODY"
Governed By Invisible Hands

Did you ever consider the important role
Little things have played in your life
There is no straight and easy pathway but
Cross roads that may lead to strife.
Every waking moment we make decisions
Whether we know it or not,
Whichever direction [illegible] conceivably
Change our career right on that spot.

Did you ever consider how little decisions
May completely change our tide?
We may plan and dream of some lofty
[illegible]
But none can safely decide
Our destiny is governed by invisible hands,
A puzzle we can't understand.
In our stretch of years through laughter or [illegible]
We have little or no command.

We are like banshee's on rolling suns,
Tossed about by every breeze
There is nothing permanent on this mortal soil,
Not even hills nor trees.
There is no man who can alter that plan,
But strive the best we can
For knowledge daily, seek wisdom from on high,
I believe that is our Father's plan.

Gas Case -- Pros and Cons

Cons

64c is order for the company to get a fair return on its investment. Why, on the basis of this argument, did not the Gas Co. offer to reduce rates during the long years of declining costs? The tremendous savings in material and operating costs due to technical improvements seldom are reflected in a lower consumer's rate.

Furthermore, when setting a rate the utility commissioners make ample allowance for price trends and probable and possible cost increases, it is said.

It is to be noted, also, that the 56c figure set by the commission is for natural gas, not the cheaper diluted or "stabilized" gas, which the consumer receives.

Gas company officials contend that the public is weary of all this expensive rate litigation. All the unnecessary money spent by the taxpayers and the company for attorneys and engineers to fight the case could be saved if the two opposing factions would reach an equitable compromise, they maintain.

The implication is that the money spent by the city in fighting the gas case has been a dead loss. On the contrary, it has been a profitable investment. The dividends to the public have been in the form of a lower gas rate.

Proof of the "profitableness" of the city's fight for a fair gas rate is found in one of the company's ads which appeared in the Ohio State Journal on Aug. 14, 1933. It read:

"While furnishing a type of service that is second to none in the country, the Gas company in the last five years has contributed to the gas users of Columbus a total of $5,674,000. The amount represents the difference between what should have been paid and what actually was paid for good gas during the five-year period."

Thus, by the admission of the Gas Co. itself, the money spent by Columbus taxpayers in litigating gas rates returned dividends of $5,674,000 in five years.

Something should be said of the $1,500,000 impounded money which the company has so generously agreed to forego. This will be returned in "juicy" five, ten, twenty, and thirty dollar checks to those consumers who used gas during the 1926-27 period.

This may prove to be an inducement which even the most conscientious voter may not be able to resist. It should be carefully noted in this connection, however, that these refunds will be quickly absorbed in the increased gas rate.

One last word should be said in regard to the new compromise rate schedule. According to the ordinance the 56c rate will run for two years (1941-42), then the rate will jump to 61c for the following two years (1943-44). What will be the rate thereafter? The Gas Co. has been scrupulously careful to avoid any mention of this matter.

According to city officials who have been pressing the case for the public over a number of years, the rate will remain at the 61c figure. This will be the permanent rate until the city, after more years of litigation, can obtain a readjustment. Then it will be seen how solicitous the Gas Co. is for the public's temper and purse. Any proposal of compromise will be rejected by company officials as unthinkable.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy, and beautiful floral offerings received from our kind friends and neighbors during our recent bereavement in the loss of our beloved husband and son, PEARL CURTIS MAXWELL. We especially thank Brother Whitt and members of the Apostolic Church, the employees of the Jaeger Machine Co., and Wylie S. Shroyer Funeral Home.
Wife, father, mother, brothers and sisters.

of other cities in the country of comparable size.

Natural gas consumers in 77 U. S. cities, all over 100,000 population, pay more for 5000 cubic feet of gas than will Columbus consumers under the proposed compromise rate. Only five cities pay less and the rates in two of these cities are in litigation. Three of these are western cities which sit on their gas supplies.

The Gas Co. is more than anxious to have the expensive and tiring rate controversy settled. It has spent over a million dollars in fighting the confiscatory rates set by city council. Tax-payers of the city have paid over a half-million dollars in order to sustain these rates. Nothing but headaches have ensued.

According to a recent survey conducted for the Gas Co. by an independent concern, 72% of the voters want the matter settled by agreement. Sixty-three percent of the voters want it settled even if this involves higher gas bills. Ten percent definitely oppose the proposed rate, while 18% ventured no opinion.

Three Sons Of Dr. Sharp Follow In His Footsteps

The Spectator
By C. C. Hartley

Two Good Men For Public Office

This column has two primary interests in the coming election. We think Hilltoppers will be showing wise consideration for their vote by casting it for J. Arthur Yoder for Clerk of Courts and Geo. W. Matson for County Commissioner.

Mr. Yoder is the present clerk and has done a remarkable job in that department. Everyone coming in contact with his office reports an unusual satisfaction in dealing with a public official.

He has made the office self-supporting and has instituted many needed efficiencies.

Art is liked by both Republicans and Democrats.

His qualifications for the position are tops. It is most important that he be returned to this office.

George Matson needs no introduction to Hilltoppers. He has been a resident of this community for years and has demonstrated his honesty and integrity as well as his good judgment.

George has had wide building experience and was city building inspector for four years.

Franklin county needs a man of his type as a commissioner. He is not a politician and was not brought out as a candidate by political groups.

These two men deserve your special attention at the coming election.

It's Time To Give

Fifty-four private welfare agencies are this week making their annual appeal for funds through the medium of the Community Fund drive.

Hilltoppers are sharing their part of this program by giving generously and also by providing a great number of workers. If you are a contributor or a worker you are to be congratulated in aiding this good cause.

Call The Pied Piper To Action

Two letters come to our desk this week urging a rat elimination project on the Hilltop. Both urge that something be done about it this winter.

One suggests that a campaign be conducted for 10 days or a month and that the Hilltop Business Men's association take the lead. How about it, Prexy Suizberger?

The other states the number of rats eliminated could be recorded by tacking their tails to a board and displayed where the public might see the results of the rat campaign.

The Record would like to hear more Hilltoppers comment on the subject of rodents.

Doing A Fine Job

Up at the Hilltop Bowling alleys a program is being carried on that deserves some special recognition.

Bill Wolfe, owner of the alleys, is teaching youngsters how to bowl. He is their personal supervisor and is getting a great thrill out of the job to say nothing of the fine training he is passing on to these boys. He deserves a Hilltop Record roast. How about it, Curt Rowlands?

Believe it or not, the pilot of the "General," the rip-snorting dust burner pictured above, is none other than quiet, well-known Dr. C. E. Sharp, inventor of note and one of the Hilltop's most familiar figures.

Mrs. Sharp is doing the "back-seat" driving along with Violet and Jay.

The gasoline buggy reached the amazing speed of 20 miles an hour and could, when pushed, roar along the roads at 25 miles per hour. Horses shied and little children went scurrying home when this automobile, one of the first operated in Columbus, came chugging along. The price of the machine was slightly over $1000.

But to get back to the story on hand. We were checking up on a tale that the Sharps had named all of their boys—Jay, Robin and Martin, after birds, and their daughters, Fern and Violet, for flowers.

We found that true.

We also learned that all of the boys have followed in their father's footsteps in the medical profession. All have graduated from Ohio State university and from some medical college, except Martin, who will graduate very shortly from the University of Louisville. Jay is now a practicing physician in Zanesville while Robin has his practice at Mechanicsburg.

West High Graduates

All of the children are graduates of West High school except Fern who graduated from the old Central High school.

Fern, who now conducts the Round Robin Review for WBNS, and is their woman commentator, studied home economics at Ohio State university and did research work in New York and Columbia university.

Violet majored in education at Ohio State and taught school for several years. Later she took up the teaching of lip reading and speech at the school for the deaf.

She is now married and last week sailed for Porto Rico and the Virgin Isles where she will join her husband.

Dr. and Mrs. Sharp point with pride to the fact that their children have received a combined 90 years of education.

Born In Groveport

Dr. Sharp, who is a member of the Camp Chase Post American Legion, Westgate Masonic lodge, American Medical association, Ohio State Medical association and the Columbus Academy of Medicine, was born near Groveport.

When he was still quite a youngster his parents moved to Kansas where he was educated. He taught school until he had enough money to come to Columbus where he completed his medical studies at Starling Medical college.

He graduated with high honors, receiving a cash award for the best thesis on tuberculosis. He was the youngest ever to graduate from Medical school at that time.

He is a veteran of the World war, having served one and a half years as captain in the Medical corps. He was with the base hospital at Verdun when the armistice was signed. His hobbies are chess and inventions, and he holds many patents.

One of his patents, secured while a very young man, dealt with the eastern knitting mills. He became interested in a device while watching workers in his father's mills.

His greatest interest is his family.

School Days Romance

Dr. and Mrs. Sharp were schoolmates. Mrs. Sharp was one of 10 children born at Rolla, Mo., and later educated in Kansas.

At the age of 18 Mrs. Sharp taught in Indian school in the Indian Territory, now Oklahoma. Later she taught in Oklahoma in what is known as the Cimarron country.

She had her own western pony which she called Fred, and which she rode three miles to school every morning, building her own fires so the children would have a warm school room when they came riding or trotting in from the cold wind-swept prairies.

Mrs. Sharp was one of the pioneers of Oklahoma, taking great interest in the development of schools and community welfare of the new state.

In 1897 Dr. and Mrs. Sharp were married and came to Columbus to live.

Mrs. Sharp is active in church work, civic welfare, and is a great lover of the outdoors. She loves fishing and hunting and would like to be a horticulturist if she had the time.

Dr. Sharp has been on the same corner at Highland-av and Broad-st since 1916. He formerly practiced on the South side, at Parsons and Livingston-av.

Dr. Brown Takes Over Dr. Czatt's Practice Here

Dr. J. Q. Brown

Dr. John Quincy Brown, graduate of Ohio State university of medicine, is this week taking over the practice of Dr. J. H. Czatt at 2637 Sullivant-av, he announced.

Dr. Brown, who lives with his wife and 10-months-old son, John Quincy jr., at 392 S. Roys-av, was formerly located at 9 Buttles-av.

Following his graduation from Ohio State, he interned at White Cross from 1936 to 1937 and served as resident physician there until June, 1938.

He will continue the general practice of medicine established by Dr. Czatt.

Mrs. Brown is the former Doris Campbell, daughter of W. D. Campbell, art teacher at West High school. Mrs. Brown also graduated from Ohio State university.

Dr. Brown was a member of Delta Chi and Alpha Kappa Kappa at Ohio State.

A Bird In The Hand

The Gerald Starkey family at 330 Belvidere-av, got an advanced preview of the fall hunting season Monday afternoon when a pheasant flew through a screen in the house, broke a window and fell stunned to the floor.

Visions of a "fine" Sunday dinner went awry when the bird rallied from the shock and escaped.

Hoge Memorial Men To Meet Tonight

The first meeting of the Hoge Memorial Men's club will be held Friday, Oct. 18, at 6:30 p. m.

In addition to the speaker of the evening, William Kaufman, a novelty string quartet will entertain, playing request numbers.

Bucks To Play South 11 Tonight

The cellar championship of the Columbus city high school league will be at stake tonight when the West Buckaroos invade Mahaffey stadium for a tilt with Clyde Battin's victory hungry Bulldog eleven.

Both teams have lost their only city loop tilt to date, West bowing to a heavy North squad, 20-0, while East upset the Bulldogs in a thrilling 6-0 game in which South pushed Webster's lads all over the field—except across the goal line.

South will boast a slightly heavier outfit tonight. They will wear their traditional red, blue and white outfits while the Buckaroos will be donned in their snappy red and beige outfits.

To date South has won one and tied one and lost two, scoring 13 points to 31 for the opposition.

West has won one and lost four, chalking up 33 points to 78 for the enemy gridders.

About the only casualty of the Grandview game was Brandenberg who suffered a severely sprained ankle on the opening kickoff. He may be able to see action Friday night, however, if the ankle continues to improve. Koons served as acting captain, after Brandenberg's removal.

A large delegation of local fans is expected to be in the stands tonight.

Coach Williams has been driving his lads under full steam this week in an effort to clear up the loose playing and bad blocking some of the lads have displayed under fire.

[illegible] last week's Grandview tracas which the locals lost, 6-0. Only on several plays did the tackling look like the kind a title contending team should display. Blocking on many plays was far wide of its mark.

There were several nice tackles made, however, these by John Beymer, Charlie Tucker, Ray Smith and Dan Brown.

Bad Third Period

Grandview scored the only marker in the game in the third quarter when a punt went out of bounds on West's three yard stripe. Medlick's exchange punt traveled back to the 40 but the Bobcats saw themselves in the shadows of pay dirt and struck hard. Four plays took it over.

It was not until the waning minutes of the game that West began blocking and tackling as it should be done. This last minute splurge carried the Buckaroos to the four yard line with three minutes to play but there the drive was exhausted and the Bobcats kicked out of danger and into the win column by the 6-0 count.

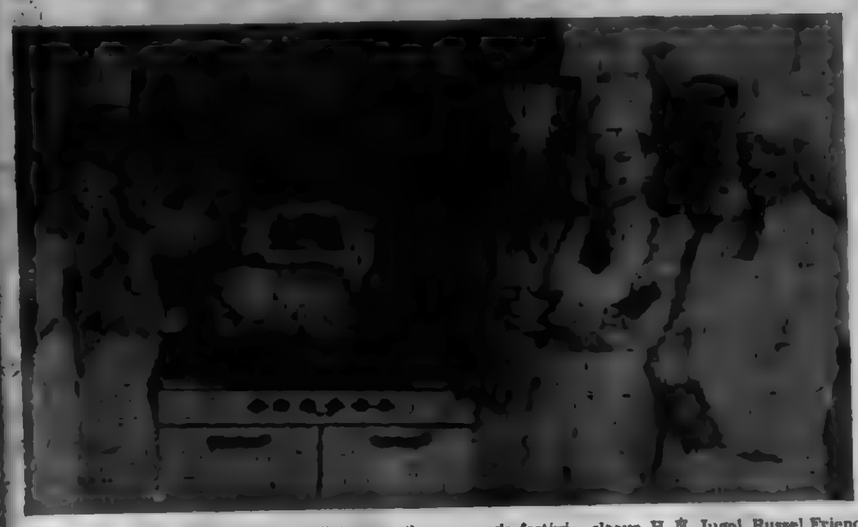
Next week the Buckaroos will invade Central high stadium for a night tilt while on Oct. 31 the Dayton Roosevelt homecoming game will be played, to be followed by the homecoming dance. A queen will be selected to preside at this game and dance and already plans are being made to make this one of the outstanding social affairs of the year.

Coach Schmidt To Attend Local Father-Son Event

Coach Francis Schmidt of Ohio State and members of the Ohio State football team will be the honored guests and speakers at the Father-Son night sponsored by the Westgate Lodge No. 623, F. and A. M., next Monday evening at the temple.

Entertainment and refreshments will be served.

Captain Jimmy Langhurst will be among the squad members present. Pictures of various games will be shown.



Members of the committee in charge of arrangements include John J. Rings, Leo Phillips, Walter Miles, Alfred Ray and Curt Wilcox.

FOE Changes Two Officers

Two changes in officers of the Aguila Aerie, FOE 2209 were announced by the Aerie president this week.

Charles Karn was selected new president, replacing D. R. Garrish, and Charles Hughes replaced Sam Lane as treasurer.

Ready To Serve At West Broad PTA Carnival

Men of the West Broad School PTA are busily arranging for the big carnival to be staged Oct. 26 at the grounds, under the sponsorship of the PTA group.

Pictured above are the men who will assist in serving the jitney luncheon and supper which will feature the evening's festivities.

In case of inclement weather, the event will be moved into the school basement.

The event is an annual affair. The public is invited. There will be games, pony rides and entertainment.

Local Bantams Play Stadium Prelim. Sunday

The local bantam team—the Willkie-Brickers—will be idle tomorrow in preparation for their non-league tilt game Sunday at Red Bird stadium when they will oppose the Roosevelt-Davey team in a preliminary game to the Columbus Bullies engagement.

Score by periods:

Willkie-Bricker	0	7	0	7	—14

A Fit for Every Member in the Family
Broadway Shoe Store
2408 W. Broad Next Door to Seiller's RA. 5112

WITH AN incredible richness and generosity, you have given birth to the perfumed orange groves of Florida and California, the waving wheat and corn fields of the Middlewestern plains, the white cotton fields of the South and the rolling expanse of the Eastern farmlands where tranquillity and peace nourish the American principle of individual initiative against collective regimentation.

In your bosom, you have stored for our welfare all the minerals which American genius gratefully receives and transforms into peaceful instruments by which we live the most abundant life known in the history of mankind.

You have given seed to and nurtured our priceless heritage of freedom of religious worship, free speech, free assembly and a free, enlightened press. With your beneficence, we have learned tolerance from the intolerant.

Such soil, such land, we are thankful to be born on, eternally grateful to live on, and unyieldingly defiant to die on, if need be, to save our beloved land from the brutal rape which threatens to plunge the whole world towards a barbarism and slavery that staggers the imagination of civilized man. We are proud to be part of the first line of defense of American liberties . . . to always stand militantly at the side of every true American against the inroads of doctrines seeking to destroy America's priceless heritage.

This reminder of our heritage is presented to you through the co-operation of the following leaders of

Paul Knospe, local accountant, will go as far as the next one to see a good baseball game but he's beginning to believe there is a limit to the number of obstacles even a ball fan should be subjected to.

Recently he and a friend planned to take in one of the World Series encounters in Cincinnati. Getting a late start from Columbus they were burning up the highway when a constable of a small city enroute picked them up for speeding. The arm of the law insisted they were doing 70 m.p.h. Paul felt complimented but was willing to argue that point with the magistrate. After considerable delay the magistrate was found and after hearing the case dismissed the culprits.

With the time drawing ever shorter they set out again. Reaching Cincy they parked their car and hopped a taxi to the field. Arriving at the field they discovered there was no time to eat a lunch before the game started so in they went. Inside Paul got a sandwich in one hand and a bottle of schnops in the other and made his way to his seat. At that moment the band struck up the "Star Spangled Banner." With both hands occupied he had to ask a bystander to remove his hat.

The other morning he was caught waving at the radio as an announcer was signing off a program with a cheery "Goodbye."

When Mrs. Jack Robinson was arranging for Jean Dhume to sing at Hilltonia U. B. church Sunday night she was obviously unaware of her age.

"Can she come down on the bus by herself?" Mrs. R. inquired.

"I think so," Mrs. Dhume replied. "You see she's a student at West High school."

Miniature Auto Racing Attracts Crowd of 500

The Hilltop's first venture in miniature auto racing attracted a crowd of more than 500 persons Sunday afternoon when four racing events were run off. The event was sponsored by the Columbus Miniature Racing Car association, the only organization of its kind in the city. Races are run on their specially constructed speedway adjacent to the Hilltop Swimming pool.

Due to the success of Sunday's affair another race will be promoted later in the fall, officials of the organization stated. The date has not been definitely determined.

A $5 first prize in the junior quarter-mile was won by Oliver Kealing, Toledo. A silver loving cup, first prize in the junior half mile, went to Chuck Mooney, Columbus. First prize for the senior quarter-mile event went to Jack Boyer, Columbus, while Jack Port, Columbus, took top honors in the senior half-mile event.

Twenty-four entries were carded in the program.

Aid Sought By Hilltop Church For Foreign Missions

The Hilltop Lutheran church, W. Broad-st and Terrace-st, is making a special appeal on behalf of the "Lutheran World Action for Foreign Missions," as a part of a campaign waged by all Lutheran churches in America. The action is necessary to support missionaries and people in 47 Lutheran missions that have been "orphaned" because of war in Europe.

The Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell is pastor of the Hilltop congregation and Leonard Echols is chairman of the committee making the appeal.

OBSERVE NATIONAL HEARING WEEK

The Columbus Society for the Hard of Hearing has worked out a full program for observance of National Hearing Week, Oct. 20-26, as recently proclaimed by President Roosevelt and Governor Bricker.

Aim of the movement is to focus public attention upon the fact that a large percentage of our population is deafened, that deafness may be prevented, and that social agencies are at work to help the deaf lead useful lives.

Public Invited To Grocers' Show, Oct. 25

Tickets Free At Hilltop Independent Food Stores

During and including the days between Oct. 21 and Oct. 25, independent grocers throughout the United States will be holding special sales and celebrating in general, National Grocery Week.

In Columbus a parade will feature the opening of the event, when on Monday evening, Oct. 21, Columbus Independent merchant trucks and delivery cars will be held downtown. Hilltop grocers are making arrangements to have their trucks on display.

And then on the evening of Oct. 25, the gala event of the entire week will be presented when Jack Thomas, 170 Huron-av, the Jack Frost Sugar magician, presents his super-ala-gorgeous stage spectacle of hundreds of mysteries, featured by a public execution, using the guillotine, of some pretty Hilltop girl.

Chills, thrills and fun are in store for spectators who are expected to visit the West High auditorium for this event. Tickets are being distributed at local Hilltop independent groceries. Hilltoppers may have them for the asking. They do not cost anything and admit the holders to the complete magical show. The show starts at 8 p. m.

Other entertainment is also being planned.

The stage show of necromancy will include, besides the "great human sacrifice," the world's largest flower production, wihch is labeled as "a riot of color and beauty." "Frosty," the Jack Frost Sugar Dummy, the disappearing rooster and production of large flock of white ducks.

A full evening's entertainment is in store for the audience. And the best part of all—it's all free.

Don't forget to get your tickets at Hilltop independent grocers', or the Hilltop Record, co-sponsors of the event. It's a show every member of the family will enjoy, and a fitting climax to National Grocers' Week.

Wylie Shroyer To Open Second Funeral Home

Twenty-nine years in the funeral director field is the record of Wylie S. Shroyer, who next week will open his second new completely equipped funeral home at 2553 W. Broad-st.

The original Shroyer funeral home has been located at 1278 W. Broad-st. The firm has been on the Hilltop for 13 years.

The interior of the new home is beautifully decorated and is equipped with the latest type of mortuary equipment.

Lowell Shroyer, a graduate of West High in 1931, attended the school of Embalming in Columbus and Cleveland.

Two licensed embalmers and three licensed funeral directors are always ready to serve the public.

Members of the staff include Lowell Shroyer, William E. Dailey, Miss Eunice Smith, secretary of the West side home, and Margery Kingsolver, daughter of Mr. Shroyer, who will be secretary at the new Hilltop home.

Shroyer will hold "open house" at the home Saturday and Sunday afternoon and evening. The public is invited to inspect this modern new funeral home.

A Grocer Is A Friend of The Family!

National Retail Grocers Week is dedicated to the independent grocer and the varied, friendly services he performs. He is representative of that independent spirit that has made America what it is, and has contributed a great deal to the progress and well being of this nation.

The retail grocer is a vital link in a distribution system that daily performs miracles in feeding the nation. Without him, no great cities could exist and other industries would of necessity be less productive because of the necessity of finding some other means of obtaining essential food supplies.

But today, the grocer's greatest service is performed for the community in which he lives. There, being familiar with many families, he is able to render a personalized service that can't be duplicated. His store is a community asset . . . employing residents of the community, and the money taken in benefits the community through local taxes and wages.

JACK FROST MAGICIAN

Pictured here are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thomas who will appear in a show of magic at West High auditorium Friday night, Oct. 25. Tickets are free at Hilltop Independent Grocery stores.

A full evening of entertainment of interest to all is promised.

J. W. Miles and Son Open Offices

J. W. Miles sr. and son, Dr. J. Beryl Miles, have opened offices at 2559 W. Broad-st.

Mr. Miles spent over 20 years on the road selling orthopedic shoes and has had six years experience in designing shoes. He was graduated from Great Lakes college in Medical Massage and Manipulation and has been studying feet and doing research work in the development of foot appliances for over 20 years. He has patented several processes for making foot appliances.

The development of a system for the correction of structural foot ills by manipulation and appliances started as a hobby and has developed to the point where he is devoting all his time to this type of work. Mr. Miles does prescription work for several physicians.

His son, Beryl, who is a graduate of the Ohio School of Chiropody, has offices in connection with his father, practicing chiropody. They have the most modern equipment available.

Dr. Miles was graduated from West High school in 1934.

Even Cake Has Complex Origin

Modern food distribution methods being as they are, people frequently don't recognize the complexity of even commonplace things. It was recently figured out that a simple birthday cake owes its existence to at least 12 places on the earth, exclusive of the housewife's baking.

Offers Convenience, Too

And to busy housewives, the community grocer offers many convenient services . . . free delivery service, accurate filling of phone orders, credit, and most important of all, the housewife can depend on the quality of the food she gets because the grocer is really a friend of the family, and vitally interested in its welfare.

Grocer Also Good Citizen

Besides his friendly business service, the grocer is also a good citizen. In cities and towns all over the country, grocers can be found in service on civic bodies and in government. The dedication of National Retail Grocers Week is a just one.

Wheat From Kansas

For instance, if a woman in Massachusetts baked the cake, it involved, perhaps, wheat from Kansas, made into flour in Minnesota, steel in Pennsylvania (rails, machinery, etc.), sugar cane from Louisiana or Cuba, a sugar mill in Massachusetts, eggs from Wisconsin, baking powder from New Jersey, vanilla extract from Mexico . . . and that is just a partial list.

Handles Much Legal Business

The Prosecuting Attorney's office handles more legal business than any other law office in Franklin county and more than half of the work being done in that office is in connection with civil matters. County officers, village school boards, township trustees and the board of elections all look to the county prosecutor for advice on matters concerning them. The prosecutor is chairman of the County Budget Commission and the Sinking Fund Commission. These facts are especially important in evaluating the record of Ralph J. Bartlett, County Prosecutor, who is seeking his second term.

During his administration there has been a vast program of road and bridge building, the construction of the new Juvenile Detention Home and numerous other projects involving vast sums of money, all of which has required the careful attention of his office in the letting of contracts, bond issues, tax levies, etc., and all of which, the prosecutor's office points out, has been brought to a successful conclusion.

It is cited that Mr. Bartlett and his assistants, during the past three years, have saved the taxpayers of Franklin county many thousands of dollars. One of the principal items in this huge saving was the sum of $430,000.00 by virtue of Mr. Bartlett's prompt injunction suit preventing the state from withholding sales tax revenue amounting to $70,000.00 per month which is divided between Columbus and Franklin county. They point out that this suit has resulted in an agreed reduction from $5.50 per patient per week to $3.50 per patient over a period of several years past and all together has resulted in a saving to Franklin county of at least $430,000.00. This suit has also had a material effect in keeping a low tax rate in Franklin county, according to officials.

Prosecutor Bartlett says that he has followed a policy of calling the Grand Jury about once a month in order to reduce the expense of feeding prisoners in the county jail awaiting indictment with the result that at one time during the past year not a single person was in the county jail awaiting consideration of the Grand Jury.

He points out that his office has cooperated with the court in placing those on probation who deserve another chance, but on the other hand he inaugurated the use of multiple counts in indictments where the person or persons are involved in a series of crimes, such as armed holdups and burglary, which enables the court to give much heavier sentences in cases calling for such treatment.

Officials of the office point out that Mr. Bartlett's background has given him an especially fine understanding of human problems. He was born on a farm, spent his early life at a children's home, worked his way through school, attending Ohio Wesleyan from 1908 to 1913 and graduating from Ohio State law school in 1916. He served as Assistant Prosecutor under three former prosecutors, Hugo M. Schlesinger, Ray O'Donnell and Donald J. Hoskins, before being elevated to his present position.

He is past president of Columbus Aerie of Eagles, past state president of the Eagles, past governor of Columbus Moose and past state president of the Moose, past president of the Franklin County Democratic Club, various Masonic bodies, member of the Morgan Memorial M. E. Church, is married and the father of four children. He is a resident of 919 Lilley Avenue.

New Cleaner On Market

Announcement of a new powdered hand cleaner known as "Clean" is made today by George T. Gusler, owner and manager of Clean Products Co., 815 E. Mound-st., manufacturers of Clean wallpaper cleaner and other products all bearing the trademark name of Clean.

Mr. Gusler says that Clean hand cleaner was developed through more than two years' intensive scientific research in which hundreds of substances were used in thousands of combinations and tests. These tests were made not only in the laboratory but also in garages, filling stations, blacksmith shops, shoe shops, machine shops and battery shops.

Well drillers, surgeons, gas fitters, plumbers, painters, metal workers, printers all helped with the tests, giving their practical criticisms and suggestions.

It is said that this cleaner employs a principle that has never before been used in cleaning. It acts equally well in either hot or cold, hard or soft water, generating a gentle heat that protects the cleaning action.

It is harmless to the skin of the hands. The thoroughly clean skin from which the natural protective oils are not removed better resists chapping and cracking.

Mr. Gusler says that although the product was designed and made for men whose hands are hard to clean, women are finding it useful about the house, for almost daily they call the factory and report how well it has worked for some household use.

Distribution will be made through the same channels of trade employed in the distribution of Clean wallpaper cleaner, which in the nine years it has been on the market has become one of the best known brands of wallpaper cleaner throughout the central soft coal burning area of the United States.

Clean hand cleaner is sold both in packages for the personal trade and in bulk for industrial trade, Mr. Gusler said.

The Preacher's Meditations

They told the Preacher they wanted to marry
Their voices were full of laughter
Preacher bowed his head, as the Bible he read
He was thinking of the hereafter
Not shy but gay they approached the Preacher
And said they wanted to marry.
It was a joke to them, but not to him,
His advice would have been to tarry.

And wait awhile, and study it over,
It is not the time for laughter
In his church abode, in his sacred robe,
He had come to end in disaster
He bowed his head, read what the Bible said
Between the lines I imagine he read
Young people, tarry, and do not marry
Until you have a clearer head.

A clearer brain and a braver heart,
It will take them both to make your start
Down the lanes of life, through times and strife
And you'll need all your wisdom and art.
'Tis a serious affair, when wedding bells ring,
But when silver threads color your hair
If you've been sincere and kind loyalty dear,
They'll find your companion there.

Matson Seeks Position Of County Commissioner

George W. Matson, 87 N. Warren-av, is seeking the office of county commissioner as a representative of the Hilltop and western section of the county.

These sections have secured more representation in city and county offices during the past year than heretofore. It is essential, moreover, that these sections have representation on the county commission, a body whose legislative and financial functions are of vital importance.

Not by any definition of the term is Matson of the professional political type. In his campaign he is drawing his support from hundreds of personal friends and acquaintances who are well aware of his keen sense of proportion in civic matters.

Matson is seeking office solely on the basis of his proven ability as an executor of public affairs and as a responsible business man with over 25 years' practical experience as a building contractor.

As chief building inspector for the city division of building regulation from 1936 to this year, when he resigned, Matson established an outstanding record in the successful administration of a difficult position and proved himself qualified for the position by finishing first in a competitive civil service examination for the place.

A member of many fraternal organizations, including the Masons, Knights of Pythias, Orioles, Aladdin Temple Shrine and the Hoge Memorial Presbyterian church, Matson has lived many years on the Hilltop with his wife and son.

THEATRE

Loew's Ohio is showing for the week starting Friday, Oct. 18, the gay technicolor musical, "Down Argentine Way," with shapely Betty Grable, seductive Carmen Miranda and Don Ameche, plus the Jack Holt thriller, "Fugitive From a Prison Camp."

Loew's Broad is showing for the week, Oct. 18, the western adventure historical feature, "Kit Carson," with Jon Hall as the mighty scout and explorer and Lynn Bari as the girl, plus the Joe E. Brown comedy, "So You Won't Talk."

Vitamin A Aids Night Drivers!

A new use for the promotion of vitamin A has been uncovered through recent private scientific investigation. Direct tests are given to individuals and the results show increased efficiency in "night driving," following the administration of this important food element.

Some of the effects disclosed in these tests were that most people take from four to five seconds to recover their eyesight after a glare, during which time they are driving blind. It was also discovered that people with light-colored eyes seem to be slower in adapting themselves to changes in light than those with darker-colored eyes.

During these tests it was definitely proved that a lack of vitamin A was one of the causes of "night blindness." Before-and-after tests proved that a driver would show a marked increase in efficiency after an increase of vitamin A in his daily diet.

Franklin County Taxpayers SAVED $142,000

Before J. Arthur Yoder took office, the office of the Clerk of Courts showed a deficit of approximately $23,000 a year for the preceding eight years.

During his first term as county clerk, Yoder operated the office on the income. He turned back $11,000 to the county treasurer the second year, $19,000 in 1939, and will turn back an estimated $20,000 before the end of this year.

Thus, by effecting many economies, Yoder has saved the county $28,000 a year for four years, totaling $92,000. This figure plus the $50,000 "profit" turned back to the county treasury amounts to a total savings of $142,000.

J. Arthur Yoder is entirely responsible for introducing the efficiencies, which have resulted in these savings.

The county clerk's office is responsible for keeping the records of five separate courts in Franklin county. Yoder has kept all records up to date besides transcribing into permanent form thousands of back cases inherited from previous administrations.

A new and efficient filing system has been installed in all divisions, while the automobile title division of the clerk's office has been entirely recognized for the better protection of the vehicle owner.

This is the view of our funeral home chapel on the West Side which is equipped with a modern pipe organ and piano. The chapel space is large enough to conduct a large funeral and has seating capacity for 250 people. Our new home has a large seating capacity also.

Above is our ambulance which is of the latest type. It can be loaded from either side or the rear. It has two built-in medicine cabinets containing first aid equipment, fresh linen, ice bag, towel rack, hot water bottle, and most important, it has a wash basin with hot and cold running water.

An extra cot is carried which can be brought into use in case of emergency.

Beside most of these important things, there are dome lights and the side wall lights which are bright enough in case of emergency to perform an operation. Other equipment includes a baby bassinet and electric fan.

To the left is our funeral home on the West Side. It is as modern as our Hilltop home, and has as many modern mortuary instruments. It also has a large display room with furnishings properly grouped and prices of complete service plainly marked. There is enough room to display fifteen caskets.

Pictured in front of our home is our fleet of cars which includes six Packards and Chevrolet Service Car used in our service.

Road Improvements Pointed Out

One of the most comprehensive road building and maintenance programs in the history of Franklin county has been carried out under the administration of the present county engineer, Allan Slade, according to officials of the office.

Allan Slade

Several major improvements cited among Mr. Slade's accomplishments: The much-needed W. 5th Ave. bridge and the N. Broadway bridge over the Olentangy river, the Livingston Ave. bridge over Alum creek, the Reynoldsburg-N. Albany bridge over Blacklick, the modernizing and construction of the first boulevard system in the county on Olentangy Rd., the planning and construction of a belt line around the city to alleviate traffic congestion.

They point out that for the first time in the history of the county a modern and adequate road marking system has been installed by Mr. Slade, adding to driving pleasure and convenience. A modern and well planned construction program has been carried out throughout the county, dangerous curves and several hundred narrow and obsolete culverts have been eliminated.

Mr. Slade was born in Darke county, Ohio, in 1903, educated in the public schools of that county, at West Tech high school in Cleveland, Stanton Military Academy, completing his technical education at Ohio State University. He was employed in the State Highway department in Arizona and returned to Columbus in 1925 to accept a place in the State Department of Public Works. He has served in the State Department of Highways and as deputy surveyor in Darke county, Ohio.

He was serving as resident engineer of Franklin county when elected to his present position in 1936. Mr. Slade is a candidate for re-election in November. He is married, the father of two children and lives on Elder Rd. in Madison Twp.

Conservation will be taught in all public schools in Ohio this fall, as a result of a joint conservation-education project fostered by the Ohio division of conservation and the state department of education.

Grocers Give Aid In Moving Farm Surpluses

The American grocer has united once again with his old partner, the American farmer, in solving a problem of national importance—the problem of food surpluses.

Farmer Unable to Market

A surplus comes into being because conditions prevent the farmer from selling his products and thus moving them into consumption through the normal trade channels. When this occurs, he is immediately faced with the loss of the months of labor and care that he put into the growing of his crops, and that in turn influences his livelihood, desires and obligations.

Group Studies Problem

To relieve farmers of burdensome surpluses and to benefit the buying public by making more foodstuffs available, the Independent Food Distributors Council was formed. This group was formed by the National Association of Retail Grocers in order that problems of the food industry might be studied and solutions found.

Council National in Nature

The council is composed of representatives of many independent distributing organizations from every section of the country. These representatives in turn represent thousands and thousands of independent grocery stores.

Cooperates With U. S.

Through the department of agriculture, the Independent Food Distributors Council keeps abreast of the surplus situation, conferring constantly in order to decide the proper action to take. Once decision has been reached by the council, a marketing machine is set in motion that eliminates the surplus and moves the goods into consumption.

Retail Stores Cooperate

Thousands of retail stores lend their help by featuring the surplus products in their advertising and store displays. In this way, a tremendous national drive is developed that reduces the surplus and eliminates the problem at hand.

Average Person Eats 1,454 Lbs. Of Food Yearly

In a United States department of commerce tabulation, it was found that 1,454 pounds was the average annual per capita consumption of foodstuffs during the period 1930-1933.

This amazing total is a tribute to the nation's food industry, the world's largest, which is able to efficiently distribute the enormous amounts of food products involved on a nation-wide scale.

If we live truly, we shall see truly. It is as easy for the strong man to be strong as it is for the weak to be weak. —Emerson

Hilltopper Owns Montrose Studio

Lawrence C. Marble

Lawrence C. Marble, 96 S. Roys, has been a resident of the Hilltop for the past 18 years.

Interested in photography all his life, he has owned and operated the Montrose Studios, 101 N. High-st, for the past 15 years. The studio was established over 40 years ago.

Never contented with doing run of the mill work, Marble has produced work which has been given honorable mention on several occasions at national photographic conventions.

During the World war he served 19 months with the aerial photographic division and was later sent by the government to Columbia university for special training.

For the past six years he has done most of the individual and group photographic work used in West High school publications. His portraits also appear in the Hilltop Record.

Ever alive to the newest developments in photographic techniques and equipment, Marble was the first in the city to use fluorescent lighting for photographic work in his studio.

When he can find time to get away from his vocation, which is also his avocation, Marble is a hunting and fishing enthusiast.

"No Lights" For West Gridders

"There will be no lights at West High's Mcgly Field stadium. We have made no plans nor do we contemplate any in the near future."

And those words, from the lips of Dr. Reighley, principal of West High school, squelched a most persistent rumor making the rounds that West was to have lights for night football next year.

Dr. Reighley pointed to the fact that almost 4500 fans jammed every nook and corner of West High's stadium for last week's North tilt.

"If we had night games, where would we put the fans?"

West and North are about the only two schools in the city making football and other sports a paying proposition. West is by far the best equipped school team in the city.

Bad For Baseball

Addition of poles for lighting facilities would ruin the baseball diamond, Dr. Reighley observed.

The support of the Hilltop sports-loving community to West's always-entertaining teams speaks well for the type of coaching done at West.

Several hundred dollars worth of bonds are expected to be retired shortly on the stadium indebtedness. The bonds outstanding amount to approximately $6000. A drawing will be made in a few weeks as soon as the report comes from the state department, it is expected.

West Band Roster Is Named

When that 66-piece West High school marching band comes out on the field paced by strutting Drum Major Bob Hurd, West senior, the following students will be members of the band, according to Herbert E. Hutchinson, West High music instructor.

The order in which the players are named is the marching formation:

Second clarinet, Rosemary Bodle, Dorothy Russell, Helen Holt, Mary Knospe, Betty Lou Stroub, Donna Frey, Ray Nichmore, Dick Sinclair; first clarinet, Jack Remington, Jack Krauss, Vito DelCiello; solo Clarinet, Dick Blaney; third carinet, Wallace Scott, Bob Edwards, Walter Kietzman, Kenneth Slaughter; oboe, Enice Baker; trombone, Jack Boyer; flute, Martha Tilen; piccolo, Emma Dennis.

Assistant drum majors will be Bob Gulcher and John Patterson.

Here's How To Be Economical When Purchasing Meats

The conscientious housewife can, with a little study, learn to feed her family well and at a moderate cost.

The first thing to be remembered is that food value has no relation to the cost of meats. There is as much protein, fat, vitamins and iron in a flank steak as in a tenderloin.

Flavor Not Expensive

Flavor has no relation to cost of the meat cut either, providing the quality is good. Cheaper cuts of meat, such as rump, flank and brisket, have fuller, more desirable flavor than the most costly tenderloins. By buying less demanded cuts and sacrificing a little tenderness . . . flavor is gained and this is even more important than tenderness. It is possible to use these less demanded cuts to advantage by cooking them into tasty, tender meat dishes. A chuck roast from top quality beef can be made into a far better product than a standing rib from an unbranded carcass of "common" quality.

Servings Per Pound

Another chief factor in buying for economy is to learn which cuts yield the greatest number of servings per pound. A general rule to follow is shown below:

1 pound boneless meat serves 4 (boned roasts, ground meats, liver, sausages and most canned meats).
1 pound meat with small amount of bone serves 3 (round steak, round bone pot roast, etc.).
1 pound meat with moderate amount of bone serves 2 (most steaks, shoulder cuts and chops).
1 pound meat of most fowl with considerable bone serves 1.

Search thine own heart. What paineth thee in others—in thyself may be. —Whittier

Vitamins Not Lost In Modern Canned Foods!

Many people believe that much of the vitamin value of food is lost through canning, but according to canning authorities, such is not the case. From intensive studies over a period of years, the broad details concerning vitamin stabilities have been brought to light. While on the one hand, these studies have shown certain vitamins to be sensative to oxygen in the presence of heat, or to either alone, under specific conditions, most vitamins remain unaffected by modern canning procedure.

Vitamin Stabilities Reviewed

The basis of opinion that vitamins are lost through canning arises from the fact that the basic principle of commercial canning involves heat sterilization of foods in sealed containers. However, it has been found that vitamin A and carotene, in general, are not affected by commercial canning, the same being true of riboflavin, formerly known as vitamin G, and also of the P-P (pellagra-preventive) factor. Vitamin B1 is dependent on the heat treatment accorded it in canning, and also upon the natural acidity of the food in which it is contained. In the more acid foods, very little vitamin is lost, while in the less acid ones which require longer and higher sterilization times and temperatures the degree of retention is not as high.

Protective Measures Employed

In order to assure the retention of the maximum vitamin content, modern commercial canners select their raw materials carefully and take precautions during every step of the canning process.

Issued by Fred L. Donnally, 35 E. Gay St.

Let's Hop Around and See What Other Cities Pay For Gas

Selecting 5000 cubic feet of gas as a figure convenient for comparison, let's first see what it costs in Columbus. For this amount of gas you pay only $2.90, your present rate, for two years and then $3.24 during the next two years of the new ordinance. Looking around on the map above you will see that other leading cities pay as much as three times this amount for the same equivalent of heat. Of 93 cities in the country over 100,000 population, all but five of them will pay more for this value in gas. Three of these five are in the rich Oklahoma gas field and the other two have higher average rates than Columbus, though not for 5000 cubic feet. This city is fortunate in being offered a compromise rate that is so low.

Not only does this ordinance wipe out four cases pending in litigation, but also it provides for the refunding of $1,500,000 cash to the 70,000 customers who used gas in Columbus from May, 1925, to June, 1927. The City Treasury is assured of receiving $150,000 as the minimum in unclaimed refunds. The large majority of Columbus people who have wanted to see the gas rate cleared up through negotiation now have an opportunity to approve the ordinance by voting YES at the polls on November 5th.

It is Sensible to Settle the Gas Rate Now Because—

Columbus gas users will continue to receive full value for their gas money. The fuel will still be far the cheapest for general household purposes.

The rate which averages 58⅔ cents over four years is considerably below the national average rate of 74 cents per 1000 cubic feet for natural gas.

The service itself is beyond question because no city in the country receives a finer service.

The compromise rate provided by the ordinance is less than the Company feels it could secure eventually through litigation. The Ohio Supreme Court recently sustained a rate averaging nearly 69 cents for Cleveland.

Columbus taxpayers have paid over $500,000 as litigation expense on gas cases and yet rates have gone higher.

The four-year average of the compromise rate is so close to what you now pay that it is foolish to continue costly litigation that satisfies no one.

Vote X YES To Approve The Gas Rate Ordinance

3 Hilltop Draft Boards Issue Registration Nos.

Names and Serial Nos. Posted At Local Hdqs.

Uncle Sam and his army are drawing nigh as indicated by announcements from local draft boards on the Hilltop that all serial numbers have been assigned to young men of draft age.

The registrant may obtain his serial number by contacting his local board headquarters where the numbers are posted. The names have not been alphabetized, so one wanting to know his number may have to scan 40 or 50 closely typed sheets before finding it.

The serial number must not be confused with the order number, it is advised, which will be issued following the gigantic lottery in Washington on Oct. 29. The order number will tell in which "call class" the registrant is.

Thus, the fact that a registrant's serial number is a low one numerically does not mean that he will be subject to an early call. The registrant must know his serial number, however, in order to ascertain in which "call class" he is to be after the Washington lottery.

Final information regarding the membership, location and territories covered by the three draft boards in wards 10 and 11 has been secured and is herewith presented for the convenience of Record readers:

The Spectator

The American Way

By C. Carlton Hartley

I like the American way.

I like the privilege of sitting down to my typewriter and puting my thoughts onto paper and then being allowed to express these same thoughts in my own paper. I like the freedom of being allowed to own and control my own paper. I like it more so because no one is under obligation to read what I write or agree with it if they do read it.

This system is singular in the world today. We have no assurance how long it will be maintained with world diseases spreading as they are.

I think the system should be preserved.

I like it so much because last Saturday I was free to sit in a group of 63,000 people and watch an athletic contest . . . with no strings attached, no military significance, no hidden meanings behind it . . . no regimentation.

I like to visit Ohio State university and take advantage of its opportunities. I like to know this institution, and all our schools are teaching what science, research and the talents of ages have found to be true . . . not what a government dictates as what shall be taught by law.

I like all the freedom we have so much enjoyed in this country Pages could be written on the good things we enjoy.

I like the American way.

I think it should be preserved. I believe every resident of this community believes it should be preserved.

I think the finest gesture toward preservation of it can be made on Nov. 5 at the polls. It is a duty of every American citizen to register this gesture.

I have no quibbles with the New Deal. I have been in accord with many of its ventures. As the pendulum has swung to the left much good work has been done which will be preserved.

But today something more vital is at stake. The American way is at stake.

But the American way can be preserved at the polls Nov. 5. The American voter will think for himself . . . God forbid that the American way should ever be eliminated so that he fails to be granted this privilege.

Let's consider these facts.

Recent years under the present administration have found more and more power placed in the hands of the chief executive through means of "emergency" legislation. A national congress that has bowed to his will has spent seven years in experimentation that has cost the country billions of dollars that horse sense economics tells us the country must pay back at some time in the future or face the alternative of some form of a national economic collapse. It has been a period of waste . . . of moneys, materials and manpower . . . all the while the number of unemployed increasing rather than even tending to decrease.

The chief executive has asked for privileges that, if granted, would have been dangerous for the country. That was evident in his Supreme Court packing proposal. That is evidenced today as his own appointees and workers part with him on the eve of a national election. They, too, have enjoyed the American way and want to see it preserved. They are in better position to see it approaching those systems that have infested Europe today. But here, unlike in Europe, they still have the privilege of differing even with the chief executive of the nation.

I believe in the Napoleonic code which has resulted in our laws being based on precedent. All democracies have existed under this code. For this reason I believe the precedent of a third term should never be established. We have no way of knowing that any danger would come in this third term BUT we have no way of knowing what the future dangers might be.

The real danger is not in the third term itself but in the seeking of extended power.

The dictator of Europe started as a private in the army, became a corporal, and thence dictator by steps because he was allowed to exercise his iron handed policies. Why risk upsetting the American way by believing that any American citizen is indispensible as an official?

Your fundamental liberties may be at stake on Nov. 5.

Aside from the fact that the New Deal economic policy has been a failure over seven years and should not be allowed to go on for four more years, the third term question is the most important matter facing the American people today.

In local politics I can make no distinction between a Democrat or a Republican. I will cast my vote for the man because of his ability regardless of party. This great community of the Hilltop is made up of individuals who play no favorites by sticking strictly to party lines. This is the American way.

But the coming national election has an issue at stake. It is not a matter of voting for a Democrat or a Republican, for Roosevelt or Willkie. Take time to think for yourself. Forget party lines and personalities and consider the fundamental issue of this campaign. Then by all means VOTE.

The Yankee spirit is the thing.

It has won every war America has participated in. It wins football and business battles. It has won because the American people have been aware of what they have been fighting for.

But that spirit stands to be stifled by regimentation and control under a system that is gradually taking away our liberties and forcing a great number of American citizens to conform to a governmental program without knowing the why. And when that spirit is killed the American will become a very ordinary soldier and without that spirit any future American battles will be lost before they are begun.

Freedom is basic to the American way. Will the administration of your choice curtail or broaden your sphere in which to speak, to travel, to work, to live honestly and abundantly . . . now . . . four years from now . . . and for your children 40 years from now? That is the question!

Consider the facts. Think of the issues. Then go to the polls on Nov. 5 and VOTE. Vote for the leader that you think can and will best preserve the American way.

West Broad Carnival Offers Fun, Food and Novelties

Food, fun and "all the fixings" await those who will attend the carnival at West Broad school Saturday, Oct. 26, according to the committee in charge.

The program will begin at 10 a. m. and will continue late into the evening. Booths will be open and refreshments available throughout the morning and hamburgers and wieners will be served at noon and during the afternoon.

An evening jitney supper of chili, ham, baked beans, cake, pie, ice cream, milk and coffee will be served at the dinner hour.

Entertainment features include puppet shows by Carney and Dr. Ceuso at 2:30 and 7:30, four separate magic shows at 3:30, 6:00, 7:30 and 9:00 by Oscar Guthell, magician extraordinary, and movies in the auditorium at 2:00, 4:30 and 8:30.

Riding ponies for the children will be at the north end of the playground.

Display booths chuck full of handiwork, potted plants, candy, pop corn and cakes will be set up and their wares offered for sale. There will also be a fish pond and a surprise package booth.

In case of inclement weather the carnival will be held in the school basement and auditorium.

S. J. Westlake Ready For A Much Earned Rest

On the right is Mrs. Ina Dodson, 249 S. Burgess-av, standing by the press on which the first issue of the Record was printed in April, 1917. She was the first employed press feeder. In her hand is a copy of the Memorial Day edition of May 30, 1918. The page is covered with blue stars, each one representing an enlisted man from the Hilltop. On an inside page names and regimental affiliations were given.

Founder Of Record Retires After Sixty Years In Printing Business

"To be or not to be, that is the question.
Whether I will continue to be a slave
To a case of type or will take up Against a galley of type and Flee for the first freight train."

S. J. Westlake, amid chuckles, told the story of "Happy Edwards, the "typographical tourist" (tramp printer to you), with whom he worked often in his early days as a printer. "Like most tramp printers," said Mr. Westlake, "'Happy' drifted from shop to shop in order to earn enough money for a drink and a bed."

An Englishman, hence a Shakespeare enthusiast, Happy would [illegible] the above ditty at the beginning of each new job.

And so, after 60 years a printer, Mr. Westlake has finally decided to "take up arms" and flee. This week he is retiring.

He started out in the business in 1881 in Delaware, O., as a printer's apprentice. For five long weeks at 10 hours a day he worked for nothing. Then he got a raise—and what a raise! For the next six months young Mr. Westlake worked for a dollar a week—still 10 hours a day.

"The presses of that day," he said, "were not operated by either gas or electric power but by steam. As an apprentice, I used to carry water from the town pump to supply the steam engine," he continued.

For years my wearing apparel consisted of three pieces only, a hickory shirt, a pair of cut-down pants and a 10-cent buckeye hat. My shoes were of the crudest and cheapest cow-hide. Along toward the middle of the winter," he said, "the toe leather would wear out and the big toe would stick out." This wasn't without its advantages, according to Mr. Westlake, since the snow and slush could be drained off merely by lifting the foot, whereas an "entire" shoe had to be removed for the purpose.

Founded Record

In April, 1917, Mr. Westlake set up type for a little four column newspaper. He called it the Hilltop Record. It grew. Another press was installed in the little W. Broad-st shop. Six columns were printed to a page. Pages were still printed one at a time, however. Mrs. Westlake folded each sheet before putting it in the press.

Survey Shows Public Does Not Want Increased Gas Rate

If people of Columbus feel about the matter as they did in mid-summer the increased gas rate will be defeated at the election Nov. 5, according to a survey conducted by The Record in July and August.

Working on the semi-scientific principle of taking small samples, as the Gallup Poll does, the surveyors asked the following questions among others:

(1) Would you vote for an increased gas rate if submitted by the city council to a vote of the people?

(2) Would you be eligible for a refund from the $1,500,000 impounded by the courts between 1927 and 1929?

The tabulation of answers gave the following results:

To question No. 1, 86.7% of those interviewed answered NO. A majority of these answers were emphatic and apparently incontravertible. 0.5% of those interviewed were not well enough acquainted with the facts of the case to give a definite answer. These were classified as "DON'T KNOW" or "UNDECIDED." 3.8% of those interviewed answered YES.

To question No. 2, 54.6% of those interviewed answered NO. 44.1% answered YES. [illegible] answered "DON'T KNOW" or "I AM NOT SURE."

Of those who replied [illegible] they would vote for an increased rate, 54% were definitely eligible for the refund, 27% were not certain whether or not they would be eligible for the refund, 19% were not eligible for a refund.

Of those who were not certain whether or not they would vote for an increased rate, 43% were definitely eligible for a refund. 38% were not certain whether or not they would be eligible for a refund, 19% were not eligible for a refund.

It may be ascertained from the last two groups of percentages that the prospect of getting a refund check bears some relation to the answers given.

On the other hand, although 86.7% of those interviewed opposed the increase, 44.1% would be eligible for the refund, indicating considerable intensity of resistance to an increased gas rate.

Topic of discussion at the Columbus Town Meeting Monday evening, Oct. 28, is "Should the Gas Rate Ordinance Be Approved?"

Speakers are Robert Hunter of the College of Law, Ohio State university, and Edward Tharp, vice-president and general manager of the Ohio Fuel Gas company.

Beginning at 8 o'clock, the meeting will be held in the YMCA auditorium, 40 W. Long-st. Admission is free but tickets must be obtained beforehand. There will be a broadcast between 8:30 and 9:30 over WCOL.

In short, those who definitely opposed an increased rate, at the same time believing themselves to be eligible for a refund, were signifying a willingness to forfeit a $10-$20-$30 refund check in order to keep the present gas rate.

In attempting to take a cross-section of public opinion several variables are bound to enter the picture. This particular survey was conducted (July-August) before much public attention had been given to the matter.

Furthermore, the Gas company had not yet begun its campaign by which means it is presenting its case to the public.

Finally, since the surveyors made their rounds during working hours, the majority of those interviewed were housewives who were expressing their own opinions, which may or may not have reflected the opinions of their husbands or other members of the family.

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN Efficient County Administration
You Will Want To Know These Things:
During one term in office J. Arthur Yoder operated the office of county clerk on its income and turned back money to the county. Previously, the office of the clerk operated with an annual deficit of $23,000. By effecting many economies Yoder has saved the taxpayers of Franklin county over $140,000 during his term.
When Yoder took office thousands of court cases had accumulated which had not been transcribed into permanent records as required by law. Filling 150-eight hundred page books, Yoder brought these records up to date, at the same time keeping up on all current records.
Yoder has passed on bonds in criminal cases to the extent of $209,175 and the county has not lost a single penny on forfeitures. He is accredited with driving professional bondsmen from the county's criminal courts.
During his administration, Yoder has handled the sum of $1,705,297 and his cash books are in complete balance, which is the first time since 1921, as reported by the state auditor's examiners.
Yoder has taken politics out of the clerk's office and has conducted it as a business institution.

City Will Approve New Bridge Plan

That the city will do its share in the Sandusky street bridge program leading to the ultimate realization of the Hilltop boulevard was expressed this week by Grover F. Clements, service director, in a letter to County Engineer Allan Slade.

"We realize that it will be impossible to complete the entire project at the present time, due to the lack of financial resources, but I do wish to assure you that we are very much interested and desirous of entering into any cooperative plan, whereby the portion of the project as you outline as Project No. 1 should be accomplished as soon as possible.

"From a financial standpoint, we have been advised by the city attorney's office that it will be possible for the city of Columbus to contribute its share toward this construction of Project No. 1, viz: the relocation of the New York Central tracks, the construction of underpasses in Sandusky street and McKinley avenue and the construction of the new bridge.

"At present, we are assured that the city of Columbus will be financially able to assume its portion of the cost of such an improvement. It is with this thought in mind that we are hereby approving your plan as presented, and assure you of any cooperation you may desire, in order to expedite the completion of this much needed improvement."

KEEP THE HEARSE AWAY

The sirens roar as they pass our door
The ambulance is on its way
Some one is crying, perhaps some dying
Who were light hearted and gay
A few moments before they left their own door
Now only a bundle of clay
It happens each day, that's a big city way
A fearful sight to put on display.

Happy and gay we travel our way.
Our sky is blue and then it turns gray
To eliminate worry don't be in a hurry
There's danger all along the way.
Too late over there to travel with care
Do it while happy and gay
When the hearse comes, along you can [illegible] this song
"I ain't going your way today.

I ain't going your way today.
Go away and let me play.
I always drive slow and I know what I know
While traveling on the highway
I don't get there when I drive my Lizzie Cox
I let strong drink alone
There may be worse—but I don't like your [illegible] hearse.
Nor that spooky word tombstone.

Buckaroos, Central To Clash Tonight

With lighter hearts after their win over South last week an inspired West eleven will invade Central stadium tonight.

The stack-up of the teams could be more lop-sided. The heavy Central line will outweigh West by several pounds per man, while the win-loss records of the two teams are about the same.

Hitting hard and tackling for keeps, the West High 11 last week took a favored South High team to the cleaners.

Early in the first quarter a pass from Dan Brown on South's 34 took Chuck Snyder and the pigskin over the enemy's goal line.

After a drive of 85 years the South team scored in the second quarter and converted.

Starting on their own 15 yard marker, the Bucks carried the ball to South's eight from which point Jack Hobbs kicked a field goal.

Final score, 9-7.

$1,500,000 REFUND

What Is It? Who Gets It?

UNDER THE COMPROMISE GAS RATE ORDINANCE

Of the four unsettled gas cases in Columbus, one is pending before the District Court of United States. This case involves $1,939,155 impounded in Columbus banks under order of the Court until ownership of the money can be decided. The amount is divided into two parts as follows:

A portion of the money collected through gas bills in Columbus by The Federal Gas & Fuel Company and The Columbus Gas & Fuel Company from May, 1925, to June, 1927	$1,548,464
Interest which has accrued on the above amount	390,691
TOTAL	$1,939,155

Through the years numerous and lengthy hearings have been held on this case. In 1939 the arguments by the City and Company were concluded. Volumes of testimony and exhibits must be reviewed by the Court before a decision can be rendered. The Company feels that it has established its right to the full amount and the City may be just as sincere in believing it has proved that this money should be returned to the customers. When the Court will issue its finding or what it will be, no one knows. Either the City or Company may appeal this case if the decision is unsatisfactory.

In an attempt to wipe out the four gas cases pending in litigation, the case involving the impounded money was included in the compromise rate ordinances passed by your City Council. As a final concession in accepting the ordinance, the Company has agreed to relinquish its claim to $1,500,000 of this money and return it to more than 70,000 customers who used gas during the time the money was impounded. The refund averages $21.34 per customer. In case the customer is deceased, the legal heirs would receive the refund.

The Company would receive $439,155 of the impounded money, out of which it must pay all expenses involved in making the refund—estimated to be $150,000. Also, the Company would guarantee to the City Treasury $150,000 as the minimum it will receive in unclaimed refunds.

Whether or not a customer would receive a refund, it is well to consider the compromise rate on its own merits. Columbus will still receive the lowest average gas rate of any city its size in the country. The present rate will continue for two years and then in the next two years a small adjustment is made that will cost no customer more than 34 cents a month. The rate is far below the average rate of nearly 69 cents, recently sustained by the Ohio Supreme Court for Cleveland. It certainly is below the rate that could be sustained before any commission or court, based on the cost of rendering service today.

What other business would offer this price protection four years in advance when so little is known of the future? Study the facts and you can't help but agree—it's sensible to settle the gas rate now by voting YES for your approval of the compromise gas rate ordinance on November 5th.

Isn't It Sensible To Settle The Gas Rate Now Because—

The compromise gas rate ordinance ends 16 years of litigation and takes the gas rate out of politics.

The customer still will buy gas at a cost far below other fuels for common household purposes.

No one will question that Columbus receives a gas service that is unexcelled in the country.

Over $2,000,000 has been spent in fighting or defending gas cases, but neither the City nor Company have been satisfied with the decisions.

This is the first time that Columbus voters could approve a rate that is acceptable to both the City and Company.

The business grew, circulation increased and a cylinder press was installed. The paper now had seven columns to a page. Mr. Westlake sold out his share of the business in 1926.

Mr. Westlake has been on the Hilltop since 1908. At that time there were only two small business establishments on the south side of Broad-st between Oakley and Hague avenues. An occasional residence broke the monotony of the large open spaces between. The hinterland was cow pasture.

Standing in front of his shop, Mr. Westlake could see all the way to Sullivant-av, where an occasional trolley car rumbled westward. Highland-av and W. Broad-st were the only paved streets. As for the rest—mud ruts between grass banks.

A man who gives generously of his ample stock of reminiscences, Mr. Westlake told of his boyhood 60 years ago. Hoop skirts had just gone out of date, bustles were on their way in. The old discarded hoops could be found on practically any ash heap.

As an apprentice printer he used to wash type with home-made lye made by filtering water through a barrel of wood ashes. "One day we heard tell of a machine for setting type," he said. "This was the laughing stock of the trade—a ridiculous contraption. But it was the forerunner of the linotype and the 'ridiculous contraption' has made history," he concluded.

Mr. Westlake, as a youth, had a favorite diversion. This was circuses. He saw Tom Thumb, Jumbo, and was an ardent admirer of John L. Sullivan, whom he once saw on a train platform.

He printed the first pledge card for the WCTU when that organization launched its world-famed temperance drive in the early '90's.

Mr. Westlake is retiring this week. He lives with his wife, daughter and granddaughter at 1194 Whittier-st. But he will always keep a hand press nearby. "It isn't easy to leave a life's work," he said. The printer's ink runs deep and thick in Mr. Westlake's veins.

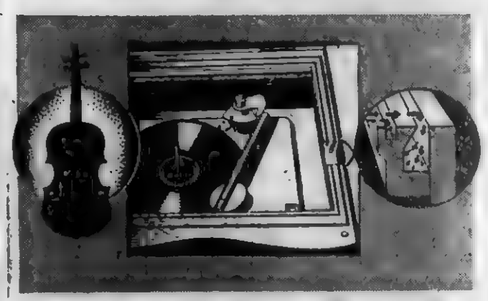
AND THE MAKERS OF THE

RCA Victrola

Radio broadcasting began 20 years ago with the broadcast of the Harding-Cox election returns! We invite you to join us in celebrating this anniversary of broadcasting—the entertainment that has rekindled America's interest in great music and has brought new joy into millions of homes throughout the nation.

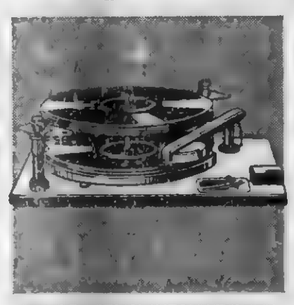
celebrate the 20th anniversary of broadcasting by making this great money-saving offer! This superb instrument gives you the thrill of radio plus the joy of records! List price $150—trade-in allowance $25.05. You pay $124.95

See and Hear This Fine Instrument!



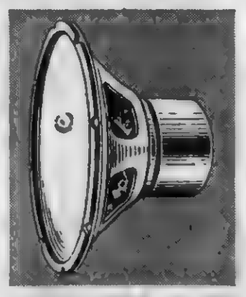
RCA Victrola Model V-205 combines brilliant, new cabinet beauty with outstanding performance features—and the finest tone you've ever heard at anything like this sensational low price. In addition to the features illustrated below, it gives you many others which we'll be glad to demonstrate. One look, one "listen"—and you'll agree that here is a buy that can't be duplicated in any other make for less than $50 more than the low price we ask you to pay.

Designed for use with Television or Frequency Modulation Attachments!

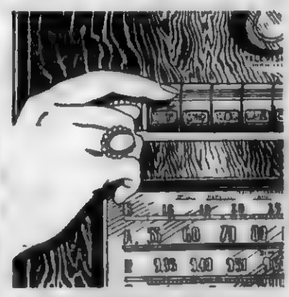


For better reproduction use RCA Victor Red Seal Needles—50 points per package.

CHOOSE THE INSTRUMENT GREAT ARTISTS CHOOSE!



These RCA Victrola features prove this instrument gives you more for your money!



EXCLUSIVE, AMAZING TONE GUARD. For centuries, violins have had "f-slots" like those shown in white above. They produce rich purity of violin tone. Similar in principle, RCA Victrola Tone Guard is an ingenious invention of scientifically shaped slots, built into the cabinet, around the record chamber. To bring you rich, pure record tone, they capture—and suppress—unwanted mechanical noises present in ordinary phonograph-radios. You hear only the full beauty of music as it was originally recorded—even with volume at whisper-level. Come in for a demonstration of this amazing, exclusive feature.

GENTLE-ACTION AUTOMATIC RECORD CHANGER. Another RCA Victrola development for your increased pleasure. It enables you to enjoy uninterrupted record concerts. It automatically plays both 10" and 12" records. This RCA Victrola also has illuminated record compartment and newly styled top-loading tone arm for your convenience.

SUPER-SENSITIVE 12" ELECTRO-DYNAMIC SPEAKER. To further assure you superb record and radio reproduction, even with volume tuned down to a whisper. Set also has a powerful audio system with 12 watts of output. Now, for the first time, records may be used as background music.

ELECTRIC TUNING. Push a button—there's your station. In addition, Model V-205 gives you two built-in antennae—one for domestic and one for foreign radio reception. This superb instrument has 9 RCA Victor Preferred Type Tubes, for finer performance. And the beautiful cabinet, compact in size, is fashioned from fine woods by master craftsmen.

42 YEARS OF LEADERSHIP. For more than two decades the RCA Victor Dog has symbolized the finest in record reproduction. For years the phonograph was a mechanical instrument. But just as records today are made electrically, so too, have the principles of radio been applied to RCA Victrola reproduction—to continue RCA Victor leadership.

WILLARD R. SHIVELY

Pledges Clean Law Enforcement

Captain Shively, Republican candidate for sheriff, veteran of both World War and Mexican Border service, is again in the military service of his country at Camp Shelby, Mississippi. A voluntary committee of World War veterans and other friends will carry on the campaign in his absence. To this committee Captain Shively wrote, "I expect to return after the election to take the oath, make appointments and organize the office. I will leave this office in competent hands, giving it any personal attention that may be necessary, without neglecting my military duties. I assume full responsibility during the entire 4-year term. I pledge clean law enforcement as sheriff of Franklin County and intend to clean up the notorious gambling situation." Political Adv.

Selling Them Down The River

It's often been discussed, and reliably so, that some horse trading was done last year in the city election. Democrats threw their support to certain Republicans and supposedly were to have clear sledding this year in the court house.

After looking over the Republican slate in the county it can readily be understood that the outstanding talent in the Republican ranks was not selected in every case, which might indicate that the charge is true.

More recently we've heard from various sources that the Hilltop's friend, George Matson, is being sold down the river and in the campaigning along the line a Democrat and a Republican are being talked of together.

If this is so Hilltoppers should throw their entire and undivided support to George Matson.

I've known George for a great number of years and I have yet to find him to be anything but the highest type of a gentleman and a man of his word. This county needs this type of man in the court house as a commissioner.

Return Him To The Job

Ralph J. Bartlett is about to complete a successful term as county prosecutor. He is capable and qualified for a return to that position.

Three years ago we had reason to differ seriously with Mr. Bartlett on a local matter.

Those who have come in contact with his office speak highly of his administration of it.

On Unsigned Letters

As long as the letter is signed we will observe any request to refrain from printing the name. But we must know the author.

Case For Gas Ordinance Is Presented

On the eve of the coming election the following additional points of information are offered by the Gas Co., with reference to the approval of the ordinance which calls for increased gas rates for Columbus.

There are only two possible ways of settling a utility rate—either by compromise or by litigation, according to Gas company officials.

Why, they ask, in regard to the present controversy over the gas rate ordinance to be submitted to the voters at the polls on Tuesday, after 16 years of effort to settle the matter by litigation, do not the voters try compromise?

If any individual or group has a better method, they continue, why do they not present it?

There can be no objection to the quality of service rendered by the Gas Co., it is maintained, and yet rates are lower than those of practically every other city in the country of comparable size.

The 56.22 rate set by the public utility commission was based on cost conditions of 1934, which have altered substantially since that time. Taking in consideration the tremendous rise in labor, maintenance and material costs and taxes a present fair rate should yield approximately 64c, according to Gas Co. estimates. They claim their taxes are double the taxes paid in 1929.

But in the spirit of true compromise, which means the concessions must be made by both sides, the company has agreed to accept a 61c rate after the elapse of two years during which the present rate will prevail.

After the period of the agreement, city council and representatives of the Gas Co. can again sit down together and discuss the situation and endeavor to reach an agreement consistent with the conditions that then may exist, it is said.

The Gas Co. makes one final plea for voters of the city to take the gas rate question out of politics in the interests of healthy public relations.

During negotiations between Council and the company, it was agreed that if this ordinance would be passed the company would take the leadership in explaining the provisions of such ordinance to the voters. This explains why the company instead of the city has taken such leadership.

Pulses Beat Faster As Election Day Approaches

Pulses are beating faster on the Hilltop this week as election day draws nigh.

The eyes of every community in the nation look forward with expectancy and perhaps apprehension to the outcome of the presidential race. But there are other offices to be filled.

Since democracy begins and ends at the town pump (ala de Toqueville) people in these environs will give considerable attention to the men who will fill county offices for the next few years.

Folks on the Hilltop will be particularly interested in the candidacies of George W. Matson, 87 N. Warren-av, and Joseph Nailor, 109 N. Burgess-av. Seeking the office of county commissioner, Matson is conducting a personal campaign among his hundreds of friends in the county who are well aware of his competence and reliability.

A candidate for state representative, Nailor resides at 109 N. Burgess-av.

For the readers' convenience a list of county candidates is herewith presented. Democrats seeking office are:

Cook for county recorder; Roscoe R. Walcutt for county prosecutor; Willard R. Shively for sheriff; Harry D. Metcalf for county engineer; Joseph A. Murphy for coroner.

Hilltop Man of Year Award To Be Made On Nov. 12

Mose Williams, chairman of the Hilltop Man of the Year committee, has announced that a selection will be made on Nov. 12 at a joint meeting of the Camp Chase post and the Hilltop Business Men's association.

The award is based on general service to the community at large and is an annual selection by Legion members working in cooperation with the business men.

This year's selection will be the fifth. The award last year was given C. Carlton Hartley, publisher of the Hilltop Record. Previous winners include Rev. S. Talmadge Magann, former pastor of Hillcrest Baptist church, 1936; Ray G. Hauntz, local merchant, school board member and member of council, 1937; and Dr. J. F. Bateman, superintendent of the State hospital, 1938.

Enrollment Week

American Legion enrollment week will begin Monday, Nov. 4, and end Armistice day, Nov. 11. Every eligible man and woman is urged to join now and assist in the nationwide Americanism program.

Potential enrollees are asked to watch for the cards in neighborhood windows and to get application blanks from proprietors.

Visitors are always welcome at post meetings and are cordially invited to attend this evening. Plans are being made for a party at post headquarters, 3184 W. Broad-st, on Armistice day, Chairman Clarence Lytle advises.

Members of the Camp Chase Post American Legion Auxiliary will hold their regular meeting tonight at 8 at the post clubroom.

There will be a membership meeting held at headquarters at 7 this evening, and the quota of 191 members is expected to be filled by Armistice day. Membership team captains are Mrs. Irene Hitchcock, 172 Lechner-av, and Mrs. Finneran, 211 S. Eureka-av.

The Junior Auxiliary will hold its meeting at the same time.

Hillcrest To Present 5 p. m. Vesper Service

Beginning with the service Sunday evening the new fall Vesper worship services will be inaugurated at the Hillcrest Baptist church.

These services will begin at 5 p. m. and close promptly at 6:15. The first 15 minutes will be devoted to special music by guest musicians.

This Sunday the Upperman Sisters quartet of 1343 Union-av will sing. The service will also include special numbers by the choir, including "Send Out Thy Light" by Gounod. Robert Freshman and E. Ray Evans are soloists.

A pantomime actor will give life to a typical China scene flashed from the great book of Asia. A sermon based on Confucianism and China, accompanied by special lighting effects, will be presented by the pastor.

On the following four Sunday nights at the same hour (5 p. m.) the four remaining subjects in the comparative religion series will be used. They are as follows:

Nov. 10—"India and Hinduism."
Nov. 17—"Shintoism and Japan."
Nov. 24—Mohammedanism and Turkey."
Dec. 1—"Zorastrianism and Persia."

With each sermon a special scene will be depicted accompanied by appropriate music. The public is cordially invited to attend these services for first hand information on all these living religions.

West Students Get Instructions In Aviation And Airplane Design

In a nation chuck-full of people bent on defending their borders from the outer enemy, the preparations for defense go deep into the roots of everyday life.

Thus, already, young men (and possibly in the future, young women) at West High school are being schooled in the basic principles of aviation and airplane design.

Two weeks ago a group of students at West organized a club which was called "West Wings." The last meeting was held Wednesday morning, with 41 paid-up members.

The purpose of the program, according to C. S. Kennedy, leader of the group, is "to teach the basic principles of aviation, to

Local Cyclist Wins Association Trophy

Joe Gee, 100 S. Burgess-av, was the winner of a 202 mile motorcycle endurance contest which started and finished at Chillicothe last Sunday. He received a trophy donated by the American Motorcycle association.

Clyde Parkey, another veteran West Side rider, took second place. He resides at 290 Brehl-av. Russ Seely, Yale-av and Broad-st, came in third.

Louis Atkinson, 226 E. Westmoor-av, and Harry Stites, 1978 Sullivant-av, were also in this run.

Scouts Launch Action Program

Five hundred forty-one Boy Scouts from the Hilltop and southwest district took an active part in the First National Mobilization Roll-call last Monday evening. The Roll-call included a coordinated broadcast from station WHKC, which was heard by all of the troops from their regular meeting places, equipped with radios for the special broadcast.

As a part of a program to be carried out all over the country, Boy Scout organizations of the southwest district are embarking on an intensive "program of action," according to Howard G. Miller, district commissioner.

The purpose of the program, Mr. Miller explained, is to strengthen every individual unit for any possible service opportunities to democracy which may lie ahead.

Particular emphasis in the new program is being placed on the Emergency Service corps, which is composed of senior scouts, trained and equipped for emergency service calls. The senior scouts will assist in training their younger brothers in the emergency service program.

Planning to integrate their plans more fully with those of other organizations, the scouts of the district are already cooperating with local Red Cross committees in the distribution of literature and the performance of other services.

Irish Next On Buck's Grid Sked

The West Buckaroos, after a week's vacation from the city league fray, will attempt to improve their mid-season standing at the expense of the Fighting Irish of Aquinas on the Powell-av field Friday afternoon, Nov. 8.

Spectators at the Buck-Irish tussle should see plenty of action on both sides, as the participants are the most nearly matched teams in the league this season, on the basis of loop records. Aquinas, however, is given a distinct edge on their passing attack and unless the West eleven can devise an affective anti-air defense, will be hard to stop.

After the game with Central, Wests tally-sheet for the league stood at one each; wins, losses and ties, while Aquinas has one win, two losses and one tie game.

While the Cowboys were holding a heavier, harder-rushing Central eleven to a scoreless tie, the Fighting Irish staged a movie finish in their set-to with South by staging an aerial blitzkrieg which had the Terriers chasing their tails, as Aquinas won 14-7.

Hilltop Magician "Packs 'Em In"

Approximately one thousand spectators found themselves mystified by the feats of legerdemain performed by Jack Thomas, the Jack Frost magician, at the Hilltop Magic show which was sponsored by the Hilltop Record and local independent grocers in connection with the celebration of National Grocers' week.

Some of the high points of the show which was presented in the West High auditorium last Friday included the "Great Human Sacrifice" or execution by guillotine and the fine production of a garden of flowers upon the stage. Also enjoyed by the audience was the music of the Harmony club accordion band.

In addition to the aforementioned sponsors, Moraine For Flowers, Southworth Poultry, and Watkins Donut Shop helped to make the show a success.

Their Royal Highnesses

Pictured on the right are the West high homecoming queen and her court, who reigned at yesterday's homecoming game with Dayton Roosevelt and at the dance. The comely young ladies are all West seniors. The queen, Marilyn Rohr, is pictured at the center. Surrounding her is her court, from left to rt., Marjorie Fox, Carolyn Janes and Joan Kitchen.

Important

Cases of children shooting air rifles and even .22 calibre rifles without much regard for private property have been reported in the region around Richardson, Burgess and Terrace avenues.

A bullet from a .22 rifle crashing through a living room window was reported in one instance.

The police have been notified and have indicated that they will keep a close look-out for any further disturbances. The laws covering the use of such firearms are very rigid and the penalties strict.

Neighbors who have been disturbed have not cared to prosecute.

Hilltop Business Men Urge Traffic Outlet For Sullivant Avenue

A committee of city council, members of the Hilltop Business Men's association and the West Side Board of Trade met Tuesday afternoon with the secretary of the Metropolitan Housing authority and representatives of the city and county engineer's offices in an attempt to iron out kinks in the traffic flow from the Hilltop and West Side down Sullivant-av and thence across the river.

Five years ago at the time of the construction of the Main-st bridge city councilmen and officials of the city engineer's office promised, when funds were available, to extend the east end of Sullivant-av into Rich-st just west of the C. & O. underpass by means of a long, sweeping curve, according to Miss Mary Bentz, a representative of the HBMA at Tuesday's session.

In the meantime, however, city officials have let contracts for the erection of a federal housing project on the site over which the extended street was to have run.

The entire matter was brought up for discussion at city council meeting Monday evening with a delegation of Hilltop and West Side business men present.

According to Rev. Raymond Bauschard, a Hilltop delegate, the councilmen from the Hilltop were completely passive about the matter and it was left to Herb Daily, South Side councilman, to make a motion to appoint a special investigating committee.

Composed of Ray G. Hauntz, Wyatt L. Millikan and Arvin Alexander, this committee met with City Engineer P. W. Maetzel, O. A. Corzelius, director of the Metropolitan Housing Authority, Dr. F. L. Sulzberger, president of the HBMA, and Joseph C. Linville, president of the West Side Board of Trade.

Other members of the Hilltop delegation present were Miss Mary Bentz, W. J. Stephens and Rev. Raymond Bauschard.

Also representing the West Side Board of Trade were Harry Mock, R. J. Eyerman and R. Werner.

Maetzel explained that the Sullivant-av project as promised five years ago was unfeasible, since Sullivant-av would then merge with Rich-st too close to the steeply graded C. & O. underpass.

At any rate, it was explained, this proposal could not be carried out because of arrangements made with the government and private contractors to build the housing project over the site of the proposed street extension.

A resolution was finally passed to investigate the possibility and costs of connecting Sullivant-av and Rich-st by a sweeping curve from a point near May-av at Sullivant emerging on Rich-st at McDowell.

Traffic signs would be erected, according to the resolution, at convenient points in order to insure a free and uninterrupted flow of traffic from Sullivant-av into Rich-st and thence across the river via the Main-st bridge.

This solution seemed to be satisfactory to the representatives of the Hilltop and West Side but it was indicated that the promises of city councilmen and city engineer regarding the original proposal had been broken.

GOP To End Rip-Roaring Campaign With Huge Rally

Only once in a blue moon does anything so spectacular come to these parts as the gigantic GOP rally scheduled for Saturday evening in the Red Bird stadium.

The gates open at 7 p. m. sharp and at 8 o'clock the much-anticipated Willkie-Bricker vs. Roosevelt-Davey football game will get under way.

Both teams are composed of boys 17 years of age or under. Average weight, 130 pounds. The two teams are tied for first place in the city bantam-weight league.

Following the game there will be an enormous fireworks display with flares, sky-rockets and a hundred aerial bombs, to be topped only by two 24-foot square pictures of Willkie and Bricker in colored fire.

Parade Through County

At 12 o'clock noon on Saturday a huge Republican parade will form in front of the Buckeye Steel Castings works at the end of Parsons-av.

Composed of more than a hundred automobiles and floats elaborately decorated in banners and signs, the parade will go out through all the little communities of the county in a last minute drive to round up votes for the GOP. It will last for eight hours.

Featured speakers will be John Vorys, Republican candidate for re-election to congress, and Claris Adams, president of the Ohio State Life Insurance Co. and the Columbus Willkie club.

In the evening the parade will find its way (it is hoped) to the Red Bird stadium for the grand finale.

The general public is cordially invited to attend the game and celebration. Tickets may be obtained from the offices of W. E. Jones, realtor, 2765 W. Broad-st. It is expected that the Red Bird stands will be filled to capacity.

The starting line-ups of the two opposing football teams are as follows:

Wilkie-Bricker		R'velt-Davey
D. Homes	LE	C. Hester
B. Elliott	LT	J. Fuller
Leibensperger	LG	O. Hughes
J. Jones	C	Williamson

Free Shows

Free shows will be presented tonight, Saturday, Sunday and Monday nights at the two Hilltop Willkie theatres at 2356½ W. Broad-st and at the corner of Hague and Broad.

The features will be continuous and will portray the U. S. fleet in action, the fleet on parade, two famous presidents, destroyers that keep Hitler awake at night, and the Willkie-Bricker football team in action.

All Republican candidates are invited to attend these presentations and to speak during the intermissions.

It's Your Vote — Use It —

An Editorial

It is perhaps true that no more important election will have ever been held than that of next Tuesday. Nationally, in the state and in the county there are important issues at stake.

Americans are fortunate in having the privilege of voting for their public officials. One sure way of keeping this right is to exercise it. On Tuesday you have a vote. Use it!

* * * *

Down in the office of the Clerk of Courts a very fine job has been done in the past four years by J. Arthur Yoder. He has instituted changes in the administration of that office that have saved the county $142,000 in this period.

He has taken the office from the liability side of the ledger to the asset side. His office paid its own way. In addition he has speeded up the service of his office to a place where it surpasses anything ever accomplished in that office. He has eliminated the professional bond racket.

Art Yoder is listed as a Democrat but he deserves the vote of every Hilltop Republican who is interested in the best administration of that office. There are no good reasons why he should not be returned to that office.

* * * *

Hilltop people have known George Matson for a long time. They have known him to be influenced only by his own better judgment. He has not been easily swayed. His decisions have been based on merit.

In the strictest sense of the word he would not make a good politician. George won't use all the methods commonly used by politicians to exort votes. He has asked the public to vote for him if they feel he is qualified . . . not because of anything he can promise them. His only promise is to fulfill the duties of his office to the best of his ability.

And just as we have pointed out above in asking Republicans to vote for a Democrat, we feel Democrats of the county can be doing themselves a real favor by voting for this man running on the Republican ticket.

Any vote for George Matson is a vote for good county government.

* * * *

Hilltop gas consumers, like those of all other sections of the city, will go to the polls next Tuesday and among other things vote for or against an increase in their gas rate.

We believe Hilltop consumers will vote against the ordinance after having made a study of the case as presented in recent weeks.

We cannot argue for or against the contention of the Gas Co. that the present rate is unfair. We believe that neither council or the public are in a position to determine so technical a question.

If defeat of the ordinance means that it is thrown back into the courts and the hands of the utilities commission then we are for its defeat. We sincerely believe a more equitable decision can be made by these bodies than by the public. Council has already indicated it wants nothing to do with it.

And then too, we don't like the idea of the Gas Co. holding out the refund of the impounded money as a "bait."

Columbus gas consumers have not had the use of this money for many years. If they do not get it for many more they certainly will not be deprived of very much. Then too, it's entirely possible that the courts may decide that all this money belongs to the Gas Co. and certainly Columbus gas consumers would not want money that does not belong to them.

J. ARTHUR YODER
Should Be Re-Elected Clerk of Courts

The office of the Clerk of Courts REQUIRES a competent and efficient administrator. The clerk is responsible for keeping all the records of five separate courts in Franklin county.

Upon assuming office, J. Arthur Yoder found thousands of court cases in the files which had not been transcribed into permanent records as required by law. He has been responsible for bringing all these old records up to date, at the same time keeping up on all current records.

It was common practice prior to Yoder's election to hire additional help at the end of the year in a last minute attempt to bring the records up to date. This practice has been dispensed with, helping to effect savings which have amounted to over $142,000 in four years.

The cash books of the clerk's office are in complete balance, the first time since 1921, according to the state examiner's report.

Yoder is accredited with driving professional bondsmen from the county's criminal courts. During his administration the county has not lost a single cent of forfeitures.

THE HILLTOP AND WEST SIDE NEED
George W. Matson
FOR County Commissioner

One of the most important county offices to be voted on at the coming election is that of County Commissioner. Two are to be elected. George Matson should be one of those men selected to serve the county in this important post.

His years of practical experience and training as a business man, contractor and builder, make him well qualified to serve. He was chief building inspector for the city from 1936 until this year, during which time he had an outstanding record of successful administration. He was first in the competitive examination for the post.

Numerous improvements needed for this community as well as those of all sections of the county will receive the utmost in careful consideration if Mr. Matson is elected.

He is not a politician and entered the race for this position on the insistence of his friends all over the county. His independent attitude, looking to the best interests of the entire community make it important that he be elected. Regardless of your political party cast your vote for good county government by voting for Matson.

Ketterer Applies Third Term Issue To County Offices

The "third term question" was introduced into the race for county treasurer this week as George F. Ketterer, Democratic candidate for that office, pointed out that the incumbent, Henry Frank, Republican, is seeking his fourth term.

"If a third term is undesirable for the chief executive of the land as some voters would lead us to believe, then why not let the rule apply to our county officers as well?" Mr. Ketterer said.

Mr. Ketterer has long been identified with Democratic politics in Franklin county, having served on the city council and state legislature a few years ago.

Frank Aids Lower Taxes

Franklin county will have a lower tax rate next year.

That welcome news has a very definite connection with some figures which have just been released by County Treasurer Henry Frank, who is himself a member of the budget commission which sets the tax rate.

Approximately $5,000,000 in delinquent taxes have been collected during [illegible] Mr. Frank, according to the report. The inference is clear that, had this money not been collected, Franklin county residents would now be paying increased taxes instead of enjoying a reduction in rate.

One of the features of Mr. Frank's collection campaign which has attracted wide attention is the installment system of paying delinquent taxes. He inaugurated this system to ease the burden on "the little fellow."

Records of the treasurer's office reveal that 7,992 persons are now using this pass-book plan of "catching up" on back taxes which accumulated during panic times. In this way thousands of small property owners have been helped to save their homes while, at the same time, the county has avoided taking terrific losses in tax revenue.

Henry Frank also aided in securing passage of the Whittemore-Addison Act, a ten-year payment plan for delinquent taxes. Approximately 25,000 Franklin county home owners have taken advantage of this plan to save their homes.

I AIN'T MAD AT NOBODY

What Kind Of A Web Are You Weaving?

What kind of a web am I weaving
What am I using for a loom
Am I acquiring knowledge for deceiving
That may bring sorrow and gloom
The web I am weaving has no more permanence
Than that of the weakest thread
Am I weaving a structure for endurance
Or a scaffold to fall on my head.

Have I studied my patterns with vigilance
Am I efficient in the use of each tool
That I must employ with skill and diligence
So people won't call me a fool
When the book of life is closed on strife
Will I leave a pattern behind
A pattern that posterity can be proud of
Both the uncouth and the refined.

I would weave a firm web of endeavor
That is honest and true
Symbols and tokens to travel forever
That courage it might imbue
In the generations that follow after
And benefit their pathway of life
I would weave a strong web of laughter
As a sure way to alleviate strife.

EXPERIENCED - EFFICIENT

Election, Tuesday, Nov. 5, 1940

Political Adv.

Numerous questions have come to The Gas Company regarding the compromise rate ordinance. Many have dealt with individual subjects which could be answered by letter or personal call. The questions of general interest are listed below, along with the answers. To read them, we believe, will answer any questions there may be in your mind. Considering all the facts, don't you agree that it is sensible to settle this matter by voting YES for your approval of the gas rate ordinance on November 5th.

about the ordinance

What will be the rate if the compromise ordinance isn't approved by a majority of the voters?

The present rate would continue until another decision would change it. The Company believes that ultimately it would be granted a rate considerably higher. The Ohio Supreme Court recently sustained a rate averaging 69 cents for Cleveland. Of course, a decision one way or another still could be appealed, and would not clear up other pending cases.

If the ordinance passes, what will be the rate at the end of four years?

It stands to reason that after four years of peaceful operations, the City and Company should be able to negotiate another rate at the end of that time, the same as 99 percent of all other cities do. Whatever rate is negotiated, the voters will have opportunity to approve or reject it. If a rate cannot be agreed upon, the rate then being collected would continue until a decision is granted in a new case that would be started in litigation. Changing costs of labor, materials and taxes affected by booms, depressions and possible war, make it impossible for anyone to say what the Company's costs will be in four years.

Why doesn't the City explain the compromise gas rate ordinance to the people instead of The Gas Company doing it?

The City Council passed the lowest gas rate for Columbus that could be secured through negotiation and is letting the voters decide for themselves whether they want to accept it or continue litigation. In frequent meetings to negotiate a rate the Company informed Council that it would take the responsibility of explaining to the voters any rate to which both City and Company agreed.

about the rates

Why don't we hear more about the 48-cent rate that the City has passed on several previous occasions?

Originally the 48-cent rate was a temporary rate set by Federal Court until a proper rate could be decided. The City attempted to make this permanent. It has been ruled illegal by The Utilities Commission, the Ohio Supreme Court and the Supreme Court of the United States.

A lot has been said about average rates but they don't coincide with my gas bill. How is this explained?

Of a number of customers, each using different amounts of gas, no two would pay the same amount under the sliding scale in Columbus. The more gas a customer uses, the lower his rate per 1000 cubic feet becomes. This is the same basis on which all other commodities or services are sold. In order to use a figure closest to the one the greatest number of people will pay an average is taken.

Some say that the rate set by The Utilities Commission last year is several years out of date. How can this be?

The present rate in Columbus, handed down in August, 1939, averages 56¼ cents and is based upon conditions existing in 1934. Making the same allowances which the Commission granted, and bringing the figures up to date, the rate today would average over 64 cents per 1000 cubic feet.

about the refund

Customers of the old Federal Gas & Fuel Company used to pay a different rate than the rest of the city. Will these customers receive a refund?

Both The Federal Gas & Fuel Company and The Columbus Gas & Fuel Company were collecting the same rate from May, 1925, to June, 1927, when the money in question was impounded. Customers of either or both companies will receive refunds if they used gas between the dates mentioned.

If a customer, who would be entitled to a refund, is no longer living, who would get the money?

In such cases the refund would be paid to the heirs. If they cannot be located, the money would be paid to the City Treasury.

After the ordinance is approved how will we receive our refunds?

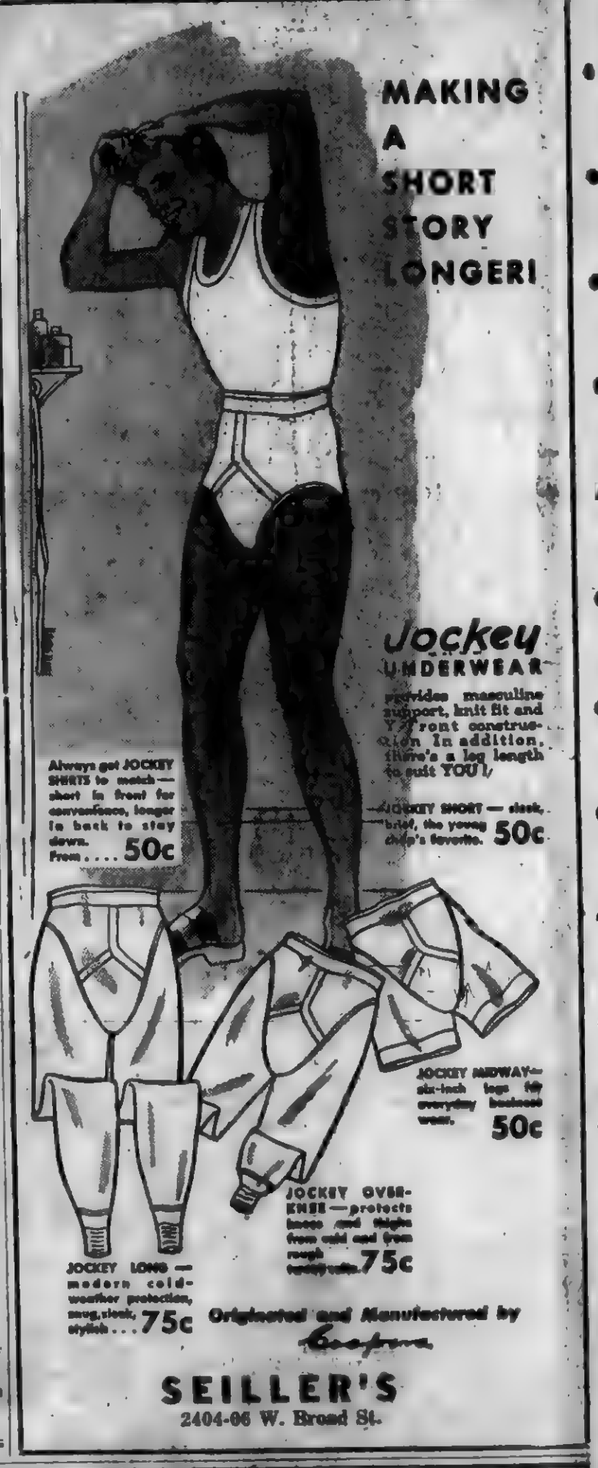
After legal clearance is secured the Company will start making refunds at once. In cases where the customer is still using gas in the same name and provided he hasn't moved too often, he will receive his check by mail without filing application. To others who may have used gas under different names or moved several times, the filing of an application may be requested to assist the Company in tracing the account. The Company will go to every reasonable means to see that the proper parties receive their full refunds as soon as possible.

Would customers who have moved out of Columbus receive refunds?

They would if they were gas customers in Columbus from May, 1925, to June, 1927.

about legal decisions

Some have said that the courts are about to render decisions unfavorable to The Gas Company. Is this why the Company wants to see the ordinance approved?



No one knows what or when the courts will decide. Anyone claiming such information may be declared in contempt of court. If the Company is unsatisfied with the decisions, it can appeal them. By the time final answers were received in these cases, more would come up to take their places. Thus, litigation would continue.

Is it true that gas users in Columbus have saved millions of dollars because The Utilities Commission or the courts have granted rate increases years after most of the gas has been used?

Few would favor underpaying a good servant when it was proven before the proper legal bodies that the services warranted a more adequate compensation. The Company has gone right on rendering the finest service it knew how in hope that someday the customers would have an opportunity to approve a fair rate. As one of the provisions of the compromise rate ordinance, the Company relinquishes all legal rights to some $3,000,000 which is due from customers under past decisions.

Your Vote Tuesday

Will determine the future of America for yourself and unborn generations — whether it will be Peace or War, LIBERTY or DICTATOR.

THINK BEFORE YOU VOTE!

You—the American voter—have the last word when it comes to speaking for the United States of America.

When you speak — Tuesday — through your vote, your voice will echo through the capitals of the world with a force and finality that will let everybody know that the people still rule in these United States. The dictator nations have been saying that the Democracies are soft, unwieldy, incapable of governing themselves. Sadly enough, it has been true of some Democracies, where the people had grown too lazy to govern themselves. And those Democracies have perished.

Now they're saying we're soft, too—we, the people of the United States, whose government derives its power from you—and you and you—and millions of others like you Soft, are we? . . . You tell 'em Tuesday!

It is true that many of the rights formerly held by your representatives in Congress have been surrendered to the President in the last seven years. They were surrendered at his request, as "emergency" powers.

But who wanted these "emergencies" continued for seven years—and, year after year, additional powers surrendered to the Chief Executive?—Not you.

Mr. Roosevelt is probably sincere, in thinking he should be President again, and is constantly seeking expansion of his powers.

But his opinion is just the opinion of one man—a man whose vote counts for no more than yours, when America speaks through the ballot.

The way to say "NO" to those who think democracy is weak—the way to stop these never-ending emergencies—the way to make sure of our continued liberty and avoid the threat of dictatorial powers, is to elect Wendell Willkie . . . President.

A Business Man To Run Our Business

The United States of America is, and must be, a business institution. If it isn't, it can't long endure.—It is the single largest business in all the world.

It does seem reasonable that a man who was schooled in business, who has succeeded amazingly as a business man might well be a good Chief Executive to head us back into the black, and out of the red.

Mr. Willkie is a business man.—He knows that no business can survive if it goes deeper and deeper into debt, year after year.

He knows that any business, large or small, must deal with the hard, cold facts of income and outgo, of profit and loss.

You have to do this in your personal affairs. Business corporations and nations must face the same inexorable laws.

During a period of depression, when he was president of the Commonwealth & Southern Corporation, Wendell Willkie had a problem. He met it by devising a way to increase sales, reduce selling prices to the public.

This same business genius is ours for the asking. We need it.

The nation's business is our business—your business. Mr. Willkie is a business man. He will handle your business as you want it handled.

Clerk J. Arthur Yoder Saves Franklin Co. Taxpayers $142,000 During Term

J. Arthur Yoder, second term candidate for clerk of courts, is asking that office again solely on the basis of his qualifications and accomplishments. His record in that office has been an enviable one from the standpoint of accomplishments.

Briefly, they are as follows:

1. Yoder has been responsible for converting the office of clerk of courts into one of the few divisions of the county government which is entirely self-supporting (and more so).

Previous to Yoder's assuming office, that office was costing the county approximately $23,000 a year above the operating income. In contrast, during the past three years, the office has turned back to the county treasury a total of $50,000 above the operating costs.

2. Upon assuming office, Yoder found thousands of court cases in the files which had not been transcribed into permanent records as required by law. Yoder has been responsible for bringing the old records entirely up to date, at the same time keeping up on all current records.

It was common practice prior to Yoder's election to hire additional help at the close of the year in a last minute attempt to bring the records up to date. This practice has now been dispensed with.

3. A modern, simplified filing system has been installed in the office of the clerk of courts upon Yoder's advice and under his direction. A "streamlined" flat folder system was adopted after an exhaustive examination of filing systems, replacing the more expensive, bulky and less accessible "pocket" filing system. The new system has resulted in increased efficiency and the elimination of "lost papers."

4. The complicated automobile title section of the office of the clerk has been completely revamped in the interests of efficiency. Previously, the office of the clerk maintained only a record of automobile transactions. Under Yoder's administration a "water-tight" title system was instituted, which gives the automobile owner what is equivalent to a deed on his vehicle. As a result illegal traffic in automobiles has been reduced to a minimum. Approximately $210,000 has been paid into the county treasury and $99,000 into the state treasury from fees paid into the automobile title division of the clerk's office.

5. Yoder is accredited with driving professional bondsmen from the county's criminal courts. The county has not lost a cent on criminal bonds during his administration.

6. During Yoder's term of office, $909,000 was collected from fees, licenses and judgments and distributed, necessitating the issuance of over 18,000 vouchers.

7. The cash books of the clerk's office are in complete balance, the first time since 1921, according to the state examiner's report.

Born in Stark county, J. Arthur Yoder attended school in Canton, Ohio. He studied three years at Union college and then enrolled in Bliss college, Columbus, for courses in business methods.

Following responsible employments with the Ward Baking Co. and the Blue Valley Creamery Co., Yoder successfully operated a grocery business in Columbus until his election in 1936 as clerk of courts. His record of accomplishments while in that office is proof of his competence.

Walcutt Bases Campaign On Experience

Roscoe R. Walcutt, Republican candidate for county prosecutor, is basing his campaign on his training and experience.

Born and educated in Franklin county, he has been associated with the courts and county offices for many years. His supporters maintain that these associations have made him thoroughly conversant with the mechanical aspects of the job he is seeking.

Walcutt has had considerable practical experience as a lawyer and member of the county, state and national bar. His heritage extends back more than a hundred years in the community.

Board-Walkers To Present "Double Door"

The curtains will part in the West High auditorium at 8:15 p. m., Nov. 8, and the play "Double Door" by Elizabeth McFadden, will be the first fall dramatic production to be presented by Buckaroo board-walkers.

Thrills and chills in large doses await the audience.

Director Roy Bowers has succeeded in capturing all of the suspense and nerve-tingling qualities of the play, which deals with the domination by a proud, vain woman of her family and the subsequent near-ruination of all of their lives.

The climax, absolutely unexpected, will surprise and thrill everyone in the audience.

Cars Wanted

Willkie supporters who have cars to donate on election day are asked to call RA. 5711 and give name and phone number to Mr. Oliver Pindell or to report on election day at Willkie club No. 3 headquarters, 2759 W. Broad-st.

Those who are in need of transportation to the polls are also asked to call RA. 5711.

Urges Return of Good Government

William Schneider, Franklin county Republican chairman, today stated that due to the intensive campaign that has been waged by his and the national organizations the trend to elect Wendell Willkie has reached flood tide proportions.

Good government can be established in Franklin county as it is now in force in the state government by the election of the slate of Republican candidates at the Tuesday election, Mr. Schneider said.

"Under the administration of Governor Bricker respectable government has been re-established in Ohio. The people of the state of Ohio can now look to their government with pride in an efficient, economical and well organized commonwealth.

"Franklin county voters can appreciate and are well-acquainted with the efficiency with which the state government functions. The same type of administration of public affairs will be established in the county with the election of the Republican candidates. Good government can and will be returned to Franklin county."

In closing his statement, Mr. Schneider urged voters to return good government to the State House and to assure the same type of efficient operation in Franklin county and the nation by voting a straight Republican ticket on Tuesday.

It is a distinct compliment to the Democratic party of Franklin county that Jacob E. Sandusky is a candidate for re-election for the important office of Sheriff. The consensus of opinion throughout Central Ohio is that no man has done more to raise the standard of the Sheriff's office than Jacob Sandusky. Everyone knows that he has qualified himself well in the eyes of the public, based on his first term record of progressive law enforcement in Franklin county.

It is no wonder that Sandusky's campaign slogan is "One GOOD term deserves another." Jake has stood only for the best in county government administration as its chief law enforcement officer. He has always worked for the development of this community and his many services in the interest of community welfare are recognized and appreciated. His reputation for the successful conduct of his business affairs is no greater than the reputation for honest practices which characterizes his every transaction as Sheriff. It is a credit to the Sheriff's office today that old time machine politics has been relegated out of existence. Shortly after Jacob Sandusky took office he ousted the Communist squatters from the state capitol. The people of Franklin county realize that they possess a Sheriff of fortitude who would be able to meet every emergency, a fact he has nobly demonstrated.

The cleaning up of the Franklin county jail, the organizing of the Air Patrol Corps, the establishment of the Red Cross Unit and the installation of county-wide radio car cruisers for quick patrol service are just a few of the improvements and innovations he has brought into service in his first term. The citizens of Franklin county, elected a business man as Sheriff and he immediately proceeded to install business-like methods in the conduct of the office. Based on his record it is our opinion that the good people of Franklin county will say at election time "One GOOD term deserves another" and re-elect Jake Sandusky as Sheriff.

"System Saved $600,000"-Metcalf

Pointing out that the Bricker administration has been saving $600,000 yearly in the purchase of highway materials, Harry D. Metcalf, Republican candidate for county engineer, promised today "to incorporate the economical, efficient and honest, highway practices of the Bricker administration in the conduct of the county engineer's office."

Metcalf is, at present, the head of the maintenance bureau of the Ohio Department of Highways.

Metcalf is an engineer of 21 years experience and was formerly chief deputy in the office he now seeks. At that time he was instrumental in the study of plans for the elimination of the Sandusky-st "bottle neck." He is, therefore, enthusiastically committed to an economical and feasible solution of these traffic difficulties.

Mr. Metcalf is a life-long resident of Franklin county. He studied civil engineering at Ohio State university. A lieutenant of engineers in France during the World War, he is a member of Franklin Post, American Legion, past president Columbus Engineering club, and a member of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers.

Now To The Business Of Living Again

Our only comments on the results of the election are that the campaign was the finest thing that could happen to the people at this time and it is good to have it over.

I maintain it was a good thing because of the aroused interest shown by the millions of people. If the rights of a free people can be maintained and they are allowed to continue to vote their will and then take advantage of such an opportunity we need have little fear of the loss of our Democracy. It is this attitude we are adopting following the results of the Tuesday election.

We are again in a position to settle down to the serious business of living, and one of these points of seriousness can be a continuation of this careful watching of the affairs of our government and a growing interest in what these representatives do after we send them into an office.

Locally, we were well pleased with the fine showing of our candidate George Matson in his successful race for county commissioner. And all the while these Hilltoppers were voting for Matson as a Republican they threw their hearty support to Art Yoder, a Democrat for clerk, and turned thumbs down on the gas case stronger than any other section of the city.

A review of the precinct vote on the Hilltop shows a variation of scratching of their tickets. This is proof again that Hilltop people as a whole give much thought to their vote and weigh the evidence carefully before voting.

Time To Take Them Down

All the candidates in the recent election have had the use of our highways and lanes, and in some instances the city streets, for displaying their signs.

We think the decent thing to do now is to tour the county and take them all down. The public is tired of looking at them.

Getting Ready For The Job

George Matson, county commissioner-elect, will leave next week for a much earned two weeks vacation with his sister in New Mexico.

In the meantime George is out rounding up all the reading material he can find to assist him in getting ready to take over his new duties, and along with it will make a complete study of the problems of his office. Then when he returns he will spend the time between now and taking office to acquaint himself further with the job.

George has expressed his appreciation to all voters of the Hilltop for their very fine support in the election. We believe the above attitude is proof that their confidence was merited.

To Get In Or Stay Out Is The Question

We've heard a new theory on the growing relief situation. Carl Johnson tells that when he lived back in West Virginia the poor house was such a disreputable place that people would walk a mile around it because of their fear of being dragged into the place.

And now, they have made the old poor house such a mansion that these same people stroll past it and look up with a gleam in their eyes and say, "Gosh, maybe some day I'll be fortunate enough to live up there."

Sinclair Is Secretary To Mayor Green

George Sinclair, 160 Powhatan-av, was appointed executive secretary to Mayor Floyd F. Green, last week, and has assumed the duties of his new office. He is Republican committeeman for the eleventh ward.

Sinclair will replace William V. Crowe, 380 Wrexham-av, who at the time of the appointment was switched to Sinclair's old job in the safety department.

The switch in jobs will not involve any change in salaries. Both Crowe and Sinclair will continue at $215 a month.

Camp Chase Post Plans Program For Armistice Day

A full Armistice Day program has been arranged for Hilltop World war veterans, according to Post Headquarters Chairman Clarence T. Lytle who promises "not a dull moment."

The all-day event of Nov. 11 will begin at 10 a. m. with the annual parade and end with a gala celebration at Camp Chase post headquarters.

Commander M. P. Hains urges all World war veterans, regardless of affiliations, to turn out for the parade. Non-member veterans are invited to march with the Camp Chase post which will form behind its drum corps at the corner of Third and Mound-sts.

Immediately following the parade, luncheon will be served at post headquarters, 3184 W. Broad-st. A party and entertainment will follow the luncheon and all are urged to attend.

On Sunday, Nov. 10, the Camp Chase post will present a flag to the Hilltop Lutheran church at 9:30 a. m. Dr. A. C. Myers will make the presentation.

Chairman John Van Walsen announces that the annual Thanksgiving day drive for food and clothing for the needy of the community will be held Thanksgiving day, Nov. 21.

Hilltop Students Get Promotions In ROTC

The following Hilltop students at Ohio State have been given promotion in the field artillery brigade of the ROTC as announced by Col. Otto L. Brunsell, commandant.

Broad-st and former president of the West Broad PTA, Campbell is secretary of the Hilltop Male chorus, secretary of the Servall Druggist Alliance, troop committeeman for Boy Scout troop 18, cub pack committeeman for Cub Scout Pack 17, and secretary of the Hilltop Business Men's association.

He has been an active participant in the Hilltop minstrels for the past 10 years and has also assisted in the promotion of the annual Hilltop bean dinners.

Bucks Meet Irish Today

Showing vast improvement, the West High Cowboys smashed the Teddies from Dayton Roosevelt by the score of 32-0 before a capacity homecoming crowd in the Powell-av stadium last Thursday afternoon.

Clicking in every department, the Bucks indicated that the Fighting Irish of Aquinas would have a job on their hands keeping the Westerners from running rampant, when the elevens meet on the local gridiron, game starting at 3:30 this afternoon.

Providing the weather is fair, the spectators should see a fast razzle-dazzle running and passing attack on behalf of both teams. Aquinas seems stronger in aerial attack, due to the efforts of "Bruff" McQuade and Jack Clifford of the Irish, while the Bucks are granted a stronger defensive set-up.

Working in excellent coordination, the Cowboys had no trouble, other than several of their own fumbles, with the Roosevelt ians. After taking the pigskin on their own 27, the Westerners drove over to score on line smashes and reverses. Hobbs carried the ball on the first score, and kicked the point after. West 7, Dayton 0.

The second score of the period came as Medlick took a punt in the West 48, and aided by beautiful downfield blocking, raced 52 yards for a touchdown. He also converted. West 14, Dayton 0.

The second frame again showed the locals on the march. Receiving the ball on their own 35-yard line, the West eleven, led by Hobbs and Brown, carried the pigskin to the visitors' 42. Dan Brown then shot a beautiful 20 yard over the line pass to Ray Smith who covered the remaining distance to the goal-line, untouched. Hobbs' attempted conversion was blocked. West 20, Dayton 0.

The Cowboys again struck suddenly on the third play of the second half as Medlick received a punt on the West 48, and aided by excellent blocking, dashed 42 yards for the score. Hobbs' conversion was wide. West 26, Dayton 0.

The final period developed into a punting duel, topped by Rogers' kick out-of-bounds on the Teddies six-yard line. Dan Brown carried the return punt back to the visitors' 32 and Jack Hobbs on a nice reverse, scored standing up. Conversion was no good. Final score, West 32, Dayton 0.

Republicans Display Strength On Hilltop

Armistice

A voice spoke in the dawn
At Thiaucourt:
"We who lie beneath these crosses
Did not die . . .
We were reborn—reborn
Through slime and blood
Of far-flung No Man's Land
Where shells were crimson flow-

In the garden of Hell
We lie and dream of lilies,
White and unsullied;
Of roses, white and rain-washed;
Of stars, white and singing;
Of moonlight, white on the water;
Of a white Christ on a crimson battlefield."

Matson, Turner, Nailor Win; Gas Ordinance Defeated

While Franklin county as a whole was throwing a strong vote to the Democratic ticket for national and county candidates the Hilltop generally was inclined to fall in line behind the Republican standards with few exceptions.

And while gas consumers were turning thumbs down on the proposed increased rate all over the city by a ratio of not quite two to one, the Hilltop rejected the compromise measure by a vote of nearly three to one.

Although Franklin county voters approved the administration of President Roosevelt with 96,523 votes to Wendell Willkie's 82,737, a majority of Hilltop residents showed a preference for the Republican nominee. The total votes available in Hilltop precincts show 7080 for Willkie and 6888 for Roosevelt.

The slight edge in favor of Roosevelt in the tenth ward was more than offset by a 584-vote majority for Willkie in the eleventh.

As in other parts of the county voters of the Hilltop threw their weight very decidedly on the Bricker side of the gubernatorial scale. Votes were 8806 for Bricker, 5031 for Davey.

Hilltopper George W. Matson received the hearty approval of his neighbors and friends on the Hilltop in his candidacy for county commissioner. He led his nearest opponent, C. P. Lauderbaugh, by a margin of 531 votes.

Although Lauderbaugh led the ticket in the county-wide race, both these Republican candidates were elected.

Other Hilltoppers elected to public office were Joseph Nailor, 109 N. Burgess-av, state representative, and Judge E. C. Turner, 4309 W. Broad-st, unexpired term of the supreme court.

Arthur J. Yoder showed substantial majorities over his Republican opponent, Ted Hysell, in both Hilltop wards. He was re-elected clerk of courts by a sizable majority in the county-wide vote.

The gas rate compromise submitted to the voters of the city by council was mercilessly cut down on the Hilltop. It lost in Wards 10 and 11 by more than 5400 votes.

Local Draft Boards Mail Questionnaires

The three Hilltop draft boards will begin sending out questionnaires to draft registrants today, it was announced by the chairmen of Boards 11, 12 and 13.

Approximately 25 registration blanks were sent out Wednesday by Board 12, according to Chairman E. O. Melvin.

All registrants who require advice or assistance in filling out their blanks are asked either to contact their local draft boards for direction to advisory board members or to contact advisory board members directly.

The sole duty of local advisory boards is to render assistance and advice to registrants in the matter of filling out their draft questionnaires.

Beside an advisory board, to each local draft board is attached a government appeal agent and an examining physician.

Advisory board members of Draft Board 12 are Rev. Jos. B. Shellhaas, 74 S. Highland-av; Dana J. Marsh, 160 S. Westmoor-av; J. Gill Smoot, 137 S. Highland av; and Lou Saunders, 52 Binns-blvd. The government appeal agent is Donald F. Smith, 2405½ W. Broad-st, and the examining physician is Dr. C. V. Wolfe, 2558 W. Broad-st. Chairman of the draft board is E. O. Melvin.

Present advisory board members of Draft Board 13 include Howard R. Davis, 603 S. Richardson-av, and D. C. Finnerun, 211 S. Eureka-av. A third member is to be appointed to fill a vacancy made by the resignation of another member. A government appeal agent must also be appointed for Board 13. Examining physician is Dr. Chas. W. Edwards, 2719 Sullivant-av. Chairman of the draft board is Jerry Spears.

Advisory board members of Draft Board 11 are Rev. Jacob Ashburn jr., 178 S. Oakley-av; Harry A. Wellnitz, 188 N. Central-av; and Dr. G. B. Nessley, 294 S. Central-av. Government appeal agent is John M. Lewis, 67 Brehl-av. Examining physician is Dr. C. O. Cramer, 3446 W. Broad-st. Chairman of the draft board is W. J. Stephens.

The committee on decorations includes Herbert Kunzi, 3133 Ellis-pl, chairman, George Ell, 168 S. Harris-av, Archie Lanthorn, 179 N. Burgess-av, and William H. Hempy, 133 S. Warren-av.

Hilltop Lutheran Has Special Services

The first of a series of four mid-week services began at Hilltop Lutheran church last Wednesday evening. This is the third year that this special series has been held during the fall and it has now taken a definite place in the church program.

The general theme on which the pastor, Rev. Carveth F. Mitchell, built his sermons is "How Can I Find God." A new feature, "Spotlight on our Hymns" has been introduced in the services this year.

Plans Book Week Program

The Hilltop branch of the public library will take an active part in the celebration of National Book Week, by specializing on the theme, "Children's Book Festival." Over 1,000 school-age children visited the exhibits prepared by the library last year.

The Wa-ka-kan-you group of the Camp Fire Girls will present three puppet shows daily, at 9:40 a. m., 11:00 a. m. and 2 p. m. The marionettes, which will enact "Little Black Sambo," will be viewed along with the exhibits of children's books published during the past year. Peep-shows, depicting scenes from various new books, have also been prepared under the direction of Miss Mildred Phalor, librarian.

Groups from Hilltop schools will visit the library throughout each day of National Book Week, Nov. 10 to 16, to learn "Good Books—Good Friends."

Don't Wait

Very often neglected eye conditions bring very poor eyesight in later years and in some cases even blindness. It is a pity, as these conditions can be avoided by periodic examinations by a reliable optician. Surely that is a small price to pay for such a valuable gift.

ARMISTICE DAY
In Flanders' Fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row . . ."

Straight lines of them. One in back of another. Aisles of them, side by side. Stretching, reaching, climbing back over the curved brow of the hill. Hundreds of them. Thousands. Neat and white. Uniform. Crosses, each the same, each one a tabulator: one man dead. And in a tomb at Arlington sleeps another—unknown.

". . . That these dead shall not have died in vain . . ." We remember that. ". . . If ye break faith with us who die, we shall not sleep . . ." We remember that, too. And we keep faith. We keep faith with those who die, with those who sleep, row on row in Flanders' Fields, with the one who sleeps alone at Arlington. "That these dead shall have not died in vain . . ." PEACE. Ours to guard. Ours to cherish. Peace.

RUPTURE

Shield Expert Here Again

E. J. MEINHARDI, widely known Expert of Chicago, will personally be in Columbus, Ohio, at the Deshler Hotel, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 7th and 8th, from 1 P. M. to 4 P. M. and 6 P. M. to 8 P. M. daily.

MR. MEINHARDI says: The Meinhardi Shield is a tremendous improvement — well known for producing immediate results. It prevents the Rupture from protruding in 10 days on the average—regardless of size or location of Rupture and no matter how hard you work or strain. It has no leg straps or cumbersome arrangements. (No Surgery or Injection Treatments used.) Mr. Meinhardi has been coming here 15 years.

Caution: If neglected—Rupture may cause weakness, backache, constipation, nervousness, stomach pains, etc., or sudden death from strangulation.

Men having large Ruptures which have returned after Surgical Operations or Injection Treatments are also invited. When all others fail—see MEINHARDI. He will be pleased to demonstrate to you privately without charge. (Only men invited.) White only.

Who Is It Writes The News
We read what they say for a few pennies a day
But who is it writes the news
They are the best men from our places of learning
And they cannot refuse
To give the news on the various subjects
If they would hold their position
Few are equipped with training and knowledge
To perform that important mission.
All over the Nation each Hamlet and Station
Diligently the news is spread
By experts from College with scientific knowledge
They are people who forged ahead
By electric light they write each night
While we are sleeping content
We read what they say for a few pennies a day
Never thinking of the dollars spent.
To procure that news and the long weary hours
Wrestling with paper and pen
All the smart men don't work on the papers
But all papers employ smart men
Who write each better so we can better
Understand each situation.
From north to south, from east to west,
All over the entire Nation

Reading and Progress

Schools and libraries all over the nation have participated in National Book Week, which is drawing to a close.

Practically all Hilltop schools had features and displays in celebration of what is rapidly becoming recognized as a national institution.

Parent Teachers associations are in the vanguard of those groups which realise the vital importance of books to the development of child character.

The Hilltop branch library has specialized on the theme "Children's Book Festival" and hundreds of children have already visited its exhibits.

Reading is a habit which must be obtained early in life. In an increasingly complicated and minutely specialized society it is becoming more and more necessary to read in order to round out the personality.

It may be done for pleasure as well as for knowledge. Young minds chained to the ways of every-day life may find delicious escape in Treasure Island. The Last of the Mohicans, Robinson Crusoe and Gulliver's Travels.

Reading gives impetus to the imagination. Imagination is the cornerstone of progress. And progress is synonomous with America.

Need Sales Tax Agency

It appears that renewed energy toward securing a sales tax agency for the Hilltop would not be amiss at this time.

The North Side has such an agency and the presence of one on the Hilltop would be of considerable convenience to local business people. We believe such a service would be greatly appreciated.

8 Volunteer For Army

Eight young men from the Hilltop have volunteered to enter the armed forces of the nation without waiting to be drafted.

Robert D. Dickson, 23 N. Warren-av; Louis G. South, 93 N. Wayne-av; and Henry Allen Ruhl, 285 N. Wayne-av, have volunteered from Board 12.

Morgan A. Simmons, 632 S. Ogden-av, and William A. Nolan jr., 338 S. Warren-av, have volunteered from Broad 18.

From Board 11 the following have volunteered: G. W. Carter, 341 S. Oakley-av; Edmund Fletcher, 1832 Thomas-av; and Louie McCleese, 368 Brehl-av.

The volunteers will leave for camp on Nov. 20, providing they are able to pass the required physical examination or are not deferred for other reasons. If they are not accepted, their places will be filled by the ordinary draft procedure.

Each draft board on the Hilltop will furnish three men in the first call.

Burns Are Fatal To Hilltop Man

Kelsey Lawrence, age 38, 350 S. Hague-av, died late last Thursday as the result of an explosion in a Springfield garage.

The explosion occurred when a drum of paint thinner was accidentally ignited, according to Springfield officials. Lawrence was rushed to City hospital and died several hours later of burns.

Four others were injured by the explosion and the subsequent fire, one of them critically.

Harry J. Page Dies Of Heart Attack

Harry J. Page, 64 Midland-av, died last Wednesday following a heart attack. An employee of the M. W. Seiller department store, he is survived by his wife, Oma; daughter, Miss Katherine; son, Charles N. Page; sisters, Miss Katherine, Mrs. Mary L. Smith, Mrs. Fred Behmer; and brother, G. A. Page.

Services were held at St. Aloysius church. Burial was in St. Joseph cemetery by Jerry Spears.

Glee Clubs To Present Operetta

An operetta entitled "Top O' The World" will be presented by the Girls' and Boys' glee clubs of West Junior High school. This will be held in West High's auditorium Friday evening, Oct. 29, at 8 o'clock.

The musical comedy will be directed by Miss Ola Trump, assisted by Velma Millhone and Ellen VanDyke. Colorado's famous Grand Canyon forms the setting. Irene Luckshaw, Paul Berndt, Wilma Foote and Bob Howard are featured in this novel play set to music. Dancing forms an important part of the operetta.

Coal, Fish And A Pool Included In Varied Career

Charlie Cruea Visited Columbus 18 Years Ago; He Never Left

Few persons on the Hilltop have held as diversified jobs as Charles Cruea, coal dealer and swimming pool operator, and few have been able to go as naturally from one line of work to the next as has this popular Hilltop man. Every minute of his day is taken up with some phase of work a little different than the previous one.

Charlie Cruea

As an example his time recently might be divided by such tasks as operating his skating rink, selling stokers or directing the movement of several coal trucks and operation of two stoker coal crushers, one in Columbus and one at Nelsonville.

Charlie came to Columbus on a visit 18 years ago and liked it so well he has lived here ever since. He calls Clayton, O., his home town. In 1922 he and Mrs. Cruea came to the Hilltop to visit with Auntie Buscher. They had everything packed with the intention of moving to Los Angeles, Calif. Charlie had been employed in Dayton as a mechanic. Just to get a line on some other work he applied and was hired as a mechanic at the Pennsylvania R. R. shops, expecting to stay there only two weeks, but it wasn't such an easy thing to break away from railroad work. The work fascinated him and in 60 days time with no previous experience he was made a foreman for the company.

Began Swimming Pool

For two and one-half years he worked at his new job but then he became interested in real estate. The next five years he sold properties, finally purchasing the southeast corner of Hague and Steele for himself. For two years he and Mrs. Cruea operated a grocery store at that spot. (At present the site is leased to Bob Nowell and is operated as Nowell's Market.)

In 1930 Bender Swimming pool, erected one year earlier, was for sale, so Charlie went into the swimming pool business and it was here that he instigated a publicity stunt that was good enough to make the front page of the Columbus Dispatch with a spread of pictures. The pool needed something big to direct public attention to it and so Charlie put on his thinking cap and here's what evolved.

Almost everyone likes to fish, especially when the fish are biting, so hundreds upon hundreds of pounds of fish were hauled down from Lake Erie alive and planted in the pool. Then it was turned open to the public to catch all the fish they wanted. They (the people) came in droves from all over town and none was disappointed. It was the biggest fishing news of the year. Patrons paid 20c per pound and had their fish cleaned for them.

Hauls Coal

With one of the trucks he had purchased to haul fish Charlie decided to go down in Ohio and haul up his winter's supply of coal. A neighbor saw the coal and gave him orders for a load. In less than a week he had orders from most of the families in his vicinity and he was in the coal business. In 1936 he built a plant in Nelsonville to treat and grind stoker coal. Since that year he has been averaged 200 tons per month to Columbus consumers.

For the past three years he has been agent for Champion stokers, making his own sales and supervising their installation.

Each year he has added a number of improvements to the swimming pool until it has become one of the favorite summer retreats for persons all over Columbus. Last year he added a roller skating rink, later enlarged to 75x135 feet. It was just closed for the season last week. During the past summer he added tables and ovens for picnickers.

Active In Minstrels

Despite a heavy program of business activity, Charlie has found time for diversion in hunting, fishing and pistol shooting. He holds membership in the Columbus Rifle and Pistol club. He has never missed taking part in a Hilltop minstrel and his roles have been as varied as the rest of his life. One year he is a hula dancer, another year he dances a jig, last year he worked out a burlesque of fancy skating act. And so it goes.

He gives Mrs. Cruea credit for doing much of the work in his varied business career. They live with their three daughters, Frances May, 15, Martha Ann, 13, and Barbara Lee, seven, at 155 N. Hague-av.

Buckaroos To Have Final Tilt Today

By "Woody" Owens

With an eye to retaining their second place position in the City league, the vastly improved battling Buckaroos will enter their final grid tilt of the season against the East High Tigers, on the Powell-av field, at 2:15 this afternoon.

The Cowboys go into the fray with a slight edge, and if they can hold the Tigers, it will mean undisputed second place honors, just a few percentage points behind the champion North aggregation. The win would also give the Buck's season books a balance of five wins to four losses; all four occuring in the opening five games.

Using a fine razzle-dazzle running and passing attack, the Cowboys had no trouble in subduing the Irish of Aquinas last week and should fare as well against the somewhat stronger Tigers.

Last Friday, on their own field, the Cowboys struck with precision both on the ground and in the air to smother the fighting Irish, 20-2.

The first period was scoreless with the Bucks making the only scoring threat by marching from their own 25-yard line to the Irish four, where they lost the ball on downs as the period ended.

The Cowboys struck suddenly as the second quarter began. They received a punt on the Terriers 40, from where Brown gained 14 yards on an end sweep. Rogers plunged for another first down and Brown went to the 11 on another end run. On a beautifully executed double reverse, Rogers to Brown to Hobbs, the latter scored unmolested and also converted. WEST 7, AQUINAS 0.

Don Rogers set up the second score of the period when he recovered an Aquinas fumble on the Irish 28-yard line. A variation of the same play brought another score, the double reverse going from Rogers to Hobbs to Brown. The latter faded and tossed a perfect forward pass to Snyder in the end zone. Hobbs again converted. WEST 14, AQUINAS 0.

The only score of the third period occurred when a Terrier kick rolled out of bounds on the West three. Medlick's return kick was blocked and rolled out of the end zone for an automatic safety. WEST 14, AQUINAS 2.

The final tally came after Rogers' punt was downed on the Irish five. The Terriers punted weakly to their own 29-yard line, and Brown heaved a forward pass to Snyder, who ran 10 yards to score. Hobbs' kick was blocked; the final score: WEST 20; AQUINAS 2.

You may think it strange for me to be writing this, but—I am the seventh child in my family born with a Veil and I am able to see your getting the third term . . .

The Bible says, "Seek my child and thou shalt receive" and you will receive because you have done so much for the country and the poor people . . .

Good luck and God bless you and yours.

A sincere friend,

Immigrant Artist Designed 1940 Christmas Health Seals

"The design of the 1940 Christmas Health Seal should emphasize to us the fact that tuberculosis is the foe of youth," stated Dr. Charles A. Doan, president of the Ohio Public Health association, Columbus, when describing this year's seal. "Three children lifting up tiny voices in a carol of the season, their cherubic faces expressing so vividly the perennial spirit of youth and joy, make an appealing picture," continued Dr. Doan.

"Felix Lewis Martini, Los Angeles, is the designer of this year's Christmas seal. Though his hobby is landscape painting, he was delighted to turn to this warm close-up to present his charming portrayal of three happy, healthy children so earnestly united in song. Inspiration, too, must have come from Mr. Martini's two daughters and from a second hobby by which is music," said Dr. Doan.

Dr. Doan today disclosed some of the details of the life of Martini, a newcomer in the ranks of distinguished artists who have lent their talents to designing Christmas seals for 34 years.

Artist Martini was born in Milan, Italy, the son of a painter who had won many prizes in international exhibitions. His parents brought him to America when he was two and a half years old. When painting proved less lucrative in America, the elder Martini turned to carving at Barre, Vt. From him and from the well-known sculptor, Carlo Abate, young Martini, received his first art instructions.

At 17 he was a proficient carver, earning wages as high as any carver in New England at the time. But this lasted only three years. Keeping a promise made to his father when he died, Martini turned to painting and a career that took him from Boston and Worcester to California. His career has been varied by a period of teaching,—art, of course—and once he tried his hand at theatricals, as manager of a group of vaudeville performers.

"While the 1940 Christmas Health Seal calls attention to the loss of life among children through tuberculosis, we must not lose sight of the fact that the disease takes a heavy toll from adult life each year. When you and your neighbors buy and use these Christmas seals, you are helping to bring the goal of tuberculosis eradication that much nearer reality. Your opportunity to share in this great work will come beginning Nov. 25 when the sale opens and continue to Christmas Day," concluded Dr. Doan.

CLEAN HOME RADIATES CHEER

Clever wives see a direct connection between keeping themselves and the household clean and cheerful, and husbands who truly enjoy being at home.

Men usually get around more than women. They go more places, meet more people than most wives. Is it any wonder, [illegible] home with many [illegible] and irritated?

The wife who cares makes every effort to keep the home shining and attractive. She realizes that a household which radiates soap and water cleanliness is a joy to visit and a pleasant living place.

Obviously soap and water are more than just cleansers. They really help to make homes happier.

Hilltoppers Catch "Whoppa"—And G. M. Painter's Photo Proves It

Turn loose a couple of Hilltoppers in Florida waters and they will pull all sorts of things out of the drink—including fish.

George Painter, former Hilltop merchant now residing in Florida, recently paid his old friends in Columbus a visit. Shortly after his return to the land of milk and honey (and oranges) the following letter was received at the Record office.

It reads like a novel, so we present it as written:

Miami, Florida
Oct. 29, 1940

Dear Folks:

Left Columbus last Thursday at 10:30 a. m. and arrived in Miami at 11:30 p. m. Friday, and who did I find but Mr. and Mrs. Hube Seitz. We took in a few sights Saturday and decided to go deep sea fishing Sunday.

Left home about 9 a. m., chartered a boat and headed for the briny deep. You know how I feel when I get on the water. Hube insisted he wouldn't get seasick.

We started trolling in the channel going out and caught several nice fish. When we got about 10 miles out we decided to anchor and everything was still going swell. Our wives and my son were having the time of their lives.

All at once Hube yelled for help. We all grabbed his line and let it out gradually until the guide tied on 2,000 feet more line. We cut loose our anchor and started over the bounding waves.

We missed Hube on the line and looking around found him flat on his back, looking as tho he had been in a flower barrel. Even his freckles turned white. It wasn't long until I joined him. Hube and I fed the fish on our way out from anchor. Mrs. Seitz, my wife and the guide succeeded in landing the prize after a two and one-half hour fight and three mile chase.

After they brought it alongside the boat I gave assistance in lying him to the bow of the boat. Our guide then took us back to pick up our anchor, and our wives and David started fishing again while Hube and I lay in the bottom of the boat, begging for relief and good old land again.

Hube did not see his catch until we hit still water. We stopped a couple of times after this and our wives succeeded in landing a number of fine fish weighing from two to seven pounds each. On our way up the channel by the causeway leading to Miami Beach many motorists noticed our catch, which was about half way in the water. We could see them turning around and heading back for the pier.

When we arrived they had crowded around and were waiting to see it hung up. Weighing 259 pounds and measuring 10 feet, nine inches in length. You can see by this picture that this isn't just a fish story. Poor Hube wanted to pack him on ice and ship it back to Columbus but after getting estimates on packing and shipping decided it wasn't worth it.

After all the excitement and sea sickness we picked up about 25 pounds of our fish and headed for camp.

We gave fish to all our friends.

If you want more facts about this fish drop down to the Corner Cafe. I know Hube will tell you all he knows about it, but Mrs. Seitz can give you the low-down. The next time you're planning a fishing trip, drop down to Miami where you can catch the fish and all the thrills that go with it, if you don't get seasick.

Respectfully yours,
G. M. Painter

Williams Stars in Pro Game

JUMPING JOE WILLIAMS

A local favorite since his play with Ohio State in 1935 and 1936, "Jumping Joe" Williams began playing professional football last season when he was signed by the Columbus Bulls. He immediately established himself as an all around player not only by kicking, passing and running, but also by his splendid defensive work.

In the Bulls' 13-7 defeat of Buffalo last Sunday, Joe gave spectators a sample of his fighting spirit when he fought his way out of the grasp of several tacklers at the line of scrimmage, through the secondary, and then crossed up the safety man by tossing a short lateral to a teammate who went over to score the Bulls' first touchdown.

Joe suffered a wrenched back later and was removed from the game but is expected to be ready for play when the Bulls meet the powerful Staten Bears at Red Bird stadium next Sunday afternoon. The Columbus club needs two more victories to clinch the American league championship.

The Sunday game will be played as a benefit for the Columbus zoo.

REVELATION

You have my heart,
And though my lips you lightly pressed,
I was not sure of love.
From dawn till night,
The torture of uncertainty
Left me bewildered, then—
Beneath soft light,
Your somber eyes revealed our souls
Were one and now I know
You have my heart.
—Jerry Hafey,
in Auxiliary Review.

RECOGNITION

When you meet the Master in the crowd,
There will be
No need for someone to inform you
"It is He!"
No need for word that tongue can speak aloud,
To tell you so:
A glowing in your heart will warm you—
You will know.
—Frank D. Harris,
in Singing Quill.

DESIGN FOR FORGETTING

I shred my torn days in silken strands
And I shall weave them with a little song.
Dark warp of tears can serve to my demands
Since woof of laughter shall be bright and strong.
Strange gold and crimson flowers and a bird
From some far land design my bordering—
A shawl to wear against your bitter word!
Both warm and gay I may go free to sing.
You have turned back along the way you came.
Now I hum softly while I bar the door.
A burnished kettle and a tended flame
Will make all seem just as it was before.
I shred the beauty which I could not mend.
A fringe of dreams shall mark my weaving's end.
in the Singing Quill.

Business Better, Report Shows

In both industrial employment and in retail sales, Ohio had considerable improvement in September, it is reported by Ohio State university's bureau of business research.

Total employment gained three per cent from August to September; manufacturing employment gained three per cent, non-manufacturing was up two per cent, and construction work improved fractionally.

Sales of independent retailers in Ohio for September were 6.3 per cent higher than in the same month last year, and for the first nine months of 1940 Ohio sales were 12.2 per cent higher than for the same period last year.

In its September-to-September retail sales improvement, Ohio stood second only to Florida which registered a gain of 9.8 per cent.

The bureau's employment report was compiled in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, that on retail sales with the U. S. Bureau of the Census.

Ohio State University.

DARING DOINGS WITH DRESSINGS

Little things like the dressings you use on your salads have a big influence on your mealtime success. Just a touch of added flavor here and a new type of vinegar there dealt out with a clever and knowing hand may keep your family and guests agog about the interesting salads you make.

In general, three types of salad dressings are used most frequently—thin, tangy French dressing—fluffy mayonnaise and creamy cooked salad dressing. Each lends itself to tricks of the salad-making trade that will help you to subtly bring out the best in your crisp fruit and vegetable combinations.

VINEGAR VARIATIONS

For example, in making your own French dressing you will want to try several different types of vinegars to see which does the most for certain salads. In fruit and vegetable salad mixtures, you will like pure cider vinegar. Then when you're dressing a salad of greens, equal parts of cider and tarragon vinegar with olive oil make a French dressing to enhance the delicate flavors of the crisp leaves. Malt vinegar gives a delightful lift to heartier salads you would serve as a main dish—such as chicken, tuna, egg and kidney bean salad. And for a fine general purpose French dressing, use distilled white vinegar.

Combine in flask in order given—
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ cup pure cider, malt, tarragon or distilled white vinegar
¾ cup pure olive oil.

Shake together thoroughly. This makes about ¾ cup French dressing. When using on greens, add enough to make the leaves glisten, then toss together.

FRENCH VERSATILITIES

The versatilities of French dressing are many. Add one-fourth cup of ruddy, full-flavored ketchup to make a dressing that's just right with an asparagus salad. For added color, lay a strip of pimiento over each four or five stalks of canned or fresh cooked asparagus that has been marinated in the ketchup dressing. You will like this delicious dressing, too, with lettuce hearts.

Make French dressing into Parisian dressing by adding two tablespoons chopped green pepper, two tablespoons chopped red pepper, two tablespoons chopped celery, one-half tablespoon chopped onion and one-half tablespoon chopped parsley to the foundation French dressing recipe. Mix well and serve on julienne salad made by combining one green pepper, cut in strips; two cups shredded cabbage; one cup raw or cooked carrots, cut in strips; and one-fourth teaspoon salt.

NEW MAYONNAISE TRICKS

A jar of mayonnaise, too, offers a host of different combinations to make this part of your menu more inviting. You will like slightly pungent horse-radish dressing with delicately flavored canned or cooked beets and also with meat salads. To make it, just mix one tablespoon evaporated horse-radish with two tablespoons cold water. Let stand ten minutes, then add this to one cup of mayonnaise.

By mixing a cup mayonnaise with one-fourth cup chili sauce, you have a snappy Russian dressing all ready to serve on head lettuce quarters or with a molded ham salad.

PREPARED SALAD DRESSING VARIATIONS

Open a jar of prepared salad dressing and you have even more delicious salad possibilities. Make a spicy mustard dressing for cole slaw by mixing one-half cup prepared salad dressing with two teaspoons prepared yellow mustard. This combination is delicious, too, served with a jelled meat salad. Another fine dressing with which to vary the popular cole slaw is made by mixing one-half cup of the prepared salad dressing with two tablespoons sandwich spread. This makes enough for four or five cups of shredded cabbage.

For a fruit dessert type of salad, jelly cocoanut cream dressing provides a fancy touch and a subtle blend of flavors that will have your guests asking questions. To make it, whip one cup heavy cream until fluffy. Break two tablespoons currant jelly into bits with a fork and fold it into the whipped cream. Also fold in six tablespoons shredded cocoanut and three tablespoons prepared salad dressing.

Another unusually good fruit salad dressing is made by beating one cup of peanut butter with three-fourths cup of water until it is the consistency of mayonnaise. Add this gradually to one pint of prepared salad dressing and beat hard with a rotary egg beater. Then add one-half teaspoon salt and chill.

Urges Workers To Register

Warning that labor migrations to the sites of major national defense construction jobs in Ohio have resulted in thousands of disappointments, and tend to create serious community problems at such centers, the Ohio State Employment Service recently renewed its request that workers seeking such jobs register first at their local Employment Security Center.

"Every local Employment Security Center either has or can quickly get full information on the type of workers needed and the qualifications being specified by contractors," the announcement from the State Employment Service said. It was issued over the signature of Administrator H. C. Atkinson of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation. The Employment Service is a division of the bureau.

Fruitless migrations with disappointments at the employment gate, usually can be avoided if workers will file their applications for such jobs with the Employment Security Center in their own community, the statement asserted. Further, the local employment offices have complete information on national defense work being carried on both throughout Ohio and in every part of the United States, and are in a position to inform any worker, skilled or unskilled, as to his prospects for work, depending upon his qualifications and experience.

First consideration on defense projects is given to the local unemployed. This is particularly important in the unskilled job field, Atkinson pointed out.

The administrative chief of Ohio State Employment Service said that special calls for trained workers are being made in more than 150 skilled and semi-skilled qualifications in various parts of the country. "If workers seeking national defense jobs are not registered with their local employment service, they have much less prospect of obtaining such employment," he said.

From Dave Shiflet, former Record writer now serving with the 166th Infantry band at Camp Shelby, Miss., comes news of camp life in the south as it affects a number of Hilltoppers. We quote from the letter:

"At present the camp, used as a training base for troops during World war I, is approximately four miles square and soon will be enlarged two miles in each direction. By Nov. 15, 52,000 or more men will be concentrated here. Construction on the permanent barracks here is being done on a 24-hour work basis. The 37th Division was to move into new quarters sometime during this week.

"As to the weather, the climate here is very warm during the day but at night the temperature seems to drop down to somewhere in the vicinity of 40 degrees. Baseball is at present more popular than football. There is a theatre, government operated, and camp exchanges or canteens are very popular at present.

"As for the Hilltop personnel in the division we find: Lieutenant Colonels George Ward and John Rees; Captains Joseph Ridgway, F. E. Sturdevant; Sergeants Harry K. Marsh and Wesley Smoot; Corporal Earl Ward, son of Lieut.-Colonel Ward; Privates Dave Shiflet, Barney Carper, Robert Haines, Frank Piper, Jess Myers, Donald Perry, Leo Groom and Wesley Conrod. These men are in the 166th Infantry regiment with headquarters in Columbus."

Mrs. C. O. Cramer isn't claiming all the credit but Doc was mighty glad she was with him as they entered their new office building at Algonquin and Broad one night about 11 o'clock.

Stepping into the darkened building they were unexpectedly confronted by a person of sinister mien.

Demanding to know why he was there, Dr. Cramer was getting a confused answer about "supposed to meet someone there." About that time Mrs. Cramer let out a "gosh-awful" scream that could be heard for several blocks. The unexpected visitor took the cue for a hasty departure.

GODDESS of Liberty, may your torch never be extinguished. For us you represent everything America was, is and hopes to be. Your arms have embraced millions of the persecuted and enslaved . . . given them new hope and courage . . . and sent them forth into America, the land where every man is architect of his own fortune. Goddess, what you have sown, you also shall reap. The hope you have instilled, the courage you have fired, the opportunity to live like a creature of God you so unselfishly and unaskingly have given, will now be forged by each and every one of your grateful children into a mighty and irresistible force against which those who now stalk the world can never prevail.

Your land, our land, will forever be a beautiful and bountiful garden in which shall always bloom the flowers of free speech, free assembly, free religious worship and a free press — and where man, God's handiwork, may continue to walk unafraid. We are proud to be part of the first line of defense of American liberties . . . to always stand militantly at the side of every true American against the inroads of doctrines seeking to destroy America's priceless heritage.

TEMPTING MENUS

by RACHEL HALL

KITCHEN KATCHALL
Prune Bread

3 C. white flour
1 C. whole wheat flour
½ tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. soda
½ tsp. salt
½ C. sugar
½ tsp. cinnamon
1 egg, beaten
1 C. prunes, cooked and cut in pieces
½ C. sour milk or buttermilk
3 tbsp. melted shortening

Sift white flour, measure, add whole wheat flour, baking powder, soda, salt, cinnamon and sugar; sift again. To beaten egg add prunes, prune juice, sour milk and shortening. Stir liquid into dry ingredients, blending only enough to moisten. Pour into greased loaf pan (about 11¼ by 7¼ by 2 inches) and allow to stand 20 minutes in a warm place. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 45 to 50 minutes.

Boston Baked Beans

1 qt. beans
1 small onion
¼ lb. salt pork
½ to 1 tbsp. salt
½ tbsp. mustard
3 tbsp. molasses
1 C. hot water

Wash and soak beans in cold water overnight. In the morning drain, cover with fresh water, and cook slowly until skins break. Drain. Place the onion in bottom of earthenware bean pot, pour in beans. Score rind of the salt pork. Mix seasonings and hot water together. Bury pork in the beans, leaving rind exposed. Add molasses and hot water mixture. Cover bean pot and bake in slow oven 6 to 8 hours. Add water from time to time when necessary. Bake uncovered the last hour.

Potato Puff

4 C. hot mashed potatoes
1 tbsp. melted butter
2 tbsp. milk
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
2 egg yolks
2 egg whites, beaten stiff

Mix all but the whites of the eggs in the order given; beat thoroughly; fold in the stiffly beaten whites; pile in a baking dish and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, until the mixture puffs and is brown on the top. This mixture is excellent as a border for planked steak or browned meat on a heat-proof platter.

Drink a Ripe Banana — Now you can actually drink a banana!! Here's the way it's done: Press 1 banana through mesh wire strainer with a spoon into a fruit jar and add 1 C. milk. Shake well. It's delicious!!

OHIO IS FIRST STATE TO TURN IN ELECTION RETURNS

Ohio was the first state in the union to turn in authentic election returns in last Tuesday's national election, according to Secretary of State George Nefftzer.

"THE MISSISSIPPI COON"

I've told of the happy people,
Way down in Arkansaw
There's others just as happy,
If they can evade the law.
On the banks of the Mississippi,
When the sun is in the west
The Mississippi colored man
Will treat you to the best.

Hard and toe hack dancing,
Any pleasant afternoon
If you're looking for enjoyment,
See the Mississippi coon.
All along the river,
When the weather is warm and nice.
You'll see a good performance,
Absolutely free of price.

[illegible]
Patrons as are aware
Fine and fancy decorations,
Scientific conditioned air.
From them I'll turn aside
For the light of a southern moon
And linger along the levee,
Watching the Mississippi coon.

Aumann Discusses Changes In U. S. Legal System

Selected phases of "The Changing American Legal System" are described in a new book by Professor Francis R. Aumann, of Ohio State university's political science department.

The new book, just issued by the Ohio State university graduate school, tells of the development of the American legal system from the colonial period, through the formative period of 1776-1865, and into the period of maturity, 1865-1900. The third section also gives recent trends in American law and law administration.

Dr. George W. Rightmire, president-emeritus of Ohio State university, comments in the foreword that Professor Aumann has supplied the reader with "a handbook of the development of the legal system of the American states, with much detail and a persistent purpose of weaving these threads of experience together into a multi-colored pattern steadily trending toward uniformity."

In a letter to the editor Judge Clayton W. Rose expressed his sincere appreciation to residents of the Hilltop for the support given him in the election of Nov. 5.

In Hays, Kansas, five blind pigs on Carl Smith's farm not only can find their way around, but tell time accurately. Meal time finds them waiting at the gate of the pen and when they hear some one enter they get to the feed trough without a wasted step.

Happy life sentence for the gentlemen bandit. When the prison gates opened this time to free the dashing real-life "Raffles," he didn't rush back into crime but married the girl who waited all these years believing he was just a fool—not a villain. Highest Ocean Waves
People often get an exaggerated idea of the size of the towering waves that break over vessels during storms. It is unusual for a wave to attain a height of 75 feet. The highest reported by the hydrographic office of the United States Navy department was estimated at 80 feet. This was encountered in the north Atlantic by the British steamship Majestic. Attempts to measure ocean waves during violent storms have been very unsatisfactory owing to the difficulty in making the measurements. The highest waves measured by the Navy department were less than 60 feet.

"I've used advertising in all kinds of papers and the Record is the best yet."

These are unsolicited words of praise for Record Want Ads from Mrs. Jeanette Halliday, 762 S. Eureka-av, who sold a rug through a Record ad last week. She received 16 calls by noon Saturday.

Mrs. W. D. Brown, 374 Belvidere-av, called the Record to report she had sold a child's snow suit before she had even received her copy of the Record.

These are typical of the results obtained every week by Record Want Ad users. You, too, can profit by their use at little cost. Call RA. 1125.

THE NATION'S DRINKING HABITS

MID-YEAR of 1940 will mark the seventh anniversary of 3.2 beer's legalization and the start of the repeal period.

A sufficient time has elapsed for a limited survey of repeal's social effects. Such a survey of the state of the nation's drinking habits would be difficult at any time; good, solid facts are particularly hard to see clearly after precipitation for such a short period, but some are available.

Such evaluation is best based on the few cold facts available, in comparison with similar totals for the prohibition and pre-prohibition periods, and by interpretation of those straws in the wind which, if their direction is properly read, will indicate the first stirrings of a new social movement.

One fact is clearly visible after seven years' experimentation with repeal: Neither wets nor drys are satisfied with administration and social effects of the alcoholic beverage industry.

Another fact which looms large to any close observer is: That the growing dissatisfaction with social and human results of liquor drinking, the still-isolated but increasing demands for stricter regulation are basically spontaneous, actually owing little to any current national activities of the great dry organizations in the years since 1933.

The year of 1939 brought many public evidences of this feeling, not as yet a majority reaction against alcohol but definitely a strong conviction that harmful social effects must be eliminated.

The general public, in between the wet and dry extremes, hasn't reached the point of trying to define a solution. Their strongest criticisms, which now are seeping into the editorial columns of a preponderantly pro-repeal press, are: of "young kids getting sloppy drunk all the time in those taverns," of "drunks running over people in the streets," of saloon conditions surrounding taverns in otherwise quiet neighborhoods, of the growing frequency of tavern influences in studies of causes of juvenile—and adult—crime.

Recognition that this ground swell of public opinion against repeal liquor conditions and results does exist and is growing is certainly not to be taken as a prediction that "prohibition is just around the corner." No intelligent and studious observer would climb out on such a limb.

Viewed broadly the liquor picture now is a concentrated re-run of the pre-prohibition period, with a few new actors on the side. Public opinion is swinging from pro-wet through a hope-for-moderation toward pro-dry. Again Demon Rum is the villain, and a skeptical audience is wondering if the liquor-crime-politics trio has changed in the slightest.

Women's Missionary Society Formed

About a year ago at St. John's Lutheran church, W. Broad and Hague-av, a Business Women's society was formed to enable missionary minded working women to participate in this work.

Heading the society as president is Mrs. Harry Lundberg, 195 N. Ogden-av; vice-president, Miss Cora Shilling, 79 S. Westgate-av; secretary, Miss Augusta Koch, 288 N. Terrace-st, and treasurer, Miss Lillian Steffin, 443 Hilltonia-av.

Mrs. Landberg named as her chairmen the following to serve this year: Miss Edith Sellee, 2561 W Broad-st, program; Mrs. Elsa Mason, 85 N. Ogden-av, membership; Miss Margaret Wilson, 38 S. Wheatland-av, sick and flower chairman, Miss Christine Leist, Crescent-dr, publicity; and Miss Bertha Shilling, 18 S. Westgate-av, ways and means.

Working with Rev. Pfleuger, head of the Lutheran Center on Gift-st, this society has done some outstanding work this year. The Dorcas society meets every month and at their last meeting they entertained the ladies of the Senior Missionary society. Those who attended heard the guest speaker, Dr. C. C. Calhoun, head of the Juvenile Research of the State of Ohio, speak on "Juvenile Delinquency." Mrs. Howard Young, '14 N. Harris, sang "God Bless America," accompanied by Miss Ruth Distelhorst. Refreshments were served and the meeting adjourned with a prayer by Rev. Cooperrider.

At the December meeting the election of officers will be held for the coming year.

Defense Sans Fanfare

In accord with the provisions of the United States Selective Service act, nine young men from this community will leave today for a one year period of intensive military training in one of the designated camps throughout the country.

Some of these men are volunteers and the others have strongly indicated a sincere desire to do their part in the national defense program.

We like to see the draft being conducted in the quiet dignified manner in which it is being conducted, without fanfare and trumpet call and with the minimum of chauvinistic appeal. This is the best way. It means that we mean business in the matter of defending our borders and our way of life.

To the men of the Hilltop who are embarking on this venture into military life and others who will follow, we extend our heartiest good wishes.

Those Fighting Cowboys

One of the finest examples of fighting spirit in an athletic team has been demonstrated this season by the fighting West High Cowboys.

These boys started the season off in a manner that would have predicted them to be made of mediocre stuff. But a Williams coached team is not down for the season after it gets a couple lickings.

The Cowboys apparently picked up in courage and ability and as the season ended they came in for second place honors in the city league.

Coach George Williams and his Cowboys are to be congratulated on a worthwhile season.

Give The Camp Chase Boys a Hand

Thursday morning will find members of Camp Chase Post of the American Legion visiting Hilltop homes for their annual collection of food and clothing that will be distributed to needy families of the community.

This project is another sign of service in times of peace by members of the Legion.

The least the people of this community can do to show their appreciation is to assist in the program by making a contribution to this worthy project.

Pupils Have Own Newspaper

Pupils in the fifth grade at John Burroughs school have gone into the publishing business on a very small scale—but have gone into the publishing business, nevertheless.

The name of the publication is the Chatterbox. It is a newspaper in mimeograph form. Material is taken from papers written in English class. All students are encouraged to donate to the paper.

The editorial note in the first issue read thus: "This is our first attempt; we hope our readers will overlook our mistakes for we hope to do better each time."

Following are a few items taken at random from one of the editions:

"Friday I was trying to get a spider out of a jar at school. He got away from me. Over the week-end he made his web on the bulletin board. We have been watching him build his web and we bring live flies and watch what the spider does."

Billy Steece

"Last Monday Joe Briggs took me on an arrowhead hunt. He knew a fine place. I found a spearhead and Joe found a tomahawk. The reason I wanted to go was because Joe's collection at school reminded me of my collection and I wished to add to my collection of arrowheads.

Fred Grabill

Keep things off the stairs,
Or you'll tumble in the air,
Maybe break a leg or arm,
And you might do someone else Harm.

Delores Dern

"On my vacation I went to California and I ate a lot of oranges. They grow a lot of oranges there. They do not permit you to pick them off the trees. While I was out there I met a Greek girl and boy who lived across the street from my Grandma's house. The children talk Greek.

Their mother cannot understand English or use it. I can say a few words of Greek. I enjoyed the Pomona Fair," Ded Ann Powell.

The teacher in charge of pupils who are putting out this particular sheet is Mrs. Pearl H. Fogle.

Other papers are being composed in classes supervised by Miss Marion Kane, 6B, Miss Claire Ginton, 6A, Miss Clara Rowe, 6B, and Miss Stella Schart, 6B.

Bucks End Season in Second Place

Ride Down Tigers For 18-0 Win

Despite getting off from a bad start and losing a few non-conference games West High's battling Bucks staged a spectacular comeback and wound up in second berth in the City High league.

Friday's victorious tilt with the Tigers from East High left Coach Williams' boys with a record of five wins as against four losses on the season's books.

Definitely playing for keeps, the deceptive wily West eleven tied knots in the Bengal line for a final score of 18 to 0 on a wind-swept gridiron in Magly field.

First score was made on a march from West's 22 yard marker to the enemy's goal. Two lengthy gains highlighted this field-long drive.

After a 20-yard run Beymer lateralled to Medlick to put the ball on East's 49. The same combination marked up 28 more yards when Medlick passed a long aerial to Beymer.

Then a 10-yard end zone pass from Brown to Snyder was responsible for the first score.

In the second period Ray Smith took the pill over the one foot line for a second score after a demonstration of tricky reverses and laterals by the local eleven.

Final score was produced on a long pass from Medlick to Laughlin over the head of the East safety. Especially outstanding work was done in this final game by Westerners Snyder, Smith, Hobbs and Koons.

Drafteen, Notice!

Local draft boards have advised that many questionnaires have been sent in or mailed in by potential draftees without being notarized.

All signatures must be notarized either by a regular notary public or by any member of the local draft board, a member of the advisory board, the government appeal agent or the medical examiner. No one is permitted to charge for notarizing these questionnaires.

Furthermore, the questionnaires must be filled out in ink. Many received to date have been filled out in pencil. In such instances it has been necessary either to erase or to supply new questionnaires.

Franklinton alumni held their eighth annual homecoming at the school building, corner Sandusky and Broad, last Friday night.

The celebration marked the sixty-first anniversary of the school. Old grads, teachers and principals, despite bitter cold weather, were there en masse.

With over 200 persons present, Franklinton's homecoming retained its record of largest attendance of any like gathering in the city.

Refreshments and various types of entertainment were enjoyed by all those present. Harry Westerman, for 25 years a Columbus Dispatch cartoonist, gave an interesting talk.

Thanksgiving Dinner Flies Away

For all Mrs. Mary Long knows, her Thanksgiving dinner is still wandering around from roof top to roof top.

With the help of her brother, Mrs. Long was taking the gobbler from the family car Monday afternoon when the wily rascal (the turkey) made off for the housetop.

He perched for a few moments on the Long chimney and then made off for points unknown after successfully dodging pot shots from Harry Richards' rifle.

Mrs. Long lives at 24 S. Oakley-av.

Rev. James Thomas, [illegible] Broad Street M. E. church will be the guest speaker.

The banquet will be open to all West High football [illegible]. Assisting Deems in the arrangements are Ray Hoffman and Saunders.

Further announcements concerning this annual [illegible] be made in another issue.

The Union [illegible] sponsored by the Hilltop Ministerial association [illegible] already become a custom [illegible] institution.

The service this year will be held in the Hilltop Lutheran church corner of W. Broad and [illegible], Thursday, Nov. 21. The program will begin promptly at [illegible] p. m.

The service will be under the direction of Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell, pastor of host church, while Rev. Harris of Hilltop U.A.B. church will deliver the sermon.

Rev. H. S. Wilkes, pastor of the Hilltop Church of Christ, is chairman of the Ministerial association and Rev. A. J. Wold of the Hoge Memorial Presbyterian church is secretary.

Willkie Club To Carry On

Arthur J. Bellar, 326 Algonquin-av, has announced that the Willkie club on the Hilltop will remain intact and carry on the work inaugurated before the national election.

Connections with the national organizations are still being maintained, he said.

In addition, Bellar expressed his sincere personal thanks to headquarters workers and all other workers who gave so generously of their time in the Willkie-Bricker-Burton-Vorys campaign.

[illegible] Estate Vacancies Survey Shows

The Hilltop and West Side show the least number of vacant real estate units of any section in greater Columbus, according to a recent survey conducted by the Columbus Real Estate Board.

The lowest vacancy in any single unit in the city is to be found in the one bounded by W. Broad-st, Columbian-av, Sullivant-av, Ryan-av, Mound-st and Whitethorne-av.

While 1.9 percent of the habitable units in greater Columbus are listed as vacant, only .9 percent of the units west of Avondale-av are vacant while the figure for the lowest vacancy tract (outlined above) is .4 percent.

Least In Doubles

On the basis of the entire city-wide survey, least vacancy is to be found in double houses where only 1.2 percent are unoccupied. Singles run a very close second with a vacancy of 1.4 percent.

The lowest vacancy by rental value was found in the bracket from $21 to $30 where 1.4 percent of all habitable units were unoccupied. Highest vacancy was in the bracket over $50 with a figure of 2.4 percent vacant.

In the breakdown, the lowest vacancy was found in the flat rows of over $50 rental value, with only one vacancy in 218 units.

Highest vacancy in this breakdown was in dwellings in connection with business establishments in the over $50 bracket, with a percentage of 9.1 percent.

Over 20,000 Vacant Lots

There are 20,542 vacant lots on improved streets and 5,805 more on unimproved streets.

6,030 storerooms were found occupied and 396 unoccupied for a vacancy of 6.1 percent. This is a relatively low figure for this type of building, it is said.

The survey made by the Real Estate Board is the first one made since 1930. Consequently, it was necessary that a complete count be made of all real estate units, whether occupied, vacant or under construction. Use was made of the 1940 decennial census in this connection.

Survey Aids Defense

The realization of the need for this survey grew out of the activity of the Defense Coordinating committee. It was necessary for the committee to know the housing needs in a community in connection with defense industrial expansion.

In many ways the inventory of property will be valuable, it is said. Its greatest value will be in helping to regulate supply and demand. It will be possible to discourage building the kinds of buildings of which there is an oversupply and to encourage the construction of those that are needed.

Thus, properly used, the real estate survey can help materially in planning for housing needs.

Remedy For Financial Ills

As stated above there are 20,542 vacant lots in greater Columbus. If dwellings could be built on these lots, in most cases without additional expense for fire protection, police protection and other city services, approximately $800,000 would be put into the county tax revenue fund, a large part of which would accrue to the benefit of the city. This would be a big step toward curing the city's financial ills, it is agreed.

Harry Fleming

Once again, on Dec. 21 (the Saturday before Christmas) people of the Hilltop will see the familiar figure of the Hilltop's No. 1 paper boy pounding his beat at the corner of W. Broad and Hague-av.

Harry Fleming, 105 N. Warren-av, will peddle Charity Newsie papers there. This year will be his twentieth as a member of the Charity Newsie staff.

The purpose of the newsie drive is to obtain funds with which to keep the children of destitute families in school and to provide food and clothing where needed.

Contributions to this cause will be accepted by "Harry" at his Broad-st corner on Dec. 21 or may be left at the Hilltop Record office, where they will be picked up by the newsies.

Jim Cooper, popular Gas Co. commentator over WBNS, has set a quota of $1,600 for [illegible] the Charity Newsie drive. Contributions may be sent to him in care of WBNS. A resident of the Hilltop, "Jim" lives at 522 Belvidere-av.

Mrs. O. L. Hall, 545 Hilltonia-av, is recovering from injuries received last Monday when she strained tendons in her arm. She is in Doctors' hospital, Dennison-av.

Although she is enduring considerable pain, her condition is said to be improving.

There will be a dance following the game.

A Christmas party for the entire alumni membership has been planned for Dec. 13. The committee in charge of this party is headed by Mrs. Bruce Tanner, 3476½ W. Broad-st.

Still later in the season the association plans to sponsor a skating party, details of which will be announced later.

Legion To Aid Needy

Members of Camp Chase post, No. 98, American Legion, will conduct their ninth annual Thanksgiving day relief drive on Nov. 21 (Thanksgiving day), according to John Van Wagen, 672 S. Hague-av, relief chairman.

The purpose of the drive, as in past years, is to furnish food and clothing for the needy families of the community.

Post members, auxiliary members, members of the Hilltop Business Men's association and Boy Scouts will begin their [illegible] to house canvass at 9 o'clock in the morning.

All material collected will be taken to the relief store from which point it will be distributed throughout the winter or as long as the supply lasts.

Commander Hain of the local post advises that the cooperation received from local residents in past years has been very gratifying and urges all members of the community to do their part in making this a happy season for everyone.

Members of the Camp Chase Drum and Bugle Corps color guard have been selected to act as color guard on Dec. 7 when Franklin County Council will honor the national commander of the Legion with its annual banquet at the Deshler-Wallick hotel.

Headquarters for the Thanksgiving day drive will be open at the Camp Chase Post club, 3184 W. Broad-st, at 6:30 a. m. Thursday, Nov. 21, where Adjutant D. C. Finneran will assign the workers to their streets. Any persons having trucks that will be available for this use should contact Camp Chase Post at RA. 0371 or Commander Hain, 113 Whitethorne-av.

Thanks - - - For This Land Of Ours

THANKSGIVING, to the pilgrims, meant more than just turkey and cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie. Theirs was a sincere thanks to heaven for permitting them to worship as they pleased. Theirs was a sincere thanks for being free from the fetters which bound human freedom in Europe.

Now, once again, Thanksgiving means more to Americans than a bountiful meal. European events have made all of us realize how fortunate we are to be Americans. And what more appropriate time is there than the traditional American holiday to give out thanks for this fortunate circumstance.

With the rolling years man's inventive genius has brought Europe ever closer to our shores. In a world torn by the strife of hatred and greed our first duty is to look to the strength of our ramparts.

Second only should be our firm resolve to stay clear of European entanglements as the father of our country so wisely stipulated. As Professor Charles Beard has said, Americans should not be so optomistic as to think that they can mend the racial and national cleavages which have for ages torn Europe asunder.

And finally we should guard against the germs of hatred, illiberalism and blind chauvinism which even now have found fertile ground in this country on which to grow. Minorities have been persecuted for holding beliefs which are not in accord with what a majority may call Americanism.

Fundamental in the American way of life is the guarantee of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness to the individual. Those basic freedoms—of thought, speech and the press—must be preserved if democracy is to survive in this, the last oasis of freedom.

Future generations must be proud of the heritage which we shall leave them.

Illinois had just scored a touchdown against Ohio State Saturday and Don Bailey, loser of a 2 bit wager on that touchdown was paying Frank Prince, Record linoperator.

"I'll bet another 2 bits they miss the point," Bailey ventured.

"It's a bet," said Prince.

A discussion ensued on who had the better side of the bet and minutes later they learned that the attempt had been made and missed before the wager was ever made.

Bailey collected the 2 bits.

A former gangster, bank bandit, con man, etc., who has served time in half a dozen penal institutions, admits that one of the reasons he abandoned his former life was due to the poor pay such work provided.

After more than 15 years plying his trade (most of which time was spent behind bars) he estimated that his net income had averaged exactly 1½c per day. This man, by the way, was no petty thief. He worked for big stakes with such men as Harry Pierpont, John Dillinger and others.

He admits that most crooks try to steer clear of the O. P. (Ohio Pen) because of its reputation for being a tough place. He drew most of his time for "paperhanging" (check forging).

Former Hilltop Resident To Appear In Faculty Recital

Norman Broadway, a former Hilltop resident, will appear in a faculty recital of piano and organ music, presented by the Capitol College of Oratory and Music on Tuesday evening, Nov. 26. The program will be given at the Indianola Presbyterian church on Eighteenth-av, one block east of High-st, at 8:30 o'clock.

Mr. Broadway will appear as both organist and pianist. At the piano he will play a group of Chopin numbers: the Waltz in G Flat, the Mazurka in B Flat, and the Polonaise in A Flat. At the organ he will play the Fantasia and Fugue in G Minor, by J. S. Bach.

Mary Catherine Goetz will play the first movement of Grieg's A Minor Concerto and Paul Strouse will play the first and second movement of Saint-Saens' Concerto in G Minor. The orchestral accompaniments for these numbers will be played on the organ by Mr. Broadway.

The organ and piano provide the most effective means of playing the piano concertos when it is impossible to use the symphony orchestra. The organ possesses the sustaining qualities of the wind and string instruments and like the orchestra, its tonal qualities are entirely different from the piano so that it permits the tones of the piano to stand out in relief from the accompaniment. This is impossible when the accompaniment is played on a second piano where the tones of both the solo and supporting parts are similar.

Lutheran Men Hold Father and Son Banquet

The Men's Brotherhood of the Hilltop Lutheran church held its fourth annual father and son banquet at the Lutheran church Friday night.

Principal speaker on the program was Dr. Elmer E. Flack, dean of Hamma Divinity school of Springfield.

Other speakers were A. C. Keidel and Kenneth E. Linton. Toastmaster for the occasion was Leonard Echols.

A sextet composed of men of the church entertained with musical selections. Henry E. Geshwiler, president of the Men's Brotherhood, was general chairman of the committee in charge of the banquet.

Be Prepared-- For Thanksgiving

If you believe in preparedness, today is the time to put in supplies for your Thanksgiving dinner.

While you might delay your purchases of a turkey or chicken until tomorrow, it would be far better to attend to this detail today in order to get just the right kind and size of bird you like for the all-important feast day.

Prices of fowl on the Hilltop are very reasonable. Turkeys may be obtained for 25c a pound and upward. Chickens, roasts and fries range from 22c a pound to about 29c, while ducks and geese may be obtained for less than 20c a pound.

Housewives are advised also to order supplies of minor items immediately, since it is often difficult to keep them in stock during the last minute rush.

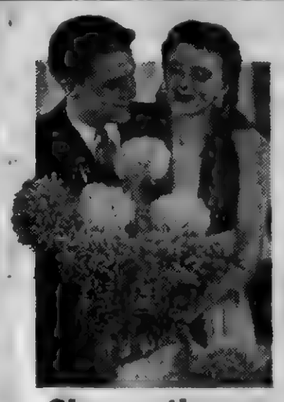
If you are planning to make cranberry sauce or jelly the cranberries should be purchased immediately. Cranberry sauce now can also be bought in cans.

On the canned goods shelf of your local merchant you will also find pumpkin for pies or mincemeat in cans, jars and packages.

Bargain prices can be found on many accessories such as nuts, salad dressings, pickles, olives and fruit for cocktails.

Many expected to see an increase in price of fresh produce with the coming of cold weather. But, surprising as it may seem, there has been no marked change in retail prices.

Serve Hot Soup



When the main course of a meal is to be a cold dish, a good beginning is a plate of hot soup.

GETS 80 CALLS

Mrs. Raybold, 483 Woodbury-av, recently ran the following help-wanted ad in the Record classified section: "Capable girl wanted to stay with children, one or two evenings a week. Call RA. 9888."

In reply to her ad Mrs. Raybold got approximately 80 calls. She took a list of 38 names from which she was able to choose. Getting such satisfactory results is a common occurrence with Record advertisers.

Here Are Scout Requirements For Tenderfoot and Second Class Awards

EDITOR'S NOTE: In the interests of scouting and in response to many requests, for the following few weeks the Record will present short resumees of the requirements which Boy Scouts must meet for advancement. Following are the requirements for tenderfoot and second class awards.

Before a boy may become a Scout, he must pass the Tenderfoot requirements. They include the following:

1. Scout Oath, Scout Law, Scout Motto, Sign, Handclasp, Salute, respect due Scout officials, the Scout Badge, and the Scout uniform.
2. History of the flag of the United States and the respects due it.
3. Nine useful knots.

When a boy has completed these requirements, he is admitted to membership in the Boy Scouts of America. He is now ready to advance to the rank of Second Class. He must then pass the following requirements:

First Aid, Elementary Signalling, Tracking, Scout Pace, Knife and Hatchet, Fire Building, Cooking, Thrift, Compass, Rules of Safety, Live for the Scout Oath and Law and have held membership for at least one month.

When this work is completed, he appears before the Troop Committee, and they recommend him for advancement.

Hilltop Men To Attend Convention Of Retired Railway Employees

Frank W. Crawford, 145 Elton-av, and C. D. Blair, 2490 Valleyview-dr, were recently elected as delegates from Unit No. 26 of the National association of Retired Railway Employees, Inc. to attend the national meeting of the association which convenes in May, 1941.

Crawford and Blair, accompanied by their wives, will also attend the mid-winter session of the association which will be held in Sarasota, Fla., in December.

The association is united in the interests of retired railway men who have served for 30 years or more. Unit No. 26 in Columbus is composed of approximately 325 members and holds meetings in Woodmen's hall, 38 W. Sycamore-st.

Crawford and Blair were recently re-elected president and secretary respectively of the local unit. W. D. Cronenger, 148 Dakota-av, was elected trustee.

Many Hilltop men are members of the association, it is said.

All About Turkeys

Wellman, Iowa, is the undisputed turkey capital of the world. To the 174 members of Wellman's turkey cooperative, the wider spread between Thanksgiving and Christmas due to the president's earlier date (Nov. 21) means an extra week in which Americans will become turkey conscious and hence means many more hard American dollars in the pockets.

Wellman's turkey farmers say that turkey raising is one of the world's most sensitive industries. Sharp thunder or a passing airplane can drive a whole flock crazy.

Visitors, who inspire vain gobblers to strut, can ruin the white meat in a whole flock, for strutting makes breast meat flabby.

Numerous maladies can carry turkeys off by the thousands. They must not get their feet wet. If it is too cold, they can easily catch pneumonia. If it is too hot, they smother.

Even the most healthy may commit suicide if scared into stampede.

Turkeys are treacherously conscious of their uniform appearance. Children tied bright colored ribbons around the necks of two favorite turkeys. Next day both pets were found slain by their fellows. Any non-conforming mark, a bright feather, a spot of paint, a drop of blood, is a turkey's death warrant, it is said.

Taking care of these American aristocrats is a job which would drive an asylum keeper to the heebie-jeebies, it is said. The story is told in Minnesota of a love-lorn aviator who was courting a turkey farmer's daughter by zooming his plane over her chimney. Below, 7000 turkeys were rapidly going mad. One bunch flew against a barn and broke their necks. Another flock piled up against a fence, smothering those underneath. Others stampeded into the highway where motorists mowed them down by the scores. When it was all over, 2000 birds were dead, mortally wounded or missing.

One of the few blessings of turkey raising is turkey fertilizer, which is said to accomplish wonders.

"Two Inventions Needed"

The automobile is a wonderful invention,
And improvements are made every year
I respectfully call your attention
To a few complaints that I hear
Autos are fancy and streamlined
They travel the whole world around
Their machination can't be defined
And a gas gauge has never been found

That will not do like a dinner
Saying ten wish there isn't one drop
Leaving us stranded like a drunken tinner
To the filling station we must hop.
There's another defect I will mention
To the men who make the machine
There's a chance for a new invention
In the car using gasoline.

There's a chance for inventive expansion
In autos streamlined and nice
Almost a palace like rich people's mansion
At a very conservative price
There's a defect that makes people fear
It makes them nervous from fright
Why not get busy, put headlights on Lizzie
A light that won't blind us at night.

Shank and Saunders Are As Inseparable As Sears & Roebuck

J. F. Shank
By Elmer Wolfley

E. E. Saunders

With apologies to the writer of the song—"Imagine Shank without Saunders" and imagine the Hilltop without either of them! They have been as inseparable as Amos and Andy or Sears and Roebuck practically all their lives, since they lived on the same street down in Perry County when they were boys. They have been partners in their real estate and insurance firm for the past 14 years, at 2455 W. Broad-st, and the firm is one of the Hilltop's landmarks.

Mr. Shank has lived in Columbus for the past 30 years, is married, and lives at 2455 W. Broad-st. He and Mrs. Shank have one son and one grandson.

Mr. Shank is on the executive board of the Hilltop Business Men's association and is one of its charter members; is a member of the Westgate Masonic lodge and K. of P. lodge. His hobbies are bowling, bridge and fishing.

Mr. Saunders' hobbies are bowling, golf and bridge. He is a member of the Lions club; is a Shriner, and member of Hope Memorial church. He and Mrs. Saunders live at 61 Elma-blvd.

Mr. Saunders is active in Hilltop affairs and was at one time secretary of the Hilltop Business Men's association. He was largely responsible for the first minstrel show given by this group.

The firm of Shank and Saunders sponsors a bowling team which has won the championship several times, and they mean for it to win again.

Columbus Booming, Report Indicates

Figures recently released by the Columbus Chamber of Commerce indicate that business activity in Columbus blossomed into a miniature boom the latter part of October. According to the report the aggregate total business activity for the month was "far in excess of anything we have experienced in this month for the past 10 years."

With gains ranging from 16% to over 200%, bank clearings, building activity, new car registrations, air express, deeds recorded and sales tax receipts showed remarkable gains.

According to the report, relief cases dropped 35.6% from the same month a year ago and the number of W. P. A. workers showed a decrease of 24.6%.

With definite plans proceeding for construction of the $10,000,000 Curtiss-Wright plant at Port Columbus, supplemented by the present upsurge of business activity, observers are looking forward to a new high in the Columbus business index for the last quarter of the year.

Vilhjalmur Stefansson has decided a compass could be just as handy around an Alaskan railway station as in the Arctic. After waiting two days to catch a train north to Fairbanks, the explorer boarded one of two trains at the depot. It hauled him 12 miles south before he discovered he was going in the wrong direction.

One farmer had a plot of ground which wouldn't even raise a good crop of weeds. So he ran turkeys over it. After that the field gave him 80 bushels of corn to the acre and the best soy beans and oats he had ever seen.

BARNETT MEAT MKT.
463 N. Hague Ave. RA. 3861

SHARP KNIFE IS FIRST STEP TOWARD GOOD CARVING

Good carving depends upon two essentials . . . a knowledge of the structure of the meat to be served and a good sharp knife.

For steaks, roast beef and leg of lamb, mutton or veal, the right way to carve is straight across the grain of the meat to the bone.

Individual servings of T-bone or Porterhouse steaks should include a piece of the more delicate tenderloin as well as the sirloin. Give each person served a strip of the meat close to the bone and also one from the outer portion.

Carving Leg of Lamb

To carve a leg of lamb, place the platter on which it is served on the table with the small end of the roast toward the left of the carver and the fleshy curved side uppermost.

After each cross cut, turn the point of the carving knife to free the slice from the roast. When several slices have been removed, turn the leg over and cut a second portion for the serving from the thinner side of the roast.

Chicken or Turkey

Chicken or turkey should first be cut around the joint of the wing, then draw the wing away from the body with the carving fork and cut free at the joint.

The drumstick and thigh are removed in one piece at the hip joint. Draw the leg away from the bird with the fork, placed so that one tine is through the drumstick and other through the thigh. As meat is cut close to the body, press the leg out with the flat of the blade.

Find the joint with the point of the carving knife and cut through. Without removing the fork, lay the leg flat on the platter and cut at the first joint between the tines of the fork. Cut this dark meat to allow a serving for each portion.

Remove the wishbone, cutting down from the point of the breast bone. Holding the bird steady with low-thrust fork, carve long, thin, flat slices of white meat from the breast to accompany dark meat for each serving. When one side of the fowl is used, turn the platter and repeat the carving operation.

Serving Fish

For large fish, run the knife the length of the back to free the flesh from the bone and serve portions two or three inches wide from the upper side of the fish. When one side is served, lift the bone and serve the lower portion. Medium-size fish are cut through the bone so that each serving contains a portion on either side of the backbone.

HIGH ELECTION EXPENSE ACCOUNT

Ohio's most unusual election expense account was reported to the board of elections here recently by State Representative Gus Kasch. One six cent bus check used to reach a meeting and 29 cents spent for a box of candy represented the total cost of Gus' successful campaign.

The Kasch report on the box of candy read, "one pound of candy to Bob Stopher, one of the editorial writers of the Akron Beacon Journal, for not indorsing me for election."

He was re-elected.

Lights Out

The last 65 square miles of light in central Europe went out last week. Liechtenstein, little principality between Switzerland and Germany, ordered a blackout at last. Her government feared, as Switzerland has, that her neutrality might be endangered if belligerent bombers should use the Liechtenstein lights as a guide to their targets.

Douglas Republican Club Will Meet

Members of the Douglas Republican club will meet with Mr. and Mrs. John Coalie, 186 S. Oakley-av, Nov. 22. All members are urged to be present.

We're going to make arrangements to "move" the modern way without worry. Hilltop Van & Storage service is the answer. Everything's safe with them and we can easily afford their low rates!

Simmer Beef for 'Boiled' Dinner

A real New England boiled dinner with a large piece of corned beef and a variety of fresh vegetables will satisfy the hearty appetites of your family and be an easily prepared meal, too.

New England Boiled Dinner

Wash four pounds of corned beef in cold water. If very salty, soak half an hour in cold water or let come to a boil and drain. Place the meat in a kettle, with boiling water to cover. Allow the meat to simmer three to five hours or until tender.

One hour before serving, add a small cabbage, three large carrots, six small onions, six small parsnips, six small potatoes and two small turnips. Serve on a large platter with the meat in the center and the vegetables around it.

Another delicious meat dish is a cranberry pot roast. The roast is cooked right in the juice and when done, the juice is thickened, making an exceptionally good gravy.

Cranberry Pot Roast

Have a three or four-pound chuck pot roast boned and rolled at the market. Dredge it with flour and brown in two tablespoons of fat. Season with salt and pepper and pour over it two cups of tart, unsweetened cranberry sauce and one cup of hot water.

Cover the meat closely and cook slowly, adding water from time to time as it is necessary.

Cook for about three hours in a 350-degree oven. When done, remove the pot roast to a hot platter and thicken the remaining liquid for gravy.

Seventeen People Want Coal Heaters

Mrs. Funk, 598 Racine-av, inserted a small, two-line ad in the Record classified section recently, offering a circulating coal heater for sale.

She received 18 replies, but she had only one heater, which leaves 17 people on the Hilltop who still want coal heaters.

This is but one example of the excellent results obtained by people who use Record want ads.

Convenient location—and something else—thoughtful service.

Anti-Skid Rug

If you have been having trouble with the throw rugs on a hardwood floor sliding out from underneath you, science has an answer. Kay Francis has discovered a liquid now being manufactured which can be painted on the underside of any throw rug without doing the rug any harm. Made of a rubber composition, it holds the rug firmly on the slipperiest floor.

DON'T APOLOGIZE
Apologizing is a very desperate habit—one that is rarely cured. Apology is only egotism wrong side out. Nine times out of 10, the first thing a man's companion knows of his shortcomings is from his apology. It is mighty presumptuous on your part to suppose your small failures of so much consequence that you must talk about them—Oliver Wendell Holmes, "The Professor at the Breakfast Table."

Within Our Power

By Mona Gardner
Nationally-known Writer for Magazines

There the little Christmas seal is—a square you can cover with your thumb. It is about as insignificant as a diamond would be. It glitters and shines, and then goes on to tell the world of better things than vanity—that instead of decorating yourself, you are willing to decorate others with the precious thing called health.

You might call the seal a personal medal, in a way. Only instead of putting it in a bureau drawer, you have the fun of showing it to Aunt Kate, to Cousin Jill and Will in far-off states. And to all those scattered friends you write to only at Christmas time. You can stick it on a letter with gusto, for this medal tells everyone you are a person who wants the next generation and the one after that to be healthy.

It's a fine thing to buy power for a dollar or two. Certainly it's a lot more than we usually get for a dollar these days. Perhaps that's what makes buying the seals so satisfactory. With all the abstract and particular fights we have to let others carry on for us, this is one fight where we can get in and finish up the thing ourselves.

This dogged, combined attack has tuberculosis pretty well on the decline. Certainly this is not the year to skip buying the little personal medals. We must buy at least another dollar's worth of power to give the disease the final shove. For, its complete eradication in our children's and grandchildren's lives is within in our power.

Chauncey Depew, asked what kind of exercise he took, he answered: "I get my exercise acting as pallbearer to my friends who exercise." — Thomas Collison in Portland Sunday Telegram.

Dear Santa Has Heavy Mail

This is the season when one certain old gentleman with white whiskers has the largest fan mail of any popular person in the land.

Last week, today, tonight and for many days now, hundreds of small hands hold pencils which scribble that most famous of all salutations, "Dear Santa".

To many of these little ones this is their first attempt at letter writing. It may be the beginning of a successful letter writing career.

Our only wish is that all these letters reach the North Pole safely and receive old Santa's most careful attention before Christmas eve.

Why The Double Features?

I like a good movie. Two hours of such entertainment makes a pleasant evening. I think most people like good movies of about two hours duration.

But when they run over this limit and you have to start squirming to keep from becoming paralyzed in your seat the movie has little of entertainment value left.

Very definitely I don't like double features. I have yet to find any enthusiasm for double features. But even though the public is not enthused over double features Columbus theatres continue to punish us with them.

Just why double features? If there are large numbers of people who like them why not run double features in the afternoons and have one good feature at the evening show so that a person attending may look forward to seeing one complete show regardless of the time he enters the theatre and not be compelled to sit in one spot for three to four hours?

I believe Columbus theatre managers would be doing a great favor to their patrons to return to the single feature schedule.

Third Largest Columbus Industry

It is interesting to note from the Allied Printing Trades Council News that printing is the third largest industry in Columbus.

Over 2500 workers are employed, with an annual payroll of $3,500,000. Requiring skilled craftsmen and educated workers, its employees are a genuine asset to the community.

In this same publication it is interesting to note that The Hilltop Record is on an honor roll of those Columbus business firms using the union label.

Thaddeus Neff Writes Home Of Bombers Over Egypt

Stationed in bomb-scarred Camp de Cesar, Alexandria, Egypt, Thaddeus Neff, veteran missionary, wrote the following letter home to Don Smith, attorney at 2405½ W. Broad-st:

"Thank God we are well and our work is moving along fine though not without difficulties owing to the war conditions. We have been having some experiences of what it is like to be bombed, but God has protected us so far and we know that He will continue to care for those who trust in Him. Our daily prayers are that peace and justice may be restored among the nations again. Please inform our relatives when you see them that we are all right and not to worry about us, we have a good bomb shelter and besides we have a Mighty God to protect us. We do not know what the future holds for this country and although the worst may be yet to come, we know the Lord will direct and protect us as long as He wishes us to remain here."

Thaddeus Neff
1, Rue Naucratis
Camp de Cesar
Alexandria, Egypt

For 20 years a resident of the Hilltop, Mr. Neff has been in missionary work for about 35 years. His vocation has carried him to India and the British West Indies. For the past 15 years he has been stationed in Egypt.

Mr. Neff's father was responsible for organizing the local Church of God.

Two sisters, three brothers and a daughter of the Egyptian missionary reside on the Hilltop. They are Mrs. W. B. Keefer, 86 N. Burgess-av; Mrs. Guyer, 222 N. Terrace-st; K. B. Neff, 116 N. Chase-av; Geo. Neff, 2850 Crystal Springs-dr; and S. Z. Neff, 2920 Crystal Springs-dr.

The daughter is Mrs. Guggenaster, 96 S. Wayne-av, who returned from Egypt a little over a year ago.

Mr. H. Y. Shoffner, 39 Powhatan-av, and R. C. Schmelzer, proprietor of Schmelzer's restaurant, entertained a group of acquaintances Tuesday night at the restaurant, 3176 W. Broad-st, with a venison dinner.

Mr. Shoffner brought the venison. He got it in Michigan.

Leaving Columbus at 5:15 a. m. Thursday morning, Nov. 14, he arrived at his destination in the vicinity of Mio, Mich., before daybreak the next day for the purpose of stalking deer.

By 10:30 a. m. Mr. Shoffner had his buck.

Hilltop Boy Tells of Army Life In Camp Shelby

Paul R. Johnson, 23 S. Terrace-st, sent the following letter home to his parents from Camp Shelby, Mississippi, where he is stationed with the 134th field artillery:

The many varied and interesting aspects of army life which many Columbus and Hilltop boys are now experiencing will be common to most of the young men in the future.

However, since we are among the first of the citizen soldiers, it is only natural that mothers, fathers, relatives and friends would be curious to know what our first taste of army life is like.

Trip Down Educational

Our trip from Columbus to Camp Shelby was as educational as it was beautiful. Being in the motorized artillery, we travelled in trucks in long caravans. It took us four days and three nights to reach our destination.

Our first night at Fort Knox was a bit disheartening to many of the "rookies." We arrived at the camp site after dark and most of the men were tired after the first day's ride.

The next night we camped in a county fair grounds in Tennessee. By that time the men were more accustomed to riding and here all the men had a chance to wash up, buy cigarettes and general good spirits prevailed.

During the third day we saw what to most of us was our first sight of growing cotton and dusky pickers with creaky cotton wagons. That night we camped in Macon, Miss., in the very heart of the South. On the fourth day away from Columbus we moved into our new home.

Camp Shelby Is Pine Forest

Camp Shelby is located in the middle of a huge fir forest. There are fir trees everywhere, even in our company streets. They are very beautiful and match colorfully with our brown tents. For the first few weeks the weather here was ideal. It was warm with a soft breeze during the day and just cool enough for two blanket sleeping during the night.

The weather now has turned colder and the old World War joke about "Sunny France" has now been revived and applied to the "Sunny South," for many of us expected it to be warm here all winter.

We are now camped in temporary quarters, but even in these we have tents with floors of wood plank, cotton mattresses, new steel cots, electric lights, coat racks, three blankets, a thick cotton quilt, stoves, gloves, and last but not least, long wool underwear.

Up to now we have been doing foot drill and becoming accustomed to camp life. Of course, there is always something to complain about. It would not be natural if the men didn't complain about something.

Plenty of Good Food

Due to the fact that so many men have moved into the camp area, it has been difficult for the army to give us as good food as we seem to expect. There is plenty of good food but somehow it doesn't seem to be cooked as "mother used to cook it." Naturally anything in the line of homemade candy, cookies, cakes, etc., is a rare treat for us.

Those of us who have been to Fort Knox or went to Wisconsin last summer with the National Guard know how many men can be jammed into an army tent. However, here we are not crowded but live four or five in a tent for the most part.

Surprise, Mothers

Mothers need not be surprised if their sons make their beds when they get home. Nor need wives and girl friends be shocked if husbands or boy friends keep their clothes neat and clean. Here all this is a necessary part of army life. Many men are even doing their own washing and ironing.

All in all Camp Shelby promises to be a good home for the thousands of young men who will reside here. And when the Ohio boys return home with southern accent and all there will be few, if any, who will have regretted the time they spent here.

Hilltop Chorus Instrumental In Bringing Eisteddfod Here

Columbus will be host to a state-wide eisteddfod on Feb. 22, according to plans just released this week by the Central Ohio Eisteddfod association. Cash prizes in excess of $2700 will be awarded for excellence in 25 musical competitions and 10 literary and dramatic numbers. The all-day affair will be staged at Memorial hall with sessions at 10, 2 and 7:30 o'clock.

Frederick E. Jones jr., president of the Buckeye Union Insurance Co., has been named president of the sponsoring group. John L. Davies was named first vice-president; William J. Walker, second vice-president; E. H. Gildersleeve, 238 N. Ogden-av, treasurer; D. Hadyn Evans, corresponding secretary, and Maurice L. Schellenger, recording secretary.

The Hilltop will be particularly interested in this eisteddfod inasmuch as members of the Hilltop Male chorus were instrumental in getting the project under way. Two years of experimentation with eisteddfods on the Hilltop proved to the group that there definitely was a need for such a song fest in Columbus on a much grander scale.

The announcement comes after many weeks of conferences and hours of planning instigated by local music lovers. Proof of this fact is shown by three members of the Hilltop chorus being elected to the governing body of the Central Ohio association.

A 12 page preliminary program carrying complete details was released this week. Copies of this program together with entry blanks for contestants may be had by writing D. Haydn Evans, 21 E. State-st.

PHYSICIANS COMBINE TO EXAMINE REGISTRANTS

Several of the examining physicians for draft boards on the Hilltop and West Side are combining their services for examining registrants. The following doctors will set up headquarters in Glenwood shelter house in the near future: Dr. Chas. W. Edwards, Dr. Irwin Sherwood, Dr. Clement Wolfe, Dr. Howard Whitehead, Dr. Chester Cramer, Dr. J. M. Gattrost, Dr. L. W. Rehr and Dr. J. E. Richardson.

Catherine Kuehner Is Ohio's Number One 4-H Girl

Recently named as Ohio's number one 4-H club girl, Catherine Ann Kuehner, 17, senior at West High school, was awarded an all-expense trip to the nineteenth national 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 29-Dec. 7.

She has been active in 4-H work for eight years and has compiled a superior record during that time, in home-making projects, which include landscaping her lawn, sewing 12 garments, baking and preparing meals, and being chosen best state food judge.

Miss Kuehner, as Ohio's representative to the convention, will be in the group from which a champion for each of the sections and two at large, will be selected, and awarded a $200 scholarship by Montgomery Ward, who also donated the trips for the state winners.

Dr. Bates Will Be Heard Over WBNS

Featuring the seventh program in a series of Columbus Crime Commission talks on "Juvenile Problems," Dr. Frank Bates, psychologist at the state bureau of juvenile research, will speak on "Some Factors in Juvenile Delinquency" Wednesday, Nov. 27, at 4:45 p. m., over radio station WBNS.

Hilltoppers Get ROTC Promotions

Names of students at Ohio State university in the engineer regiment of the ROTC who have been promoted have been announced by Col. Otto Brunzell, commandant.

The students from the Hilltop and their appointments are as follows:

Edward C. Jones, 269 S. Terrace-st, major; Arthur E. Currier, 48 Eldon-av, captain; David E. James, 101 S. Terrace-st, second lieutenant; and George W. Luckey, 311 N. Ogden-av, second lieutenant.

Danger Spot At City Limits Removed

With the removal of the interurban tracks under the Big Four viaduct near the west city limits on Broad-st, one treacherous spot to the safety of motorists to and from the city is in the process of being eliminated.

The tracks run from Letchworth-rd on Broad-st, under the viaduct, and then to a point where they veered off northward to parallel the highway.

Several serious accidents have occurred heretofore at this point, particularly during wet and slippery weather.

The removal of the tracks began on Monday, Nov. 18. When this is completed, a raised concrete strip will be laid in the street center to separate the two lines of traffic. The project will be completed by the end of next week, according to the foreman on the job.

The project, a phase of the larger program to build a superhighway west, is under the direction of the state highway department. Contractor on the job is L. L. Clymer, West Jefferson.

Thanksgiving Dinner Returns

Mrs. Mary Long, 34 S. Oakley-av, whose Thanksgiving dinner flew away when her newly-purchased gobbler took off from the car door last Monday evening for a visit to the roof-tops of the neighborhood, reports that all is well and she finally got the bird on the platter.

Two hours after the Record was on the streets Mrs. Long had two telephone calls, telling her that the wayward one had rested all night on a Wheatland-av roof. Later it flew to Highland and Broad where it was brought down by the shotgun of Mr. Donoven of Clarendon-av.

"So," says Mrs. Long, "I had my Thanksgiving dinner after all."

Westwood Lodge To Entertain County Officer

J. O. James of Westerville, Franklin county deputy grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, will make his official visit to Westwood lodge Tuesday evening, Dec. 3. He will be accompanied by the local deputies of all the lodges in this county.

George Rings is deputy of Westwood lodge.

The Mentor and Republic lodge visitations will be made Tuesday evening, Jan. 14, at the castle hall at 527½ W. Broad-st. Wilbur R. Herdman is deputy for Mentor, and J. A. Munyan for Republic.

Hunt Deer--Eat Pork Chops

There are plenty of deer up in New York's Allaghany county, according to Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Mason, 69 N. Warren-av, who just returned from that place. But the catch is that they are all bucks.

From one small town in the vicinity, according to Mrs. Mason, 200 hunters went out and brought back only three bucks.

Hunting with a party of eight, the Masons saw 21 does, but not a single buck. Seven of the female deer came out into the clear, no more than 20 feet away.

"When we got home, we had pork chops for supper," said Mrs. Mason.

New Hilltop Medical Building Opens Today

John W. Heckert General Contractor For New Building

John W. Heckart was the general contractor for the Hilltop Medical building at the corner of Algonquin-av and W. Broad-st.

This fine new building is an addition to a long list of fine buildings in the city which have been constructed under the supervision of Mr. Heckart. He has played an important role in the structural development of downtown Columbus for more than 40 years.

He has to his credit some of the city's finest buildings, including the Masonic temple, First Church of Christ, Scientist, Coliseum at Ohio State fairgrounds, Franklin Savings and Loan building, Rowlands building, Lilley factory, Fireproof warehouse and storage, High-Long building, Ohio Evangelical church, Central Building & Loan, Huntington Bank building, Ohio Fuel Gas Co., administration building, International Derrick and Equipment Co., Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus Art Gallery, Isaly's, National Electric Coil Co., Medick-Barrows Co., Central Ohio Paper Co., and numerous others.

Mr. Heckart estimates he has done more than $4,000,000 worth of construction in the Columbus area.

He has had 40 years' building experience. He resides at 672½ N. High-st.

Mr. Heckart states the Hilltop may well be proud of this new medical building, it being one of the finest in the city.

Crane Co. Supplied Fixtures

The Crane Co., 87 N. Front-st, supplied the plumbing fixtures for the new Hilltop medical building. Lawrence Judson, 276 N. Burgess-av, and R. A. Diedrich, 65 N. Huron-av, [illegible] salesmen who supervised the installation of the fixtures.

The Crane Co. has been in business for 85 years. They offer a nation-wide service through branches and wholesalers in all markets including Canada, England and France.

They sell valves, fittings, pipe plumbing, heating equipment and pumps. They are equipped to furnish anything from a low cost house to a large power house. The firm has 134 branches in the United States.

The local company has recently furnished fixtures for the two new dormitories at Ohio State, Tuberculosis hospital and the east wing of the city hall.

Manufacturing plants for the firm are located in Chicago, Bridgeport, North Towanda, Chatanooga and Trenton.

Decorating Done By Ballenger

Decorating in the new medical building at Algonquin and Broad was under the supervision of Clarence H. Ballenger Co., 1473 Twenty-sixth-av. Mr. Ballenger's home address is 1695 Melrose-av. The business phone is Un. 1214.

Mr. Ballenger has been in the decorating business since 1908. He does all types of decorating and employs 40 men.

Some of the other important jobs completed in the past year include the Tuberculosis hospital, Detention home, Liquor headquarters at 33 N. Third-st, the Ohio Unemployment office, high schools in Mansfield, Findlay, Norwalk, two in Newark, and Washington C. H. He was employed as decorator for the Poindexter Village of this city and Washington Manor housing project at Charleston, W. Va.

Mr. Ballenger is proud of the part his firm played in the completion of the fine new Hilltop medical building.

Non-Skid Rug

If you have been having trouble with the throw rugs on a hardwood floor sliding out from underneath you, science has an answer. Kay Francis has discovered a liquid now being manufactured which can be painted on the underside of any throw rug without doing the rug any harm. Made of a rubber composition, it holds the rug firmly on the slipperiest floor.

FINE NEW BUILDING TO HOUSE THREE OFFICES

Utility Koolers Installed In New Building

Utility Koolers are in use in the new Hilltop Medical building and were sold and installed by C. O. Emrich, 203 S. Wayne-av.

The use of the Utility Koolers has become universal during the past several years. Practically every type of business, as well as residences, hotels, offices, and other places where people mingle, have adopted its use as an inexpensive and perfectly satisfactory method of comfort cooling.

Installation or first cost is considerably less than other types commonly used and the operating cost will vary from eight to 12 percent of other types.

All air is 100 percent fresh air from the outside. This air is filtered of dust, insects, pollen and other foreign matter, and at the same time washed and cooled with the moistened cooling pads, then carried in a uniform, silent flow throughout the premises, forcing out the hot stuffy air through openings provided and replacing same with clean, refreshing, cool air.

The hotter the day, the faster and greater the evaporation, and under these conditions Utility Koolers will reduce the temperature a greater number of degrees. In other words, as the temperature rises, the rated capacity of the Kooler increases, and as the temperature falls, the capacity of the Kooler decreases, making for an almost uniform temperature during all kinds of weather in the summer. This increase will be as great as 190 percent over the rated capacity of the Kooler without any additional power operating cost.

Utility Koolers are manufactured in a completely modern plant with large laboratories for test and experimental work. The assembly line delivers a complete Utility Kooler every three minutes. This speaks well for the general acceptance of Utility Koolers. They first started to manufacture on a quantity basis in 1937.

Some of the local users are Donald F. Smith, attorney; R. G. Barker, real estate and insurance broker; Richer Dairy Co.; Carl's restaurant; Rorris cafe, Rohe restaurant and many others.

National users include J. C. Penny Co., Montgomery Ward, Pipkin Grocery Co., Sewell Grocery Co., Union Mercantile Co., Black's Food Markets, Safeway stores and many others.

Mr. Emrich has been in the sales and engineering field of refrigeration since 1912, having 28 years' experience in that field in a wide variety of responsible po-

George Stegmiller Architect For Fine New Structure

Stegmiller received his degree from Ohio State university in 1936 where he was a member of Tau Sigma Delta, national honorary architectural fraternity, and Alpha Rho Chi, local architect group. He is a registered architect.

He has been the architect for 14 fine residences in the past year. He was architect for the Ed Stauch home and associate architect for Dr. Cramer's home on the Hilltop and the A. J. Jones residence at 2652 Berwyn-rd.

On this page is Stegmiller's drawing of the front of the building. It is one of the most beautiful in the city and perhaps the most modern doctor's office in this section of the country.

Mr. Hirsch started in business in 1897, having been graduated from Ohio State university where he received his mechanical and electrical engineering degree.

He enlisted in the Spanish American war and was commissioned in the signal corps. In the World war Mr. Hirsch served as major in the signal corps in France.

W. H. Rogers, 673 Chestershire-rd, is superintendent of all electrical work for the Hirsch company. He has been with the firm for six years. He was master engineer, senior grade in the World war.

Mr. Rogers has had charge of the electrical work in the new Hilltop medical building.

The company does all types of telephone and electrical construction and engineering. Some of the major jobs of the firm include: Installing the underground distributing system and telephones at the U. S. prisons in Terre Haute, Ind., Dallas and Fort Worth, and Alcatraz Island prison; the new Columbus Greyhound Bus station, Grand Theatre, new Findlay High school, Fredericktown High school, Copperwell steel plant at Warren.

The firm has recently been awarded the contract for the wiring at the new Curtiss-Wright plant at the Ohio State fairgrounds, and the new Mt. Calvary housing project on W. Mound-st.

Dr. C. O. Cramer To Occupy New Office Beginning Today

The new Hilltop Medical building at the corner of Algonquin and West Broad-st will open today.

The new building will contain the complete offices, laboratories, and x-ray rooms of Dr. Chester O. Cramer, where he will continue his general practice. He has had offices on the Hilltop for the past eight years.

Dr. D. S. Cowles will be associated with Dr. Cramer as a specialist in fever therapy. Louise Greer Waidlich will continue as Dr. Cramer's secretary.

Dr Paul Haught will have dental offices in the new building.

This is perhaps the most modern of its kind in this section of the country with emphasis on the unique features carried out all over the building.

The red brick 60 foot front structure, one floor plan, faces on Broad-st with a side entrance on Algonquin-av leads into the foyer with an assortment of rough colored stones for the floor. Straight ahead in the foyer is a rest room and powder room.

To the left is the entrance to the reception room of Dr. Cramer's office. This is beautifully decorated and brilliant with indirect lighting from the ceilings. Furnishings are of modern leather upholstery in bright shades.

Beyond the reception room is the secretary's desk and large semi-circular desk from which a nurse can serve six examining rooms, thus speeding up the doctor's service and eliminating unnecessary waiting.

To the right is a complete laboratory to be equipped with range, refrigerator, drug room, and other essential equipment. To the right and front is an x-ray room with the latest of modern equipment.

In the rear and to the left are two rooms for the fever therapy specialist and Dr. Cramer's consultation room and a rest room.

Off to the right from the front entrance is the dentist's section of the building which houses a reception room, two operating rooms, dentist's office, laboratory, dark room and rest room.

The walls of the building are flat painted with greens and yellows being used. Trims are in black. Birch wood doors are in place throughout.

All rooms are treated with acoustic material to eliminate sound. A modern heating and air conditioning system has been provided.

A. C. Skipper Did Plumbing Work

Plumbing in the new Hilltop medical building was installed by A. C. Skipper, Hilltop plumber for the past 20 years. He has been a resident of this community for 52 years.

Mr. Skipper recently built a new concrete block building at N. Richardson-av, which houses his new plumbing shop.

His office is located at 143 N. Burgess-av, phone RA. 2441.

Mr. Skipper has three plumbers and one helper, with Dorothy Kunz as office secretary.

He states that in all his plumbing experience he has always used new materials.

In addition to numerous Hilltop buildings for which he has furnished the plumbing, he has under contract all the plumbing for the builder Royce of Upper Arlington, builder of fine homes and apartments, and has installed the plumbing in the new Walter Miles home in Arlington and the Babbitt apartments at 1572 to 1623 Grandview-av.

Prentice Lumber Co. Supplied Materials

The Prentice Lumber Co., 459 Armstrong-av, played an important part in furnishing materials for the new Hilltop medical building at Algonquin and Broad.

They furnished all the lumber and special mill work.

They carry a complete line of building supplies, including lumber, storm sash, storm doors, and any kind of special millwork.

Six persons are employed in the office, including A. D. Rodgers, Stafford Rodgers, Ted Zick, Boyd Marmon, R. L. Todd, Marie Schaer.

The company slogan is "The finest in wood products."

The last 65 square miles of light in central Europe went out last week. Liechtenstein, little principality between Switzerland and Germany, ordered a blackout at last. Her government feared, as Switzerland has, that her neutrality might be endangered if belligerent bombers should use the Liechtenstein lights as a guide to their targets.

"When Winter Comes Again"

Leaves are falling in clusters.
All foliage is turning brown.
Winter'll soon be with us.
Covering all parts of the town.

Covering all parts of the country.
None can escape its grip.
With a fright mean is this temperate zone
It makes an annual trip.

'Tis time to be industrious,
Tack shingles on your shack
Winter's surely coming, there's no way
To hold it back.

Did you save your money,
Or foolishly throw it away?
The sun will look awful dreary
Ninety million miles away.

Leaves are falling in clusters.
Winter is coming soon.
There'll be snow upon the hillside
And ice on each lagoon.

Remember the pleasant summer
When winter has passed away.
June'll atone in this temperate zone
For many a stormy day.

Things I've Learned

Ralph Jacobs is back from the woods of Ontario with a good catch of deer and bear . . . Almeda Parker has a pen pal in England. A letter dated Nov. 5 says the morale of the British is much improved. German planes shot down are placed on exhibition and the proceeds are used to buy supplies for the soldiers . . . Arthur Corn, local insurance man, believes a half of rabbit is better than no rabbit. He came in this week with half a bunny—the other portion stopped too much lead . . . Cliff Rice was in town over the week-end. Reports his rural electrification project now has 6000 homes booked for wiring . . . Ed Weaver and the Howard Dellingers both sport shiny new automobiles . . . An increase is expected at the Line Price household in Groveport. (Yep. It's of the canine variety) . . .

This and That

Howard Powell has been nursing a painful molar since Sunday . . . Eileen Griggs, of this office, is a patient at Mt. Carmel hospital under observation for appendicitis . . . Suz Cleveland was initiated into Alpha Chi last week . . . Mr. and Mrs. E. Weller and daughter of 124 S. Brinker-av will move to Cleveland tomorrow . . . A. H. Hill Appliance Shop is the first of a long list of Hills in the new phone book . . . The W. connected with our moniker stands alone in the new book . . . Cap Hoover picks very interesting wedding gifts, we're told . . . Dr. J. N. Wolfe and Dan Kavanaugh are vieing for the honor of seeing who can recite the most poems. Recently they added singing to the competition. We can imagine the competition must be awful close . . . Mrs. W. E. DeVol and daughters are on a ship headed back to the U. S. from the Orient where they had recently gone with Doctor DeVol. He will remain to carry out his work in a Chinese hospital as planned . . . Art Bellar will leave for New York in a few days where he will confer with other Republican bigwigs on the fate of the Willkie future . . . Clyde Good insists he shot the most of the rabbits on a recent hunting expedition.

Ed House, principal at Starling Junior High, tells of receiving the following letter in his office recently:

Dear Mr. Principal;

Please don't whip our Philbert in school on account of he's very delicate. We never strike him at home except in self defense.

Very truly yours;

P. S. Anyway it makes a good yarn doesn't it Ed?

Cowboys To Meet Academy

The opening gun of the 1940-41 basketball season will be fired when the West High Cowboys engage the Columbus Academy quintet in the first official game of the season, scheduled to begin at 3:30 Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 10, in the West gym.

In preparation for the Academy encounter and to give the boys of '25 and '30 a chance to show the public that the younger generation is not as good as it once was," the West varsity and reserve will meet the alumni tonight at West. The reserve game, which will get under way at 7:30, will feature the older grads in a tussle with the "scrubs" and should prove a very interesting game. Immediately following, the Cowboy varsitymen will take the floor against some of the recently graduated West court stars, including Richey, Spears, Weigand, Curtis, and others.

Starting Line-up Named

Coach George Williams has named the starting line-up for tonight as: at forwards, Tom Dean, reserve of last year, and Bud Maxwell, letter man; at center, "Duck" Ucker, letterman and all-high star; at guard, Dave Wills, up from last year's reserves, will occupy one post, while either Dick Smith, letter man, or Geo. Ours, recruit from '39-'40 reserves, will start the game at the other.

Jake Richards, star basketball and baseball player, will be out of the picture for an indefinite period of time due to a shoulder injury.

After the varsity game is finished and the old grads are sufficiently rested, the dance sponsored by the Alumni association will get under way. George Hardy, president of the association, has secured the "Ohioans" band, directed by a former West High student, to furnish the melodies.

Arthur Bellar To Attend N. Y. Convention

Arthur J. Bellar, 326 Algonquin-av, recently received an invitation from Oren J. Root jr., head of the Willkie Clubs of America, to attend a convention in New York City some time this month.

The purpose of the meeting, according to Bellar, will be to discuss plans for a 1944 campaign. It is thought that Wendell Willkie will be elected president of the new political group and Oren J. Root jr., secretary.

Bellar will represent the Willkie organization of this locality.

There'll Be A Hot Time In The Old Town Tuesday Night

Come one, come all.

There'll be a great time, kids, Tuesday evening at West High school with a double-barelled program and a pile of fun.

The occasion—the annual election of officers of the Hilltop Business Men's association and the annual football banquet sponsored by the association in honor of a record-making West High football team.

The place—West High cafeteria.

The time—6:30 p. m.

Following the customary excessive consumption of roast turkey and cranberry sauce and a general loosening of belts there will be talks by Rev. James Thomas of the Broad-st M. E. church and Coach George Williams.

The "Shrine Picadores," string instrument orchestra, (we were lucky to get 'em, Herb Deems said) will display their musical wares.

Then, the event of the year for business men up here on the hill—the election of officers.

John Riepenhoff, dry cleaner at 2532 Sullivant-av, and L. E. Saunders of Shank and Saunders, 2459 W. Broad-st, will tear hair for chief executive post.

Other nominees are: First vice-president, W. H. Jones and Curtis Roberts; second vice-president, Joe Briggs and Alvie Nafzger; secretary, C. H. Campbell; treasurer, C. G. Wilcox; directors, Mrs. C. H. Detamore, Mrs. Harriett Huff, W. H. Coulthard, Dr. E. E. McNamee, E. L. Skipper and Clarence Story.

Chairman of the committee in charge of the blowout is H. G. Deems, who is assisted by Ray Hauntz and Lou Saunders.

Between 250 and 300 people will waddle home after the event, it is thought.

Hilltop Is Potential Cat Market

Fred Completes Year in Office

Tuesday night will mark the close of a year as president of the Hilltop Business Men's association for Fred Sulzberger.

This has been a busy year for the Hilltop's stormy petrol. In addition to his job as head man in the B. M. A., he has been active as usual with the Shrine musicians and has served as eleventh ward Democratic committeeman.

Rumor has it that Fred will be a candidate for city council, come next primary. One thing can be said in advance—he'll put plenty of steam into his campaign if he runs.

This Old Order Doesn't Change

One day this week I happened in at Broad-Hague Hardware when the Rausch boys were unpacking a shipment of goods just arrived, and among other things was a group of old-fashioned "chambers."

But the boys remind me that these articles are not as old-fashioned as they once were. One of the major improvements is a silencer on the handle. No more disturbing commotion if the handle drops in the dark hours of night.

Inquiry reveals that there is quite a demand for chambers, and they come in an assortment of sizes.

I was reminded of my friend Hank Harper, down in Warm Springs, Ga., who has written a lengthy piece of verse entitled "Chamber Music." I recommend it to Esther Weakley and her verse writers.

REHEARSAL POSTPONED

The John Burroughs Mothersingers' rehearsal will be postponed until after Christmas. The next meeting will be held Jan. 9.

Concerned About Ducks In Park

Considerably perturbed over the plight of the ducks at Westgate park, "Just A Neighbor" wrote the following letter to the editors for publication:

I am writing you in reference to those little pets out here in Westgate park, the ducks. I live close by and there are days when they don't get much to eat, if anything, as the city never gives them anything to eat and all they get is just what friends take there and some days that is very little.

Another thing, there is no shelter for them at all and on those cold rainy days it was just pitiful as the lake was nearly frozen over except for a little space around the fountain.

I think they should be moved to wherever they intend to keep them this winter or fix a shelter for them and provide feed and someone to feed them.

I know you have done many kind things for us on the Hilltop and I trust you will see that someone looks after these dear little ducks.

CARD OF THANKS

May I express our sincere thanks to our friends for their kindness in the illness and death of our husband and father; Dr. Clarence Fry for his more than four years of every effort to keep him with us, Rev. Shellhaas, Rev. P. E. Swope (former Hilltop pastor) for their beautiful and comforting talks, Mrs. C. W. Walton for the lovely music, and all the beautiful flowers, especially the gorgeous spray from our neighbors, The Born Funeral Home for their excellent service and Mr. McKunsey and Floyd Born's other assistants for the arrangement of flowers at church, the Columbus Retail Grocers Association for turning out in a body, and the pall-bearers.

"I Love The Snow and Rain"

Poets sing of beautiful weather
When nature is in tune
The pleasure of being together
And clover knee deep in June
They speak of birds and flowers
Eagles soaring in the sky
Rustic cottage and leafy bower
Fleecy clouds floating by.

My feelings I can't understand
You will doubt when I explain
I love the wind and shifting sand
And the beautiful snow and rain
I couldn't stand all days alike
I like the change of weather
I like the waves along the dike
Snow birds of every feather.

I never lived in a stylish mansion
Viewing rain through a window pane
I couldn't hazard doubtful expansion
I toiled in the snow and rain
I love summer birds and flowers
But this thought I can't restrain
Give me the cottage and icy bowers
And the beautiful snow and rain.

The Spectator
By C. C. Hartley

The Independents Deserve a Hand

Frankly, we do not look with favor on the increasing number of chain stores on the Hilltop.

Right away there may be those who will say we arrive at this position because we get no chain store business but such is not so. We have had chain store business and probably will have more. At least our columns are open to all business providing they pay for their space.

But our real reasons for looking with disfavor on the chains and super markets is tied in directly with something that has gone to make up a spirit of community cooperation that has always been shown on the Hilltop in a greater degree than in any other section of the city.

Since the beginning of this fine community it has been served by an excellent group of independent merchants who have stood up for everything that has been good for the development of all its worth while institutions, including churches, schools, lodges, organizations and clubs. They have constantly taken the initiative in sponsoring improvements that have benefitted every home owner.

Their money has come from this community and has gone back into this community. They have provided employment for local people. They have offered services and assistance before the advent of the chains and after their arrival . . . services and assistance that the chains will never provide. These independent merchants have been close to the pulse of the community. They have always been available when needed. These things cannot be said for the chain stores.

So, when you are ready to make your weekly purchases, remember these things. Your dollar spent with a chain store is not returning its full value to your community . . . and the value of your home, the progress of your home community as a place in which to live depend on the strengthening of your local independent merchant.

The Christmas Spirit Catches

Comes that season of the year when the Christmas spirit is catching. Each day the fever goes a little higher. Each day brings new signs of its closeness.

These are days and evenings filled with all those good things that go with Christmas . . .

Christmas carols . . . the story of the Nut Cracker . . . fruit cake . . . plum pudding . . . "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus." . . . "The Night Before Christmas" . . . heavily laden mail men delivering greeting cards and packages . . . fancy and beautiful gift wrappings . . . bells, holly and mistletoe . . . bright lights of Santa Claus Lane . . . stockings before an open fireplace . . . electric trains . . . the yule log . . . old friends jolly well met again . . . Scrooge, Morley and Tiny Tim . . . Shepherds and the Star of Bethlehem . . . these are the joys of Christmas.

Barber Is The Word

New, red, green and wine leather upholstered chairs in a reclining position are the latest addition to Budd's Barber Shop to provide comfort for their patrons. Harold Reed, new owner of the shop, figures it this way . . . his customers are people who work for a living and are tired when they stop in to get their shave or hair cut and so he has taken this means to add to their comfort.

Reed, by the way, has been with the shop 14 years. The shop itself has been in that spot for 28 years. J. L. Vaughn of Grove City is Reed's other barber.

Scouting Takes Forward Steps

Best proof of the activity of Scouting on the Hilltop is contained in a story elsewhere in today's Record in which 14 boys of the Southwest district are announced to receive the Eagle award at ceremonies on Sunday.

These boys are to be congratulated for their fine work. The small amount of time and energy is spent in becoming eligible for this coveted award. Two years ago two local boys received the honor, last year five received it. This year the 14 who are receiving it serve to show how well Scouting is taking hold in this community.

14 Hilltop Scouts To Get Eagle Award

Included among the nearly 80 candidates from all parts of Central Ohio who will be honored this Sunday afternoon, Dec. 15, for their scouting achievements at the fifth annual council-wide Court of Honor ceremonial at Memorial hall will be 14 Hilltop Boy Scouts who will receive the Eagle award and who compose the largest group ever to be so honored in the Southwest district, representing well over a hundred percent increase over last year.

The following scouts will be given the Eagle award Sunday: Bill Barnes, troop 161; Dean Barnes, troop 172; George Bradford, troop 161; Joe Case, troop 161; Jody Gram, troop 45; Ernest Dahlen, troop 161; Jimmy Jones, troop 172; Bill Liday, troop 161; Bob Logan, troop 161; Don Murphy, troop 161; Cecil Pilani, troop 161; Ted Scharenberg, troop 161; Stanley Taylor, troop 45, and Rudy Willer, troop 22.

A half-hour band concert by the Franklin post No. 1, American Legion band, under the direction of Alphonse Cincione, will open the program. Members of the Katinonkwat lodge, Order of the Arrow, national brotherhood of Boy Scout honor campers, will conduct the opening color ceremonies and act as ushers.

Scoutmasters and mothers will escort their boys forward to receive their rank of Eagle Scout, the highest award that a scout may earn.

Following this, there will be a colored sound movie entitled "The Scouting Trail to Citizenship." Scouts advancing to lesser ranks will be recognized for their achievements and the usual quarterly District Court of Honor will not be held.

S. W. District Scouters to Meet

Scouters and parents of Cubs and Scouts will take part in the annual advancement banquet and meeting, to be held tonight at 6:30 at Schmelzer's restaurant.

Officers will be elected and reports of the achievements of the year 1940 will be made. The 14 newly honored Scouts will be guests on the occasion.

Col. Lynn Black, head of the State Highway patrol, will be the principal speaker.

Hilltop Men Sign Up For Home Guard

Several Hilltop men, prominent in civic affairs, who formerly belonged to the Ohio National Guard, recently signed cards saying they are interested in helping form units of the Ohio Home Guard, it was announced by Adjt. Gen. Gilson D. Light.

Such men, according to General Light, would form the nucleus of the new home guard group, providing the legislature authorizes the new organization.

Among Hilltop persons signing up were Arthur J. Bellar, 326 Algonquin-av; Noble Allen, 2586 W. Broad-st; Emile Reiss, 304 N. Roys-av; Howard R. Davis, 803 Richardson-av; Harry C. Downing, 2650 Eakin-rd; Frank A. Horch, 333 S. Eureka-av; James E. O'Neal, Harris-av; Joseph W. Rolley, 588 S. Warren-av; and Raymond L. Wagner, 681 Highland-av.

Republicans To Honor Judge Turner

Judge Edward C. Turner

Judge Edward C. Turner, 4309 W. Broad-st, will be the guest of honor at the regular meeting of the Eleventh Ward Republican club to be held Tuesday, Dec. 17, in the VFW hall, 2393½ W. Broad-st, at 8 p. m.

The public is invited to attend the meeting, where entertainment will be furnished by the Hilltop School of Music.

On Nov. 5, Judge Turner was elected judge of the supreme court by a large majority. He was prosecuting attorney for Franklin county from 1911 to 1915 and attorney general for the state of Ohio from 1915 to 1917 and from 1927 to 1929.

Later he was appointed to fill a vacancy on the bench of the Ohio supreme court by Governor Bricker.

The Spirit of Christmas Invades the Community

The Hilltop is running over with the Christmas spirit this year. As ever, merchants have stocked their shelves with the most attractive of Christmas wares, the newest and best of everything.

Shoppers are already responding to the words of wisdom, "buy now before it is too late."

Candy stores and pastry shops are feverishly preparing to fill those orders for Christmas "goodies" which will be flooding in within the next few days. Hundreds of Christmas trees fill Hilltop storerooms with their pungent north woods scent.

Decked in all their splendor, others have already brought immeasurable joy to a thousand children in the community.

The barren lamp posts lining W. Broad-st and Sullivant-av have taken on a garb of Christmas finery. On each post a jolly, red-jowled Santa Claus peeks impishly out over a graceful fir tree.

Glittering, multi-colored lights flash forth their message of joy from the store fronts which border the Hilltop's two bustling thoroughfares.

Churches and schools have long since made their plans for cantatas, plays and carol sings. Most of the programs will be presented in tinsel-decked rooms on the evenings immediately preceding the great day.

Intent on making the season a joyous one for one and all, civic groups, church organizations and women's societies are gathering in food, clothing and toys to be distributed to those who are in less fortunate circumstances.

The joy of the season seems to have infected everyone and all indications point to a very, very Merry Christmas on the Hilltop.

Buck Quintet To Meet Wellston

The West High Cowboys will try for their third straight win of the current season, when they oppose the Wellston quintet on the home floor tomorrow evening, the reserve game beginning at 7:30.

Academy Routed, 66-21

Paced by the skillful play of "Duck" Ucker, the West High basketball team won its second game, overpowering the Columbus Academy quintet by the score of 66 to 21 Tuesday afternoon in the West gym.

The Cowboys, exhibiting some of the best ball handling and team cooperation that has been seen on the local court in some time, were never in trouble at any time. The first team was relieved by the varsity reserves, who also played excellent ball, after the first-stringers had run the score up 40-odd points in the first half.

Frank Marshall, sophomore forward, turned in a fine performance, racking up 14 points on seven goals, second only to Ucker's sensational scoring spree. The latter scored 10 goals and connected on five foul shots.

Alumni Bested

In the opening game of the season with the alumni, last Friday, the West Cowboys had no little trouble in managing to eke out a victory over the grads, for whom Frank Richey and Chuck Weigand tossed in most of the points. The final score of the thriller was 39 to 38 in favor of the West team.

Has Pants Trouble

The alumni came in handy in the Academy game, to Bud Maxwell, big West guard. It seemed that Bud just could not fit into any of the flashy pants owned by the athletic department, and when the pair ordered by George Williams over two weeks ago failed to arrive, the search for a fitting pair went on. Finally an alumni member built along similar lines to Maxwell was found, his trunks borrowed, and Bud entered the game against Academy in his well-fitting, but not so flashy pants, to score six points in the Cowboys' smashing win.

L. E. Saunders

"The only reason I agreed to stand for the office was that John Riepenhoff, my opponent, promised me that he would beat me. Now look what he's done to me," said Saunders after the results of the election were announced. "However, I'll do my best," he added.

Saunders is associated with Shank and Saunders, insurance agency.

Mary Ann Bunner Rates Spread In Life Magazine

Mary Ann Bunner, 44 N. Brinker-av, who was an unsuccessful candidate for election as Ohio State's homecoming queen recently, rated a two page spread in Life magazine, issue of Dec. 9.

Headlines read "Mary Ann Bunner Loses After Game Try In Ohio's 'Homecoming Queen' Election." Life attributes her defeat to the "complexities of the electoral system" which bracketed Miss Bunner with other candidates who did not share her popularity.

Asserting that Miss Bunner put on by far the liveliest campaign in the primaries, Life also said this of her: "Last fall Mary Ann Bunner launched her campaign for election almost as soon as college began. Her gay smile appeared everywhere. Her pert figure bounced across the pages of campus publications. Her publicity triumphs were audacious and immense."

In the two page layout of Miss Bunner and her campaign colleagues were included 10 pictures.

Hilltop Woman Tells of Experiences In the Orient

Nearly Lost Husband Who Was Arrested For Carrying German Passport

By Jean Louise Young
Margaret Louise More

"He is an Austrian born in Egypt; traveled on a German passport; married an American girl; and speaks fluent French," says Mrs. Guggenaster, 96 S. Wayne-av, of her husband whom she met during her 16-year stay in the Orient.

When the present war seemed inevitable the Guggenasters immediately started for America. There was little trouble leaving Egypt. "I guess they were glad to get rid of us," smiled the little lady. In French waters Mr. Guggenaster was arrested for carrying a German passport. After he had thoroughly explained that he was not interested in military affairs and that his only concern was to "get out of here," he was released. He was detained for six hours.

"I never passed such anxious hours in all my life, and hope I never will again," said Mrs. Guggenaster of the trying experience.

Commenting on the people of Egypt, Mrs. Guggenaster said, "Of the three tribes in Egypt, Coptic, Mohammedan and Moslem, the Coptic is the only one to celebrate Christ's birthday; the rest celebrate the Feast of the Phophets. The Coptics have a Christmas tree just as we do. They erect little tents and cover them with sugar cakes and dolls to sell."

"The Alexandrians," she continued, "dressed in gaudy array, fast from sunrise to sunset, then proceed to gorge themselves and suffer accordingly, sometimes fatally."

Home-made cakes tasted mighty good to our charming hostess, after eating Alexandrian cakes of wheat held together with mutton fat and honey. The most prominent feast day meat is lamb.

Mr. and Mrs. Guggenaster reside at 96 S. Wayne-av. Madelaine, their young daughter, will have one candle on her birthday cake this Christmas day.

SUGGESTS
Glasses For Good Eyesight
Eyesight is a gift that we often take for granted . . . and we do not take care of until it's too late. In some of these cases in later years it means blindness. It is a pity that we do not take care of our eyes and have them examined more often by a reliable optician.

Westgate Electric Store Is Filled With Xmas Gifts

If you're planning to buy electrical gifts this Christmas you can find no more complete display of merchandise than at Westgate Electric Shop, 2655 W. Broad-st, Ohio's largest electrical store. You will be dazzled by the colorful appearance of the store in all of its holiday dress.

Gifts electrical offer such a wide range of selection both from the standpoint of price and practical use. There is a gift for every member of the family in the price field you desire. If it's a long lasting gift you want for the entire family nothing is more appropriate than a Westinghouse or General Electric refrigerator starting as low in price as $118.75. It's a present that all will enjoy for years to come.

Mother may need an Easy or a Blackstone washer. They're priced this year as low as $49.95. Or if you want something especially nice, get her the Bendix home laundry, fully automatic from start to finish, at $159.50 and $179.50. An electric range will set off any kitchen and make cooking a pleasure. She can select either a Westinghouse or Hotpoint as low as $99.95.

Estate gas ranges are the latest thing in their field. Prices range from $69.95 up to $155.00.

For home entertainment you can't beat a radio and the way they are equipped this year they are doubly good investments. The new Philco line with record player that plays records by a beam of light instead of a needle is positively amazing. Completely automatic, they are priced from $129.95 up. Other console models as low as $95. The General Electric line starts as low as $69.95. For the car you can get a Motorola for as little as $24.95. Others as high as $69.95.

If you are getting the combination radio and phonograph set or already have one in your home you will find no gift more appreciated than an album of records. The Victor albums start at $3.50, others as low as $1.50. Single records in Decca and Blue Bird sell for 35c or 3 for $1.

Dad or brother will be thrilled by a new Sunbeam electric razor at $7.50 or $15.95. The Remington Rand comes in models from $12.50 to $17.50. Electric irons are always practical presents and Westgate Electric offers three leading lines — Westinghouse, Sunbeam and General Electric at $2.50 to $8.95.

Sunbeam fully automatic coffee makers sell for $16.00 with glass coffeemakers as low as $2.45. There's a dandy new Sunbeam waffle iron on the market this year. It makes the equivalent of four ordinary waffles all at one time and is adjustable to any baking condition desired. Westinghouse irons are as low as $4.95.

If your home needs a new sweeper you should inspect the Royal and Westinghouse lines. They sell from $39.95 to $49.95.

Chase ware nicknacks are such individual presents. There is almost anything you desire in prices from 50c to $5. The assortment contains ash trays, candy boxes, mint dishes, salad bowls, etc.

You can brighten up any room of the home with new modern lighting fixtures. Living room fixtures are from $4.95 up and bedroom lights from 95c to $5.

Your Food Dollar Is Important To The Hilltop

WHETHER you are buying a plump turkey or a pound of hamburger the money you spend is important to your community. Summer or winter, spring or fall your food dollar goes to supply your table with the best you are able to provide. Don't be misled in doing your food shopping. An item of food is only worth what the seller guarantees it to be. A pound of hamburger is not just a pound of hamburger over anybody's counter. The item of quality is an ALL ESSENTIAL one. Your Independent Grocer sells QUALITY. He sells SERVICE and still further he GUARANTEES both.

YOUR neighbor, the Independent Grocer, is best equipped and most interested in serving you with the finest foods your grocery dollar can buy. He has staked his reputation and his entire business on that premise because he counts on that factor to keep his customers coming b a c k again and again.

His investment in business has added to the progress of the Hilltop because it was he who first pioneered the grocery field at a time when others did not have confidence in the future of this community. He has had a part in promoting every worthwhile civic project that has made the Hilltop one of the most desirable communities in Columbus. He helped to bring better schools; fought f o r improvement of city streets; insisted on parks and playgrounds and generally took the initiative in getting the best there was available for the Hilltop.

"Help the man who has helped make the community—your independent grocer."

URGES PARENTS, TEACHERS TO OBSERVE HEALTH DAY

Mrs. C. Tracy LaCost, president, Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers, Inc., is urging all parents and schools in the community to cooperate on plans for observing School Health day, Dec. 13.

Since the theme for School Health day in 1940 is child growth Mrs. LaCost comments: "Parents and teachers must conceive of child growth as more than development in height and weight. Growth must be related to general health, social adjustment, skills and safety."

"Increase Your Talents"

The greatest poets we've ever known,
Are absolutely deaf to tone
They cannot sing one line of song
Although their poems thrill the throng
The greatest actors we've ever seen
Upon the stage or on the screen
In finest theatres or cinemas report
Can't paint out of work report.
[illegible]
Facts haven't the talent to sing
Actors hire managers to keep their time
Although their actions [illegible]
We're all alike in that respect
We each have faults easy to detect
If only one talent you possess
That should bring real happiness.
Employ your talents every hour
Or they'll wilt like a blighted flower
Increase one talent to eight or nine
Then you're adopting teachings divine
Idleness will surely cause decay
Don't let them wither and fade away
They may lie dormant waiting for you
To wisely choose a course that's new.

Seely's Store Filled With Gifts

One of the gift buying centers of the West Side is Seely's Hardware, 1185 W. Broad-st, the West Side's oldest hardware store. A large array of toys will attract the eye of kiddies of every age.

Billy and Ruth toy books, distributed last week, list hundreds of playthings for every age boy and girl. Every child has an opportunity to enter the big prize contest being offered by Billy and Ruth. Last year several West Side and Hilltop youngsters received handsome prizes for their efforts.

In the more durable gift items for adults one can select from the three leading brands of electric razors. There is the Shick Shaver priced at $9.95, $12.50 and $15.00; the Sunbeam Shavemaster at $7.50 and $15.00; and the Remington Rand at $7.50 and $15.00. If it's a toaster you want you can select from the complete Toastmaster line ranging in price from $7.50 to $16.50. Other electric toasters are as low as $1.19. Waffle irons, too, make ideal gifts and there is a wide selection to choose from.

In the higher priced merchandise there are dozens of models of Philco, RCA Victor and Zenith radios ranging from little table models to the deluxe sizes with record players attached. Then there is an ABC washer special just gotten out in time for Christmas, at $59.95 and a big six and one-half cubic foot Kelvinator electric refrigerator for $149.95. And that isn't half of the story. You'll have to shop the store to realize what a selection is available. Seely's are open each evening until 9 o'clock from now until Christmas.

Mrs. Wagnitz Learned Millinery Business From Foundation Up

"On the whole women's hats aren't any more outlandish looking today than they have ever been," says Mrs. John A. Wagnitz, milliner on S. Wayne-av for the past five years. Mrs. Wagnitz has seen lots of hat styles come and go over a number of years and, in her opinion, every season brings something fine and lovely in women's hats.

There is one thing, however, that she can't get used to and that is this business of running the seasons together. "You can buy your spring hat at Christmas time now," she said, "and people begin to think of fall millinery in early July. People didn't use to do that," she added.

Hats and personalities always go together, according to Mrs. Wagnitz. In other words a hat that looks hideous on one individual may look very fine on another.

"If a customer doesn't look good in a hat I tell her so," she declared, "and that is why I've been able to keep my customers and build my trade." A satisfied customer is the best advertisement, she feels. "I've been in the game for so long," she said, "I know just about how to handle them and please them."

For four years Mrs. Wagnitz had her shop at 11 S. Wayne-av. Then she closed up business during 1939 in order to care for her husband. Associated with the Frankenberger Co., Columbus paper box concern, for approximately 40 years, Mr. Wagnitz became critically ill in late 1939. He died Oct. 9.

"I had to make a living then," said Mrs. Wagnitz, "so I went back into the only business I knew." Since February she has been located at 16 S. Wayne-av, across the street from her old location.

Born in Lancaster, O., Mrs. Wagnitz attended the public schools there. After graduation from high school she entered the employ of the E. E. Becker Co., dry goods and millinery establishment. Here she spent 10 years learning the millinery trade from the ground up.

"In those days," she said, "work rooms were more necessary than they are now. Now most hats come already trimmed."

Mrs. Wagnitz has one son, John H. Wagnitz, who resides at 2290 Pomona-av. He is an attorney with offices in the A. I. U. building and also teaches law and public speaking at Ohio State universty night school.

Mrs. Wagnitz has been a resident of the Hilltop for about 26 years.

Night Classes To Be Held At OSU For National Defense

Night classes to prepare young men for national defense positions will be started at Ohio State university within the next two or three weeks.

Applications for enrollment are now being received by Howard C. Ginn, assistant university examiner, at the entrance board office in the administration building, according to Professor Harry E. Nold in charge of the program.

Courses now planned include drafting or engineering drawing, machine design, tool and die design, production engineering, and production supervision. Others will be added as the need develops.

Ever Hot Roaster

- Easier Cooking
- Easier Living

With the Automatic

Everhot Electric Roaster

Requires no special installation, needs only wall-outlet convenience. A complete meal for 4 to 20 people, consisting of meat, potatoes, vegetables and pudding, can be cooked at the same time and at a surprisingly low cost. Cooking is done with much less water than in flame stove cooking. No water with roasts and only a small amount of water with vegetables. Vegetables retain their healthful vitamins, flavor, color and nutritive values. Meats cook in their own juices with less shrinkage. The tough meat cuts are made tender.

Novel Toys On Display At Seiller's

Novel among the huge number of toys on display at Seiller's toyland this year is the large doll house measuring 42 inches in length. It looks like a complete doll home with two full stories, including all the features of a modern home. A complete outfit of doll furniture is designed to furnish every room of the house.

As usual, electric trains will take the eye of most boys and there is a large selection of American Flyer models with all that goes with them. Military toys will be especially popular with the boys and there is an endless number of toy soldiers, army tanks, anti-aircraft guns, battleships, trucks, tanks and first aid stations.

Dart games and target games are popular with both boys and girls as well as grownups. There are designs in everything imaginable.

"Mama" dolls have been in public favor for several years but this year dolly has added "papa" to her vocabulary.

Seiller's, located at 2404 W. Broad-st, will be open each evening until 9 p. m. from now until Christmas. Santa Claus appears in person each day at the store from 2 to 3 and from 6:30 until 7:30.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was received from "Woody" Owens, Hilltop sports enthusiast, who has selected an all-high school football team on the basis of individual performance of players in the City league.

Sir:

Since the conclusion of the football season, I have spent much time considering the qualifications of football players from the various high schools of the city.

My selections for an all-High team have not been based on favoritism.

LE—Charles Snyder (W)—Finest pass receiver in the league and a good blocker and tackler. Tied for scoring leadership of the league.

LT—William Willis (E)—Finest tackle in the league. Enough said.

LG—William Craig (W)—Led interference on defensive and was a stone wall on defense.

Center—Elmo Koons (W)—His very consistent work was overlooked by most of those who selected all-High teams.

RG—Les Brandenberger (W)—One of the finest guards ever to represent the local institution.

RT—Nick Pollini (C)—His inspiring play was the making of the Riversiders' forward wall.

RE—Robert Ford (N)—One of the finest all-around players in central Ohio.

QB—Phil Drake (N)—A very speedy and elusive ball toter.

LH—Dan Brown (W)—One of the best running backs I have seen in many a year.

RH—Aquinas senior—a great triple threat star. Finest broken field runner in the league.

F—Bob Louis (N)—This 208-pound giant literally tore opponents' lines to shreds.

Honor Queen

Other new officers installed are Senior Princess, Irene Ramsey; Junior Princess, Jacqueline Dean; Guide, Harriet Englehard; Marshal, Marjorie Benton; Outer Guard, Wanda Hummell; Inner Guard, Rose Findeis; Librarian, Mary Turner; Recorder, Barbara Newlon; chaplain, Margaret Thomas; Treasurer, Lois Jean Ray; First Messenger, Ella Marie Hulls; Second Messenger, Betty Shoemaker; Third Messenger, Jacqueline Garner; Fourth Messenger, Helen Kuntz; Fifth Messenger, Helen Robertson; Senior Custodian, Betty Lee Hall; Junior Custodian, Audrey Waddington; Musician, Marjorie Robertson.

The Burgess Avenue girls' choir directed by Mrs. Edward Thomas sang two songs as part of the program.

Miss Jean Louise Young sang two solos for the new queen.

Home Construction Is Up 39 Per Cent

Residential construction throughout the nation in September was 39 per cent better than in September, 1939, and represented a 3 per cent increase over August this year economists of the Federal Home Board reported recently.

The construction index for September was 54.3 as contrasted with 51.8 for August and 39.1 for September, 1939. In each instance, the year 1926 was taken for the base of 100.

In September, 30,304 units were built or projected, at a cost of $109,357,000. This considerably exceeded August, when 29,089 units were reported costing $99,136,500. In September a year ago there were 21,740 units costing $79,337,100.

In the first nine months of this year, 230,407 housing units were provided at a cost of $818,854,600 as compared with 209,966 units costing $761,769,800 in the same period of 1939.

First Class Scouts Usually Progress

Editor's note: The second in a series of descriptions of the requirements which Boy Scouts must meet for advancement through various classes is herewith presented:

Boy Scouts who are to be advanced to the rank of First Class are boys to be sincerely congratulated. The Scouts who attain this rank, as it turns out, are the ones who stay in the troop and progress to the higher ranks in Scouting.

A Scout to be advanced to the rank of First Class must have become proficient in the following: 50 yard swim, thrift, signaling, 14 mile hike, First Aid, Cooking, Map Making, Handicraft, Judging, Nature, and Living the Scout Oath and Law.

It is to be noted that several of these requirements are similar to those for Second Class, but the knowledge is much more comprehensive and the skills much greater.

MEMORIES

Memories are dreams
Of bygone days
And bring sad thoughts
In many ways.

Our childhood days
Were very dear,
With neither a trouble,
Grief or fear.

We thought our future
Would be the same,
But in after years
Our troubles came.

Life can be pleasant
And worth-while
If we greet one another
With a smile.

Death is mysterious
And comes to us all.
God will understand
If we waver and fall.

Our life is guided by His hand
He is Captain of our boats, astrand,
If we lift the fallen man
We have done the best we can.
Harlow Cornell.

BLIND COLLECTOR

Yes, I collect old flasks. You think that strange,
Because you know I cannot see
Design and color. Ah, but close your eyes,
And let your fingers look at symmetry,
Or lack of it, for those old crooked ones
Will make you smile. They are so crude,
And pitted with an ancient pox.
But some
Show master craftsmanship, and are imbued
With jewel-like color. Hold this this to the light,
Deep amethyst, - I can recall
Such color on ripe grapes. This one is green,
Aqua, they say, like water, and this tall,
Smooth one is honey-amber. What a tint
To feed the soul, and light the darkened mind
With memory's flame. Though sight be lost, no dart
Is keen enough to strike the spirit blind.

PRAYER FOR LIFE

Dear God, give me courage
To face life, unafraid;
Give me strength to conquer
The evils man has made.

Dear Lord, give me judgment
To know the right from wrong;
Give me wisdom lasting
And faith to make me strong.

Father, give me talents
To serve both men and Thee;
Give me grace to follow
Thy Son, Who died for me.
—Jean Ett, Hilltop.

The Gospel Of Getting On

One of the most pleasant things that can happen to an employer is to have a young man come in and express his desire to get ahead . . . and express it in terms that do not mean he wants an immediate raise in pay. The pay raises will take care of themselves.

One day recently I had such an experience. It was not the first one and I hope not the last. And I find that the fellow who sincerely expresses himself thus has a way of getting along.

This young man put it this way, "I don't want to be just ordinary. I want to do a better job and advance myself." His inquiry was to determine what course it would be best for him to follow, his comments were enthusiastically received and I have every reason to believe he will do a fine job in his field.

I guess I must be a great devotee of the Gospel of Getting On, as expressed by George Bernard Shaw. He said,

"People are always blaming their circumstances for what they are. I don't believe in circumstances. The people who get on in the world are the people who get up and look for the circumstances they want, if they can't find them, make them!"

Looking Forward To Next Christmas

Hilltop merchants are to be complimented on the cooperation that made possible the decorations on West Broad street and Sullivant avenue. But we believe these decorations can be made more extensive another year if the program is planned far enough in advance.

We suggest to President-elect Lou Saunders that he appoint a committee to look into the possibility of such a program, the committee to start functioning right after the first of the year.

We believe a permanent committee of this type can work out a cooperative program that will produce some Christmas decorations for this community that will serve as one of the finest pieces of advertising the Hilltop has ever had.

West To Engage Chillicothe, Hamilton In Week-End Tilts

According to the popular song hit, "Practice Makes Perfect," Coach George Williams' hard-riding Cowboys should be going smoothly when the city loop games start.

After tomorrow night the Westeners will have played seven games during a two week period. Tonight they will engage the Chillicothe quintet (there) and tomorrow evening will travel to Hamilton for a tilt with that team.

Lose To Springfield

Tuesday evening the Bucks were corralled by the Springfield Wildcats on the short end of a 42 to 30 score. Richards, who has been out of the previous games due to a shoulder injury, was back at forward and led the local scorers with seven points.

The Newark St. Francis game last Friday evening turned out to be a hard fought contest in which Bud Maxwell and Dick Ucker did yeoman work, scoring 23 of the 27 points that the locals garnered in winning the game, 27 to 20.

In their game with Wellston, the Cowboys had little trouble scoring, the second team playing most of the game, which West won by overpowering the boys from the hill-country, 59 to 13.

Ucker, last year's all-high cage star, continued on his way to a repeat performance by adding enough points to his total in the Newark and Wellston games to move him up to second place in the city scoring race.

The West team was rated by most city experts as the first-ranking contender for the city championship before their defeat at the hands of the Springfield team, and their defeat leaves the city loop void of any undefeated teams.

Hilltop Men To Sail Seas

Included among the 82 members of the U. S. Naval reserves who left Columbus Tuesday morning for active service on Uncle Sam's fleet were nine Hilltop men. They left Columbus for San Francisco where they will board the destroyer U. S. Kane, which will put to sea as a part of a special duty squadron.

Those who went from the Hilltop were Edwin T. Brownfield, 1089 Frank-rd; George T. Hamilton, 171 Lechner-av; James D. Hastings, 86 S. Ogden-av; Robert F. Hauser, 84 S. Huron-av; Melvin E. Hockman, 1963 Fairmont-av; Charles W. O'Donnell, 441 Nashobe-av; Byron L. Vance, 616 Larcomb-av; John Ward, 77 S. Oakley-av; and George Wilcraig, 2402 Sullivant-av.

R. R. Train Sold Through Record Want Ads

Even railroad trains can be sold through the Record want ad columns. Well, anyway, toy trains can.

Mrs. C. A. Dalby, 41 N. Wheatland-av, advertised in the last edition, offering a Lionel electric train set for sale.

"The calls started coming in before 8 o'clock Friday morning," said Mrs. Dalby, "and I sold the train by noon. On last report she had already received 25 calls and they were still coming in.

Hundreds of residents of the Hilltop find that they get equally satisfactory results by using the want ad columns.

Hilltop Couple To Celebrate 50th Wedding Annie.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Taylor, 104 S. Richardson-av, will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Dec. 25.

They will hold open house at their home on Christmas afternoon from three until five o'clock, and in the evening from 7:30 until ten o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have been residents of the Hilltop for the past 35 years. All of their children will be at home for the occasion.

VFW Launches Drive For New Members

Westway Post, VFW, has launched the annual membership drive with a goal of 100 new members by Apr. 1, according to R. G. Wilson, commander of the local post.

At the Tuesday evening meeting Commander Wilson appointed Past Commander G. M. Chambers, 109 N. Ogden-av, as membership chairman.

Chambers requests all former members and eligible ex-service men to contact him for information.

Council Committee Okehs Removal Of Sandusky-st Bottleneck

The long-awaited Sandusky-st bridge project, a vital link in a Hilltop boulevard which has been continually urged by civic groups on the Hilltop, was approved by a special council committee which met Monday afternoon.

The present program, in which city, county, state and federal governments will participate, involves the construction of a new Sandusky-st bridge, relocation of the new York Central tracks at the south of the span and the extension of McKinley-av from Souder-av to Sandusky-st.

The McKinley-av extension will do away with the double-jog at Davis-av.

The comprehensive, long-time program for the Hilltop boulevard would include, besides the Sandusky-st project, a new road forming a "Y" with McKinley-av and continuing west with an underpass at the Pennsylvania railroad to join Valleyview-dr, which now ends at Harper-dr, and the elimination of the dangerous, double-turn underpass on McKinley-av.

The realization of all three plans would make possible a free-flowing artery carrying traffic from cross streets on the Hilltop and down the north fringe of this community into the downtown section via the Sandusky-st bridge and Spring-st.

Such an artery would serve as a much-needed alternative to the Broad-st and Sullivant-av routes into the city.

According to City Engineer Paul W. Maetzel and County Engineer Allan C. Slade, the immediate Sandusky-st project will require two years for completion and will involve an estimated expenditure of $870,000.

The council committee recommended that legislation be drawn up after the first of the year providing for the ear-marking of approximately $50,000 in gas tax money to finance paving costs.

The huge project was conceived in response to demands for eliminating traffic tie-ups on Sandusky-st due to the passage of trains at the south end of the present structure.

Many Happy Times Are In Store For Inmates of Three Hilltop Institutions

Elaborate and bountiful tables filled with chicken and turkey, brown gravy and cranberry sauce, Christmas trees decked in all their gilded splendor, thousands of gaily wrapped gifts, and a general feeling of good will.

These are the things that await the inmates of the three state institutions located on the Hilltop, the Columbus State hospital, the Bureau of Juvenile Research and the Institution for the Feeble Minded.

State Hospital

Patients at the Columbus State hospital are again looking forward to enjoying a very merry Christmas. Each and every patient will receive gifts, cards, fruit and candy.

The institution will be festively decorated and there will be special entertainments and events daily until Jan. 4.

Patients receiving no gifts from friends or relatives will be given presents which have been donated by many charitable individuals. This has been the practice for the past several years, according to members of the supervisory staff.

Much of the scheduled entertainment has been made possible through the cooperation of local dancing schools, radio stations, orchestras, churches and other organizations.

The patients, themselves, will present the third annual Christmas pageant. The hospital choir will sing carols in the wards and provide special music for the Christmas and New Year services.

On Christmas day Santa Claus will visit the wards and cottages to distribute the hospital treat of oranges and candy.

On the morning of Christmas day mass will be held and at noon an elaborate Christmas dinner will be served.

In the evening Jorg Pasting will present a number of his pupils in a dance review as he has done for many years past.

Throughout the holiday season entertainment will be provided by Paul Decker and his orchestra, artists from stations WHKC, WBNS, WCOL, the Johnny Murphy School of Dancing and others.

The WPA colored dance orchestra will figure prominently in special entertainments provided by local booking agents and the Columbus WPA Concert Ensemble under the direction of D. Talmadge Crawshaw will present a program of Christmas music and assist with the music for the pageant.

Picture shows booked for the holiday seasons include such hits as "Balalaika," "Swiss Family Robinson," "Judge Hardy and Son" and "The Lady in Question." Cartoons and comedy films will accompany the main features.

Members of the hospital staff wish to express their thanks for the assistance given them by members of the community in making this season a happy one for the patients.

Institution for the Feeble Minded

"There will be gifts for every girl and boy in our institution at Christmas time," said Mrs. F. L. Keiser, wife of the superintendent of the Institution for the Feeble Minded. "Not only do we give them gifts but encourage them to give things to one another," she continued. "They love to do this."

In September the inmates began their letter writing, telling what things they wanted. The staff at the institution has endeavored to fulfill their wishes within limits, according to Mrs. Keiser.

On Sunday morning there will be Christmas services for both Catholics and Protestants. "On this day also the annual cantata will be presented by the inmates.

A roast turkey dinner with fruit cake, cranberry sauce and all the trimmings will be served on Christmas day. At 5 o'clock in the morning carolers will sing beneath the windows of the various cottages.

There is a gaily decorated Christmas tree in each of the 34 cottages on the institution grounds. Here gifts will be received and exchanged. Trucks full of gifts are still coming in from the outside.

Other gifts were purchased with money made from the sale of fancy work done by the inmates, themselves.

During the entire season small parties are being held in the various units of the several departments. On Friday, Dec. 27, the motion picture, "The Bluebird," will be presented.

Bureau of Juvenile Research

Due mostly to the efforts of a group of Columbus women who hold a bridge party annually for the benefit of the children at the Bureau of Juvenile Research, it will be possible for members of the staff to furnish each and every youngster who remains on the grounds during the Christmas season with two or three presents.

This year the benefit party was held on Dec. 11.

On Christmas day a turkey dinner with all the embellishments will be served. Each group will have a Christmas tree.

The children have long since decorated the walls and painted pictures in the mode of the season. "They will all be very happy here at Christmas time," said Dr. Bates, member of the staff, "and most of them will have a much better Christmas than they would have if they were at home."

Zelkoff To Construct New Restaurant

Thomas P. Zelkoff, proprietor of the Broad-Hague restaurant at 2762 W. Broad-st, has announced that he will construct a second unit in a proposed chain of Tom Thumb restaurants.

The new unit will be located at 1630 Neil-av, less than one block from the Ohio State university campus. Another unit is located at 23 N. Third-st.

Architects' plans for the Neil-av unit have been completed and construction will begin immediately. With the opening date scheduled for late in February, the new restaurant will feature the same excellence of food and service enjoyed by many regular Tom Thumb patrons, according to Zelkoff.

Restaurant Remodeled

The Broad-Hague restaurant was completely remodeled and redecorated recently. Considerably more space was made available by the remodeling operations.

Fluorescent lighting has been installed and seats and booths, newly arranged, can accommodate 70 persons.

Complete soda fountain service has been made available with the installation of a completely modern fountain.

The color scheme combines dusty rose with delicately tinted pastel green and ivory.

Hilltop Stores Open Evenings

Rev. Wold Tells of Ancient Yule Customs and Christmas In Norway

"Most of us who will attend our church to hear the 'Messiah' and other beautiful hymns and carols will, no doubt, believe that the Christmas spirit originated many years ago in the little town of Bethlehem of Judea with the birth of Christ in the manger," said Rev. Alfred J. Wold, pastor of the Hoge Memorial church, in a recent interview. "This is not entirely true, in that the observances or celebrations which were held on Dec. 25 by the Egyptians, the Anglo-Saxons, and others, were pagan in nature," he added.

Perhaps the celebration of the Yule by the Anglo-Saxons was the most interesting ceremony, in the light of the fact that our Christmas customs have largely evolved from these pagan observances. "Yule," the Anglo-Saxon word, originally meant "wheel" and the turning of the sun around the earth (as astronomers of that time believed) was celebrated by a ceremony, when the solstice, or return of the sun from the south, occurred. The Yule-fire which represented the heat and light that the sun would bring back to the country, and the Yule log used as a foundation of the fire has been retained as one of the important features of the English Christmas celebration.

The Christian missionaries from Rome who went into what is now England, France and Germany found this condition prevalent and diverted the people's enthusiasm for the Yule celebration into the observance of the birth of Christ. The original ceremonies were somewhat modified but the ancient spirit was retained.

Traditions have grown up in each country, so that today a survey of the customs of peoples celebrating the birth of Christ differ widely.

A country which has a very rich Christmas lore is Norway, where Rev. Wold spent his boyhood. In that country, for weeks before the actual celebration, the air is filled with expectancy. The mothers of the families start their baking and brewing five or six weeks before Christmas, and three days before Christmas eve, the children go out into the woods, cut their own tree, and bring it home on a sled.

The tree is then decorated on the afternoon of the day before Christmas with oranges, apples, bags of candy, nuts and cookies, as well as the colored balls and tinsel.

Christmas eve is strictly a family affair and there are no public meetings scheduled on Christmas eve or Christmas day, and the family is together. Then after Christmas day, the churches, lodges and clubs hold their public celebrations, which continue until the twelfth night of the new year, when a gigantic celebration to climax the season is held.

During the holidays the children have many parties and feast on the fruits and delicacies which are stripped from the Christmas tree where they have served as decorations.

LIBRARY TO CLOSE FOR HOLIDAY

The Hilltop branch of the Columbus public library will not be open the day before Christmas or on Christmas day, according to Librarian Miss Mildred Phelps.

Grandmother and 2 Orphans Need Food and Clothing

Editor's note: Comes to our attention this week a very sad story. Somewhere in our midst is a poor, old grandmother who is apparently having a very difficult time in getting frayed ends to meet for herself and her two orphaned grandchildren.

Commander Wilson of the Westway post, VFW, received an anonymous letter this week describing the plight of this grandmother and her two charges. Due to an oversight, either intentional or unintentional, the writer of the letter did not mention the name and address of the three persons for whom she was seeking help.

It would be unfortunate, indeed, if we must enjoy the goodness and bounties of this Christmas season, knowing that three, less fortunate than we, cannot share our joys.

Following is the letter received at the Westway post:

To Members of the VFW:

A woman and two grandchildren whom she is raising (their father is dead) will have a very slim, if any, Christmas at all, unless she can obtain help from [illegible].

Used clothing and food would be a big help. I sent her a half ton of coal, myself. If you cannot help, please tell someone else about her.

A Friend

Commander Wilson would like the person who sent the letter to contact him and furnish him with more information on this needy family. If "those three" can be located, they will not have a "slim" Christmas after all, he guarantees.

Mrs. Dan Dandry Wants Home For Homeless Pooch

Mrs. Dan Dandry, 311 N. Wayne-av, long-recognized by friends and neighbors as a genuine dog fancier and a friend to homeless pooches, is stuck with another canine foundling.

One evening this week she heard a hurried tapping at her door and when she investigated she found a basket on her doorstoop containing a very small, short-haired, black terrier puppy.

In the basket was also a note scribbled in a child's hand. It read:

Dear Mam:

Our family is too poor to take care of our dog, so we are leaving it with you, for we have heard that you like dogs.

Her name is Minnie. Please take care of her.

xxxx

P. S. She's just been fed. Please don't give her to the dog pound.

Mrs. Dandry is very fond of dogs, it is true (she has three of her own) and has found good homes for many a homeless pup, but she doesn't want people to get the idea that they can dump dogs on her doorstep any time during the day or night.

She is very much interested, however, in getting a home for her newest acquisition.

Bob Kanode

Dave Cornwell

Establishment of the C-K Photo Shop at Broad-st and Hague-ay was announced this week by Dave Cornwell and Bob Kanode, both Hilltop residents.

The new concern combines the interests of the former Cornwell Photo Shop operated by Cornwell at 2413 W. Broad-st, and the Rapid Engraving Co., operated by Kanode at 2461 W. Broad-st.

A complete photo studio, photo supply and camera shop, engraving plant and photo finishing business are included in the business as well as picture framing and tinting service.

Miss Pat Hanley, 110 N. Powell-av, Ohio State university student, who won widespread recognition at West High school for her drawings and paintings, will be associated with the new concern and will have a studio for furnishing complete designing and art service. Later it is planned to add a silk screen process plant to the equipment.

Studio, application and commercial photos will be taken and a feature will be publicity photos for clients.

The new shop is an authorized agency for Agfa film, chemicals, paper and photo products, along with a complete line of Defender products as well as all other nationally known photographic supply houses.

Florida Orange Store Returns

For the third consecutive year the Florida Orange Store has returned to the Hilltop to bring tree-ripened citrus fruits, direct from the Florida groves to this community. This year the store is located at 2516 W. Broad-st, next to Ray's Bike Shop. The firm is a partnership of Frank Lukens and Fred Kramer. Other Columbus stores are located at 1416 N. High-st and 1290 E. Main-st. J. E. Senner is in charge of the local store.

Tree-Ripened Fruit

Ordinarily, the only opportunity northern residents have to enjoy the delicious flavors of tree-ripened Florida fruits is on an occasional trip to the Southland, or through the generosity of some thoughtful friend who sends home a crate or so.

"There's Power On High"
If you stand upon the seashore
And watch the waves roll in
Your conscience will deplore
Your careless ways in sin.
If you stand there by the hour
And watch the clouds roll by
You will never doubt the power
That rests beyond the sky.

You may think of your dominion
And of your mighty power
You will form another opinion
Around the midnight hour,
You will think of your salvation
When storm clouds blow a gale
And not the power of your station
Which will be of no avail.

You will tremble as you vision
What the Lord can easy do
You will change your own decision
About the power that rests in you
While there at the midnight hour
When storm clouds tumble by
You will never doubt the power
That rests beyond the sky.

Mrs. Grocery Buyer

You Don't Have To Carry Home Your Purchases
YOUR INDEPENDENT GROCER DELIVERS

FREE DELIVERY is just another one of the many service features your INDEPENDENT GROCER provides. He realizes that convenience for his customers is just one of the many things demanded by the food buyer and HE ALONE has made provision for it.

You would think a service station attendant lax in his duties if he failed to clean off the windshield of your car when you drive in to his station. He checks your oil, your battery, inflates your tires and many other little services for which he doesn't expect pay. Your patronage is his remuneration.

Just so in the field of food merchandising. The good merchant does more than just dump his groceries out on the floor and let his patrons find what they want as best they can. He displays his wares attractively and with the utmost convenience. He marks his merchandise well so there can be no misunderstanding as to the price. Then he delivers it to your kitchen at the hour you wish it. What more can you ask?

Tested Values

In spite of the many features of service your INDEPENDENT GROCER provides there is one thing ever foremost in his mind . . . his merchandise must be of unquestionable quality. He takes no chances on merchandise that "looks as nice" or is "just as good" as a recognized line. His shelves abound with the labels of Nationally Known and Nationally Advertised food products. His meat counter contains the choice cuts of your favorite meat dinner. His vegetable and fruit rack offers the freshest items available.

Yes, he knows that only in quality food can he offer his customer a real dollar's worth of value.

RODENFELS EXTEND SEASON'S GREETINGS AND CELEBRATES START OF 13TH YEAR AS LOCAL DEALER

Our Christmas would not be complete unless we expressed our deep appreciation for your patronage and wished you every success for the coming year. Listed below are the names of the salesmen who comprise the staff for Rodenfels, many of whom are your neighbors.

The Rodenfels Chevrolet Co., 1160 West Broad street, is celebrating the beginning of its thirteenth year as Chevrolet dealers in Columbus and the fact that the current year will prove to be the largest volume year in the history of the company.

By Jan. 1, they will have sold approximately 400 new cars and 300 used automobiles.

John Keefer

The sales staff members are all long experienced in the business. Total number of years with Rodenfels that these men represent is exactly 100. None has been connected with the organization less than five years.

The firm's used car display lot is located at 1006 West Broad street. Here they usually keep a stock of 50 well-reconditioned cars, all backed by the company's 12-year record of standing back of their merchandise.

Never more expensive than our patrons wish to pay.

Whistling In The Dark

Among the political stories circulating by word of mouth in dictator countries, a favorite concerns three men sitting on a bench. One, who was reading a newspaper, exclaimed, "Tch, tch!" The second glanced at the paper and said, "Tch, tch!" Whereupon the third arose and announced, "If you fellows are going to commit the dangerous folly of talking politics, I'm off."

Hilltop Stores Feature Many Xmas Gift Values

Attention! Christmas shoppers of the Hilltop. On your very doorstep are values that you cannot afford to miss and the best feature of all is the fact that you need take only a minute to visit your community stores.

A recent visit throughout the various business firms here on the Hilltop revealed a wide variety of gifts that would make any member of your family beam with pride on Christmas Day and the days to come.

FOR THE KIDDIES

Christmas is really for the kiddies, so let's review a few of the many toy novelties that can be obtained. Local merchants have stocked toys for all ages, for all purposes, from sterilized dolls and woolly animals for infants to technical construction sets for mechanically minded youngsters. Quite the cutest plaything on the market today is the Baby Panda, all soft and furry and just right for eager baby hands.

For girls who like to play with dolls, parents take a look at the modern well-built doll houses. It would be the delight of any girl to furnish the rooms to her own taste. Miniature furniture can be purchased at any time and the process of redecorating the doll house would contribute to her sense of good taste and prepare her for the home-furnishing days to come.

With aviation in the public eye, airplane construction sets are much in demand and boys will get a big kick out of building every form of airplane in use, including stratoliners and dive bombers. Military toys, too, have received new popularity among the war-conscious youth and many new models have been added to the regular stock of tanks, forts, infantry and cavalry.

"Muscle-bound" boys will appreciate the novel Superman toy. This replica of the popular comic strip character is made of composition and wood, fully jointed, and is unbreakable.

TO THE GENTLEMAN

A word to the wise this Christmas! Whether she is your wife, daughter, mother or sister, give her furs this year. Like nothing else, it will make her think you the most wonderful man in the world.

Wearable gifts are desired by women the world over and are listed at the top on most "Preferred lists." Then come the gifts that go hand in hand with the wearable—the accessories. Gloves particularly are gift favorites and your local stores have a brilliant collection of them for you, for sports, daytime and evening wear. Handbags are always welcome. The bag that every woman wants in her wardrob is a muff bag seen in suede or fabric with zipper pocket. For untrimmed coats they are the perfect match.

Another item essential as well as a luxury is the bed-room slipper. Our stores have them from the very glamorous satin-trimmed to the more practical warm wool slipper. Either kind will be appreciated as a lasting gift.

Male shoppers will find particular delight in shopping for some items this year. Let him go to his favorite drug store and there he will find the ideal toilet gifts that he wants. No longer is the corner drug store the place of evil-smelling prescriptions. It has been transformed into the most modernistic of Christmas gift centers. Gaily bedecked in festive colors, it presents an enticing view to the man who hates to shop in the over-crowded market place. And don't forget; too, your Christmas tree will need new trimmings.

Variety stores and electric appliance shops are well stocked with the latest in fancy boudoir lamps. Any color, any shape, any size—Christmas gift lamps are ready for you now.

TO THE LADIES

Gift ideas for the men are very plentiful and the new versions of popular gifts certainly have been made with "eye-appeal."

Color comes into its own in men's wear. Gone are the days for drab, uninspiring gifts for men.

Sweaters are more than welcomed by most men so why not do something about it this year and get Dad or Big Brother one of the many smart new sweaters for an afternoon with the children, or golfing or driving and for all outdoor work. Most of the new sweaters are pre-tested for washability. Make YOURS a sweater Christmas and you'll go a long way toward providing your "best beau" with a gift strictly utilitarian but with an eye toward his comfort and handsome appearance. Other items include: neckties, in new colors and patterns, robes, in warm flannels and brocades, and gloves for driving and dress wear.

For Christmas, 1940, manufacturers and retailers have outdone themselves in preparing the gay little miniature hat boxes that have taken the country by storm. This revolutionary idea is a life-saver to women shoppers. This is a miniature hat, boxed in a minute replica of a man's hat box and accompanied by a real gift certificate. Remember—"good things come in small packages" so get your miniature hat today!

Peace Is Where You Find It

By Koch

A Christmas Story

Hans fell flat on the rocky ground, his steel-grey army suit splotched with mud acquired when he slithered up the east bank of that treacherous, swirling little stream four kilometers back.

Out of the corner of his eye, thirty paces off to the right, lay his bespectacled captain, who after a while hunched up to unlace his shoes and then lay over on his side with his knees up almost under his chin. He looked like a thick grey boulder that way, Hans thought.

So this was all for the time being. Tomorrow his regiment (and many others) would join an Italian division for a concerted putsch into a wavering Greek line.

Hans curled up to sleep. That would be easy after the lightning-like march through the day. This had been going on for nearly a week. It was an eternity since he slept in a bed.

Hans despised the Greek-insolent cur who stood defiantly in the path of the Fatherland's best motorized units. What had that speaker in Stuttgart said of him. He didn't remember exactly. Anyhow it was something about an inferior breed whose blood had been poluted over a period of centuries. Hans was glad to be of nobler stock. I am pure Aryan, he thought, at least almost.

We are destined to rule uber alles, uber alles; we are supermen; it is our duty; it is our duty; in combat we are at our best; it is all so ennobling, this is ennobling. These words had been pounded deep down in. They were true, nevertheless.

Hans didn't quite know why he couldn't drop off. Something kept working in and out of his tired brain. Maybe it had something to do with the dead Englishman he had seen that morning. The boy had soft hair—looked almost like someone he knew. There had been life in those eyes, it seemed. It hadn't been pleasant though. That lifeless form had been badly crumpled. Things would be pretty messy under that uniform.

The face kept bobbing up before his eyes. Now he remembered. There was a picture that used to hang on the wall back home long ago in the days before der Tag, the picture of the young Christ. What a sentimental old fool my father was, said Hans from between dry lips. Such slush he used to talk about love and brotherhood and peace.

Yet there was a certain sustaining feeling about those days. There had been long Sunday walks through the forest with Otto. It had been cool and green and the sun filtered through the leaves casting oblique shadows over the forest floor. Then there had been school with spelling matches and algebra and lunches on little cakes and pork slices. Then there were the lazy walks home with Julius, the little Jewish boy, who lived next door. Strange how he had grown to like him.

The Fatherland was at peace with itself and the world in those days. Queer word that, peace. It felt good coming out of the mouth. But then, he must stop this nonsense. The Fatherland hadn't yet seen the light. The great prophet hadn't yet arisen. Mustn't permit himself such liberties often—to think. Hans said half-aloud. Why not though? Wasn't it the night before Christmas?

Christmas Comes To The Hilltop

"When good fellows get together" . . . it's Christmas time on the Hilltop . . . time for the annual get-together meeting of Broad street and Sullivant avenue business men who congregate in an informal manner for their Christmas dinner at Tom Davis' restaurant.

Such was the event of Monday noon when 32 men gathered to eat turkey and all the trimmings and exchange pleasantries in holiday moods.

This has come to be one of the high spots of the Christmas season and a generous response in attendance is evidenced. This year the fellowship was shared by the following:

Head men were Lou Saunders, newly elected president of the H. B. M. A., who passed the cigars, and Dr. Fred Sulzberger, retiring president, while "Pop" Weymer looked on from one side and explained as usual that he should be "head man." Chocolates of the variety that only Metta Deems can make were at each plate through the courtesy of Herbert Downs and plates of Mrs. Sulzberger's delicious Christmas cookies graced the table. Each man present blossomed forth with a carnation in his buttonhole as a gift from Curt Roberts of Yost Florists.

Dr. C. C. Cramer was present to introduce the Hilltop's newest dentist, Dr. Paul Haught. E. L. Skipper found time (and from his many pressing jobs to participate, and Jack Merriman left the Christmas rush at Seiller's to join in the festivities.

Dr. Webb Baker came all the way from downtown to keep from missing this turkey talk, and Cliff Rice and Ray Bowyer from Westgate Electric Co., little seen lately in these parts, were among the enjoyers. The Record was represented by Paul Wichterman, John Hess, Walter Davis and yours truly.

Charley Kent added his congeniality, Ray Percy and Al Blessing took time from the lumber and telephone business to spread a little gravy and Dr. A. Breese assisted in the consumption of the stack of good things. Curt Wilcox, Dr. Morgan Bates, Gene Todd, and Don Smith joined the merriment. And of course the affair would not be complete without Jack Shank and Ed Melvin. Ray Hauntz and Charley Campbell helped represent the West Broaders. Dr. Lowry, Gil Smoot and Alvie Nafzger, some of the regulars at Tom's, participated heavily. And we purposely add Clarence Story's name last—that congenial gentleman who must not look hungry, the man the waitresses always serve last.

It was a good time by all!

It Had To Happen

Tragedy struck the Hilltop almost on Christmas eve when it was learned of the fatal shooting of the Cornwell boy.

Nothing that can be said now can restore any of the happiness to this family after it has been taken away from them in this untimely manner. But certainly it is hoped that what has been done will create enough feeling to avert any such tragedies in the future.

Today we do not know what boys are responsible for this act. Neither are we advocating anything that should be done in this case. But we do feel that something can and should be done about such instances in the future.

Golfers at the Dublin course report that such shooting is frequent in that vicinity. And it is a common thing to see youngsters traversing the river banks with rifles in the hands.

The responsibility for such negligence certainly can be taken care of by county policing authorities. This business of just shooting at random should be stopped at once. Such an episode as the one of Saturday had to happen sometime by allowing this thing to continue.

Hilltop Takes On Brilliance

No section of the city has taken on a more brilliant evening attire than the Hilltop. Bright Christmas lights and decorations this year exceed those of all previous years. More and more Hilltop homes have gone in for brilliant arrays of lights and some are very elaborate.

Most outstanding in the Westgate section and those attracting a great deal of attention are the Ed Stauch, Harry Markins and Joe Palumbo homes on Crescent-dr and the Ehmann home, Binns-blvd. Mechanical devices provide moving characters on the Ehmann residence and the thousands of lights on these homes along with those of nearly every home in the community make the place a veritable winter fairyland.

Thousands of persons are driving over the Hilltop each evening to view the large electrical displays.

Major McKinney Is Ordered To Active Duty

Among the 118 reserve officers of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia who have been ordered to extended active duty with the United States army, according to a recent announcement by Col. S. G. Tafoott, adjutant general of the Fifth Corps area with headquarters at Fort Hayes, is Major Ralph V. McKinney, 274 Powhatan-av.

Major McKinney has been assigned to Armored Force Units, Fort Knox, Ky.

Dr. Haught Opens New Offices

Dr. Paul V. Haught, dentist, has recently opened his offices in the new Cramer Medical building, corner Algonquin-av and W. Broad-st.

For several years a Columbus resident, Dr. Haught is a graduate of Ohio State university dental college, class of 1939. He has just completed his internship in the Rochester Dental Dispensary.

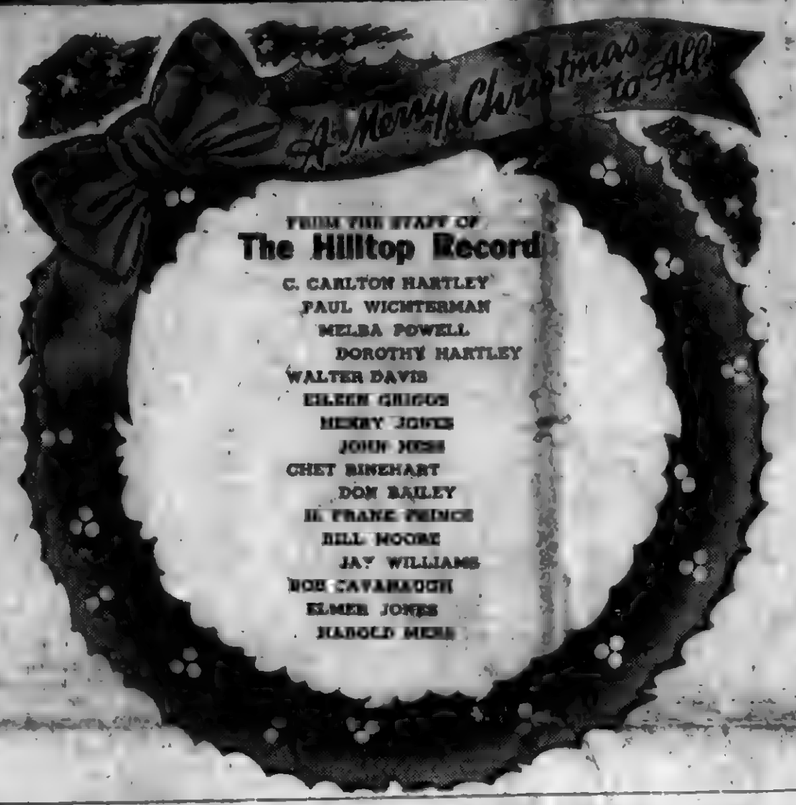
Dr. Haught's new offices, which contain the most modern of dental equipment, include a powder room for the ladies, a recovery room, a waiting room and a private office.

Having specialized in orthodontia (teeth straightening), Dr. Haught is particularly interested in the care and treatment of children's teeth.

Starling Features Art Display

The art classes at Starling junior high gave a Christmas tea for the faculty last Wednesday. At this time art projects, contributed by the seventh, eighth, and ninth grade classes were on display.

Among the exhibits were soap figures, paintings, and drawings depicting the Yuletide season.



Miss Clara Louise Goss, the art teacher, was assisted by Melvin Eitel, Merle Ellis, Alice Foster, Bonita McBee, Richard Newell and Barbara Stump.

Welch Urges Fire Equipment For Hilltop

"The Hilltop is in danger of not having enough fire fighting equipment," stated Fire Chief E. Welch at the Hoge Memorial Men's club father and son banquet last Friday evening, where he was the guest speaker.

"Although Columbus has one of the best fire departments in the middle west, said Chief Welch, "due to the rapid construction of houses in the area south of Sullivant-av and west of Hague-av, and the inadequacy of fire alarm boxes in this area, a serious condition exists."

The head of the Columbus department urged civic leaders to intensify their drive for a new fire station in the vicinity of Hague and Sullivant-avs.

"Due to the rush orders that have been placed with fire-fighting equipment manufacturers by the army, navy and many foreign countries, any orders that may be placed by municipalities will be given second preference. "That is why we must think and act about this problem now," said Welch. "The city of Columbus has on order at present several pieces of equipment due for delivery Jan. 1, but if we have them by Mar. 1, I shall be very happy," he added.

The chief also stated that the inhalator squad of the Columbus fire department was considered to be one of the most efficient of its kind in the entire country and that though its action over 40 lives have been saved during 1940.

Youth Is Victim of Careless Shooting

Matthew Cornwell Fatally Wounded While At Play With Companions

The happiness of this joyous season has fled for one family on the Hilltop, leaving in its place a dull empty feeling and heartache.

Free from the cares of school and with happiness in their hearts because Christmas Day was just around the corner, four boys from the community were playing at innocent fun along the east bank of the Scioto river in the vicinity of the Arlington golf course Saturday afternoon.

Matthew Cornwell

One was brought home dead.

Matthew Cornwell, age 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Cornwell, 2413 W. Broad-st, died in the Grandview police station at about 3:15 p. m. Saturday as the result of shots fired from a .22 calibre rifle from across the river.

With his companions young Cornwell was playing at Cowboys and Indians along the bank of the river when, without warning, rifle shots came whirring past their ears from the McKinley-av side of the river.

Cornwell was shot in the back, wounded fatally, when he attempted to scurry up the river bank leading to the golf course and safety. The bullet pierced his kidney.

According to his companions the four or five boys on the opposite bank were firing at their targets, because one of them was heard to yell "There's one of them" and a shot rang out immediately afterwards.

According to William Ward, 14, of 77 S. Oakley-av, one of Cornwell's companions, the bullets could be heard whizzing through the weeds as the four boys scurried on hands and knees to safety.

"Matthew and I started over the hill side by side," said the Ward boy. "The next thing I knew," he continued, "Matthew stopped and grabbed his stomach and said, 'They got me'."

"Then he said 'So long, Bill' and I guess I knew what had happened, 'cause I stood up and called them cowards."

Then came the faint reply from across the river, "we didn't mean to hurt you."

The attackers fled and Robert Woodward, 2463 Findlay-av, who was playing golf, carried the wounded boy to a Dublin-rd home from which place he was taken a few minutes later to the Grandview police station, but was dead upon arrival.

Besides the Ward boy, young Cornwell's other companions were Harold McMillen, age 12, 2427½ W. Broad-st, and Albert Swain jr., age 13, of 69 S. Wayne-av.

According to officials in the county sheriff's office who have been assigned to the case, the four boys responsible for the shooting have been apprehended and are being held at the juvenile detention home, 50 E. Mound-st. All are under 18 years of age.

An eleventh grade pupil at West High, Matthew had wrapped two Christmas gifts, one for his father and one for his mother, Friday night before retiring.

Surviving besides his mother and father are a brother, Robert, age 14; a sister, Mary, age 19; and a grandfather, Clint Bean, 619 Miller-av.

Mr. Cornwell is a motion picture operator at the Rivoli theatre and is also co-proprietor of the C-K photo shop at the corner of W. Broad-st and Hague-av.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon in the Spears funeral parlors and interment was in Green Lawn cemetery.

Prizes To Go To First Baby Of New Year

As of past years merchants on the Hilltop will accumulate prizes (bushels of them) which will be awarded to the first baby born on the Hilltop in the vicinity served by the Hilltop Record in 1941.

The annual stork derby has long-since become a Hilltop institution.

If your baby is born after midnight, Dec. 31, 1940, you may be eligible for the mile-long list of prizes. You must bring either the birth certificate or your doctor's record of birth to the Record office by 5 p. m., Wednesday, Jan. 8.

Details will be announced in the next edition of the Record.

Cowboys To Meet Central After Long Pre-League Game Series

By Harold Mers

The West High Cowboys, finishing one of the longest series of pre-league games in some time with a comfortable margin of five wins to two losses, will open their attack in the 1941 city league fray when they attempt to scuttle the Central Buccaneers in a game scheduled for Jan. 10 in the West gym.

Week-end Win; Loss

On a week-end road trip, the Bucks travelled first to Chillicothe where they downed the home five 35 to 25. Led by Dick Ucker, who collected 18 points to land in the top spot in the city scoring race, just two points ahead of Alban of South, the Westerners had little trouble winning their fifth game in two weeks. Bud Maxwell, Cowboy guard, was second high scorer of the evening, scoring eight points before he departed from the game via the personal foul route.

Although they led the Hamilton quintet by a slim margin of one point at the half, the Cowboys were so weakened in their last Saturday's encounter with the Hamiltonians by the loss of Dick Ucker and Dick Smith on fouls that they found themselves on the short end of a 43 to 35 score when the final gun was fired.

Ending their pre-league games with a standing well up in the city league, the Cowboys will take life easy over the holidays, polishing up their plays with light drills the week preceding the Central game.

HOME ON FURLOUGH

Bailey Wade, attached to the furlough from Fort Knox, Ky., visiting his mother, Mrs. Krebs, 285 N. Wayne-av.

Bailey Wade, attached to the U. S. Air Corps at Maxwell Field, Ala., returned home on furlough to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude T. Wade, 2383 Glenview-blvd.

Mother-in-law of Pastor Succumbs

Mrs. James Nichols, mother-in-law of Rev. Joseph B. Shellhaas, pastor of the Glenwood Methodist church, succumbed to a heart attack Saturday evening in her home at Venedocia, 20 miles west of Lima.

Rev. and Mrs. Shellhaas left for Venedocia immediately after the Sunday evening service. The funeral was held at 2:00 Tuesday afternoon.

Draft Board Office To Be Open Evenings

For the convenience of registrants, Selective Service Board No. 13 will have office hours from 12 noon until 8 p. m. The change in hours will be effective after the first of the year.

Alleys Open

Hilltop Bowling alleys will be open all day Christmas, according to an announcement of Bill Wolfe, owner.

Community Spirit Has Real Meaning For Hilltop Merchants

The attention of all Record readers should be directed to the Christmas greetings of scores of advertisers contained in this edition.

To find so many greetings in a single edition is unusual to say the least. It is indicative of several things.

Behind each and every message is the sincere wish of the advertiser for the happiness and joy of the reader. More than likely he will not gain a cent from his greeting nor does he expect to.

His only wish is that you, the reader, will enjoy all the goodness and bounties of the season. His is truly an expression of good will.

On many occasions this paper has called attention to that vague thing which we have pleased to call community spirit. The many greetings contained herein offer convincing proof that this is a real thing and not merely a figment of the imagination.

J. L. Dean, pastor of the Hilltop Community church, wishes to thank those merchants of the community who helped furnish the Christmas treat for the children of the Sunday school.

A Thought From the Bible

"For unto us is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord." Luke 2:11.

Can we think of a more blessed event than the birth of Christ. Are we manifesting that spirit of Christ that is "the way, the truth and the life."

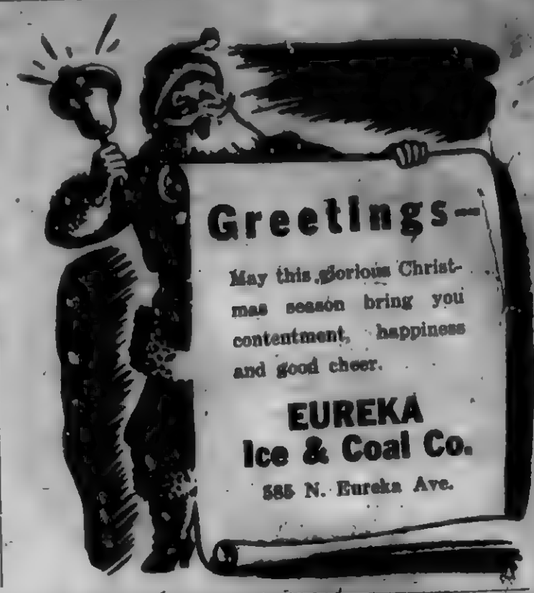
Let us fill our hearts to overflowing with the love of Christ, not only to share at this Christmas season, but each day let us give of the precious love of Christ that the world so longs for, and needs, thus—Christ shall give thee light (Eph. 5:14).

Shaw In The Lion's Den

Man is the only animal of which I am thoroughly and cravenly afraid. I have never thought much of the courage of a lion-tamer. Inside the cage he is at least safe from other men. There is not much harm in a lion. He has no ideals, no religion, no politics, no chivalry, no gentility; in short, no reason for destorying anything that he does not want to eat.—Bernard Shaw.

"New Year's Once Again"

Another year has passed away
The holidays are here
It don't seem long indeed
Since this time last year
Time moves swiftly onward
With speed that will enthrall
We see the flowers blooming
Then soon they wilt and fall.



Make your pledge these holidays
Truly faithful and sincere
Don't ignore friendly warnings
And keep a brain that's clear
Discard all ways of carelessness
Don't travel in a haze
Then you'll view with pleasure
The coming holidays.

We all should be more careful
If in a hurry travel slow
There's no fallacy in that adage
A slogan coined years ago
To each of you best wishes
On this coming New Year's Day
And may flowers deck your pathway
Whether near or far away.

C. S. Parks, Wisconsin and Broad

Loew's Ohio

The Ohio is now showing "Northwest Mounted Police" and "A Night at Earl Carroll's."

APPRECIATE AMERICA

"Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men"

These words, echoed by grateful voices in this nation, betoken mutual understanding and respect—not only during the holiday season, but throughout the year.

Our children of America hold in their hands the destiny of this country for which our forefathers bled and died. Will we remain a nation of tolerance, or become a bigoted, hate-infested people seeking to destroy the principles of religious and racial freedom upon which this country was founded?

Today we live in a world of unknown future. Race hatred and religious intolerance now sweep the dictator countries of Europe. Their hysterical hymn of hate will fall upon deaf ears if we but teach our children—tomorrow's citizens—to love one another, regardless of race or creed.

America will not suffer the poison of intolerance. Our churches will not be closed. Our right to worship as we see fit will not be denied us. Freedom of speech and freedom of thought are inalienable rights of every American.

"APPRECIATE AMERICA" as a nation of religious liberty, the land of the free.

SEASON'S GREETINGS

A new season has come . . . and as we stand upon the brink, it is pleasant to think of the friendly relations that have become mellow with the passing years . . . and there is a feeling of assurance that these relations shall continue as in the past . . . and that new friends will join our circle.

We hope for peace on earth and abundant happiness to one and all

As this is being written we have full intentions that it will be delivered to Hilltop homes on New Year's day. That's the Record's way of saying Happy New Year . . . and if you are able to read this morning it's our hope you will start the year off as a Record reader and think of us every day in the new year.

Yes sir, January and a new year . . . it . . . I'll bet you do thing I always do . . . writing dates 1940 for the few days of the year . . . ve to break myself of it. All of which mi sign of a good year just . . . it's hard to let go.

Tradition that today is the day CABBAGE. It means p for every day of the year. Try it! If you aren't prosperous maybe you can blame it on the way it was cooked.

That 1941 will be an eventful year for The Record is our hope. If present plans are carried out the next edition will be set completely printed in our location at 2463 W. Broad. And then too, The Record will start its 25th year of service to the Hilltop community in 1941.

What To Do About Unemployment

Numerous the persons these days to about saying, "I'd if I could be a little more what the future holds.

Since when has anyone ever known what the future holds?

Most of the things you did yesterday were done without you knowing what today was going to like. Sure enough, had you known what today held you might have changed your course yesterday. But even so, hasn't today been a pretty good day as well as yesterday? And you expect that tomorrow another day like than yesterday?

So, as 1941 is concerned, I'm about doing the things planned for 1941. I believe American ability to circumstances. I have a faith in 1941. It can go one to be long remembered we can keep a steady the throttle and a clear the rail.

Parents Cited In Fatal Shooting

Parents of the boys who were permitted to carry guns and ammunition that resulted in the fatal shooting of 16-year-old Matthew R. Cornwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Cornwell, 2413 W. Broad-st, on Dec. 21, probably will be cited in juvenile court on contributing charges, Domestic Relations Judge Clayton W. Rose announced Monday.

The four boys held at juvenile center will be brought into court probably Friday, the judge said. He said:

"The responsibility is the parents' for placing dangerous instruments in the hands of children. The parents, in the majority of the cases, are responsible for this recklessness."

Judge Rose said that the bringing of the case before the court now awaits a written report on the ballistic tests made at London prison farm with the two guns taken from the boys.

U. S. Much Concerned Over Defense A Century Ago

Old Newspaper Comments on the Problems of the Nation in 1848

By Harold Mars

"The inquiry into the state of the national defense has ended in the determination of the government to double the artillery forces and embody 150,000 military."

Sounds familiar, doesn't it? One would think, upon reading this quotation that it might have been taken from any contemporary newspaper, but such is not the case. The material was copied from the European Intelligence column of the Weekly Ohio Press, printed March 15, 1848.

A copy of this old journal which belongs to Mr. Dana Marsh of 160 S. Westmoor-av, and which is still in a remarkable state of preservation for all of its 92 years, was brought into the Record office by Mr. Newton Thatcher, county auditor.

About Foreign Debts

According to this century-old paper, the shrewdest capitalists of Europe at the time had more faith in America and popular government than in the bickering democracies of Europe. Witness the quotation: "The Rothschilds are refusing to lend money to Austria and are offering one and a fourth percent premium for a loan to the United States."

The London Times, a high-Tory newspaper, adds the following evidence of the increasing confidence of Europeans in the integrity of the masses which governed America:

"All that the bondholders desire is payment in one way or another and that will eventually take place, not only with the debt of Mississippi, but with every other of the defaulting State of the American Union, we have never, from the first, entertained the smallest doubt."

Political "Mud-Slinging"

The art of casting aspersions on the character of a political opponent is not a recent invention. However, in the early days of American politics "mud-slinging" had a certain dignity which has been completely lost with the passing of years. Such is evidenced in a speech by the Democrat Henly who made the following statement in a campaign speech regarding the Mexican War:

"That the Mexicans have an ugly fashion of dipping the tips of their lances in rank poison, and using copper cannon balls, is nothing new; but to wrap their bullets in extracts of Webster's speeches (Webster was speaking on the opposing ticket) and fire them at our soldiers, is a refinement of cruelty, which we did not suppose even the Mexicans to be guilty of."

$18 Stolen From Draftee While Taking Test

Late last Friday John Tinder, age 30, 426 S. Central-av, went to the Glenwood shelter house on W. Broad-st to take a physical examination for the army.

He removed his clothing in the locker room, went to take the examination and when he returned found that $18 in cash, his driver's license and other articles had been stolen.

Hilltop Newsie Collects $1200

Harry Fleming, Hilltop Charity Newsie stationed at the corner of Broad and Hague the Saturday before Christmas, collected over $1200 for the "good cause" this year.

This was the best luck he has had in many a year, he says, and wishes to express his sincere appreciation for the generous contributions sent his way.

He Is One Year Old Today

Pictured above is Donald Edward Frazier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Frazier, 456 Murray-av, Valleyview, who one year ago today, made his debut into this world of mice and men.

He was winner (his opponents didn't have a chance) of the annual Hilltop stork derby and as a result claimed a long list of prizes ranging from a bottle sterilizer to a half-ton of coal.

Donald's parents are both graduates of West High school and have been life-long residents of the Hilltop.

Full Page Ads Don't Come By Telephone

Record Manager Paul Wichterman thinks life is really getting easy, now that he can take full-page ads over the phone—and unsolicited. Rather, that's what he thought.

Monday he received a call from the advertising representative of a Women's Baking Co. (so-called) who was anxious to purchase a full page of advertising space to introduce a new loaf of bread.

Said the representative (the imposter): "The name of the new bread is 'Grip-o' bread." It contains iron filing," he added, barely able to suppress a laugh.

And then he hung up.

Too bad, Paul—it was too good to be true.

This Year To Patronize

Your Independent Grocer

Right now while New Year's Resolutions are being made is a good time to think over the problems of your Independent Food Dealer. He plays an important role in your community life. His presence and support in your neighborhood makes possible many of the things you like about the Hilltop. During the past year he has worked untiringly for the improvement of the Hilltop. For most of this work he expects no pay. He has felt the responsibility of leadership and accepts no pay. He has felt the responsiblity of leadership and accepts the challenge without questioning. The hours he spends in work outside his business are never figured in his work week.

They are his contribution to botter community life. The least you can do to repay him is patronize his business. After all his welfare is your welfare. His business ability in selecting only the best foods for your table is your gain. He maintains the best possible service for your convenience. He is always as near as your telephone.

CONVALESCING

John Burd, son of Mina Burd, 97 Whitethorne-av, is slowly recovering from a serious operation which he underwent on Dec. 26 at White Cross hospital.

Mrs. John Schmidt Describes Dinner In Hungary

In the neat little kitchen, which is turned into a "bakery" during the holidays, Mrs. John Schmidt, a native of Orad, Hungary, who lives at 239 N. Hague-av, described a typical Hungarian holiday dinner.

December and January are busy months for Maygar housewives in the "old country"—for they plunge into their holiday baking, which covers all manner of cakes, cookies and puddings, at least three weeks ahead of the various feast days, all except the nut-bread which "is much better when it is made the day before," according to Mrs. Schmidt.

A combination of stewed fruits called "Compot" is the preliminary dish on the menu and is followed by soup. Brother goose, the customary feast-day fowl, is the highlight of that course.

Taste Teasers

Then comes the most taste-teasing department in the whole dinner: those cakes, cookies, plum-puddings, and nut-bread now strut their stuff to the accompaniment of delicious wine! Ice creams and fruit ices are favorite delicacies in Hungary as they are here.

The poor folk of the towns and villages are not overlooked for each member of the community contributes a cake, large piece of meat, or a kettle of soup and sometimes clothing for the less fortunate families.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schmidt have a family of three, two boys, John jr., who graduated from West High in 1938, and Edward, an eighth grade student at West Junior High. Their daughter, Margaret Jane, is living in Phoenix, Ariz. "Eddie," as his friends call him, has musical talent and plays the piano. He can speak a little German and Hungarian and is able to carry on a simple conversation with his German grandparents and mother and father.

And here is a real present from Mrs. Schmidt — two recipes for cake and cookies!

Cake With Nut Filling

½ lb. butter
3 cups flour
3 egg yolks
3 tablespoons sweet cream
1 cup sugar
Grating of ½ lemon

Mix together like any cookie dough and let stand in a cool place. Mix filling: 2 lbs. ground nuts; 4 egg yolks; 2 cups sugar. Combin sugar and eggs and add ground nuts. Beat all seven egg-whites stiff and add slowly with nut mixture.

Divide dough in half and place one-half in pan about 8x12; pour nut mixture over that and finally cover with other half of dough.

Bake slowly for an hour. Cut in squares, or any shape desired.

Hungarian Butter Cookies

1 cup butter
½ cup sugar
2 cups flour
2 raw egg yolks
2 hard-cooked egg yolks, smashed fine.
1 tablespoon brandy
½ teaspoon lemon juice

Cream the butter and sugar, then the cooked yolks. Add flour and raw eggs alternately. Roll this dough thin, cut in [illegible] square or diamond shapes and bake in greased tins in moderate oven 10 to 15 minutes. Chopped almonds, cinnamon and sugar can be stuck on top of each cookie with a bit of egg white before placing in the oven.

ATTEND FUNERAL

Mrs. Steward and family, 24 E. Wayne-av, attended the funeral of Mrs. Steward's brother, [illegible] er Borror, at Utica, Ohio, last Friday.

M. P. Hain is elected commander of Camp Chase post to succeed Ernest Brown.

Hilltop has third suicide in less than a week.

October

A fond dream of the HBMA seems to take on material form as plans for eliminating the Sandusky-st bottleneck by building a new Sandusky-st bridge and removing tracks from the south end of the present structure take shape. The bottleneck has long been a major obstacle to the free flow of traffic from the Hilltop, down McKinley-av into town.

Hilltop Record presents pros and cons of much-touted gas rate ordinance controversy.

Independent grocers and Record present gala magic show at West High featuring sleight-of-hand man Jack Thomas.

Hilltop feels first wind of the "draft" as draft board members are named for the community.

Three Hilltop draft boards issue serial numbers.

B. J. Westlake, founder of the Hilltop Record, retires after 60 years in the printing business.

Hilltop is scene of lively GOP and Democratic rallies.

Record survey shows that great majority of Columbus voters do not want increased gas rate.

Ever on their toes in the best interests of the community, Hilltop Business men urge better traffic outlet for traffic from Sullivant-av from the Hilltop before a committee of city council.

Pulses beat faster as election day approaches. The fate of several Hilltop candidates is at stake.

While the county as a whole throws strong vote to the Democratic ticket, Hilltop voters are inclined to fall in line behind the Republican standards. Hilltoppers Matson, Nailor and Turner win in county elections.

C. H. "Doc" Campbell named "Hilltop Man of the Year" at joint meeting of Camp Chase post and the HBMA.

Getting off to a fine start and composed of inexperienced material for the most part, the West grid team shows the "stuff it's made of" and ends football season in second place.

A treacherous spot to the safety of motorists is eliminated with the removal of the interurban tracks under the Big Four viaduct near the west city limits.

Hilltop draftees leave for training period in military camp.

Hilltop chorus is instrumental in bringing state-wide celebration to Columbus.

December

Legion fetes past commander and president at annual past officers' celebration.

L. E. Saunders is selected to direct the fortunes of the HBMA for the year 1941.

Fourteen Scouts from the Hilltop get Eagle awards, the highest honor in Scouting. This group is the largest ever so honored from this community.

The Christmas spirit bubbles up over the brim of the Hill as the community makes ready to receive the red-jowled gentleman from the North.

Council committee okehs removal of Sandusky-st bottleneck, further clearing the way toward the development of a Hilltop boulevard into town via McKinley-av.

Tragedy caps the news of the year. Matthew Cornwell, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David Cornwell, is fatally wounded by carelessly-fired rifle shots while at play with companions.

While the community awaits, with bated breath, the arrival of the Hilltop's first-born via Stork Transport Co., we would like to insert our two-cents worth and wish you all a very, very happy New Year.

VACATIONING IN FLORIDA

He Pay The Life Of A Milkman

This business of being rousted out of a warm bed on a zero morning to deliver milk is not all it is cracked up to be, according to the milk men. Yet that has been the custom and custom says your home supply of milk should be on the door step when you get up in the a. m.

But now the milk dealers are attempting something new. Beginning on Jan. 6 the milk man will start his rounds at 7 a. m. for daylight deliveries and furthermore there will be no delivery on Sunday morning, thus allowing your milk man a normal Sunday.

All of which is a good idea we think and more power to the milk man. And just think of all the extra time this new schedule gives those slightly inebriated persons who are accustomed to coming in with the milk man.

VARIATIONS IN RAINFALL STREAM FLOW REPORTED

Extreme variations in rainfall and stream flow marked Ohio's past "climatic year"—Oct. 1, 1939 to Sept. 30, 1940, according to Vernon Youngquist, district engineer for the U. S. Geological survey.

Writing in the current Ohio State University Engineering Station News, Mr. Youngquist gives the month-by-month precipitation in inches and in percentage of the normal for the month, and the stream flow for the Hocking, Miami and Scioto rivers.

His report shows that the monthly precipitation varied from 36 per cent of normal, in November, to 172 per cent, in April, while monthly stream flow for the representative stations varied from 11 per cent of average in December to 276 per cent in April.

"Patapsico Poor Neighbor"

He will buy a bicycle and haul from the mines.
He says coal up here is too dear
He waxed loud and bold as that tale he told
To every one who was near.

He's buying trouble that will quickly double,
His truck will wear out fast.
He'll sputter and mutter as he skids in the gutter,
My coal hauling days are past.

Coal men up here have good coal to sell
And they are honest and square
They're your neighbor and do all the labor,
To buy out of town is unfair.

Many taxes they pay and no stylish display
Their overhead is high,
'Tis a good deed to help them succeed,
Your needs they'll promptly supply.

Successful neighbors are sure to help you,
That adage you'll find is true,
A loyal course pursue, fault finding subdue,
If you help him he is sure to help you.

Give him your trade and a friend you've made
And encouraged a neighborly spirit
If we spread good cheer while we linger here
That's perfection or awful near it.

Time-Honored Customs Bow To War

War will bring many changes in the world's traditional welcomes to the New Year, according to H. E. Eswine, historian on the "Farm Night" programs over WOSU, Ohio State university.

In the western hemisphere New Year's will be the usual festive occasion, but in Europe and the Orient time-honored customs will be checked by the march of war.

Few Germans will want to risk building a great bonfire in the center of the market place on New Year's eve where citizens of the Reich can cast into the fire all things they do not want to carry into the new year.

And not many Englishmen are likely to observe the old British custom of opening the outside doors of their homes to welcome in the new year as midnight strikes.

The old Dutch custom of "smashing in the New Year" will certainly be checked in that conquered land. For scores of years the people of Holland saved all the household crockery broken during the year.

On New Year's eve, after dark, young men would sally forth to some favorite neighbor's door and hurl their crockery against it. Then they ran—but with no great effort to escape, for when caught they were treated to doughnuts and other "goodies." Smashing crockery against a door was a mark of favor, and the individual with the most fragments in front of his door rated as the most popular man in town.

U. S. neighbors to the south, the Latin Americas, observe this oldest of holidays—the Egyptians reportedly started it—by giving gifts. To them New Year's day is is gift presenting occasion rather than Christmas.

In China it is the custom to settle all debts at the end of the year. All night preceding the advent of the new year people go about the streets with little red lanterns, to collect the money that is due them. China also normally welcomes the new year with firecrackers—a custom that may not be in prevalent now in view of experience with more deadly explosives.

Mr. Eswine mentions the old Saxon custom, in which children danced around apple trees on New Year's eve to bring a bountiful crop of fruit.

When pins were first invented in the sixteenth century, they were a fashionable New Year's gift. If a donor couldn't give pins, he would give "pin money"—thus giving rise to an expression still heard today.

Adult School Schedules New Courses

The Adult Evening school of Ohio State university will open its winter quarter Monday, Jan. 6, with registration and preliminary class meetings. Seventy-six courses have been scheduled for the new quarter, and others may be added before the opening of classes.

Among the new courses for the coming quarter are the following: radio speech, radio production, business letters, writers' workshop, American origins, business arithmetic, dictatorship and war, American political problems, advanced psychology, social ethics, family living, and travel forum.

An incidental fee of $1.00 admits any adult to as many of the courses as he may wish to attend. The classes are informal, practical, but non-credit. A registration and information desk will be located in room 201 Derby hall on and after the opening night. During the day further information may be secured by writing the Adult school at the university.

Star Scout Are Leaders In Life

EDITOR'S NOTE: The third in a series of descriptions of the requirements which Boy Scouts must meet for advancement through the various classes is herewith presented:

A Star Scout must have a record of three months' satisfactory service as a First Class Scout and shall have qualified for any five merit badges.

A Scout up to this time has had a definite program to follow. He has learned and acquired the same skills as his brother Scouts. When he becomes a First Class Scout, it might be said that he has reached the voting age in Scouting and he may do as he chooses. He is given 110 subjects in which he may explore as much as he likes. This is called vocational exploration. Boys of this age have not always chosen a life work, and many boys have been helped in this respect by exploring in the merit badge program.

AUXILIARY NOTES

The regular meeting of the American Legion auxiliary will be held Friday evening, Jan. 3, at 3184 W. Broadist.

The two blanket club winners are Mrs. William Bowser and Mrs. Breakey.

Pictures that tell an incredible story. Baby Bonnie Wins Derby

Warsmith Baby Is Born As Bells Toll the New Year In

Pictured above is pretty, sleepy Bonnie Janet Warsmith, who doesn't seem a bit excited over the fact that she is winner by a nose of the city-wide stork derby.

On the Hilltop, where progeny are in the habit of walking away with first-baby honors, she was winner, practically without opposition.

Baby Bonnie was born on the stroke of midnight, the very moment that the New Year rolled in. In the picture she is nestled contentedly in the arms of her mother, Mrs. Harold R. Warsmith, 598 S. Hague-av.

The father is an engineer at the Jeffrey Manufacturing Co., where as of Saturday noon he passed out two boxes of cigars to admiring associates. "I didn't know that I had so many acquaintances in the factory until this happened," he said.

For accomplishing the tremendous feat of being born on the very moment that the New Year breathed its first breath, Bonnie Janet will be awarded the following prizes by Hilltop merchants:

A delicious cake from Mrs. Cruise bakery, 2306 Sullivant-av; an unannounced gift from the First Federal Savings and Loan, 2360 W. Broad-st; a permanent wave for the mother from the [illegible], 2360 W. Broad-st; a hand-embroidered imported baby dress from Parker's Dime Store, 2578 Sullivant-av.

A quintometer, 5-purpose baby thermometer from Campbell's pharmacy, 2766 W. Broad-st; one infant's dress, one dozen diapers, two infants' shirts, one baby blanket, one pair of booties and one knitted jacket from Seiller's Department store, 2404 W. Broad-st.

A five-dollar coupon book which can be used at any time from Hauntz Food Market, Powell and W. Broad; a big basket of fruit from Kent's Modern Market, Sullivant-av at Hague; a lovely bouquet for mother and infant from Yost Florist, 303 Belvidere-av.

Infant's baby bath from the Broad-Hague hardware store, 2768 W. Broad-st; a pair of Red Goose infant shoes from Broadway Shoes, 2408 W. Broad-st; five gallons of gasoline for the parents' auto from Murphy Service Station, Westgate-av and W. Broad; a Taylor Tot from Seely's Hardware, 1185 W. Broad-st.

A half-ton of coal from Philip McDonald Lumber and Coal Co., N. Eureka-av at Penn. R. R.; a complete drug supply kit for the baby from Mone Drugs, Whitethorne and W. Broad; and 30 quarts of milk from the Hamilton Milk Co.

The Spectator

By C. C. Hartley

Moving Day Is Over

It's a lot of fun . . . in some respects . . . but a lot of very hard work . . . this business of moving a newspaper and printing plant.

Last week-end The Record force uprooted the shop that had been located at 14 S. Oakley-av for the past 12 years and moved to the new and permanent location at 2483-85 W. Broad-st.

Now, after several days of cleaning and arranging we are settled in a much larger building that will provide many more comforts and working economies. We are also proud of the fact that this is our building and we have plenty of room for expansion, some of which we anticipate in the very near future. We are growing, however, and we are now in a position to grow with the Hilltop.

We're glad to be settled in our new home . . . and so we invite you to come up and see us some time.

Traffic Light Is Needed

One of the busy spots of the Hilltop is at Hague and Sullivant where an increasing amount of traffic centers throughout the day.

Increased growth of the western and southern sections of the Hilltop along with the improved thoroughfare on Sullivant avenue make this one of the busiest corners in this part of the city.

We have recently observed the changing of passengers from buses on that corner and the heavy flow of school children going in all directions from that point and we believe a traffic light is much needed there. It is worthy of very careful consideration by the city.

Business Men To Install New Officers

The recently-elected officers of the Hilltop Business Men's association will be installed at the regular meeting of the group, which will be held Tuesday evening, 6:30 in Schmelzer's restaurant.

Officers who will be installed are: L. E. Saunders, president; Curtis Roberts, vice-president; C. H. Campbell, secretary; H. G. Deems, treasurer; and Dr. E. E. McNamee, R. L. Skipper and Clarence Story, directors.

Installing officer will be Judge Cecil J. Randall. A short business meeting will follow the installation ceremony.

Eleventh Ward GOP To Elect New Officers

The annual election of officers for the Eleventh ward GOP club will be held Thursday evening, Feb. 6, at the regular business meeting.

Slates of candidates were presented at the January meeting held Thursday evening, Jan 2.

Committee No. 1, composed of T. W. Masters, Mrs. Nellie Case and Mrs. Emelia Wetterman, named the following: President, Floyd E. Robertson; first vice-president, James Sherry; second vice-president, Grace Good; corresponding secretary, Louise Balzer; recorder, Ursula Roberts; and treasurer, Lucy Smith.

Committee No. 2, composed of Sterling Good, Howard Balzer and Viola Sherry, submitted the following names: President, Floyd E. Robertson; first vice-president, Robert [illegible]; [illegible]

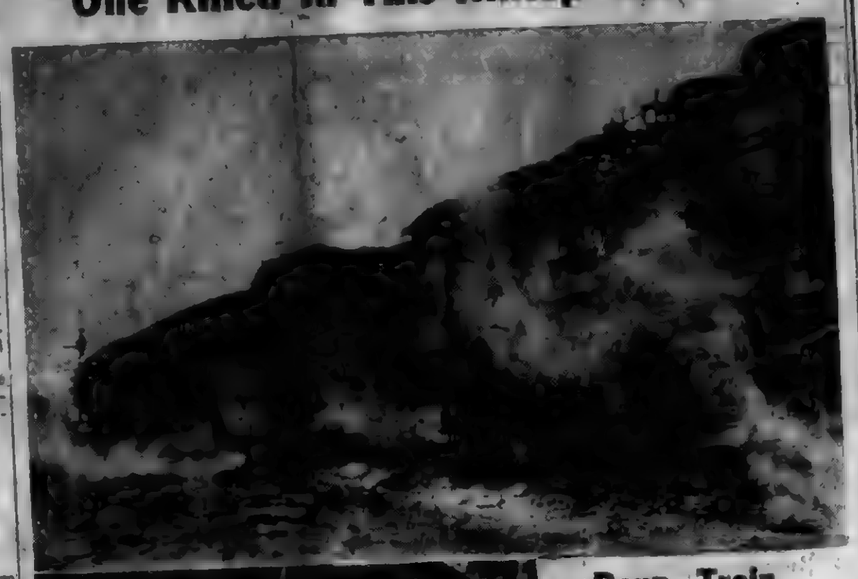
Draper Is Named Board President

Robert M. Draper

Robert M. Draper, 74 N. Roys-av, was unanimously elected president of the board of education at the meeting of that body on Tuesday. David S. Craig was elected vice-president. Both men are attorneys.

Celebrating his thirty-fifth birthday on the day of his election, Draper is one of the youngest presidents ever to be elected to the post. He has been a member of the board for a year. No salary is attached to the office.

Mrs. John L. Clifton made the nomination and Dr. Ruth St. John seconded the motion. Immediately after assuming office Draper appointed Craig chairman of the finanse committee and Joseph W. Ray and Carl J. Wirthwein, members of the committee.



He also named Mrs. Clifton head of the building committee and Pearle P. Baughman and Dr. St. John, members. Members of other committees will be named later, Draper said.

Sworn into office by Craig, Draper succeeds Baughman as president of the board.

Eleven To Be Drafted From Local Boards

The third call of the national peace-time draft scheduled for Feb. 10 to 15 will take five whites and one Negro from Draft Board 11, two whites from Board 12, and three whites from Board 13, according to estimates given to local draft boards by state selective service headquarters Wednesday.

One Killed In This Hilltop Wreck

Penn. Train Jumps Tracks Near Crossing

The Hilltop was the scene of a serious train wreck Tuesday morning when an east-bound Pennsylvania passenger train struck a derail and jumped the track near the Eureka-av crossing.

Pictured above are engine and express cars which were thrown off the tracks away from the parallel west-bound tracks. The passenger coaches did not leave the tracks.

In the picture on the left, Record reporter John Hess is interviewing the brakeman of the second [illegible], Andrew J. Mowery, 810 Leona-av, and incidentally proving that the Record does not always clip the down-town papers.

Fireman W. B. Hansman of Cincinnati was killed and Engineer Bert Van Cleaf was seriously injured when they jumped from the cab of the first engine after it had struck the derail.

It is thought that Hansman either struck his head on the corner of the tender or on the slippery track as he leaped. Had the pair remained in the cab neither would probably have been seriously injured.

Many Hilltop Students Are Active At Ohio State

Hilltop students have in the past contributed much to life at Ohio State university through their activities in various organizations and societies.

Such is the case this year.

Among the 21 outstanding junior and senior students at Ohio State who have been named to membership in Tau Beta Pi, engineering honor society, is Harry Kezeria, 47 Whitethorne-av.

Included among the new members of the Women's Glee club is Annamaye Hull, 222 S. Roys-av.

Mary Groves, 28 Midland-av, was recently awarded a key for her scholastic endeavors.

Pauline C. Kattau, 169 Binns-blvd, is a new member of Scholaris, freshman women's recognition society. Membership in the society is earned by those women students who maintain a high level of grades during the freshman year.

Recently pledged to Theta Sigma Phi, journalism honorary sorority, was Bernice J. Nieder, 137 S. Westgate-av.

Mary Crossen, 133 N. Huron-av, is the new pledge president of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. June Riffle, 337 S. Ogden-av, is secretary-treasurer of the pledge group.

Freshman activities representative of the Delta Gamma sorority pledge group is Martha Mitchell, 617 S. Burgess-av.

Among the 52 men students recently pledged to Pershing Rifles, military fraternity at Ohio State, are Richard C. McClung, 522 Hillstonia-av, and Howard F. Terry, 2108 Sullivant-av.

Roberta E. Thom, 524 Townsend-av, is a new pledge to Alpha Xi Delta sorority.

Marilyn Martin, 112 N. Harris-av, is one of several Columbus students who have been very active in the WOSU Players student dramatic organization which broadcasts radio dramas over the Ohio State university broadcasting station each Friday night.

Roy W. Rings, 70 S. Burgess-av, has been elected to the Ohio State university chapter of Gamma Sigma Delta, agricultural college honorary.

Gerald M. Johnston, 196 Binns-blvd, freshman in the college of education, made the honor roll for the autumn quarter.

George Matson Takes Oath of Office

George Matson wanted to be county commissioner from the very moment the Hilltop Record suggested that he become a candidate for that office last February.

"George" didn't want the job just because it was a job. (He has been a successful building contractor). He wanted it because it fitted perfectly into his mental picture of genuine public service.

So he cast his hat into the political ring. His many friends in the county took care of the rest.

The pictures above were taken in the Franklin county court house last Saturday morning when Matson (along with C. P. Lauderbaugh, another successful Republican candidate) took the oath of office.

The court room in which the ceremonies were held was jampacked with friends and relatives of the new commissioners. The platform was banked with a colorful array of flowers.

In his acceptance speech Matson promised the electorate "the same honest, efficient service that I have rendered as chief of the city department of building regulation in the past four years." He was sworn in by Judge Cecil J. Randall.

In the top picture Matson is taking the oath of office from Judge Randall. Below, another Hilltopper, Mayor Floyd Green, is administering the familiar "personality" hand-shake.

Matson resides with his wife and son, George Jr., at 87 N. Warren-av.

Parents To Be Held Responsible If Children Carry Firearms

As a result of the fatal shooting of Matthew Cornwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Cornwell, 2413 W. Broad-st, Dec. 21, the office of the Franklin county sheriff has indicated that it will rigidly enforce the laws relating to the sale of firearms to juveniles.

Furthermore, parents who permit their children to carry firearms will be prosecuted.

Sheriff Jacob E. Sandusky and juvenile officials are interested in breaking up the wave of recent promiscuous shooting by juveniles.

Mrs. Wertha Schreiner, 138 Hayden-av, was fined $25 by Judge Clayton W. Rose of the court of domestic relations Tuesday for permitting her son, Frank, to use a .32 calibre rifle, promiscuous firing of which resulted in the death of the Cornwell boy.

The boy's sister, Frances Ann Schreiner, was fined a similar amount for giving a boy a note to a hardware dealer permitting him to buy ammunition.

Both adults were charged with "contributing to the delinquency of juveniles."

The hardware dealer who sold the ammunition was [illegible] and charges against [illegible] parents of Eugene Sullivan, 138 Hayden-av, another boy implicated in the shooting of the Cornwell boy, were dismissed.

The two boys, Frank and Eugene, were referred to the Bureau of Juvenile Research. On the basis of the report from the bureau, they will either be placed on probation or be sent to the Boys' Industrial school.

Judge Rose described the case as one of the most difficult in his career.

Mrs. Trabue Is Taken By Death

Mrs. Vanona Trabue, 230 S. Warren-av, died Wednesday afternoon at her home after a prolonged illness. The wife of the late Charles Trabue, she lived at the Warren-av address for the past 18 years.

Funeral services will be held at Spears parlors Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Shellhaas, pastor of the Glenwood M. E. church, will conduct the services.

Burial will be in Union cemetery by Jerry Spears.

Mrs. Trabue was 72 years old at the time of her death. Her only survivor is a brother, G. A. Snyder, 376 Orchard Lane.

Record Is In New Home

The Record is in its new home at 2483-85 W. Broad-st.

Entrance to the new location is made by the walk along the west side of the Mechem Shoe store, next door to the Hilltop Lutheran church near Terrace-pl.

The building housing the new quarters sets on the rear of the lot.

The continued growth of the paper over a period of years and increased job printing business has necessitated this move to a larger building.

Several hundred more square feet of floor space have been made available by the change.

Next Year He Will Stalk Bear

Charles R. Chapman has just returned from his first trip to Pennsylvania, where, with six companions, he went deer hunting.

But it was a successful trip, because he bagged the first deer. Eventually his six companions got themselves one apiece.

Chapman is so enthused about the whole thing that next year he is determined to stalk the wily bear as well as the graceful and comparatively harmless deer.

Employed as a conductor on the Pennsylvania railroad, he lives at 124 S. Hague-av.

Eagles To Occupy New Quarters

At present being completely remodeled and redecorated with a modernistic touch here and a futuristic dash there, the [illegible] lodge 2209, Fraternal Order of Eagles, at 2354 W. Broad-st, will be ready for occupation about Feb. 1, according to Curt A. Littman, chairman of the building committee.

In conjunction with the establishment in the new quarters, members of the lodge will conduct a membership drive aiming at a 500 membership goal. The new class will be called the Conrad H. Mann class in honor of the founder of the order, who will soon celebrate his seventieth birthday.

Claude Fox is president of the local chapter.

The new lodge quarters will occupy the entire second floor of the Broad-st building.

Included among the various rooms are a large assembly hall to be used for dances and other social functions, and a new kitchen.

All furniture and fixtures will be new and there will also be a new hardwood floor. The ceiling will be entirely covered with sound-proof decorative block.

The grand opening to the public will be held shortly after the completion of remodeling operations and will be definitely announced later.

West To Meet Central In Loop Opener

Making a change of players in its defensive line-up, the West High basketball squad has prepared to meet Central in the first city league game for both teams, on the floor of the West gym.

George Cups, sophomore guard, will be inserted at a guard post in the starting line-up to strengthen the team's lagging defense at that spot. The Buckaroo quintet, which has stressed offensive play in their pre-season games, will undoubtedly exhibit fancy ball handling and fast footwork in the coming games, as follows:

Starting Line-Up

The starting team for tonight's encounter with the Central Buccaneers will show Duck Ucker in the center spot, Bud Maxwell and Jake Richards in forward positions, and Dick Smith and George Cups at the guard posts.

When the two teams take the floor, the Cowboys will try for the sixth win of the season, having to date won five and lost two games. One loss was at the

Your Independent Grocer Has Them

Fruits and vegetables, meats and staple groceries all go to make up the items your food dollar goes for each week. The wise shopper knows that the whole story is not told on the price tag. Naturally he is interested in making that food dollar go just as far as possible so he looks further than mere price appeal.

He weighs among other things the fact that the Independent Grocer has his own capital invested in his business and is therefore going to give his customer all he possibly can for his dollar in order to keep his business year after year. It is these customers of many years standing who have endorsed his business by coming again and again. Uppermost in his mind at all times is the element of quality in everything he has to sell. His years of experience have taught him that a bargain must be genuine in quality as well as price. He has included every convenience that goes to make food marketing a pleasure even to delivering purchases at the time and place ordered. He fills your orders by phone when the weather is bad and a trip to the grocery is a thing to be dreaded. What business offers you more than this.

hands of unbeaten Springfield High, whose team also downed North and Aquinas of the city league.

The reserve game will start promptly at 7:15, it was announced, and will be followed by the varsity game at 8:30.

The West High "W" association will sponsor a dance in the gymnasium, immediately following the varsity game. Music will be furnished by Jerry Johnston's band.

The squad for the Pirates will be composed of Tom Carter and Leroy Carter or Dick Wilson, forwards, Covington at center, and Murray and Tucker in the guard positions.

vice-president, Hertha Miles; corresponding secretary, Jessie Pensenschaum; recorder, Francis Myers, and treasurer, Emelia Wet-

Following the business session, the girls' choir of the Burgess-av U. B. church, under the direction of Mrs. Thomas, gave a Christmas cantata. Refreshments were served after the program.

West Side Camera Club Organized

The first meeting of the West Side Camera club was held Jan. 3 in the studios of the Cornwell-Kanode Photo shop. According to officers of the group, membership is on the increase. Five prospective members were at the meeting last week, namely Arthur Anderson, Richard Yaeger, John Kelley, Robert Kanode and David Cornwell.

The group will probably have its permanent club rooms in the Photo shop, corner W. Broad and Hague-av.

At the forthcoming meeting the matter of entering prints in the Central Ohio Salon will be discussed.

Membership in the local organization is still open and individuals interested in photography are cordially invited to attend meetings.

One Killed--

Fellow trainmen indicated that the two probably jumped because they were afraid that the engine would upset and explode the ballasts.

Murray said that the engineer had applied the "air" before the train approached the Miami crossing of the Big Four railroad. Apparently the derails had been thrown open before the ill-fated train reached the crossing, although railroad officials declined to comment before the completion of a thorough investigation.

Trainmen could not say whether or not the engineer of the lead engine knew that the signal was against him but ventured the guess that the steam might have obscured his vision.

Republican Women Install Officers

Mrs. Herman Soegaard, 587 S. Roys-av, was installed as president of the Women's Republican club of Ohio Monday night at ceremonies held in the Deshler-Wallick hotel.

Installing officer was Judge Roscoe Hornbeck. Roscoe Walcutt was toastmaster at the banquet preceding the ceremony. A reception followed.

"DEMOCRACY SAFE AND SURE"

We're facing a stern reality
Too late to think of peace
There's been tragical venility
And fighting will not cease.
We are facing a situation
To test the wisest brain
It is sure to shake this Nation,
Dealing with legions insane.

We must prevent them from spreading,
We dare not sleep at the switch
Participating we're surely dreading,
Although we're brave and rich
Three thousand miles of ocean
Protecting us from mad dogs
That'll never stop the commotion,
Neither will heavy fogs.
There'll be no protection from water

Unless we stay "till the finish"
They will maim, slay and slaughter,
The fighting will not diminish.
The insane must surrender,
England's power will then endure,
We will be her defender
To make democracy sure.

Capretta Market Installs Electric Coffee Roaster

In line with a policy of obtaining the best the market affords, the proprietor of Capretta Market, 2008 Sullivant-av, has installed a brand-new electric coffee roaster, which delivers freshly roasted coffee, "ground while you wait."

The Electrost, as it is called, is completely automatic, assuring uniformly fresh coffee at all times.

Patrons can see the Electrost roast the coffee, can hear the coffee being ground, and can smell the aroma.

There are three brands of coffee available and they are roasted and ground daily, and are ready for those customers who do not wish to wait the time it takes to roast it.

"Installation of the Electrost will afford Hilltop residents a new kind of service," Carl Capretta, the proprietor, said. "We want Hilltop people to have the best and we know they will appreciate the opportunity to get coffee which they know is really oven-fresh. We invite all to come in and see how this marvelous machine operates."

First Federal Pays $146,000 Dividend

People having savings accounts in the First Federal Savings and Loan association of Columbus shared in a distribution of more than $146,000 in dividends during 1940, according to Willard C. Eidson, president.

With the closing of its books for 1940, the First Federal added another year to a record unusual in the annals of such institutions, of having made no foreclosures on homes and having no real estate on hand acquired by foreclosure, stated Mr. Eidson.

The First Federal at the close of business Dec. 31, 1940, showed total assets of $5,983,308.19. Cash and government bonds amount to more than $400,000. First mortgage loans total $5,479,555.28, on which all interest was paid except $1306.54.

First Federal maintains its local office at 2369 W. Broad-st.

Glenwood Park Adds Activities

Several new activities have been announced to take place at the Glenwood Community house in the near future. A toy rhythm band, under the direction of Al Abrams, will be organized for children from 3 to 5 years of age. Mothers who are interested may register their children at the shelter house now.

The ladies' gym class will meet every Wednesday afternoon from 1 to 3, with Miss Hunter in charge.

All persons interested in photography are asked to contact Mr. Thomas who will conduct classes at the community house Monday and Wednesday afternoons, 3 to 6 o'clock.

Churches interested in entering a girls' basketball team in the West Church league should contact Miss Hunter for practice opportunity.

ST. ALOYSIUS MOTHERS SPONSOR BINGO PARTIES

The St. Aloysius Mothers club and the Christian Mothers of the church are serving as co-sponsors of a bingo and euchre party to be held tonight in the school annex. There will be bingo parties each Friday in January and a special gala party Friday, Feb. 7.

Girl Cagers Make Tough Opposition

The Hilltop will have strong representation in the Girls' Class "A" Independent Basketball league this season.

Games will be played at the West Market hall gymnasium each Wednesday evening. The locals who will perform under the banner of the Wylie Shroyer funeral home are pictured above.

Four members of the local team were unanimous choices for the 1940 All West Church league squad, namely Betty Scoles, Dorothy Thornton, Beula Williams and Betty Wilhelm.

Notes In Passing

We had some mighty fine neighbors down on Oakley avenue and appreciated their expressions when we moved last week . . . even down to the wee small youngster who came in about time the last load was leaving and said, "Gosh, I'm mighty sorry to see you leave." . . . But then we have some fine neighbors in our new location . . . that's just the thing about the Hilltop . . . no matter where you go you'll find a lot of fine folks.

Paul Zellers will hang our neon sign this week and thanks now go to the Hilltop Lutheran church for the privilege of using a small corner of their lot for a short time . . . and another telephone has been installed in our office to provide a little better service. Recently we determined from the phone company that we receive as high as 250 calls a day.

Punching A Time Clock

Clerk Arthur J. Yoder has installed a system whereby each employe in the clerk's office is required to check the time he or she comes to work and the time in and out at lunch as well as the quitting hour.

Mr. Yoder has the right idea. But it is too bad that persons on political jobs can't have enough respect for public confidence to make time clocks unnecessary. Where one's work is more than just a job time clocks are not necessary.

Fighting For Or Against

An acquaintance remarks that life is quite a struggle . . . just about time we get one thing settled two more pop up . . . that it is a never ending fight.

Yes, but I enjoy it. A fight is a good thing. It keeps things moving and we don't become stale.

But there's a great difference in the kind of a fight you are involved in. Ask yourself this question, are you fighting FOR something, or against something. It can be an interesting battle if you are fighting FOR something.

James Bercaw Signally Honored By De Molay

James M. Bercaw, 79 S. Richardson-av, was very signally honored on New Year's Eve when he received the Degree of Chevalier.

The Degree of Chevalier is the highest honor conferred by the Grand Council of the International Order of DeMolay upon the active members of the order. The honor cannot be applied for and is conferred by the Grand Council upon those who have performed outstanding work.

The Order of DeMolay is the second largest boys' organization in the world, being international in its scope. It is outnumbered only by the Boy Scouts. It has been an active organization in Columbus for 18 years, during which period almost 3000 boys have been members. Of this number Bercaw is the seventh to receive the Degree of Chevalier in Columbus and the first boy on the Hilltop to be so honored.

The degree was conferred upon him at the Seneca hotel on New Year's Eve by the Chevaliers of Columbus Chapter Order of DeMolay, Edgar R. Phelps presiding. A dance was given by Columbus Chapter following the conferring of the degree.

Bercaw has enlisted in Troop A, 107th Regiment, United States Cavalry and leaves for camp in February.

Sponsored by the Hilltop Business Men's association, the minstrel will be held on the evenings of March 19, 20 and 21 in West High school auditorium.

Residential Building Boom Is Expected On Hilltop In 1941

The year 1940 was the biggest residential building year since 1929, according to individuals and institutions who are in close touch with the situation and from all indications 1941 will not only be a big year but a boom year.

Building of all types, and residential building in particular, is progressing at a rapid rate on the Hilltop and its environs.

According to H. G. Deems, secretary of the First Federal Building and Loan association, 2369 W. Broad-st, residential building in 1940 showed a large increase over building in the previous year and "from all indications 1941 will be a big year on the Hilltop." "People are buying and building many houses," he said.

Shank and Saunders, real estate agents at 2459 W. Broad-st, are predicting a tremendous rise in home investments in 1941. "There is likely to be inflation due to present national and international circumstances, and consequently people are searching about for sound investments," said Mr. Shank. "There were more investments in real estate during the past six months than there were during the entire year before."

W. E. Jones, real estate agent at 2265 W. Broad-st, feels that there will be a considerable increase in real estate business and construction in 1941.

"Residential construction is on the up-turn for various reasons," said Jones. "This is due to a very real shortage of houses, a population increase and a general upward trend in business," he stated.

According to J. M. Stevens, realtor, "there is considerable activity on the Hilltop in both old and new property. All indications point to a considerable increase in residential building operations, particularly in the suburbs."

Veteran Broadcaster Has Trooped With Jack Benny and Bing Crosby

By Jean Louise Young
and Margaret Louise More

Were he to choose between radio and stage careers, "Charlie" Warren, veteran WCOL broadcaster, "would be torn between two loves."

Charlie's career began when, after graduation from high school, he trouped with such well-known favorites as Jack Benny, Phil Baker and Bing Crosby. Warren and Crosby are close friends, and of "Bing," Charlie says, "There is nothing in particular to say about "Bing" because he's as plain as an old shoe, and a grand fellow."

We trouped in the summer, Charlie Burgess and I, then in the winter months we attended Stanford university," said the former comedian in regard to his education.

Of his many radio experiences Charlie remembers most vividly a broadcast on the scene of the Ohio State penitentiary fire in 1930.

"I wasn't afraid but it was gruesome and horrible," was his comment.

Being a genuine dog lover, Charlie's conversation often has a canine twist. As he is particularly fond of beagle hounds, he boosted the Columbus Beagle association on his Inquiring Reporter broadcast, and on Aug. 15, was presented a two and a half month old Beagle puppy by the former president of the organization.

"We sent him to school at the Chicote farm to train him for rabbit-hunting," said Charlie. The dog's name is "Nosey Herman."

Before coming to Columbus, where he has been with WAIU and WCOL since 1929, he was a sports commentator for WGY in Schenectady, N. Y.

Having moved to the Hilltop two months ago, Charlie, who lives at 87 N. Westmoor-av, says he is favorably impressed with the community.

"I'm really not at home enough to meet many people, but I like the Hilltop very much," he concluded.

Omission

In listing the prizes awarded the winner of the 1941 stork derby on the Hilltop, the name of Fox Food shop, 2422 W. Broad-st, was omitted. Fox Food shop awarded a case of Clapp's strained baby food to the winner.

Dell's Hunting Fever Subsides

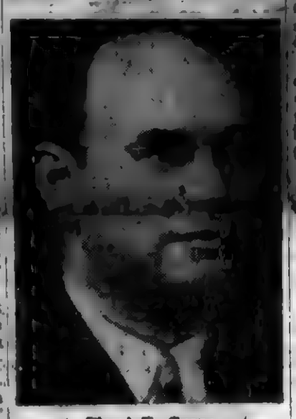
Although Dell Howard and his wife, Hilltop residents at 158 N. Harris-av, have just recently returned from a six-week sojourn in the sunny southland, Dell opines, "I wouldn't give one acre of the Darby plains for the whole state of Florida!"

This frame of mind was brought about in a large part by Dell's failure to shoot for himself a brace of Florida quail. The Hilltopper had nearly completed plans to stalk the quail in its habitat, the long swamp grass, when he chanced upon an article in an Orlando, Fla., paper, which told of a local professor, who, while hunting quail, had been bitten by a six-foot rattlesnake and narrowly escaped with his life.

The high "hunting fever" that Dell had went down to zero in an instant and it is said that nothing could make this Hilltopper get off the city sidewalks now.

Sacred Indian Lily On Display

The "Sacred Lily of India," whose phenominal capacity for growth has never ceased to bewilder plant growers, is beginning its upward flight in the window of Claggett's confectionery, 2432 Sullivant-av, where it was placed recently.



The plant belongs to Alois Hartung, 2440 Sullivant-av, an inveterate plant and flower fancier. According to him, the bulb in Claggett's window, from which the plant will grow, is unusually large and should produce a stalk from eight to 10 feet high.

When set out in the spring the bulb produces a shimmering green plant with an umbrella-like top, which trembles at the touch of the hand.

The bulb accumulates enough food during the summer to supply its needs for the winter growth. The full-grown winter plant, which at no time requires water or any kind of attention, produces a large and colorful flower.

The plant at Claggett's will retain its full growth in approximately four weeks, it is thought.

Republicans To Install New Officers

Floyd F. Green

A banquet and installation of 1941 officers have been scheduled by members of the Eleventh Ward Republican club for Tuesday night, Jan. 21, at 8 o'clock.

The meeting will be held in VFW hall, 2393½ W. Broad-st.

After a short business session Mayor Floyd F. Green will conduct an induction service. Lawrence S. Roach, 349 S. Richardson-av, will be installed as president following re-election to that office.

Other officers are as follows: C. M. Gibboney, first vice-president; Charles W. Dolby, second vice-president; Mrs. C. W. Wagner, recording secretary; John Howell, treasurer, and Adra Harper, Mose M. Williams, Arthur J. Bellar, Thomas R. King and Horace Ewain, trustees.

Following the installation ceremonies there will be an informal reception to which city officials and many other guests have been invited.

Entertainment will be by the Mills brothers, famous radio singing team.

City Inspector Succumbs

A city inspector in the office of the city engineer for 18 years, Walter John Packham, 60, of 43 N. Chase-av, died at his home Sunday. His death was the result of a stroke suffered five weeks ago.

A member of the York Lodge of Masons, Mr. Packham is survived by his wife, Mrs. Genevieve Packham; a sister, Mrs. Alice McIlrath of Chicago; a son, Pierce of Newark; two stepsons, Herman Seebaum at home; Rumsey Seebaum of San Antonio, Tex., and a step-sister, Mrs. Lytle W. Hunt, also at home.

Services were held at 2 p. m. Tuesday with burial in Walnut Grove cemetery.

Marilyn Rohr Wins Hair Dress Contest

Miss Marilyn Rohr, 255 Binns-blvd, won second prize for her hair dress in a contest sponsored by the Ohio Beauty Shops association. The award was made at the association convention held Monday evening in the Deshler-Wallick hotel.

Miss Rohr's coiffure was arranged by La Nora beauty salon.

West-South Game To Top League Sked

Regarded by most as the game to see this evening in the Columbus high school basketball league is the encounter between the South High Bulldogs and the West High Cowboys. Although the Buckaroos have an edge on paper, the Bulldogs had less trouble in the defeat of their opening game opponents than did the Westerners.

The game between Nelsonville and West, which was originally scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 15, will be played on the West floor tomorrow evening, it was announced by George Williams, Cowboy coach.

West Defeats Central

In one of the most thrilling games witnessed in the West gym in many a day, the West Cowboys started strong against the Central Pirates and when the gun for the first quarter cracked, they were out in front, 10 to 3.

The second quarter, however, found the Central Buccaneers, who were hitting the hoop at will, pass the floundering Buckaroos. The score at the half was Central 21, West 16.

Largely through the personal efforts of Duck Ucker, who managed to outrun the lanky guard who had him tied down most of the early part of the game, the score was tied at 37 all in the third quarter.

With the score tied, the fans, chewing their nails and beating each other on the back, saw West score an under-the-basket shot. But Central in a few seconds equalled the performance.

With over 1,000 thrill-crazy fans on their feet and three seconds to play, Dick Ucker passed the ball to Bud Maxwell, big West guard, who had been missing the basket all evening. Bud poised, and flipped a long one through the net.

To most of the fans that signalled the end of the game and most of them missed seeing the Central team work the ball quickly up the floor. The gun cracked a split second before one of the Central players also poised and flipped the ball, which stripped the hoop, from mid-floor!

Close Race Predicted

Since the opening games of the City league schedule have been played, the sports experts are predicting a knock-down, drag-out fight, with no school out of the running until the last game is played. With such strong competition, among the teams, the basketball fans of the city are likely to witness a number of games as exciting as the opening contests.

Hilltop's Oldest Resident Dies

Mrs. Catherine Pemberton, 97 S. Hague-av, oldest resident of the Hilltop and well-known figure in the community, succumbed Tuesday, Jan. 14, in the Mt. Carmel hospital, where she had been ill for three weeks.

Mrs. Pemberton, widow of Charles Pemberton, who invented the round mousetrap and other noteworthy gadgets, was born in Edinborough, Scotland, Sept. 13, 1843. She came from England to America when she was 35 years old.

With her husband, she moved from Newport, Ky., to Columbus and the Hilltop, where she has lived for 34 years.

Despite the fact that this veteran Hilltopper was approaching the century mark, she was very active, weeding her garden and mowing her lawn in the summer, walking to the store and playing her piano with much spirit.

The funeral services were held yesterday at 2 p. m. in the chapel of the Spears funeral home. Burial was in Greenlawn cemetery.

Survivors are a sister, Elizabeth Webb, Pueblo, Colo., and a nephew, [illegible] Butler, Niles, O.

Business Men Favor Full Aid To Britain

EDITOR'S NOTE: Richard Bast, graduating West High student, acting in the capacity of inquiring reporter, questioned several business men on the Hilltop this week regarding aid to Britain. The answers are incorporated in the following article written by him.

By Richard Bast

The popular consensus of Hilltop business men is that the United States should give all possible aid to Britain, short of man power. Your reporter received the following answers when he questioned various men on their views of the present World War:

Ray Haunts: "For the welfare of the United States and the preservation of Democracy, England has to win. I have confidence that she will do so. We should do everything to protect our present form of government. The opportunities it offers to the younger generation are rare. In Germany there is no chance to rise from one class to another."

Franklin Sparks: "Aid Britain all we can. It'll be a long, hard struggle, but England will eventually be victorious."

Harry Haney: "We should not let dollars and cents stand between us and the perfection of our defense system. Nor should we let dollars and cents stand between us and our aid to Britain."

Gene Todd: "I'm opposed to all war. This war is ridiculous. England should distribute the 75 million she spends every day, among her people and sign a peace pact. Let England help herself; I'm for the United States."

Fred Sulzberger: "We haven't started soon enough with our defense preparations. The Versailles Treaty is the cause of this war. They should have listened to Woodrow Wilson in 1918.

Walter Fleming: "To h—— with Hitler and Mussolini."

Van's Restaurant: "Give everything to Britain we can possibly spare."

Dr. J. H. Harris Succumbs After Years of Service In U. B. Church

Dr. Joseph Hastings Harris, pastor of the Hilltonia United Brethren church, was stricken Tuesday afternoon with a cerebral hemorrhage as he walked to the Hilltop Baptist church where he was to attend a meeting of the Hilltop Ministerial association.

He collapsed within two doors of a physician's office and was declared dead by the physician shortly afterward. Although he was 70 years of age, his family stated that he appeared to be in excellent health.

Dr. Harris had a long and outstanding record of service in the United Brethren church. He served churches in Hillsboro, Portsmouth, and built the Fifth Avenue U. B. church in Columbus. The Hilltonia church is also anticipating the construction of a new church which, when completed, will be a monument to Dr. Harris' work in the church since Sept. 1, 1934.

He also served as superintendent of the Southeast conference for 12 years, leaving to take up the post of president of Bonebrake Theological seminary at Dayton. Since his return to the conference, he has served as the pastor of the local church.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Bertha Hastings Harris, and four sons, Paul of Chicago; Daniel, professor of music at Otterbein college, formerly a tenor with the Metropolitan Opera; Rev. James Harris, assistant pastor of the Presbyterian church at Glen Falls, N. Y.; and Richard, a post-graduate student in the Ohio State university, at home.

The funeral was held at 3 p. m. in the Westerville U. B. church, Rev. D. S. Mills of Columbus officiating. Bishop H. R. Chippinger, Dayton, preached the sermon, Dr. P. E. Wright, conference superintendent, assisting. Rev. J. N. Boyer, Westerville, Rev. B. C. Peters, Columbus, Rev. E. B. White, Logan, and Rev. E. E. Burtner, pastor of the Burgess-av U. B. church, also participated in the service. Interment was at the Westerville cemetery by Jerry Spears.

Retired Mailman Dies In Florida

Funeral services for Forney Clark Jones, 66, of 24 S. Richardson-av, who died at St. Petersburg, Fla., Sunday while on vacation, were held in the Shroyer chapel, 2553 W. Broad-st, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A retired mailman, Mr. Jones is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Donald Dewhurst; three sisters, Mrs. Fred E. Brust, Mrs. Norma McCarry, both of Chillicothe, and Mrs. W. A. Ambrust of Washington Courthouse, and three grandchildren, Barbara, Joe and Carl.

Mr. Jones was a member of Westgate Lodge of Masons F. & A. M., Robert Morris chapter, No. 372 O. E. S., Ohio Camp 3735 Modern Woodmen of America, Branch 78 of Letter Carriers, and the Hoge Memorial Presbyterian church. He was also a Spanish American war veteran.

Rev. Alfred J. Wold of the Hoge church officiated at the funeral services and burial was in Memorial park by Wylie & Shroyer.

Flu Nears Epidemic Stage On Hilltop

The number and severity of cases of flu on the Hilltop, as in other sections of the city and the state, have increased tremendously during the past week, according to local doctors.

Several physicians, who have been on the go day and night, state that the volume of cases has reached the 1918 level, an epidemic year. The cases, however, are not as severe as they are during epidemics. With proper treatment, most cases are of only short duration.

The danger, according to physicians, lies in the fact that as the flu germ is transferred from one person to another it tends to become more virulent with the possibility of pneumonia and more serious consequences.

Dr. Nelson Dysart of the city board of health states that the present increase in flu cases is only a "seasonal increase" which always occurs about this time of year.

In order to prevent the spread of the germ persons are advised to stay away from theatres, churches or any public gathering place. Persons who are stricken are advised to go to bed and call a physician.

School Attendance Drops

The prevalence of the flu in the community is reflected in the absentee records [illegible] schools.

Early this week approximately 200 students were absent from West High school which may be compared with an average daily absence of about 70. Colds and flu are mainly responsible for the increase, it is thought.

On Monday 65 pupils were absent from Highland-av school. The average daily absence for this time of year is 35.

John Burroughs school showed a noticeable increase in absences but nothing excessive. Absent from Starling school on Monday were 174 pupils. The average is about 80.

West Junior showed only a slight increase in absences.

West Broad elementary school had a fair attendance with no appreciable increase in absences as of the first part of this week.

At both St. Mary Magdalene and St. Aloysius schools there has been an appreciable increase in absences due to flu and colds.

West Students Take Over

Appearing in the Record this week are a few articles written by 12A journalism students at West High. Others will appear in future editions.

The students, all of whom will graduate within the next week, were given the opportunity of working as staff members of the Record, for this issue, as their final journalistic effort, before graduating.

Stories were submitted by Delores Freshman, Richard Bast, Jack Morris, Margaret Louise More, Jeanne Lauer, Emma Jones, Jean Parks and Harold Koebel.

Much assistance was given in editing the social page and in reading proof by Phyllis Overmyer and Marjean Morrison.

Mayor Green Performs First Wedding Rites

In the first wedding ceremony ever performed by Floyd F. Green, mayor of the city, Miss Laurena I. Clark, state bureau of motor vehicle employe, last Thursday afternoon became the bride of Guy W. Clements, machinery salesman.

After exchanging vows in the presence of several curious city employees the newlyweds were congratulated by the ex-husband, of the bride, Samuel E. Clark, 750 N. High-st, who said: "I'm her ex-husband. I want to congratulate you, Guy. I want to congratulate you both. The best of luck to you."

The congratulations were accepted somewhat reluctantly.

Schubert attended Alabama Polytechnic Institute, graduating in 1936, and has been distribution manager for Keo-Pat, Inc., Columbus.

A salesman for the Lorenz Equipment Co., Clements chose Green to perform the ceremony because of his long acquaintance with the mayor.

The couple, who will postpone their honeymoon until summer because of business reasons, are residing at 421 Townsend av.

HOME OWNERSHIP HAS CHANGED TOO

The early settler never heard of a Mortgage Loan. His problem of home financing was principally one of getting the time and having the energy to fell the trees and hue them into logs for his cabin. Very little actual cash was needed. Today financing is the principal problem. Building is done by skilled craftsmen. Fortunately financing is easier to get today than ever before.

GIRLS TO PLAY

For the past several years there has been an organized West Church Girls' Basketball league. However, this season not enough interest has been shown by the girls and women in the churches to form individual teams.

In view of this situation, the City Recreation department decided to organize an intramural West Church Girls' Sport night. It will be possible to reach more women and girls with the intramural night than through organized league teams, it is thought, for any church member may register for an activity on Monday evenings whether there is a complete team from her church or not.

Registration will be held Monday evening, Jan. 13, at Glenwood shelter house, 7-10 o'clock.

Green With Envy Mayor Watches Others Steal Show

Contained in the "Smoke Screen," inaugural publication of Ohio Republicans, was the following article:

"How can I get anywhere politically?" wailed Mayor Green to reporters recently. "What chance have I got?" he continued.

"Look," he explained, "on the same day I ask council for $300,000, that Roosevelt asks congress for 28 billion. What chance have I got to get on the front pages?"

"Well," interposed one of his interviewers, "you have that 50 cent piece argument with Herb Daily."

"Sure," and Daily got all the publicity out of that. What chance has a man got?" he demanded.

West Principal Gives Views On National Defense

By Jack Morris

As the question of national defense becomes more prominent every day and with some talk of installing a national preparedness program in the high schools in the future the opinion of Dr. H. H. Reighley, the principal of West High School, was secured upon the subject.

Dr. Reighley gave his opinions on five basic questions. The first one was: "What do you think about installing a national defense program in the public high schools?" He answered that he thought when the time comes that a program of this kind will be necessary the public high schools will be able to handle such a program without much difficulty.

Second: "Do you think such a program would benefit the school and if so, how?"

To this he replied that it would create good will in the community because the program would bring the people closer together, but on the other hand the cost to the school would be greater because there would be considerable more use of shop machinery.

Third: "Would the program alter the present set-up of the courses given in the high schools or would it just be added as an additional course?"

Dr. Reighley said that if and when such a course as this is given it would probably be added as an additional course or else it would take the place of some other minor course?"

Fourth: "Do you think it would be better to have two years of training in high school or one year, as it is given in the army camps now?"

His reply to this query was that he believed the present set-up was adequate for taking care of the problem without putting the defense training in the schools and also that he believed that the educational program that the high schools were carrying at the present was capable of training a young person sufficiently so that he would be able to take his place in this defense-crazy world without taking such training in high school.

Fifth: "Would the program be of practical value in strengthening the country's defense measures?"

Dr. Reighley answered that he thought if such a program were incorporated it would be of great value in strengthening the country's defense measures.

"The Picture Show Cowboy"

The life of a cowboy is dangerous
Those dangers I now recall
And they dress him up too nifty
In his picture on the wall.
Yup, don't like fancy trimmings
Out on the plains anywhere.
A real cowboy on the prairie
Doesn't have fine clothes to wear.

You can't work hard and look nifty,
The prairie has gopher holes,
To step in one means a tumble
And through the dust he rolls
That accident occurs quite frequent,
A hazard all cowboys fear
And cattle may stampede any moment,
Especially when storms appear.

With pistols and fancy clothing
The cowboy is put on display,
That's why young boys act foolish
And mimic a western fray.
Some day we'll hear of them riding
Toy pistols exchanged for lead.
They have ceased to be law abiding
And now our cowboy is dead.

Scouts Get Free Swimming Instructions

Columbus Boy Scouts will have the opportunity again this year to receive swimming and life saving instruction at the natatorium, Ohio State university, every Saturday morning, beginning Jan. 18, from 9 to 10 a. m. Members of the Kalinonkwat Lodge, Order of the Arrow, national brotherhood of Boy Scout honor campers, under the leadership of Eagle Scout Bruce Huffinger, lodge chief, will be in charge.

Non-swimmers who want to learn how to swim and merit badge Scouts who want instruction and practice in order to qualify for swimming merit badge and life saving merit badge should enroll. There will be no cost to the Scouts and certified American Red Cross instructors will teach and examine.

At the present time local Scouts have the privilege of witnessing Ohio State university home basketball games at the fairgrounds coliseum where they serve as ushers. C. M. Sell, veteran Scouter, is in charge of this phase of civic service and has charge of assignments inside the coliseum. Application to usher should be made in advance at the Scout office with the same regulations applying as for the football ushering service. Scouts must be at least Second Class rank and report for duty in complete Scout uniform at 6:30 the evening of games.

Plans for Boy Scout week, Feb. 7 to 13, are being made in Scout Troops, Cub Packs and Sea Scout Ships locally and nationally. The thirty-first anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America will be observed Feb. 8 and all Scouting units will participate in religious service in Scout Sunday, Feb. 9. Old-timer reunions, family get-togethers and other special meetings will be held during the anniversary week.

Camp Chase To Sponsor Rifle Team

Commander M. P. Heck this week appointed William J. Heck, 681 S. Terrace-st, as chairman of the Junior Rifle team committee. Heck, a veteran rifleman and a member of several rifle clubs in central Ohio, has called a meeting of all sons and daughters of Legion members who are under 19 years of age and interested in the sport. The meeting will be held at the Legion club, 2184 W. Broad-st, Saturday, Jan. 18, at 2 p. m.

In a statement this week Mr. Heck said that in all his experience in rifle shooting he has never seen an accident on a supervised rifle range. He also stated that if boys and girls were properly instructed that accidents such as happened recently in this community would never happen again. The Legion sponsors rifle matches each year for both junior and senior teams.

The Legion's essay contest, open to students of junior and senior high school, will close Feb. 12. This year's subject is "Lincoln and the Constitution." Camp Chase post sponsors this contest each year in the schools of this community, offering prizes for the best essay submitted from each of the grades. The State department awards a 10-day trip to Washington, D. C., for the best essay submitted by one boy and one girl in each grade.

Camp Chase post meets tonight to discuss plans for a big party planned for February. Clarence Lytle and V. S. Piscus are in charge.

Rings Appointed Graduate Assistant

Roy W. Rings, who graduated from West High school in 1934, was recently appointed graduate assistant in the department of zoology and entomology at Ohio State.

Rings has been working toward a doctor's degree in entomology since he received his M. Sc. degree in March, 1940. He was employed last spring and summer by the Ohio State research foundation as a research fellow investigating commercial insecticides which may be valuable in controlling certain types of insects. He is also a co-editor of the "Buckeye," the graduate entomological news of Ohio State, and is a member of Gamma Sigma Delta, national agricultural honorary fraternity.

MOTHERSINGERS TO REHEARSE

This organization is one of the first aid units of the city. The city administration, county officials and state officials have signified their intention of using this unit in case of a major disaster of any kind and whole-heartedly approve the organization of this type of service unit.

In time of an emergency in the community the public is requested to notify the commander or any of the unit vice-commanders at once.

Safety Program

Past Commander Ray F. McVay, who is chairman of the Camp Chase post, American Legion safety committee, announces an intensified program for safe driving.

The Legion will furnish windshield stickers denoting "drive carefully" and in the near future expects to have a safety show for the children of the Hilltop, the date to be announced at a later time.

The Columbus police department and the state highway patrol have expressed their appreciation for the Legion safety campaign and are cooperating wholeheartedly.

The committee will cooperate with the schools in an educational program which will get under way in the very near future.

After Graduation, What Next?

Last night several hundred more Columbus high school students received their diplomas and awaited the answer to the question, "After graduation, what?".

Someone remarks that here are just several hundred more young men and women thrown into the already crowded ranks of the unemployed.

But consider, please, how many of these graduates will await the answer to the above question, and how many will start right out looking for it? It stands to reason that a satisfactory answer will be found if an effort is made to find it.

Use For Old Christmas Trees

Worn-out Christmas trees may seem like a thing of the past, but we have discovered an enjoyable and practical use for them. Cut the tree into branch-size pieces, stove them away and use them as the occasion demands as an incense-fuel for that open fireplace.

Just before "company" is due, throw another branch on the fire and watch your guests wrinkle their noses in delight as they step into an atmosphere of Northern Woods.

Refresh Yourself In The Ozone

This rainy weather is the flu-bug's joy, much to the disgust of the many who have been confined to their homes as a result of his activities. Nevertheless, I enjoyed a bit of selfish pleasure for a moment the other p. m. as I walked through the fine mist that drifted over the Hilltop.

"It droppeth as the gentle rain from Heaven" is an apt phrase because nothing can quite compare with the raindrops as they fall earthward, cooling as they drop. Take a stroll the next easy rain we have and see if you don't come back refreshed and relaxed from this bit of contact with the elements.

Song For A

Donald Dickson closed his well-chosen program Tuesday eve with a timely melody, "I Heard a Forest Praying." It is the plea of the tree that it never become again a cross that must mark a battlefield.

It brought an already stirring program to a more thrilling close and revealed the effect that music has upon the emotion of the audience. It was as if Mr. Dickson had pronounced the benediction; the audience arose as a body and left the hall with the fervent plea of nature itself ringing in their ears, that the tree remain forever a beauty of nature and not the symbol of hate and bloodshed.

The Columbus Drum and Bugle corps, under the auspices of Camp Chase Post, held a practice session Wednesday night in the Glenwood shelter house.

Approximately 40 members, who are affiliated with the Camp Chase, Franklin, Southway, Circleville, and Chillicothe posts, participated. Brand new drum and bugle equipment, valued at $1000, has been secured for members.

The purpose of the organization, according to Irwin "Benny" Deems, commander and business manager of the corps, is to "make available a real outstanding drum corps representing Columbus and central Ohio." Deems resides at 287 N. Harris-av.

The first official appearance of the group will be made on Memorial day and plans are being made to attend the state convention of the American Legion at Youngstown in August and the national convention at Milwaukee in September.

Musical director is Harry Biddle, 121 S. Warren-av.

He received a fractured right leg, skull injuries and a compound fracture of the left arm. According to police, the car which struck him was driven by Martha Halverson, 2982 Parkside-rd.

Death of Hilltop's Oldest Resident Brings Back Memories of Camp Chase

By Harold Kessel

The death of Mrs. Catherine Pemberton, 87 S. Hague-av, the oldest resident in the community, who, up to the time of her death, resided in the only remaining building of old Camp Chase, brings back memories of the part that this section played in the American Civil War.

The part that Camp Chase played in the war was a considerable one, if not exactly a noble one. Life at Camp Chase was not happy in any sense of the word.

Dark clouds of fear and suffering hung perpetually over the heads of the prisoners.

Even torture and persecution had their places in the grim picture of war which hurled fellow-countryman against fellow-countryman.

Camp Four Miles Out

Shortly after the outbreak of the Civil War the United States government purchased land for a large camp four miles west of the city of Columbus. This was called Camp Chase in honor of Salmon P. Chase, then secretary of the treasury, and former governor of Ohio.

Buildings began springing up, dotting the 160-acre tract of land. Recruits began flooding in and Camp Chase was already a full-fledged war camp.

Rations were not sufficient and soldiers began plundering the nearby farms. All signs of poultry and transportable farm stock mysteriously disappeared from the surrounding countryside.

The story is told of the farmer whose corn field was stripped of its crop. He happened upon a group of soldiers cooking some of the stolen corn in a nearby field. On questioning them the farmer discovered that they had had nothing to eat but bread and water at the camp.

Columbus newspapers launched a crusade against conditions at Camp Chase, particularly in the army hospital. Underfed soldiers are not always patriotic and at Camp Chase there were cases of mutiny which at times approached open rebellion. Many soldiers refused to leave for the front lines until they were paid.

Early in 1863, due to the efforts of such men as Col. Moody and Col. Allison, conditions at the camp began to improve. Larger prison quarters were constructed, the camp was thoroughly cleaned and the board-fence enclosure was white-washed.

Cry For Blood

In March a large group of prisoners arrived at the camp and among these were several of Morgan's feared and hated raiders. Feeling in Columbus ran high and the newspapers took up the cry for blood. Following is an editorial opinion on the matter:

"These murders should receive the severest punishment as an example to deter those who may be similarly disposed to wage savage warfare. Shoot them down like dogs, or make them stretch hemp on the scaffold, and there will be less complaint of these marauding bands . . ."

After an investigation of conditions at camp, it was revealed that 50 negroes had been incarcerated, serving as slaves to their imprisoned masters.

The "Crisis", a contemporary newspaper, described the "horrible" conditions which prevailed.

In the prison there was a much-feared dungeon. It was a dark, wooden, air-tight structure, built over a mud hole. There were a series of small augur holes in the floor, through which some fresh air could enter. A small

Two Hilltop Boys Describe Life With the U. S. Army Air Corps

Two young men from the Hilltop enlisted in the United States Aviation Corps recently and on Jan. 17 left for Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala. They are Glenn V. Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wagner, 141 N. Powell-av, and George W. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. King, 122 S. Westgate-av.

They are representative of thousands of young men in this country who are anxious for adventure and to be of service to their country. Their letters home to parents and friends evidence a healthy enthusiasm for their role in national defense.

The boys enlisted in the air corps, because they felt that chances for advancement would be better than in the older branches of the service.

According to present arrangements, they will both remain at Maxwell Field for a period of three months and will then be assigned to one of several other fields for nine months of schooling as determined by individual aptitudes.

Following are excerpts from a letter written home by Glenn Wagner in which he describes life in camp:

"There is so much going on that I am only going to wish you well and hope you are. I will tell you a few of the most important and exciting facts and you can write me questions if you feel, for otherwise it would take at least 40 pages.

"This place is so big you would hardly believe it. There is every kind of airplane that is made, and they fly constantly, ten or twelve overhead at any time. The post is very beautiful, about ten years old, and all buildings of Spanish style. It is strikingly lovely and seems to be a city in itself, very restricted to the public.

"The influx of men was so rapid that housing is not yet ready and we live in warm, snug, board-sided tents. I like men, non coms, and officers very much.

Jim Cooper Gives Safety Talks To School Children

Jim Cooper, 522 Belvidere-av, WBNS news commentator, is giving a series of safety talks to groups of school children through the loudspeaker of a police department safety car.

In his speeches, which he plans to give each school day, Cooper is appealing to the help of children in decreasing the number of traffic fatalities in 1941.

While speaking to the children of John Burroughs school last Friday, he said: "You boys and girls had a splendid record for safety last year, because out of the 54 fatal accidents which occurred, only two children were killed; all the rest were adults."

Accompanying Jim on his rounds are Sgt. Knight and Officer Watts of the police department.

Hillcrest Men To Banquet

The Men's class of the Hillcrest Baptist church will fete members and friends with an oyster supper Friday evening, Jan. 24, at 7 o'clock, in the basement of the church.

Dr. Mark David Godfrey, of the Physicians' bureau, will be the principal speaker of the evening. Dr. Godfrey has participated in extensive explorations in Egypt and offers an interesting and enlightening story of discovery in relation to Biblical history.

GRADUATED FROM WEST

Geraldine Layne, 1905 Floral-av, and Paul Treesnrider, 291 S. Wayne-av, graduated from West High school at the mid-year ceremonies which were held yesterday evening in Memorial hall.

These names were unintentionally omitted from the list of graduating seniors published in the edition of Jan. 10.

Central Area Scouts To Have Annual Meet

Paul E. Brown, recently selected as head football coach at Ohio State university, will be the principal speaker and honored guest at the annual meeting and dinner of the Central Ohio Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, Thursday, Feb. 6, at the Columbus YWCA on S. Fourth-st.

All Scouters, Cubbers and friends of the Boy Scout movement in the eight counties which constitute the local council are invited to attend.

Again this year the award of the Silver Beaver for distinguished service to boyhood will be made to three outstanding volunteer Scout workers. Other features of the annual meeting will include the award of the president's citation of merit to qualified troops and the election of council officials, for the ensuing year. Special music will be provided and reservations can be made at the Scout office.

Phil S. Bradford, council president, will preside. The nominating committee is composed of Scott Krauss, Leon C. Roy, and Renick Dunlap. They will make recommendations for the offices of council president, vice-president and treasurer and new members of the executive board will be elected.

The committee appointed to select two recipients of the Silver Beaver award include C. C. Hartley, Ralph Gantz, C. J. Setzer, R. B. Howard, A. G. Starrett, W. Roy Diem, Rev. John A. Stuart, Thos. H. Craig and Willis Kilpatrick. Names of the men who will receive this high honor will be withheld until the meeting.

The annual report of Scouting in central Ohio during 1940 will be submitted by Robert M. Heistand, Scout executive. This will include a record of the accomplishments of the year together with the proposed objectives for the coming year. The public is invited.

West To Try For Second League Win

The West Cowboys will be gunning for their second win in the city league race when they meet the East Bengals on the West floor this evening. Although the Westerners have the edge on paper, the Tigers will be at full strength and will "Have everything to win, nothing to lose," when they attempt to garner their first victory in four loop games.

Jake Richards, star Buckaroo forward, who was out of most of the pre-league games with a shoulder injury, will probably be out of the line-up for a considerable length of time.

Win One; Lose Two

Playing three games in five days, the Westerners had their first city loop defeat at the hands of the South Bulldogs, who lead the league to date, by the score of 43-32. Duck Ucker was ejected from the game in the opening minutes of the third period on personal fouls and although the Cowboys tried desperately to rally their forces, the cause was lost.

Bouncing back from their Friday defeat, the Buckaroos, led by Duck Ucker, who was high man for the evening with 22 points, had little difficulty corralling the Nelsonville quintet. All but one of the West varsity players scored before the contest ended.

In their third league game, the Bucks met the Aquinas Terriers, who put on one of the most devastating exhibitions of breaking up offensive play seen by the West supporters this season. The final score was Aquinas 43, West 24.

After Tuesday's game, South led the loop with three wins, North and Aquinas followed with two wins and one loss, West and Central showed one win and two losses, while East brought up the rear with none for three.

Retired Tailor Dies Tuesday

Oscar Schoppelrei, 65, of 75 S. Westmoor-av, a retired tailor, died Tuesday night in Mt. Carmel hospital after a brief illness.

He was a native of Columbus and was a member of the Buckeye Fishing Club and the Catholic Order of Foresters.

Surviving him are a son, Ferd Schoppelrei, assistant secretary of the Columbus Eagles, and two daughters, Rosemary and Jean Ann Schoppelrei.

Funeral services to be held this morning in St. Mary Magdalene church, with burial in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Appointment of Dr. R. G. Brower, 44 N. Chase-av, as a member of the City Boxing and Wrestling commission for a term beginning Jan. 31 and expiring Jan. 31, 1944, was announced recently by Mayor Green.

The appointment is subject to confirmation by city council.

Woman Overcome By Gas Fumes

Mrs. Albert W. Lewis, 53, of 57 N. Guilford-av, collapsed in her home Tuesday night after being overcome by gas from a kitchen stove.

She was found slumped in a chair at the kitchen table by her husband who had been asleep in the living room, according to Fire Captain C. H. Eckstorm.

The inhalator squad administered aid for 30 minutes.

Mrs. Lewis' condition was described as fair.

Boys Receive Instruction On Use of Rifles

W. J. Heck, chairman of the rifle committee of the Camp Chase post, spoke to a group of Hilltop Boy Scouts Wednesday evening, Jan. 15, at the Legion hall.

He gave a brief outline of the origin and development of the rifle from the time of its invention in 1520 to the present date. He also stressed the need for caution in handling firearms.

On Saturday, Jan. 18, he spoke to sons of Legionnaires on rifle marksmanship and ballistics.

Republican Club Installs Officers

The induction services, which were held Tuesday night at the VFW hall, 2393½ W. Broad-st, were conducted by Mayor Floyd F. Green.

Mose Williams acted as toastmaster and introduced all state, county and city officials and other distinguished guests who were present on the occasion.

45 Hilltoppers To Be Inducted Into Army

A group of 45 Hilltop men found themselves in the army this week as the result of recent quotas set for this community under the provisions of the Selective Service act.

The last induction took place in November when only nine men from the Hilltop were called into service.

England Will Win In '41, Local Woman Tells King

Mrs. Minnie Davis, 371 Dana-av, who recently made the unique claim of being the first person in the country to congratulate President Roosevelt on his re-election—in fact she sent her congratulatory message to the White House four days before the election was actually held—has now taken the British empire's King George into tow.

Mrs. Davis claims to have been born with the "veil" and is thus adept in the art of reading the future.

Following is an excerpt from a letter mailed to England's monarch on Nov. 22:

King George
Dear Sir:

As I have made other predictions which have come true (as you see by the enclosed clippings) I would like to try and ease your mind, if I may.

Conditions are so dark in your country and your and your people's hearts are so heavy, I would like to say that God is going to give you strength to conquer your present enemies.

So just be of good cheer, for the sun is going to shine your way before the year 1942 rolls in . . . I pray constantly for you and your people and I know you will come out victorious in the end and the war will surely end by 1942 . . .

I am writing to you as though you were a member of my own family and will be praying for you and your people and He will bestow his blessing upon you in your hour of need . . .

Look forward in the New Year for happiness and prosperity. I remain a sincere American friend.

Minnie Davis
371 Dana-av
Columbus, O.

To date Mrs. Davis has not had a reply from King George but she hopes to have one very soon. In reply to her letter of congratulation to President Roosevelt early in November, Mrs. Davis received a letter of thanks from the president's secretary, Stephen Early.

De Shetler Seeks Re-Election As Federation Head

I. L. De Shetler, one of the youngest presidents of international unions in the country, the Federation of Glass, Silica and Sand Workers, a CIO affiliate, 85 E. Gay-st, will be a candidate for president to succeed himself at the referendum election Feb. 4. He was elected in December, 1939.

It has not been announced whether Mr. De Shetler will have opposition. He is spokesman for some 22,000 men and women in the major glass plants of the country.

Mr. De Shetler is married and has two daughters. They reside at 156 S. Southampton-av.

Negro Dentist Succumbs

Funeral services for Dr. Harold J. Warren, 47, of 209 Highland-av, Negro dentist, who died Saturday in White Cross hospital, were held Monday at the residence with the Rev. Harrison G. Payne officiating. Burial was in Tazwell, Va.

Dr. Warren, a member of the Elks Lodge, came here a year ago from Huntington, W. Va. He was a graduate of Bluefield State Teachers College, Bluefield, W. Va., and of Meharry Medical college, Nashville, Tenn.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Regelia Warren; a daughter, Yvonne; a son Harold J., jr.; a sister Mrs. K. Evelyn Warren De Loache, and three brothers, Campbell Felix and Richard Warren.

After Graduation, What Next?

Last night several hundred more Columbus high school students received their diplomas and awaited the answer to the question, "After graduation, what?".

Someone remarks that here are just several hundred more young men and women thrown into the already crowded ranks of the unemployed.

But consider, please, how many of these graduates will await the answer to the above question, and how many will start right out looking for it? It stands to reason that a satisfactory answer will be found if an effort is made to find it.

Use For Old Christmas Trees

Worn-out Christmas trees may seem like a thing of the past, but we have discovered an enjoyable and practical use for them. Cut the tree into branch-size pieces, store them away and use them as the occasion demands as an incense-fuel for that open fireplace.

Just before "company" is due, throw another branch on the fire and watch your guests wrinkle their noses in delight as they step into an atmosphere of Northern Woods.

Refresh Yourself In The Open

This rainy weather is the flu-bug's joy, much to the disgust of the many who have been confined to their homes as a result of his activities. Nevertheless, I enjoyed a bit of selfish pleasure for a moment the other p. m. as I walked through the fine mist that drifted over the Hilltop.

"It droppeth as the gentle rain from Heaven" is an apt phrase because nothing can quite compare with the rain-drops as they fall earthward, cooling as they drop. Take a stroll the next easy rain we have and see if you don't come back refreshed and relaxed from this bit of contact with the elements.

Song For A Rainy Sunday

Donald Dickson closed his well-chosen program Tuesday eve with a timely melody, "I Heard a Forest Praying." It is the plea of the tree that it never become again a cross that must mark a battlefield.

It brought an already stirring program to a more thrilling close and revealed the effect that music has upon the emotion of the audience. It was as if Mr. Dickson had pronounced the benediction; the audience arose as a body and left the hall with the fervent plea of nature itself ringing in their ears, that the tree remain forever a beauty of nature and not the symbol of hate and bloodshed.

Death of Hilltop's Oldest Resident Brings Back Memories of Camp Chase

By Harold Koebel

The death of Mrs. Catherine Pemberton, 57 S. Hague-av, the oldest resident in the community, who, up to the time of her death, resided in the only remaining building of old Camp Chase, brings back memories of the part that this section played in the American Civil War.

The part that Camp Chase played in the war was a considerable one, if not exactly a noble one. Life at Camp Chase was not happy in any sense of the word.

Dark clouds of fear and suffering hung perpetually over the heads of the prisoners.

Even torture and persecution had their places in the grim picture of war which hurled fellow-countryman against fellow-countryman.

Camp Four Miles Out

Shortly after the outbreak of the Civil War the United States government purchased land for a large camp four miles west of the city of Columbus. This was called Camp Chase in honor of Salmon P. Chase, then secretary of the treasury, and former governor of Ohio.

Buildings began springing up, dotting the 160-acre tract of land. Recruits began flooding in and Camp Chase was already a full-fledged war camp.

Rations were not sufficient and soldiers began plundering the nearby farms. All signs of poultry and transportable farm stock mysteriously disappeared from the surrounding countryside.

The story is told of the farmer whose corn field was stripped of its crop. He happened upon a group of soldiers cooking some of the stolen corn in a nearby field.

On questioning them the farmer discovered that they had had nothing to eat but bread and water at the camp.

Columbus newspapers launched a crusade against conditions at Camp Chase, particularly in the army hospital. Underfed soldiers are not always patriotic and at Camp Chase there were cases of mutiny which at times approached open rebellion. Many soldiers refused to leave for the front lines until they were paid.

Early in 1863, due to the efforts of such men as Col. Moody and Col. Allison, conditions at the camp began to improve. Larger prison quarters were constructed, the camp was thoroughly cleaned and the board-fence enclosure was white-washed.

Cry For Blood

In March a large group of prisoners arrived at the camp and among these were several of Morgan's feared and hated raiders. Feeling in Columbus ran high and the newspapers took up the cry for blood. Following is an editorial opinion on the matter:

"These murders should receive the severest punishment as an example to deter those who may be similarly disposed to wage savage warfare. Shoot them down like dogs, or make them stretch hemp on the scaffold, and there will be less complaint of these marauding bands . . ."

After an investigation of conditions at camp, it was revealed that 50 negroes had been incarcerated, serving as slaves to their imprisoned masters.

The "Crisis", a contemporary newspaper, described the "horrible" conditions which prevailed.

In the prison there was a much-feared dungeon. It was a dark, wooden, air-tight structure, built over a mud hole. There were a series of small augur holes in the floor, through which some fresh air could enter. A small

Two Hilltop Boys Describe Life With the U. S. Army Air Corps

Two young men from the Hilltop enlisted in the United States Aviation Corps recently and on Jan. 17 left for Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala. They are Glenn V. Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wagner, 141 N. Powell-av, and George W. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. King, 122 S. Westgate-av.

They are representative of thousands of young men in this country who are anxious for adventure and to be of service to their country. Their letters home to parents and friends evidence a healthy enthusiasm for their role in national defense.

The boys enlisted in the air corps, because they felt that chances for advancement would be better than in the older branches of the service.

According to present arrangements, they will both remain at Maxwell Field for a period of three months and will then be assigned to one of several other fields for nine months of schooling as determined by individual aptitudes.

Following are excerpts from a letter written home by Glenn Wagner in which he describes life in camp:

"There is so much going on that I am only going to wish you well and hope you are. I will tell you a few of the most important and exciting facts and you can write me questions for the rest, for, otherwise it would take at least 40 pages.

"This place is so big you would hardly believe it. There is every kind of airplane that is made, and they fly constantly, ten or twelve overhead at any time. The post is very beautiful, about ten years old, and all buildings of Spanish style. It is strikingly lovely and seems to be a city in itself, very restricted to the public.

"The influx of men was so rapid that housing is not yet ready and we live in warm, snug, board-sided tents. I like men, non coms, and officers very much.

Jim Cooper Gives Safety Talks To School Children

Jim Cooper, 522 Belvidere-av, WBNS news commentator, is giving a series of safety talks to groups of school children through the loudspeaker of a police department safety car.

In his speeches, which he plans to give each school day, Cooper is appealing to the help of children in decreasing the number of traffic fatalities in 1941.

While speaking to the children of John Burroughs school last Friday, he said: "You boys and girls had a splendid record for safety last year, because out of the 54 fatal accidents which occurred, only two children were killed; all the rest were adults."

Accompanying Jim on his rounds are Sgt. Knight and Officer Watts of the police department.

Central Area Scouts To Have Annual Meet

Paul E. Brown, recently selected as head football coach at Ohio State university, will be the principal speaker and honored guest at the annual meeting and dinner of the Central Ohio Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, Thursday, Feb. 6, at the Columbus YWCA on S. Fourth-st.

All Scouters, Cubbers and friends of the Boy Scout movement in the eight counties which constitute the local council are invited to attend.

Again this year the award of the Silver Beaver for distinguished service to boyhood will be made to three outstanding volunteer Scout workers. Other features of the annual meeting will include the award of the president's citation of merit to qualified troops and the election of council officials, for the ensuing year. Special music will be provided and reservations can be made at the Scout office.

Phil S. Bradford, council president, will preside. The nominating committee is composed of Scott Krauss, Leon C. Roy, and Renick Dunlap. They will make recommendations for the offices of council president, vice-president and treasurer and new members of the executive board will be elected.

The committee appointed to select two recipients of the Silver Beaver award include C. C. Hartley, Ralph Gantz, C. J. Setzer, R. B. Howard, A. G. Starrett, W. Roy Diers, Rev. John A. Stuart, Thos. H. Craig and Willis Kilpatrick. Names of the men who will receive this high honor will be withheld until the meeting.

The annual report of Scouting in central Ohio during 1940 will be submitted by Robert H. Heistand, Scout executive. This will include a record of the accomplishments of the year together with the proposed objectives for the coming year. The public is invited.

West To Try For Second League Win

The West Cowboys will be gunning for their second win in the city league race when they meet the East Bengals on the West floor this evening. Although the Westerners have the edge on paper, the Tigers will be at full strength and will "Have everything to win, nothing to lose," when they attempt to garner their first victory in four loop games.

Jake Richards, star Buckaroo forward, who was out of most of the pre-league games with a shoulder injury, will probably be out of the line-up for a considerable length of time.

Win One; Lose Two

Playing three games in five days, the Westerners had their first city loop defeat at the hands of the South Bulldogs, who lead the league to date, by the score of 43-32. Duck Ucker was ejected from the game in the opening minutes of the third period on personal fouls and although the Cowboys tried desperately to rally their forces, the cause was lost.

Bouncing back from their Friday defeat, the Buckaroos, led by Duck Ucker, who was high man for the evening with 22 points, had little difficulty corralling the Nelsonville quintet. All but one of the West varsity players scored before the contest ended.

In their third league game, the Bucks met the Aquinas Terriers, who put on one of the most devastating exhibitions of breaking up offensive play seen by the West supporters this season. The final score was Aquinas 43, West 24.

After Tuesday's game, South led the loop with three wins, North and Aquinas followed with two wins and one loss, West and Central showed one win and two losses, while East brought up the rear with none for three.

England Will Win In '41, Local Woman Tells King

Mrs. Minnie Davis, 271 Dana-av, who recenty made the unique claim of being the first person in the country to congratulate President Roosevelt on his re-election—in fact she sent her congratulatory message to the White House four days before the election was actually held—has now taken the British empire's King George into tow.

Mrs. Davis claims to have been born with the "veil" and is thus adept in the art of reading the future.

Following is an excerpt from a letter mailed to England's monarch on Nov. 22:

King George
Dear Sir:

As I have made other predictions which have come true (as you see by the enclosed clippings) I would like to try and ease your mind, if I may.

Conditions are so dark in your country and your and your people's hearts are so heavy, I would like to say that God is going to give you strength to conquer your present enemies.

So just be of good cheer, for the sun is going to shine your way before the year 1942 rolls in . . . I pray constantly for you and your people and I know you will come out victorious in the end and the war will surely end by 1942 . . .

I am writing to you as though you were a member of my own family and will be praying for you and your people and He will bestow his blessing upon you in your hour of need . . .

Look forward in the New Year for happiness and prosperity. I remain a sincere American friend.

Minnie Davis
271 Dana-av
Columbus, O.

To date Mrs. Davis has not had a reply from King George but she hopes to have one very soon. In reply to her letter of congratulation to President Roosevelt early in November, Mrs. Davis received a letter of thanks from the president's secretary, Stephen Early.

hole in the top permitted the foul air to escape.

The health of prisoners thrown into the dungeon was usually impaired permanently. One man who was thrown into the dungeon spent 48 hours with his nose pressed close to one-of the augur holes.

Epidemic Broke Out

In 1863 an epidemic broke out in the camp and scores of soldiers and prisoners were confined to the "pest house." The coffin makers were busy and stacks of coffins were kept in the barracks ready to receive the bodies as the men died. Many deaths occurred every day.

Prisoners caught trying to make an escape were suspended by their thumbs, shot in the legs or bound and gagged and left in that condition for hours at a time.

A prisoner expressed himself in no uncertain terms regarding conditions in the camp:

"I have no words at my command with which to describe the horrors of the Yankee prison at Camp Chase. One would have to follow Dante in his descent to Hell, and the wanderings among its inmates, to find an approach to it."

As a silent reminder of the time when Camp Chase was one of the most dreaded prisons in the Union, there is an old cemetery on Sullivant-av, in which 5000 men of the Confederacy are buried. These are silent testimonials to the fact that war is nothing glorious.

ARMY LIFE—

"I have found many things that I have to buy, and have gotten some. Will use all of them as long as I am in the service. The place simply reeks with southern drawl, but it isn't hard to find an Ohioan, I'm surprised how well I like it all here. Don't know how it will be in a while, but for a month or so I will not have time to get homesick.

"Weather is damp, rainy, and colder than you could imagine. That 'Sunny South' business is a lot of tripe."

"PAY YOUR FARE"

He was traveling light on a freight, one night,
The train men called him a bum
I don't know his name, from whence he came
But he had no companion nor chum.
He was traveling alone, listening to the drone,
The song of wheels on rails
The story is sad about this poor lad,
It is hard to recite the details.

I cannot tell, just why he fell,
It caused strong men to weep.
Perhaps a jar knocked him from the car,
They carried him away asleep.
I saw him that night in the hospital so white,
Both legs cut off at the knee,
Doctors were through, before he came to.
A pitiful sight to see.

He made a scream, like in a bad dream
When he saw his feet were gone,
Reason left his head, he would leave the bed,
It took several to hold him on.
I saw him that night, in the hospital so white,
I would never look at another.
We bowed our head, when these words he said,
"Break the news gently to Mother."

That is a premise upon which our country came into being and one that is just as good today in the business world as in the political world.

The Independent Retail Grocer pioneered your community. His dollars were invested here when there was little assurance that the Hilltop would grow to be the prosperous section of Columbus that it has come to be. He has labored for every forward movement that has put the Hilltop on the map. His progress today depends on your continued and renewed patronage. He offers you the best. Give him a try.

Are Are Still Opportunities

Nearly 300 students filed across the stage of Memorial hall one evening last week to receive their diplomas signifying their completion of the prescribed high school courses.

If one thing was missing from that ceremony and the words spoken there, I believe it was the fact that they were told enthusiastically enough that there are still opportunities . . . that even though there are no longer frontiers to be crossed by teams of oxen, or fights to be waged with savages to open up new country there most certainly are many and plentiful frontiers of other types and many fights to be waged for the good of society.

True enough, it will be difficult for most any student to go from the classroom to ready made jobs . . . to the business of making good money and participating in the by-products of a good salary. But even so, it has not always been an easy task. The parents of today's graduates did not find it a simple task ready cut for them. And probably they too, will recall that a commencement speaker advised of all the hardships facing them and told them how it was no longer an easy task to get along in the world. Today the world is being treated to the horrors of war. The very things that go to make up civilization are being threatened. But this is not the first time.

Today while graduates are told of the shortcomings of the world and the immediate future looks dim it is well to recall that every century from the beginning of this civilization has had it's dark periods, and somehow the peoples of those times have always come through.

Honestly graduates, I have little doubt about what can be done with our future. After all it's in your hands.

Opportunities are not where you find them . . . they are more often where you make them.

Shoulder Our Responsibility

Hundreds of Hilltop families as well as those of every other section of the city should interest themselves in having further details of a plan now under advisement by the board of Education.

It calls for a $415,000 program of modernization of old school buildings.

For the most part these are buildings housing beginners. Many of them are fire traps, 35 to 50 years old, with hot air furnaces and wood floors.

The board should have the enthusiastic support of the public in this endeavor to provide better school buildings for many younger students. Aside from the very important safety factor it stands to reason that many beginners are going to get off to a better start if they are provided better working conditions.

Five Generations In This Family Group

Great-Great Grandmother Has Lived At Hilltop Residence For 36 Years

Five generations—80 years from one end to the other—that's the story in the picture above. Very few people on this globe ever attain the distinguished rank of great-great grandmother. But that is what Mrs. Joann Scofield (pictured second from the right) has done.

The picture had to be taken in her bedroom, because she is afflicted with arthritis and cannot be moved from her bed. In spite of her affliction, she is very much interested in the things that go on around her, and even jovial. She is 80 years young.

On the extreme right is Mrs. Zella Paul, the great grandmother. At the left of the picture is Mr. Donley Paul, 480 S. Warren-av, the grandfather. Seated next to him is his daughter, Mrs. Donna Perry, 511 Ogden-av.

On her mother's lap is pretty, sleepy Saundra Lou Perry, who doesn't seem to be the slightest bit interested in the fact that she is getting her picture taken. She is two weeks old.

Mrs. Scofield and Mrs. Paul reside at 41 S. Oakley-av. Mrs. Scofield has lived at that residence for the past 36 years. Her husband, Joseph, was a street car motorman. He died in 1934.

Logan, Central Games on Next Week's Sked.

The West high basketball team will trek to Logan, Tuesday, Feb. 4, to engage the Logan high quintet in a game scheduled to fill the lull between the first and second rounds in the city league schedule.

The Bucks will play the first game of the second league round next Friday, when they travel to Central high to meet the Riversiders, in what should be, judging from the first game, a knock-down drag-out fray.

The Cowboys finished the first half of their schedule with a record of eight wins against five losses and the boys still think that the adage "Practice Makes Perfect" can win the city championship for them.

North Wins

Hopes for victory, however, were considerably dulled Wednesday night, when the Cowboys went down on the short end of a 40 to 26 score in the game with the Polar Bears on the winner's floor.

North moved out to a fast start to lead 14 to 11 at the quarter, and 26 to 16 at the half, but with West's Dick Ucker back in the game in the second half, the Cowboys made a gallant bid to take the lead, trailing only 30 to 26 at the three-quarter mark. But Ucker soon left the game in the final period on fouls and that was the signal for North to take over.

Win Over Bengals

In last Friday's encounter with the East high Bengals, the Buckaroos racked up their second win in the city loop race, when they downed the Tigers 41-34. It was only in the final minutes of the game that the Westerners were able to outdistance the Bengals by much of a score. Entering the third quarter with the slim lead of 30-28, the Cowboys managed to shake off the East defense and score 12 points while holding the Tigers to half that amount. Bud Maxwell led the West scorers with 16 points, one less than was collected by Ed Pharion of East.

Frank R. (Pete) Smith Dies of Heart Attack

Mr. Smith was a member of Westgate lodge, F. & A. M.; Crown chapter, O. E. S.; the Eagles and the Elks. Although not a member, he attended the Glenwood Methodist church regularly. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nellie Smith; son, Charles Elmer Smith, a teacher at Granville high school, and his mother, Mrs. Jennie Smith.

Abreast of the Times
It's not only smart but sensible to keep abreast of the times for in most cases modern methods are vastly more practicable and less costly than out-of-date methods. Take home financing for instance. No industry is more up-to-date than federally supervised building and loan institutions that make possible home ownership for every family of moderate income. You repay the principle in regular monthly installments just like rent. In most cases it amounts to little more than rent previously paid. You need only a reasonable amount of cash to get started.—Inquire today.

Town Meeting To Discuss The Artist

Columbus Town Meeting will deviate from their recent discussion of national and international affairs to take up a problem in Columbus at the meeting Monday evening. The subject to be considered will be, "Have the Artists Let Us Down?"

Market Has Self-Service

Gregg's market, located at Sullivant and Warren-ave, is the only locally owned market on the Hilltop operating a strictly cash and carry, self-service business.

Having no delivery and credit expenses, it can successfully compete with and often undersell other markets of this type.

The merchandise is of the highest quality obtainable. Owner of the market is W. F. Gregg, 2021 N. High-st. Manager is Art Stiffler, who resides at 300 S. Eureka-av.

Hoyt L. Sherman, associate professor of Fine Arts at Ohio State university; Philip R. Adams, director of the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, and Robert Gunning, editor of "Every Week" will take part in the discussion.

The meeting will begin at 8 p. m. as usual and will be held in the Central YMCA auditorium, 40 W. Long-st. The meeting will be broadcast over WCOL for one hours, starting at 8:30.

Local Lock Factory Expands In Anticipation of Defense Orders

By Harold Keebel

Tuesday afternoon we had the privilege of visiting one of the most interesting places on the Hilltop. That place is the machine shop of William "Bill" Thompson, at 395 Chrisedon-av.

This shop is the factory for manufacturing electric elevator locks, and at present ships locks over the entire United States, Canada and South America.

The factory is the outgrowth of a patent taken out 23 years ago by Mr. Thompson's father-in-law and at the present time Mr. Thompson owns half interest in the patent.

The shop, which has been in this one location for 23 years, provides work for four men, highly skilled in metal work. The work, while not dangerous, is very close work at which one man may make only five locks a day.

In anticipation of government defense orders the factory is to expand within the next two weeks to a floor space of 2005 square feet, at which time six new lathes will be put into operation, each lathe capable of turning out 13,000 castings each month.

The lock itself was the first of its kind on the market, and still enjoys a good field, with business about eight times better in the last three years than ever before, the biggest customers being Otis, Westinghouse, Haughton and Warner.

"Bill," as he prefers to be known, resides at 380 Midland-av with his wife and son. He lists as his hobby, fishing, and has several trophies hanging in his shop, which attest to his skill at such.

"Bill," who would not be complete without his ever-present pipe, says that there is "nothing better" than the type of work which he does, its one disadvantage being the irregularity of the hours.

It Takes A Heap o' Writin'

It takes a heap o' livin'
In a house to make it home
It takes a heap o' writin'
To get a perfect poem.
I'm talkin' from experience
And speakin' of myself
It's easy for professionals
To make poetic pelf.

I've done a heap o' writin'
And I haven't got one yet
I haven't got one perfect
Although I'd worry and fret
I'd call 'em super-exquisite
But alas also alack
The publisher'd look 'em over
Then promptly send 'em back!

It takes a heap o' writin'
To get a perfect poem
For that reason I'm believin'
There's nuthin' in my dome
But I'll keep on strivin'
Continue to worry and fret
Perhaps I'll get one perfect
I haven't got it yet.

New Floating Soap Makes Its Debut

On the Hilltop as in towns and cities al over America, Swan is making its debut. Swan is a new product of Lever Brothers Company — manufacturers of such world-renowned favorites as Lux Flakes, Lifebuoy Health Soap, Rinso, Lux Toilet Soap, Spry, and Silver Dust.

Hilltop dealers are letting women know that Swan is the first really new white floating soap since the gay nineties, and they say that Swan is better in eight distinct ways. It's milder and whiter. It gives quicker, creamier suds. It lasts longer, smells fresher, and lathers exceptionally well. And it gives more real soap—ounce for ounce

Local women can learn additional facts about Swan by consulting their favorite newspapers, and being on the alert for announcements over the air. Or, for complete, first-hand information and an opportunity to obtain this new soap sensation, they should visit their local dealer, who is now stocked with Swan.

James Rhodes Gets Athletic Union Post

Mike Peppe, swimming coach at Ohio State university and vice-president of the Ohio Association of the Amateur Athletic Union, announced Saturday afternoon that City Auditor James A. Rhodes, 45 W. Dunedin-rd, had been appointed commissioner of the Central Ohio A. A. U. to take effect immediately.

Rhodes' nomination was sent to Herbert Davis, president of the Ohio Association of A. A. U. by the governing board of central Ohio, composed of Mike Peppe, chairman; Larry Snyder, track coach at Ohio State, and Carl Wirthwein, assistant to Mr. Peppe, last week, and the Ohio organization confirmed the report Saturday.

Hilltop Pastor Tells of Cuban Evangelistic Tour

Churches Had Thatched Roofs—Dirt Floors

"I preached in churches and mission stations which had dirt floors and thatched roofs and to people who had never before in their lives seen an American — it was one of the most wonderful experiences of my life."

Thus Rev. O. W. Cunningham, pastor of the Hilltop Church of God, summed up in one succinct statement his reaction to the extensive evangelistic campaign which he recently completed in Cuba.

He returned to Columbus on Jan. 30 after a sojourn of over two months in the island kingdom off the tip of Florida. Mrs. Cunningham and the two children accompanied him on the trip.

His evangelistic work carried Rev. Cunningham from one end of the island and back. The trips were made either in a friend's automobile or by bus.

According to Mrs. Cunningham, the Cuban highways are as good as those in this country. Bus drivers made the 750-mile, island-long trip in a flat 15 hours. "That was going at a rather terrific rate," commented the Cunninghams, "and we weren't always sure that we would reach our destination safely."

In Havanna Rev. Cunningham spoke four and five times weekly over a Cuban national hook-up and internationally through a short-wave station.

At none of the places visited did the local church or auditorium hold the crowds which gathered in to hear the Hilltop minister speak. "There was a fine response to religious appeal," said Reverend Cunningham but many came just out of curiosity. People were very curious to see what an American preacher and his family looked like."

While in Cuba the Cunninghams resided with a friend, Francisco Orret, who was a schoolmate to the Cuban dictator-president, Batista.

On a previous visit in Cuba Rev. Cunningham was introduced to the dictator, who, "seemed to be a very likeable chap." "Nevertheless," said Rev. Cunningham, "there is little doubt that the man holds Cuba in an iron grip."

During their stay in Cuba the Hilltop family was fortunate in being able to visit the notorious Morro Castle prison. They were shown dungeons and trap doors through which prisoners had been thrown into the jaws of hungry sharks. The walls, against which prisoners were stood for execution, were literally riddled with bullets.

On one occasion Rev. Cunningham conducted a funeral service for a family residing in the interior. For the benefit of the mourners many of the ancient, surviving rites had to be injected into the services. When the caskot was lowered into the grave, the attendants each picked up a handful of dirt, kissed it, and threw it into the open grave.

On the evening of their return Mrs. Cunningham entertained a group of 60 people from the local

Reduce Unemployment Compensation Costs

It is a known fact that everyone is going to come face to face with increased taxes of some kind or another in the present years. The enormous problem of national defense can be met in this way only.

Recent years, even before the defense problem, it has been increasingly hard for businesses to make a profit. This has been especially true of small business firms. We have cited instances in previous articles where the difference between breaking even and encountering a loss for many small business firms has been the matter of such items as social security and unemployment taxes.

With a bigger burden of taxes to come, and in hand, it stands to reason that some cutting should be done where it is possible.

We believe a cut can be made and to advantage to business firms and with no loss to the workers of the state if careful consideration is given to the matter of reducing the amount paid in unemployment insurance taxes.

Ohio's employers have been paying three per cent of their annual payrolls into the state's reserve fund since 1936. The fund now contains $180,641,319 and is growing rapidly.

In 1942 a merit-rating system is to be placed into effect which will allow employers who have accumulated 15 or more per cent of their average annual payrolls in the state reserve fund to drop their rate of contribution to 1 per cent, the minimum under the present law.

Wisconsin and other states are doing the job at a much lower rate. Their merit-rating plan allows the employer who has accumulated 10 per cent of his annual payroll in the reserve fund to cease payments altogether as long as his reserve is maintained at 10 per cent.

Experts agree that $100,000,000 in reserve for Ohio would be sufficient. The year 1940 found $61,276,457 paid into the Ohio fund and only $24,586,755 paid out in benefits.

Th social purpose of the act, which is to reduce and control unemployment, is being defeated as the law now stands. The present system does not provide an inducement for attempting to eliminate unem-

Parents Sponsor Gala Affair In Honor of Boy Scout Week

The parents auxiliary of Boy Scout troop 18 is sponsoring a Scout Carnival at the Glenwood M. E. church on Feb. 14 from 5 to 10 p. m.

The gala affair is being held on the last day of Scout week.

Scouts and Camp Fire Girls will have displays of handicraft and there will be demonstrations of first aid and signaling.

Cub Scouts of Pack 22 of the Glenwood Shelter house will have an active part in the carnival. Several exhibits, which took first prize at the State fair last year will be displayed. Joe Smith is Cub Master.

Mrs. H. H. Remington is in charge of the various booths featuring the displays.

A booth which is expected to attract unusual interest will be the antique booth in charge of Mrs. Charles A. Coburn. It is thought that a revival of antique craftsmanship would be interesting and of educational value to the Scouts.

Members of troop 18 are now actively engaged in caning chair bottoms, molding candlesticks and soap and weaving.

In order to carry out the antique motif at the carnival, there will be a penny shop, where ginger men and stick candy will be offered for sale.

The Wa-Kan-Ya Camp Fire Girls, under the directiorf of Mrs. Frances Emrick, will present a puppet show; there will also be a picture show.

Realizing that a carnival would not be complete without something to eat, the Scout mothers have arranged to serve a jitney supper on the occasion. In charge of the supper will be Mrs. Clarence Ely.

Topping off the evening's program will be a one-act play entitled "Dress Reversal" in which nine members of the Scout troop will have parts.

The purpose of the carnival is to help raise funds for sending the boys of the troop to Camp Lazarus this summer.

President of the Mother's group is Mrs. Guy Howell, 271 N. Warren-av.

Clayton F. Stickle, 654 Chestershire-rd, is Scout Master of troop 18.

Boys, Knives-- They Don't Mix

Little Robert Hane was in the hospital and didn't like it a little bit, even if the nurses were pretty.

He was playing on his sled near his home last Thursday. The pesky ropes which are always tied to small boys' sleds got in his way and he decided to take them off.

He obtained a sharp paring knife from his mother's kitchen and proceeded to cut the rope from the sled. The little, inarticulate hands missed the rope and the knife slashed across Robert's eye.

He was taken immediately to Grant hospital and due to expert treatment there he is now recovering. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Hane, 319 Guernsey-av.

Riggs Gets Coveted Scout Award

C. M. Riggs

Hilltopper C. M. Riggs, 172 Guernsey-av, is the proud recipient of the coveted Silver Beaver award, which is made annually to a limited number of Scouters for distinctive service to boyhood.

Riggs was one of three to receive the award at the annual meeting and dinner of the Central Ohio Area Council held last evening in the Columbus YWCA, S. Fourth-st.

5,227 Enrolled In Eight Hilltop Schools

Although enrollment figures for Hilltop schools did not quite approach those of the same time last year, there was a large attendance the first day of the new semester—and this despite the prevalence of flu and colds.

A total of 5227 school students wended their ways back to the classroom after a brief interim between semesters.

West High school had a total enrollment of 1554; West Junior, 1243; Highland-av, 445; John Burroughs, 930; and West Broad, 820.

The enrollments in each of these schools showed a slight decline from those of last year at this time.

Enrollments at the two Hilltop parochial schools, St. Mary Magdalene and St. Aloysius, were 243 and 294 respectively.

Eighty-eight pupils enrolled at West Mound school at the beginning of the semester.

Sixty 1-B pupils attended John Burroughs school the first day of the new semester, a considerable increase over the usual amount, according to E. B. Graham, principal.

There are 67 pupils in the junior high class.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Lewis, teacher of history and geography at John Burroughs, was transferred to West Junior at midyear.

Approximately 28 1-B pupils began their school careers at Highland-av this week.

West Broad-st school enrolled 34 new 1-B pupils this week.

There will be an assembly at West Broad school this morning, Feb. 7. The 6-B pupils under the direction of Mr. Forest Raeder will present a patriotic program honoring the memory of Abraham Lincoln.

Recitations by pupils and a play will be given on the occasion. Included among the recitation titles are "Tom Lincoln's Son," "Stories of Lincoln," "A Real Letter to Lincoln," and a "Farmer Remembers Lincoln."

The play is entitled "The Question of the Flag."

The West Broad PTA has recently equipped the school with athletic supplies. The floor of the auditorium has been lined for basketball and indoor baseball games and shuffle-board.

Regular classes have now been scheduled for the use of the gym, according to Principal Miss Matilda Stewart.

Bucks, Bucs To Clash At Central

By Harold Mers

It will be the Buckaroos against the Buccaneers, tonight, when the West and Central basketball teams square off in the Riverside's gym for their second meeting of the season. This game marks the first encounter of the second round of league play for both aggregations.

In the first game with the Pirates the Cowboys managed to win the thrilling game by a slim one-basket margin; the basket coming in the final five seconds of the game.

Defeat Logan Team 38-34

In a fast-moving game at Logan, Tuesday evening, the Cowboys, led by Duck Ucker, high scorer for the evening with 17 points, out-ran and out-lasted the Chieftains.

Coming from behind, the Bucks had forged ahead two points at the end of the third quarter, but the score was again tied, 29-29 in the final period. The fast pace set by the Cowboys told on the Logan quintet and in the final quarter the West team rammed home 10 points, to win, 38-34.

BOY SCOUT week

February 7-14
Today we pay tribute to that splendid organization—The Boy Scouts of America. We are proud of their achievements, proud of the boys and proud of their leaders.
The principle of THRIFT is only one of the many fine virtues that Scouting stresses but a mighty important one. The habit of laying aside a portion of one's income and having it accumulate in a savings fund is not only a thrifty habit but one that stands you in good stead when an emergency arises.

This week the Record adds a group of Hilltoppers at Camp Shelby, Miss., to its list of readers. News from and about the boys in that and other army camps will be welcomed at the Record office every week.

Things I've Learned

Jim Blower, often heard over WBNS, is now in the Hilltop office of the First Federal. Helen Tannehill, formerly at this office has gone to the State-st office . . . Henry Jones' birthday comes on Feb. 2 (Groundhog's day) the same as Janice Arlene Wichterman's, age 5 days . . . The Stephens family (florist people) has been around Mound and Central-avs, for 37 years . . . Charley Kent is sporting a brand new Buick . . . Bill Mack was elected president of the freshman class at Hobart College . . . Hattie Brown is trying to teach her cocker spaniel dog to drink coke through a straw . . . Rev. J. B. Shellhas likes to sip cokes and eat ice cream with his Epworth League group Sunday nights after church.

When Mrs. A. E. Collette received a gift from her Gleaner Sister (Sunday School class mate) via the milkman she was both pleased and surprised. But when the milkman insisted on seeing what was in the surprise package she was downright confused. The gift was a pair of ladies step-ins. Mrs. Louis Schmitt the donor.

This and That

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Leach are enjoying a visit in California . . . Mrs. E. Paul Barker, 211 Hardy-av, leaves for Florida this week-end . . . The Dr. J. H. Coatts, formerly of the Hilltop, have purchased a new one-floor plan home in Modesto, Calif. The Doc writes Walter Stephens that they have an "Ohio" room open at all times . . . The Hal Browns are in their new home at 758 Wiltshire . . . Jack Amsbarry and Paul Leighninger of Seillers attended the men's clothing show at Cleveland . . . Frank Prince, Record linotype operator, is in Fla. this week . . . Carl Johnson suffered a sprained ankle when his six-foot-plus landed on the ice . . . Robert M. Milstead, 538 S. Richardson-av, left last week to manage the Southland News Co., in Stark, Fla. He was formerly with Scott Kraus and the H. J. Heinz Co. at different times in Columbus . . . Dr. and Mrs. C. O. Cramer, and dotter, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meyers are back from a visit in Fla. . . Harley Sapp took in the sights of Texas and New Mexico recently . . . C. H. Hamilton is thinking of buying a safe to keep his bacon in if the price keeps going up . . .

What the Hilltop needs is more persons with the spirit of Lester Byerly. Every time a snow falls he shovels the walk all the way from his home at 38 N. Ogden-av to Broad-st.

He does it, he says, so that the pretty girls on his street can get to the bus without wading snow over their boots.

From George Painter at Hialeah, Fla., comes another of his interesting letters. Tells of a visit last week from Mr. and Mrs. Ed Melvin.

Ed and George tried their hand at deep sea fishing. Both got seasick but Ed did catch a few fish. George only fed 'em. George recently completed a new bungalow. Built with his own hands.

Mrs. Irma Lauer and daughter, Joanne, left last Sunday afternoon for San Diego, Calif., for a two month's vacation with Mrs. Lauer's sister, Mrs. R. C. Ludwig, the former Alberta Williams.

Tales of the old Clipper ships. Cap'n. Dave Landers, one of the last of the sailing ships skippers tells of the part the clippers played in the California Gold Rush, and of the traps and pitfalls set for sailormen in the roaring ports of the west, in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week's Chicago Herald-American.

Letter Home From Camp

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is a letter sent by Henry Allen Ruhl, who is stationed at Fort Knox, Ky., to his mother, Mrs. William C. Krebs, 385 N. Wayne-av.

Dear Mother:

Well, just another rainy day and night at the fort. We have been transferred to our regular company now. Mine is Headquarters Co., 1st Armoured Brigade. We left our barracks and are now in one used by the CCC boys. The eats are swell and we have a good cook. We sure have been busy; we moved yesterday and have taken two tests, one on radio code and the other on tanks. Tomorrow we will learn to ride motorcycles. We have to be able to drive any vehicle and operate a radio sending and receiving set.

There were only 11 boys out of our company of 250 to come to Headquarters Co. We had a farewell party and I played the colonel's accordion. We had a four-piece orchestra; a banjo, a saxophone, a guitar, and an accordion. We went to three different companies and played for them. Everybody had a swell time.

One of the boys got a letter saying that you had had about seven inches of snow up there. It is so warm here that we are going around without our coats, but it is awfully muddy.

I am all right, never felt better in my life and hope everyone at home is O. K. I will be looking for a letter from you soon.

As ever,
Your son,
Henry Allen Ruhl.

"Not to your color," was the reply, "but perhaps to your ancestry."

Army Camp Life Not So Tough Record Staff Member Asserts

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was written by Dave Shiflet, staff member of the Hilltop Record, who is stationed at Camp Shelby, Miss., with the Ohio National Guard.

Dave Shiflet

With three months of intensive military work finished in the army, the best in the world, it seems to me that now is a good time to make a check on the life of an infantryman in this Columbus regiment of the Thirty-seventh Division, the One-hundred-sixty-sixth Infantry. Many of the men in this organization are from the Hilltop.

In line with the recreational and social activities of this group the main purpose, that of preparing for war, has not been neglected. Eight hours daily the men have been training in sections and a good account of the progress made has been displayed in each formation as well as during firing with the rifle and pistol on the firing range, which took place last week. Along with the infantry units, the artillery, medics and other units have each spent at least several hours in firing practice.

The recreational program has progressed to the extent that two 12-team basketball leagues have been organized in the division; boxing, wrestling and stunt night programs are held weekly in the recreation hall; ping-pong tables are available in each company mess hall; dances are scheduled weekly in Hattiesburg; the moving picture theatre is open nightly, and the Headquarters Company of the 166th Infantry, of which Harry Marsh is first sergeant, has built its own outdoor basketball court with lights, making it available for night play. Many men of the regiment attend church in the city weekly.

The selectees began arriving late last week and they are fitting into their home town companies very easily. In this way the boys are not so lonesome and old acquaintances are renewed in many instances. This regiment will receive nearly 1,000 of the Columbus and other Ohio boys.

In addition to the selectees other units have been rapidly pouring into this large camp situated in southern Mississippi. Troops from New York, Pennsylvania and Indiana are now in camp as well as those from Ohio, and the buildings are rapidly being constructed in this 24 square mile camp to take care of these additional men.

The weather here in Camp Shelby has been ideal for training purposes. With few exceptions, the sun has been shining daily and only after severe rains does the temperature drop to a point where it is extremely cold.

In the line of schooling, non-commissioned officers schools are held three times weekly, preparing these platoon and section leaders to accept posts as commissioned officers in the regiment. Several of the men have passed their examinations while here in camp and are now the proud posessors of bars, denoting lieutenantships.

The life of the selectee, contrary to popular opinion, is not being made tough. The first six weeks will consist of light duties and close-order drill and then they will enter into the regular training schedule with the other members of the line companies. These selectees have found that camp life isn't so bad after all and that the food is pretty good after several hours of drill in the fields. It's all for the good of Uncle Sam's army and the selectees as well as the regulars are pitching in "vim, vigor and vitality" to make this regiment the best in the 37th Division, Ohio's pride and joy.

Dorothy Miller Cobbles Shoes Like A Veteran

By Jeanne Park

Cobbling a lost art? Not so with pretty Dorothy Miller, 24-year-old shoe cobbler, who runs all of the modern machinery and does much of the hand work needed in her father's shop at 2717 W. Broad-st, where she has worked for the past two years.

She can set a patch straighter after having been at it for only two years than her business associates who have had 15 years' experience. And this is according to her associates.

A 1933 graduate of South High school, Miss Miller has always liked sewing and worked three years ago at Russell's Sporting Goods Co., repairing football suits for the university and now, among her other activities, runs a stiving machine for Louis Thomas, 3615 E. Main-st.

Dorothy's pet hobby is collecting varieties of cactii, which she brings to the shop, thus adding a definite feminine touch to the shoe repair business. She had so many plants by Christmas that she sold quite a few.

Miss Miller lives at 92 S. Hague-av with her father and mother.

Re-opens Shop

Mrs. Hoisington

Announcement is being made of the re-opening of the barber shop at 1480 Sullivant-av, under the proprietorship of Mrs. Florence Hoisington, daughter of the late Harry C. Henslee, who operated a barber shop in that location for a great number of years.

Mrs. Hoisington, who has had several years of barbering experience, specializes in hair-cutting, shaving and barber science, which includes facial work and scalp treatment.

With her husband, Mrs. Hoisington formerly operated the Hoisington barber shop at 529 S. Harris-av. Her father, Mr. Henslee, led the fight in the city against the fifty-cent hair-cut. Among many other activities he conducted extensive missionary work among the poor.

Glesenkamp, for many years a probate judge of Delaware county, has made an enviable record in his work with juvenile delinquents. His efforts in regard to juvenile rehabilitation have been recognized as eminently successful.

He was chairman of the Delaware district, Boy Scouts of America, member of the executive board, Central Ohio area council and has been exceptionally prominent in youth and welfare activities in Delaware county.

"Swingster"

Bob Sylvester

Members of the committee for the Ninth Annual Police ball, which is to be held at Columbus auditorium on the nights of Feb. 14 and 15, have announced that two nationally known bands have been selected to furnish the music.

Detective Bob Cooke, chairman, stated that Barney Rapp and his orchestra are scheduled to play on Feb. 15, while Bob Sylvester and his sophisticated swing band will do their chores on the opening night, St. Valentine's night.

The annual police ball, the largest event of its kind in central Ohio, is held for the benefit of the police pension and relief fund. The fund is a self-sustaining institution which provides benefits for retired policemen or the widows and orphans of deceased policemen.

Honor Among Thieves

"Hey, don't make so much noise," said John Cronin to a burglar who broke into his house in Watertown, Mass. "I've got sinus trouble."

"Well," said the burglar, "what you need is a good massage. Look . . . " and with that he rolled up his sleeves and massaged Cronin's head. Mr. Cronin felt so much better that he told the burglar where to find a few dollars.—Boston Evening Transcript.

Independent Sales Reported For Year

A sales increase of 13 per cent for Ohio independent retailers in 1940 is reported by the U. S. Bureau of the Census, in cooperation with Ohio State university's bureau of business research.

This figure does not include department stores, which had an increase of eight per cent over 1939.

In December both the independent retailers and department stores had sales six per cent above the same month of 1939.

Holiday business is reflected in the fact that the department stores did 55 per cent more business in December than in November and other kinds of independent retail business had a gain of 19 per cent for the month.

Columbus showed an 8 per cent gain in retail sales in 13 months.

Rev. Joseph B. Shellhaas

The largest Protestant church on the Hilltop is the Glenwood M. E. church, which is located at 66 Highland-av, and whose pastor is the Reverend Joseph B. Shellhaas.

On one evening in March, 1893, a small group met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Six, Price-av, to discuss the matter of organizing a Methodist society on the Hilltop.

At that time there was no church in these environs except the Friends church which had been recently established.

After some deliberation by the nucleus group a temporary Methodist organization was formed and, early in April, Mr. W. H. Thompson was chosen as class leader with M. G. Randolph as assistant.

Class meetings were held until November when a permanent church society was formed. The following officers were chosen: Board of trustees, Albert Watts, William Harmon, M. O. Randolph, L. D. Gletcher and C. L. Needles; stewards, W. H. Thompson, Samuel Six, B. J. Friend, Marvis Breese, W. McNabb, G. J. Ashbaugh; treasurer, Albert Watts; financial secretary, Dr. Howard Whitehead; organist, Mrs. G. S. Wright; chorister, T. J. Fawcett, and pastor, W. B. Chadwick.

At a meeting in March, 1894, plans were made to create a new building fund and solicitors were appointed to raise funds.

In the meantime church services were held in the little brick school house on what was then Price-av. The name was later changed to Clarendon-av. This building was later remodeled and is now being used as a private residence.

On June 28, 1894, the church board accepted the present site on Highland-av, as a gift from J. R. Bullock. The JRB class in the adult department of the church was so named in honor of Mr. Bullock.

In November, the members of the church society held a meeting with Dr. Howard Whitehead as president, and Mr. Winfield Scott, secretary. At this meeting a committee was appointed to prepare an estimate of the cost of a temporary church building, dimensions 36 by 50 feet.

The estimate was duly submitted and approved by the quarterly conference. The building was constructed and dedication services were held on Sept. 1, 1895.

At the time of dedication membership totaled 65. Diligently working for the sake of their new church, members soon payed off the church indebtedness. The parsonage was erected in 1902 and practically paid for during the same year.

The Sunday school was organized in August, 1893, and there were 65 persons present at the first session. The first collection amounted to 85 cents. Soon five teachers were appointed and C. W. Walton was named superintendent. The success of the present church school is attributed largely to the untiring energy and constant faithfulness of this man.

The Epworth League was organized in September, 1894, with Dr. Howard Whitehead as president. The Ladies' Aid society was organized in May, 1894, with 13 charter members.

The Junior League was organized and Dr. Whitehead acted as first superintendent. The Women's Foreign Missionary society, formed shortly afterwards, has continually grown in strength and influence.

Two members of the local church, the Misses Willo and Hecker have gone as missionaries to foreign lands.

The Glenwood auxiliary of the Women's Home Missionary society was formed in September, 1903, in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Howard Whitehead. Mrs. Whitehead was very influential in the formation and preparation of this society.

During the pastorate of Rev. D. D. Canfield steps were taken toward the erection of a new church. A building fund was created of which C. W. Randolph was made treasurer.

Actual building operations, however, did not get under way until early in the year 1910, when the official board employed Edwin E. Pruitt as architect to submit designs. An excellent plan was submitted and unanimously accepted.

On Sunday, March 20, a special service was held in the interest of the new church and subscriptions were received totaling $16,000.

Ground for the new church was broken on Apr. 1, 1910, and on June 28, amid impressive ceremonies, the cornerstone of the church was laid. The former governor of Indiana, J. Frank Hanly, delivered an address on the occasion. The work on the super-structure of the church was completed several months later.

The following have been pastors of the Glenwood church: Rev. W. B. Chadwick, Rev. W. R. Agate, Rev. E. N. Nichols, Rev. I. F King, Rev. D. H. Jemison, Rev. W. C. Hartinger, Rev. H. B. Lewis, Rev. W. I. Todd, Rev. D. D. Canfield, Rev. P. E. White, Rev. C. E. Turley, Rev. W. F. Wykoff, Rev. R. T. Stimmel, Rev. G. F. Barber, Rev. E. L. Motter and Rev. C. L. Seward.

The present pastor is Rev. J. B. Shellhaas, who came to the church in September, 1939. He was born near Troy, and has pursued theological and philosophical studies at Garrett Divinity school, Chicago university, Washington college, Ohio State university, Chicago Theological seminary, Wit-Marsum seminary and Wittenburg college.

Residing with Rev. and Mrs. Shellhaas at the present is their son, Glen William, who is a student at Ohio State.

Rev. Shellhaas has served churches in the following communities: Bladensburg, Md., St. Johns, Elida, Carey, Wapakoneta and Bellefontaine, Ohio.

Beginning Sunday the Immanuel Baptist church is to have an evangelistic campaign led by Rev. and Mrs. Stucky of Detroit. Meetings will be held every night at 7:30 except Saturday, the campaign closing Feb. 23.

For about eight years Rev. and Mrs. Stucky have been in evangelistic campaigns with the churches.

Their musical program is attractive. Mrs. Stucky plays the accordion and piano; there are vocal solos and duets, and Rev. Stucky plays very skillfully on the musical saw. Hilltop people are cordially invited to attend.

The church is at 286 Belvidere.

Introducing Marilyn Orsborn; She Was Heroine When the River Waters Were High

Marilyn Orsborn

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of personality sketches which will appear in the Record from time to time.

Very few communities can boast of an honest to goodness heroine. But that's what we have on the Hilltop—in the flesh.

Marilyn Orsborn is a heroine—but a modest one. That's why, back in 1937, the newspapers never heard the story we are telling now.

Marilyn always liked to take care of children. She liked to take care of them in bunches.

One day in April, 1937, Marilyn was supervising a group of children from the Leonard-av settlement house who were picnicing on the banks of the Scioto river which were lush with the verdure of spring.

All children had been strictly warned to stay away from the water which was up because of the rains.

A little Italian boy, who had never been up the river, in his excitement over the afternoon's prospects forgot the warning and wandered too near the river's banks and fell in.

Summoned by the screams of the child's brother, Marilyn dove into the swirling, ice-cold water, clothes and all, and swam to the rescue.

The current was swift but she managed to reach the child and tug him back to shore and safety.

The newspapers never heard about the episode but the people at the settlement house presented Marilyn with a Bible "in appreciation for the courage and love which you have shown."

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verner D. Orsborn, 75 S. Eureka-av, Marilyn graduated from West High school at mid-year.

She has spent only the past year and a half of her 19 years on the Hilltop. Among her hobbies are skating and—of all things—swimming.

Valleyview Women To Meet

"The Jury Rendered a Verdict"

This is the story of the commonwealth.
Striving to uphold the law
The prisoner uncouth and shallow
Way down in Arkansaw.
The plaintiff lost his timepiece
A watch of solid gold
He also lost his money
That is the story he told.

He was a railroad Engineer . . .
And was walking home that night
The night was dark and foggy
His lantern didn't give much light
But he saw the lead pipe coming
Aimed directly at his head
He tried to dodge but couldn't
I'm only telling what he said.

They had the suspect arrested
And brought him into court
The jury rendered a verdict
Not guilty was their report
The prisoner walked up slowly
And to the Judge he said
Must I give back the watch and money
To the man I hit on the head.

WAFFLE PARTY

If you were one of the lucky persons who was presented with a shiny new waffle iron at Christmas time, no doubt you will be showing it off at a waffle party soon. But even if your iron isn't this year's model you will be clever to entertain in this way, since it is easy to do and everyone has a special fondness for golden brown waffles.

Here is a grand sauce for serving with waffles—creamed chicken made quickly and given extra flavor by prepared cream of mushroom soup as an ingredient.

Creamed Chicken for Waffles

Melt—
1 tablespoon butter.
Add, blending well—
3 tablespoons flour.
Cook until bubbling, then add—
1 medium (10-oz.) can cream of mushroom soup. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened.
Add—
1 small can or 1½ cups diced cooked chicken
1 cup canned or fresh cooked peas
2 pimientos, chopped fine.

Cook long enough to heat through. Place in serving dish and serve over waffles at table. Serves six. Do not make the mistake of getting this too thick, as it should be of thinner consistency than chicken à la king. An additional tablespoon of flour may be added if served in patty shells.

Liver to Everyone's Liking

Liver—that food doctors and dietitians recognize as such a valuable source of iron—is enjoyed for its characteristic flavor by many people, but others find it more to their liking if it appears in a combination dish which partially hides its flavor. The following recipe, which joins liver with cooked spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese, will help you do your duty by your family's health in a way that they appreciate, for there is a certain nippy tang in the sauce that makes this blend of flavors a particular delight.

Spaghetti with Liver and Onions

Brown—
1 small onion, finely chopped in—
3 tablespoons butter.
Add—
¾ lb. calf's liver, finely chopped
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper.
Cook 5 minutes, then add—
3 tablespoons finely minced parsley.
Heat—
1 large (24-oz.) can cooked spaghetti in tomato sauce.

Heap spaghetti onto hot platter, then arrange liver mixture over top. Serves six.

Well-Sauced Cocktail

A well sauced fish cocktail is an auspicious beginning for a festive dinner party and surprisingly simple to prepare. Fish flakes, such as crab need only to be chilled in the can, while shrimp takes only a little extra time for removing the dark line before chilling. For an expertly seasoned sauce, tomato ketchup gives you the full-bodied basis you need, and it is a simple matter to add the extra piquant touches which makes it a delightful cocktail sauce.

Cocktail Sauce

Combine, then let stand 10 minutes—
2 tablespoon evaporated horseradish
2 tablespoons cold water.
Add—
½ cup tomato ketchup
2 tablespoons chili sauce
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt.

Blend thoroughly and chill. Serve over crab meat or other sea food cocktails. Serves 6 to 8.

Avoid over-cooking.

Pinwheel Casserole

¼ lb. American cheese
1 Tbsp. milk
2 Tbsp. chopped pimento if desired
Bread
1 lb. asparagus (about 12 medium)
2 tsp. chopped onion
1½ Tbsp. butter
3 Tbsp. flour
1 C. milk
1½ C. diced cooked ham

Mash the cheese with a fork. Add the 1 Tbsp. of milk and beat until smooth. Stir in the pimento. Cut three thin slices of bread lengthwise of loaf. Remove the crusts, spread with the cheese mixture, roll up like a jelly roll and slice. Cook the diced asparagus in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and boil down the liquid to ½ C. Cook the onion in the butter over low heat, stirring occasionally. Place over hot water, add the flour and mix well. Add the 1 C. of milk gradually and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add the asparagus liquid, ham and asparagus. Add salt if desired. Reheat and pour into a buttered baking dish. Cover with the cheese roll slices or pinwheels and brown under the broiler. Serves 6.

Strawberry Cream

3 Tbsp. cornstarch
⅛ tsp. salt
½ C. cold milk
1¼ C. milk, scalded
½ tsp. grated orange rind
1 egg white, unbeaten
½ C. strawberry preserves

Mix cornstarch, salt, and cold milk. Stir into milk in top of double boiler and cook until thickened and smooth, stirring constantly. Cover and cook 10 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Strain, add orange rind. Place egg white and preserves in bowl. Beat with rotary beater until stiff and creamy. Fold in milk mixture. Chill. Serve with or without whipped cream. Serves six.

Menu Suggestions

KITCHEN KATCHALL

Spanish Beans

2½ C. canned green beans
½ tsp. salt
1 Tbsp. chopped onion
½ C. tomato puree
2 slices bacon

Cut bacon in very small pieces. Place in skillet with the onion, and fry until slightly browned. Add tomato puree. Pour over the beans and bake in a covered casserole at 375 degrees for 1 to 1½ hours.

Cranberry Juice Cocktail

4 C. cranberries
4 C. water
1-3 C. granulated sugar

Cook cranberries and water until all the skins pop open (about 5 minutes). Strain through cheese cloth. Bring the juice to boiling point, add sugar and boil for 2 minutes. Serve cold.

Golden Cauliflower

1 head cauliflower
1 C. diced carrots
¼ C. finely chopped onion
Few grains salt and pepper
2 Tbsp. butter
Grated cheese

Grease a baking dish and into it set the carefully scrubbed head of cauliflower with a few tender leaves of the cauliflower left in place for a parnish. Add the carrots and onions, seasonings, and spread the butter over the top. Cover and bake until tender, about 40 minutes at 400 degrees. Sprinkle with grated cheese and serve hot. This vegetable may be baked at the same time as a roast of meat, and the temperature may vary from 250 to 450 degrees.

Silas A. Sharp Called To Duty

Silas A. Sharp, a reserve officer in the U. S. army, and who in civilian life is an assistant professor in the entomology department of Louisiana Tech., Rushton, La., was called home last week to take his physical examination at Fort Hayes, for active army duty.

He left Columbus early Monday, Feb. 3, for Camp Blanding, Fla., where he will assume his duties as a First Lieutenant in the Field Artillery. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sharp, 492 S. Ogden-av.

Professor Explains Morning Drowsiness

If you're finding it still hard to get up these mornings, perhaps "old Sol" has something to do with it.

The shortest day of the year, Dec. 21, is long since past, but the sun continued to come up later each morning and not until Feb. 10 will the mornings be noticeably longer. It's later sunsets that have been making the days longer.

That's the explanation of Professor Edwin F. Coddington, of the department of civil engineering, Ohio State university, for that "tired feeling" these mornings.

On Dec. 21, the shortest day, the sun came up at 7:55 and dropped below the horizon at 5:05, for a day of nine hours and 10 minutes. But the afternoons had been getting longer since Dec. 6, when sunset was at its earliest—5 p. m. The day's length then was nine hours and 17 minutes.

The latest sunrise came Jan. 4, at 8 a. m. Length of day then was nine hours and 15 minutes.

By Feb. 10, the "worm will really begin to turn" for difficult morning risers. By then the sunrise will be back to 7:36 a. m. and the sunset will come at 6 p. m. And from then on through the spring the sun will be coming up earlier each morning.

The discrepancy between the clock and the actual sun time is indicated in the fact that from Dec. 21 to Feb. 10, the afternoons get 65 minutes longer while the mornings increase by only 24 minutes.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to thank all of our kind friends and neighbors for their many kind expressions of sympathy and condolence during our recent bereavement.
Mrs. E. G. Stahl and daughters, Mrs. L. A. King and Mrs. C. E. Hanne.

You Can't Win

If a man runs after money, he's money-mad; if he keeps it he's a capitalist; if he spends it, he's a playboy; if he doesn't get it, he's a ne'er-do-well; if he doesn't try to get it, he lacks ambition. If he gets it without working for it, he's a parasite; and if he accumulates it after a lifetime of hard work people call him a fool who never got anything out of life.—Vic Oliver in the "Daily Sketch."

The Hilltop Record

The Hilltop, Columbus, O.

Vol. XXIV, No. 44
Total No. 1144

The Spectator
by C. C. Hartley

Boy Scouts And Their Day

One thought in passing as National Boy Scout week comes to a close.

The Hilltop is fortunate in having in its midst numerous troops backed by good men who are giving generously of their time in this fine work with boys.

It is hoped that the public generally appreciates the work these men are doing in the developing of good citizens of tomorrow.

Church Page To Be Monthly Feature

Last week the Record ran the first of a series of histories of Hilltop churches. The response to this feature was greatly appreciated.

This feature will be run once each month in The Record and will be continued until each Hilltop church has been represented. Comments and suggestions will be appreciated.

Consider A Hilltopper

There is an opening on the city civil service board to be filled by appointment soon by Mayor Floyd Green. This time it is to be a Democrat.

As far as we can recall a Hilltop man has never filled that position and in view of the fact that numerous residents of this community work under civil service we believe the mayor could not go wrong with the appointment of a Hilltop man.

We believe there are numerous Hilltop prospects in the Democratic ranks that would be accepted as most creditable appointments.

A Year Mark Coming Up Soon

In two more months the Hilltop Record will start on its 25th year of publication in this community. In this time the community has grown from the corn field stage to the widespread residential area it is today.

In this time the Record has also stepped up to the place where it is one of the largest and most progressive community newspapers in the country. It has kept step with the growth of the area it serves.

Work is being started this week on a large 25th anniversary edition of the Record to appear on April 27. Contributions and suggestions from our readers will be appreciated.

Boards Draft Eleven

Several young men from the Hilltop in the past few days have prepared to fill their places in the vast picture of national defense as the machinery of the selective service administration begins to roll more surely and rapidly.

Eight men from the community were inducted to the army on Tuesday, three on Thursday, and more will be drafted for the twentieth, twenty-seventh and twenty-eighth of February.

On Tuesday, the following went to Camp Shelby via Fort Hayes from Draft Board 11: John Echelbarger, 227 Columbian-av; William Conrad, 2255 Sullivant-av; William Alois Hartung, 2440 Sullivant-av, and Robert Russell Snyder, 58 S. Central-av.

On Feb. 13, Elmo C. O'Hara, 1052 W. Broad-st, and George W. Lowen, 1407 Union-av, were inducted at Board 11. James Rill, 2402 Palmetto-st, and Carl T. Fields, 360 Clarendon-av, will leave for camp on Thursday, Feb. 20.

Robert Leo Wolfe, 335 N. Warren-av, and John F. Schmidt, 86 N. Ogden-av, were inducted at Board 12 on Tuesday. On Feb. 27, Frank A. Slonager, 217 N. Wheatland-av, will leave from Board 12.

Charles K. Denman, 442 S. Huron-av, and Thomas W. Reed, 41 S. Huron-av, were inducted at Board 13 on Tuesday. The next call from this board is scheduled for Feb. 28.

Tenth Ward Democrats To Elect

The Tenth Ward Democratic club will hold its next regular meeting on Tuesday evening, Feb. 18, at 8 o'clock, in the Glenwood shelter house.

The annual election of officers will be held on this occasion.

Oscar Didine, committeeman for the tenth ward, expects a large attendance and extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend.

Music and other forms of entertainment will be featured on the evening's program.

Coyle Attends State Meet

Avard R. Coyle, 251 Nashoba-av, chef de gare, and Leo O'Connor, assistant secretary, of Voiture No. 15 of the "40 and 8," went to Dayton Sunday to attend a state conference of the organization in the Biltmore hotel.

Former Hoge Pastor Is Active In European War Refugee Work

Richard E. Shields, former pastor of the Hoge Memorial Presbyterian church, is now executive secretary (Midwest office) of the American Committee for Christian Refugees, an organization whose purpose is to assist Christian refugees from Europe.

Included in the group to which aid is extended are those Christians who are racially discriminated against and are known as "non-Aryans."

Refugees are those people who have been compelled to flee from their homelands and seek asylum elsewhere because of social, political or religious changes brought about by the horrors of war.

A trained professional staff is maintained to carry on the large and comprehensive program which includes migration service, local case work service, vocational service and resettlement service.

To date the committee has rendered service to refugees of 21 nationalities.

Rev. Shields was pastor of the Hoge church from 1918 to 1924. His present activities take him to Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Wisconsin and Ohio.

Legion Post Sponsors Dance

The Malcolm D. Jeffery American Legion post, No. 465, will hold its Legion assembly dance, Saturday evening, Mar. 1, from 10 to 1, in the Hall of Mirrors at the Deshler Wallick hotel. Music will be furnished by the Walter Knick WBNS orchestra, with vocals by Mary Lou. Proceeds from the dance will be used to further the educational program of the post and to assist worthy students.

Included among the members of the committee in charge of the function are M. B. Cheffin, 545 Wrexham-av, commander, and E. C. McCarley, 607 Wayne-av.

The dance is open to the public.

Hilltop Students Pledged To Pershing Rifles

Cadets Wayne M. Leathers, 1931 Fairmont-av, and Joseph DeRubertis, 1493 Sullivant-av, were among 23 men formerly accepted for pledgeship to Pershing Rifles, Ohio State military fraternity, Wednesday night, Jan. 29, in the armory. They will undergo three months of pledgeship, learning the military drill, history and facts concerning the organization and military training, after which they will be initiated.

Another Hilltop student, Cadet First Lieut. Charles E. Powers, 253 Richardson-av, is an officer in Pershing Rifles.

Mrs. Rose Chilcote Taken By Death

Mrs. Rose H. Chilcote (Aunt Rose), age 73, of 30 N. Wayne-av, died Tuesday, Feb. 11, at her residence.

Funeral services will be held this morning, 8 o'clock, in the St. Aloysius church. Interment will be at South Bloomingville, O.

Surviving Mrs. Chilcote are three daughters, Mrs. Martha Finneran, Mrs. Mary Smithhisler and Mrs. Ruth Higgins, and 13 grandchildren.

Dr. Palmer Cordray To Practice Here

Dr. Palmer Cordray, M. D., opened offices last week in this community for general practice. His offices are at 2553 Sullivant-av.

Previously he had offices at 188 E. State-st, where he practiced for 10 years.

Bonnie Has Twins

Twin calves were born last Thursday to "Bonnie," Jersey cow belonging to Mr. Frank Shaub, 1571 Demorest-rd. According to Shaub, this is a rare thing and "Bonnie" seems to be justifiably proud of herself.

As yet, the calves have not been named.

Hilltop Churches Planning Union Lenten Services

A group of Hilltop churches are planning to conduct a series of union services during Lent. Pastors will exchange pulpits. Church choirs and other musical organizations from the community will furnish the special music.

The following churches are cooperating: Friends church, Burgess Avenue U. B., Hillcrest Baptist, Hilltop Church of Christ, Hoge Memorial Presbyterian and the Evangelical Congregational.

The following schedule of services has been announced:

Feb. 26—Friends church, Rev. W. E. Seesholtz, speaker.

March 5—Hoge Memorial, Rev. W. S. Wilkes.

March 12—Hillcrest Baptist, Rev. A. J. Wold.

March 19—Burgess Avenue U. B., Rev. O. J. MacDonald.

March 26—Hilltop Church of Christ, Rev. E. E. Burtner.

April 2—Evangelical Congregational, Rev. H. A. Handy.

"Day of Prayer"

A union meeting in observance of the world-wide "Day of Prayer" will be held in Oakley Avenue Baptist church Feb. 28, at 3 o'clock.

Theme for the day is "Thy Kingdom Come." Rev. Jacob Ashburn will give the "call to prayer." A ladies' quartet composed of Mrs. Edith Coleman, Mrs. Carrie Brown, Mrs. Hazel Brunson, Mrs. Ann Brown, Mrs. Maxine Landrum, pianist, and directed by Mrs. Marguerite Colwell, will lead the singing.

This "Day of Prayer" is observed around the world, beginning in the Fiji Islands and closing in Alaska 40 hours later. Last year the congregation in Sitka, Alaska, voted to send its offering to the migrants in the United States.

The committee in charge of the program at the local church is composed of Mrs. A. J. Wold, Mrs. R. J. Miller, Mrs. H. G. Trout and Mrs. H. Whitehead, chairman.

Business Men Have Lincoln Day Speaker

Rev. A. J. Wold, pastor of the Hoge Memorial Presbyterian church, spoke to members of the Hilltop Business Men's association Tuesday night on "Lincoln's Philosophy of Life."

The meeting was held in Schmelzer's restaurant, 3178 W. Broad-st. Entertainment was furnished by the West High Male quartet.

Membership to the association was voted to Broad-Hague poultry market, Mone's pharmacy, and Horn's Sunoco service station.

The association has requested the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. to extend its owl car service beyond Powell-av to the corporation limit.

City High Tusslers To Meet At West

The City High Wrestling tournament will be held in the West High gym on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. Participating teams will come from Central, South, East, Aquinas and West high schools.

Beginning at 4 p. m. on both days, the purpose of the tournament is to determine the city championship team and individual titles.

The preliminaries will be held on Wednesday afternoon; the finals on Thursday.

A slight admission charge will be made for each event.

The two boys who place first and second in each weight division in the finals will represent Columbus in the state tournament, which will be held at Ohio State university on Feb. 28, March 1.

Recreation Offers Opportunities For Boy Bowlers

In order to stimulate the interest of school boys in bowling, Bill Wolfe, proprietor of the Hilltop Recreation alleys, has announced that, beginning Saturday, Feb. 14, all boys under 16 years of age will be permitted to bowl for 10 cents a game on Saturday mornings.

Big doings are expected for the local bowling boys next season, when the ABC tournaments will be held in Columbus, according to Wolfe. Two Hilltop boys have places on the Kahn Jewelers ABC team selected two weeks ago.

Services were conducted by the Eagles at 2 p. m., Sunday, at the Wylie S. Shroyer funeral home for Mr. Schlicher, 58, of 575 Binns-blvd, flagman on the New York Central railroad for many years, who died in Bellefontaine, last week.

Mr. Schlicher, on the St. Mary's to Bellefontaine run, died of coronary thrombosis in his room where he stayed while working. He was a member of the B. of R. T. No. 72 and Aerie 397, FOE.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Nettie Bashor Schlicher; a brother, Daniel F., of Columbus, and a sister, Mrs. Harry Ross, Detroit. Burial in Memorial Burial park.

Omitted

Last week, a page of the Record, sponsored by Hilltop merchants, was devoted to an historical survey of the Glenwood Methodist church. The pastors who have served the church were listed.

Due to an unintentional oversight, the name of Rev. C. F. Bowman, who served the church from April, 1920, to September, 1921, was omitted.

Man Held On Fraud Charge

Jerry Taylor, W. Chapel-st, is being held by Columbus police on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses in connection with the false sale of the "Hilltopper," sandwich shop at 2494 W. Broad-st.

Taylor, who was not the real owner of the restaurant, made arrangements to sell the shop to Mrs. Vance. He accepted a $100 initial payment from her and when he attempted to collect additional money detectives were on hand to "nip the plot in the bud," according to Leo Phillips, chief of detectives.

West To Meet Loop-Leading South Team

By Harold Mers

With an eye to their chance to knock the pace-setting South High Bulldogs from their undefeated status (in city league competition), the West aggregation has drilled long and hard. The Cowboys will travel to the Ann Street school tonight, where they will engage the Bulldogs in the seventh league game for both teams; the varsity set-to beginning at 8:00, the reserves skirmishing an hour earlier.

Although the Buckaroos were strengthened by the re-entry of Dave Wills into the line-up, they suffered from the loss of guard George Ours. Ours, who has been confined to his bed for the past week, will probably not be able to be in uniform this evening when the Cowboys engage the league-leading South quintet, which already has marked up one victory at the expense of the West team this season.

Dave Wills, who has been out of the games, due to an ankle injury, is back on his feet and expects to help the Buckaroos put the Bulldogs in the dog-house.

Don Davies has been moved up from the reserves to increase the number of varsity substitutes.

Coach George Williams stated that the team was in "tip-top condition but has some hard work ahead of them."

Scuttle Pirates, 33-28

In their first game in the second league round, played last Friday, the Cowboys managed to forge ahead of the Central Pirates in the third quarter and stay there until the final gun had sounded. Ucker again left the game via the foul route and Frank Marshall, recent starter, sparked the victors with 13 points.

Life Is A Poem To Local Bard; And He "Ain't Mad At Nobody"

By Jean Louise Young

Long poems, short poems, sad poems, gay poems—poems about people, poems about places—in short, just poems have brought a great deal of pleasure to C. S. Parks, proprietor of the Pure Oil service station, corner Wisconsin and Broad—he writes 'em.

An ardent poetry fan, on reading some of Parks' verses, said recently: "I really like these. They contain a certain rustic quality, which poets of the day have all but lost."

Parks has written many interesting poems and among them is one he wrote as a tribute to Edgar Guest, the much-loved American poet.

Upon receiving a copy of the local poet's tribute, Mr. Guest wrote Parks the following letter:

My dear Mr. Parks:

It was fine of you to take the time and trouble to write that very nice tribute to me, and I can't tell you how greatly I appreciate it and how grateful I am for letting me see it.

My best wishes to you and thank you very much.

Sincerely yours,
Edgar A. Guest

Edgar Guest is Parks' favorite poet. He also likes to read the works of Robert Burns who "wrote in a funny kind of language."

Having the true soul of a poet, Parks bubbles over with rhyme. When the inspiration comes, he writes it down on anything at all which is handy. He tacks the finished product on the wall, the desk, on signs or on boxes.

Above the station telephone where one usually finds the sign, "5c a call," one finds this catching rhyme:

"Five cents per call,
If you don't get your party,
Don't pay at all."

Such ditties as this can be found plastered all over the interior (and exterior)) of the station.

The local bard, a short time ago, wrote a eulogy to the Hilltop, where he is a resident. Entitled "Build On Solid Ground," it goes as follows:

If you're looking for a location
I'll tell you where to go,
Don't ask me for information
But ask the ones who know.
Drop a letter to your teacher,
Or Governor of the state,
The place of which I'm speaking
Is progressive and up to date.

I've told you where to travel
And subjects to write about,
If you follow my suggestions
There isn't any doubt
You'll be wise and wealthy,
Have plenty of money to lend.
In no wise would I deceive you,
I call you all my friend.

If you'd have pleasant surroundings,
Whether you buy or rent,
I'll give you my opinion
And charge you not one cent.
Don't build on sand that's shifting
Build on higher ground.
The Hilltop in Columbus, Ohio
Is the best that's found.

Above the filling station entrance hangs a sign which reads: "I Ain't Mad at Nobody." The poet explains this very simply by saying, "I mean just what it says, I ain't mad at nobody."

Parks is so poetry-conscious that he uses it in his newspaper advertising. Each week he runs his latest poem in his purchased space in the Hilltop Record.

Mrs. Parks is non-committal regarding her husband's poetry. She just says, "It's not bad." At least she "ain't mad" at Mr. Parks about his poetry writing.

Hilltoppers To Participate In Eisteddfod

More than a thousand people will participate in the Central Ohio Eisteddfod to be held at Memorial hall, Feb. 22, Washington's birthday, with sessions at 10, 2 and 7:30 o'clock. This song fest marks the first community affair of its kind and size in Columbus since 1908.

The Hilltop has a special interest in the eisteddfod, not only because Hilltoppers were instrumental in bringing the affair to Columbus, but also because many of them will participate in the program of songs and recitations.

The Hilltop chorus will enter groups in the mixed chorus class, the ladies choral group, and the male chorus competition. In the mixed choral group, Columbus will have two representatives: Fostoria and Lima, one each.

The ladies chorus class has the largest number of entries in the chorus division; seven groups from over the state. The male chorus will have five groups; two from Columbus, and one each from Lima, Portsmouth and Uniontown, Pa.

The program, which consists of 35 numbers, has been divided into three sessions. The morning session, beginning at 10 o'clock, will be composed largely of solos and duets. In the afternoon meeting, at 2, the church choirs will be featured. The evening session will feature numbers by the mixed, ladies, and male choruses.

In order that the judges may more clearly judge the merits of the respective entries, each entry in any class will sing the same numbers that each of the other entries in that class will sing. There will be $2,750 in prizes to be awarded to those participating in the eisteddfod.

Tickets may be secured on the Hilltop at the Hilltop Record, 2463-65 W. Broad, Campbell's pharmacy, 2766 W. Broad, or the Jones Lumber Co., 57 N. Sylvan-av.

Eagle Scouts Dave Riggs, Dick Jantzen (Troop 181), Gerald Gifford, Jack Morris (Troop 45), Dean Barnes (Troop 172), George Bradford, Cecil Pilani, Gunner Marsh, Bill Lidey (Troop 161) and Jack Remington (Troop 18) were hosts to Scouts from out of the city during the observance of Legislative Day, Feb. 11.

They served in this capacity at the personal request of Governor Bricker.

The boys were guests of the White Castle system for lunch. Later in the day, they attended a session of the legislature and also decorated the grave of the Unknown Scout in the yard of the statehouse.

The day was one of the high spots of Boy Scout week for all those who participated.

Troop Entertained

On the occasion of the annual parent's night celebration, when Scouts in troop 181, their parents, and Herman Jantzen, scoutmaster, were honored by the presentation of the Governor's citation of merit, a team of experts from the state highway patrol entertained with an exhibition of jujutsu and first aid.

Over 100 Scouts and parents were in attendance.

The plant, which is over five feet tall, will burst into full bloom this week-end, it is thought, exhibiting all the rich and varied colors of the spectrum.

Owner of the plant is Alois Hartung, 2440 Sullivant-av, fancier of plants and flowers. According to him, it is not unusual for the lily to grow five or six inches in a day.

Word Received Of Death of Former Resident

Word has been received here of the death of Kenneth L. Hott, 35, son of Irene J. Hott, formerly of Columbus, who died in Burbank, Calif., Monday. He is survived by his mother, two brothers, Eldon and Robert, all in California, and a step-sister, Cocelia Goldhart, of Grove City, as well as a host of relatives in Columbus.

Church Gets New Pastor

Separated 36 Years, Sisters Reunite

Mrs. Vesta Joy, 695 N. Hague-av, is joyously looking forward to another reunion with her sister, Mrs. Anna V. Brown of Marietta, whom she had not seen for 36 years.

She thought that her sister was dead until recently her daughter, Mrs. Harley Burnside, read in the paper of the death of one Dr. Carl E. Brown, whom she thought might possibly be a relative.

Suspecting that this was her cousin, Mrs. Burnside telephoned Marietta and found out that Dr. Brown's mother (and Mrs. Joy's sister), Mrs. Anna V. Brown, was alive and well and residing in Marietta.

As a result of the telephone conversation, on Jan. 28, the sisters met each other for the first time since the death of their mother in December, 1904.

Mrs. Joy, who is ill, is looking forward to a rapid recovery and another reunion with her long-lost sister in Marietta.

Losing and finding relatives seems to run in the family. Six years ago Mrs. Burnside located her brother, Frank Sherwood, who had been missing since the World war.

While attending a spiritualist meeting, Mrs. Burnside was told by the medium that her brother had died aboard an army transport and was buried at sea.

Writing Washington to determine whether or not this had actually been the case, Mrs. Burnside was told that a Frank Sherwood was living in Cleveland—and sure enough, he turned out to be brother Frank.

Police Ball To Feature Big Name Bands

When Barney Rapp and his New Englanders play for the second night of the ninth annual Police ball at Columbus auditorium, citizens of central Ohio will have the opportunity to see and hear one of the outstanding musical units of the nation.

"Rhapsodies by Rapp" has been a by-word on the major radio networks for a number of years. Bandmaster Rapp and his gang have been heard over the National, Columbia, and Mutual Broadcasting chains innumerable times.

The ninth annual Police ball, central Ohio's largest annual dance, is to be held on the nights of Feb. 14, and 15. Playing the first night will be Bob Sylvester and his sophisticated swing band.

Detective Bob Cooke, head of the dance committee, reports that ticket sales for this year indicate that the 1941 affair will be the largest in the history of the event. The proceeds are used for the police pension and relief fund.

WATCHING OVER HIS OWN

He's living in dread, for his old homestead
And parents old and gray
Who have to abide, on the other side
Three thousand miles away.
He sailed the main, great fame to attain
In the distance long ago
Now living in dread, for the old homestead
And friends he used to know.

His Father and Mother, Sisters and Brother
Three thousand miles away
Living in dread, in the old homestead
Any day may be blown away.
Methods foul or fair, by bombs from the air
Nonparticipating in the fray
In fear and dread, they'll all be dead
Before the sun of another day.

That may sound queer, to folks over here
But that is the situation,
None can foretell what'll stop that hell,
It is infecting every nation,
The Devil's turned free, across the wide sea
Right now he holds full sway
But God's on his throne—watching over his own,
There'll be a reckoning some day.

● Stories are making the rounds that Vic Donahey may be in the race for Governor, comes another election. His record for vote getting in Ohio is outstanding and should serve to bolster up his party ranks. Vic, it will be remembered for all times, is the man made famous by a baked potato, and he might prove to be a hot potato in another political race.

Gala Show To Go On West High Stage

By Margaret More

Yes sir, something new has actually occurred in this old world. After all the rugged wear and tear put on those band uniforms last year by the West High music makers, only one solitary button escaped.

Members of the West High band have discovered, at last, that those uniforms which are kept in tip-top shape by the Band Parents, require a considerable outlay of real hard cash.

Besides keeping the elaborate uniforms in good shape, the parents' group donates money for sheet music, honorary pins and letters, repairs on drums and a host of other minor but expensive things.

Now the Band Parents are sponsoring a Band Variety Night which will be Friday evening, March 7. Featuring band music, dancing, acting and what have you, the gala affair will be staged in the West High school auditorium, beginning at 8 p. m.

The program will consist of three parts; the first will be devoted to band music; the second will include a variety of dances and acts; and the third will be a play by members of Ray Bowen's dramatic class.

There will be a nominal charge for admission.

Dr. Rohr Heads Medical Bureau

Election of Dr. Lovell W. Rohr, 291 S. Brinker-av, as the president of the Columbus Bureau of Medical Economics was announced Monday.

Named to serve with Dr. Rohr was Dr. W. M. Baker, 133 S. Brinker-av. Dr. Baker, a dentist, will serve as vice-president.

The bureau functions as the official business unit of both the Columbus Academy of Medicine and the Columbus Dental Society, supplying 24-hour physicians' call service, reliable health information and suggesting physicians for those who cannot reach their family doctor or have no regular physician.

The medical bureau also operates a professional budget service for persons confronted with large obligations to doctors, dentists or hospitals.

Hilltop Boy In Canadian Army

Recently returned to service with the Elgin regiment, Canadian army, stationed at Stanley barracks, Toronto, Canada, is Earl Hawk, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hawk, 84 S. Oakley-av.

Earl, a former West High student, joined the Elgin Regiment in June, 1940, and was home on his first leave of absence. His father, W. E. Hawk, served four years with the English army in the first World war.

Anniversary Edition To Be Published

The last Friday in April will mark the beginning of the twenty-fifth year of service to the community by the Hilltop Record.

On that day a huge anniversary edition will be published, depicting the growth and progress of the community over the twenty-five year period.

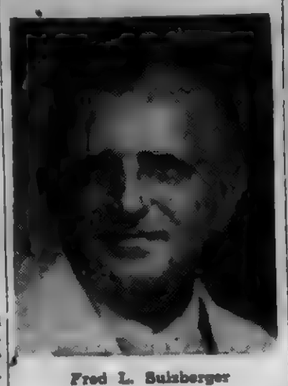
Much discrimination will have to be exercised in selecting the material for this edition. The editorial staff intends to make it the biggest and best in the history of the paper. It would sincerely welcome any contributions and suggestions from readers.

Stories submitted in this connection will be given the most careful consideration.

"Professor"

Floyd Green

For three rip-roaring nights Floyd Green, mayor of Columbus, will be professor. Not of the electoral college as you might suspect—but of the Hilltop minstrel's college of musical knowledge.



The theme of the twelfth annual show, to be held on the nights of March 19, 20 and 21, will center around the musical college idea of the air waves. But instead of Kay Kyser appearing in the vestments of the learned pedagogue, there will be Mayor Green.

End men will be Leo Phillips, chief of detectives, Billie Southworth, Dick Becker and William Taft.

As in the past, the musical backing for the show will be furnished by the Hilltop male chorus.

In charge of production is C. Carlton Hartley.

Sulzberger Appointment Affirmed

Fred L. Sulzberger

City council, Monday night, unanimously approved Mayor Green's appointment of Fred L. Sulzberger, 2848 Crescent-dr, to the civil service commission to serve the unexpired term of Earl W. Baird, who was recently appointed to the state liquor board.

The term will end Feb. 1, 1944, and the salary is $1,000 a year.

Sulzberger is an optometrist with offices at 2417 W. Broad-st. He is eleventh ward Democratic chairman, having been elected as the "harmony choice" of the county Democratic organization at last year's primary.

The new commission member was chosen from a list of five Democrats, including John Gerru, president of the Columbus Federation of Labor; T. Blain Holloway, former city auditor; D. C. Westenhaven, a former city official; and M. J. Connor.

Dr. Sulzberger will be at his desk much as usual at his place of business.

Hilltopper Selected To Head New Republican Club

Emile Reiss, an attorney at law, residing at 204 N. Roys-av, was selected as president of the newly-formed Republican 1944 club.

Statewide in its scope, the club was organized by a group of local Republicans who believe in the need of a citizens' committee to stimulate an interest in state and national political affairs.

Legion Members To Register For Defense

On Feb. 22, Washington's birthday, Camp Chase post, American Legion, will register its members for national defense service.

The process of registration and filling out questionaires will be conducted in every local post in the country on that date at the behest of the national commander.

The purpose of the registration, which is entirely voluntary, is to provide local, state and national leadership of the American Legion with a complete inventory of the assets of the organization in manpower, experience and special training that could be made available to the government if needed in the defense of the nation.

In regard to the matter of registration, Commander M. P. Hain of the local post made the following comments: "I feel certain that every Legionnaire and other interested World War veterans generally will welcome this opportunity of perhaps doing another bit for their country . . . I urge every Legionnaire and other World War veterans in this community to register on Feb. 22 . . . It is a patriotic duty, and we of the American Legion have never shirked our duty, or lagged in our patriotism."

Camp Chase Post will be visited by the members of Am-Le Voiture of the Forty and Eight at the meeting this evening.

The Forty and Eight makes an annual visitation to each post in the county and the purpose of the visits is to promote a spirit of friendliness and cooperation among the 17 Legion posts in Franklin county.

A. R. (Chub) Coyle is Chef de Gare of the local Voiture and Commander M. P. Hain urges all members to attend tonight's meeting. Refreshments will be served.

Vice Commander Clarence Lytle announces a dance to be held at Camp Chase post on Saturday, March 1, for the entertainment of Legion members and their friends. The committee assisting Mr. Lytle includes R. L. Clark, John Flannigan, Harold McClure, Leo Konkler, Jay Bowser and Tom Millikin. This committee is also sponsoring a stag party in the near future.

Ray Hauntz Urges Food Stamp Plan

Ray G. Hauntz, Hilltop councilman, is backing Mayor Green to the limit in his efforts to bring the food stamp plan to Columbus.

According to Hauntz, the plan will bring added purchasing power to the needy and approximately $900,000 additional business to the grocers of the city.

All councilmen agree that the plan would be a fine one in all of its phases. There is some difficulty, however, in the matter of providing for its administration.

In the past the city has financed a considerable part of its poor relief program on a credit basis with bankers and grocers. Retirement of the debt was provided for by the issuance of bonds, last year to the extent of $608,400.

It was intended that the same process would be repeated this year. Under the newly-proposed plan, however, the purchase of food orders and surplus commodities must be financed with cash, not credit.

"The big difficulty," says Hauntz, "is the matter of setting up a $70,000 revolving fund for purchase of stamps from the federal government for resale to recipients of forms of governmental assistance other than direct relief." (These include aid to the aged, blind and dependent children and WPA workers.)

In addition to this, another $60,000 will be required each month to purchase stamps for direct relief clients. This is the part of the relief program which, last year, was financed almost wholly on a credit basis.

LIBRARY TO CLOSE

The Hilltop branch library will be closed tomorrow in observance of Washington's birthday.

Grind Out Some Good Jokes—Get Free Minstrel Tickets

For some time past now, the directors and producers of the twelfth annual Hilltop minstrel show have been tearing their hair, biting their nails, pawing up the earth and carrying on something scandalous.

And why, you ask.

Very simple, they need jokes—big jokes, little jokes, all kinds of jokes, except bum jokes.

Finally they hit upon an idea and now they're sitting back and contentedly sucking their thumbs.

Here's the idea: You bring the jokes. Yes, that's it. If the g-la show is to be truly a community affair, says the minstrel committee, besides being in attendance at the show, members of the community ought to contribute at least part of the wise-cracks and quips.

You will be handsomely rewarded for your contributions.

To the five persons submitting the best set of jokes, suitable for use in the minstrel show, will go a pair of free tickets.

The jokes must be submitted in writing to the Minstrel Joke Editor, in care of the Hilltop Record, 2483-85 W. Broad-st) on or before Tuesday, March 4. Announcement of the winners will be made in the Record.

Here's your chance, jokesters. Now, get hep and grind some out. The editors want the jokes to be up to date—the modern streamline stuff and not of an ancient vintage.

YOU can win free tickets. So, give it a whirl. What can you lose?

Cowboys To Tangle With Aquinas Terriers Tonight

Upset League-Leading South Bulldogs

By Harold Mers

The West High basketball squad will try for its fourth straight win in city league competition tonight, when it attempts to shut the Aquinas Terriers in the "dog-house," where the Cowboys finally managed to hitch the South Bulldogs in last Friday's encounter.

The first game with Aquinas ended in the worst defeat suffered by the West quintet at the hands of any league foe this season, but the boys are determined that tonight's game won't be a repeater.

Whip South in Thriller, 42-41

Exhibiting a determined-to-win brand of five-man basketball, the Cowboys held Ernie Alban to 14 points and handed the Bulldogs from South their first shellacking in loop play.

The decisive factor in the West victory was the securing of rebounds by the Cowboys, who decided to control the ball and managed to hold it most of the time, although Frank Marshall and Bud Maxwell were ejected from the game via the personal foul route in the fourth quarter.

The return of "Small Dave" Wills into the West line-up added the long-range scoring punch that the Bucks needed. The little guard consistently hit the basket from well beyond the Bulldogs' zone defense. Wills, despite the fact that he has been out of the games for nearly a month nursing a gashed ankle, also played a scintillating floor game and recovered several rebounds.

Also outstanding for the Cowboys was Duck Ucker, who garnered 18 points for himself and took more than his share of the rebounds from each backboard. Maxwell and Marshall, who went out in the last quarter, played excellent, spirited ball all through the game as did steady Dick Smith.

Substitutes Tom Dean and Don Rogers, entering the game at a crucial moment, managed to keep cool heads and forestall any South scoring that would have cancelled out the slim one point lead which the Cowboys held, somewhat uncomfortably, for the last minute and some seconds of the thrilling game.

They Appear In Revival Services

Jarrette and Dell Aycock

The Aycock-Harding party, nationally known evangelists from Bethany, Okla., will open a two weeks' revival at the Warren Avenue Church of the Nazarene, 648 S. Warren-av, Tuesday evening, beginning at 7:30.

Rev. and Mrs. Jarrette Aycock have held meetings in every state in the past 25 years. Rev. Aycock was converted under the ministry of Mel Trotter and Mrs. Aycock under the ministry of Gypsy Smith.

The meetings are to be held each evening through March 9. The party plays and sings with guitar accompaniment. Many songs are of their own composition.

Pictured at the left are Whitcomb and Maridel Harding.

Democratic Club Elects Officers

The Eleventh Ward Democratic club, meeting in the Glenwood shelter house Tuesday evening, elected officers for the ensuing year.

The following were elected and installed:

President, C. Ray Grashel; first vice-president, Cecil Sherlock; second vice-president, Paul Gulick; secretary, Mary Swank; treasurer, Alice Lombard; and sergeant-at-arms, William Higgins.

Mrs. Margaret Roan was appointed committeewoman by Oscar F. Dildine, ward committeeman.

Guest speaker of the evening was Robert M. Draper, president of the Columbus school board. Dildine also spoke on the affairs of the club.

Musical entertainment was furnished by Mary Rose Tonti, Mary Kathryn Dambach and Raymond Preston.

Members of the club are planning a bingo party for the near future.

DAY OF PRAYER

The Hilltop World Day of Prayer will be held Friday, Feb. 28, at 2 o'clock in the Oakley Avenue Baptist church.

Sacred Lilies of India Bloom on Hilltop

The bulb of the "Sacred Lily of India" may be set out in the ground in the spring. The spring and summer growth produces a shimmering green plant with an umbrella-like top.

During this growth the bulb accumulates enough food to supply the plant's needs for the winter growth.

The full-grown flowering winter plant (as shown in the pictures) at no time requires water or any kind of attention.

You are apt to find almost anything growing on the Hilltop. To date, we have found two sacred Indian lilies growing here. They are far from their native clime—but are growing none the less.

In the picture on the left, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. White, 488 Larcomb-av, are looking at their Indian lily which has sprouted from a clod of mud and roots into a gorgeous, six-foot flowering plant within the space of a few weeks.

To the right, Ira Claggett gazes with admiration at the sacred lily which has been on display at his confectionery, 2432 Sullivant-av, for some time past. The plant which had not yet bloomed when the picture was taken, is still shooting toward the ceiling. It is well over seven feet tall and still going strong.

Surveying A Wilderness
When George Washington went out to help survey the wilderness that was later to become the great state of Ohio few persons looked on it as a profitable or worthwhile venture. The uncharted expanse of forest seemed only a home for savage Indians.
Today we look on home ownership as a long range proposition. We look several years into the future and "survey" the many eventualities that may arise from the time we buy a home until it is fully paid for. Fortunately the uncertainty of such a project is minimized by a practical plan of financing. Inquire about our Direct Reduction Plan for home ownership.

"A BROKEN HEART"

Can broken hearts be mended?
Will they always regret?
Many pleasant years together,
Can they ever forget?
Can they prosper in new environments,
Contented and serene?
Can they be happy among strangers,
Will sad memories intervene?

The past can be erased completely
If detrimental to keep in mind,
Occasionally that must be accomplished
When fate has been unkind.
A heart that's free from duplicity,
Peace it can surely attain
Among strangers if honestly employed,
Their sun will shine again.

Numerous reasons cause estrangement
Where dangers were never foretold,
And duties may cause us to tarry
Where temptations are manifold.
This is my positive conviction,
Broken hearts can surely en-
If they make reasonable restitutions,
And if they're honest and pure.

HE BROUGHT INDEPENDENCE

The independence that was won under the leadership of George Washington was not political independence alone. It was an ideal that has permeated American thinking in every phase of life.

Americans have always encouraged independent enterprise in business as well as government.

Your independent grocer has thrived in business because he runs his business along the lines of service, savings and a conscientious effort to give his customer the best merchandise available at the lowest possible price.

IN MEMORIAM

JACQUES, DAVID, February 26, 1936. Another year has passed away, and still the ache, the pain. But the loss of our dear boy here is only heaven's gain. Our family wheel was broken when a voice said, "David, come. Your heavenly home is ready, and with the angels you will sing. I'll heal the broken hearts you leave behind, just as I heal the birds with broken wings."

Mother, Dad, Sisters, and Polly

IN MEMORIAM

(Aurelius E. Hogan)

Our Dad is gone,
Earth bound no more.
Ah! no not dead,
Just gone before.

We must not grieve,
Death is his gain,
The step of Life's
Eternal reign.

—Written by his daughter, Marie Hogan Thompson.

Feb. 25. Mrs. A. E. Hogan

IN MEMORIAM

He Is Just Away

(In memory of Claude Troutman)

I cannot say, and I will not say
That he is dead,—He is just away!
With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land,

And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.
And you—O you, who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and the glad return,—

Think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of These as the love of Here;
Think of him still as the same, I say:
He is not dead,—he is just away!

—James Whitcomb Riley.

Myrtle Brockmeyer and his father, Mr. Emery Troutman.

The Spectator

By C. C. Hartley

● This Hilltop of ours! It is thrilling to be a part of a community that is constantly doing things.

If you were one of the large number that sat in Memorial hall Saturday night and until nearly 2 a. m. Sunday to hear Dale Gilliland's Hilltop mixed chorus take first prize of $700 in competition with three other fine choral groups you too would be proud of the Hilltop.

Dale deserves the heartiest hand this community can extend to him. And every member of the ladies' and men's choruses are to be complimented on the fine showing they made. It is especially gratifying in view of the fact that this mixed chorus and ladies chorus had been organized for but a short time.

But it's such things as these that have made this Hilltop community spirit. It's the finest to be found.

● From Harry K. Marsh, now a first sergeant with the 166th infantry at Camp Shelby comes a letter expressing his thanks for receiving the Record at camp. He advises that our papers are passed among all the boys and they enjoy it thoroughly. To all these men we hope it serves as a weekly letter from home.

Harry also puts in a word of greeting to the Boy Scouts of the Southwest district. He was scoutmaster of troop 161 and always did a fine job.

● WANTED: Good men to work in a good cause. Lots of fun while you are helping build citizens.

Local scouting authorities report that they have 25 boys wanting to join the Boy Scouts of America. But as yet they have been unable to find men who are willing to serve as scoutmasters and troop committeemen.

Numerous other boys of the community would avail themselves of the opportunity to become scouts if there were more men willing to train for the job of looking after a scout troop. Think it over, then do something about it. This is an invitation to any men in the community who are interested.

Jokes Wanted!

Do you have fallen arches, gastric acidity, or a sense of humor? If you are the victim of the first two ailments, the minstrel joke editor can't do much for you, but if you have a sense of humor, contact him immediately.

In order to convince the joke editor of the fact, send him (in a hurry) some of your best jokes—the ones that "kill" your audiences at after dinner speeches, or the ones that the girl (or boy) friend shakes and cackles at—and he will select the five persons having the best senses of humor as indicated by their joke entries, and present them with a pair of free tickets to the twelfth annual Hilltop Minstrel, which will swing into action on the stage of the West High auditorium, on the evenings of Mar. 19, 20, and 21.

"Come to think of it," he says, "the minstrels will be able to take care of your fallen arches by raising them with some of the high-jinks that will take place, and when they do, we bet you won't even know you still have a stomach; until it gets tired of shaking around while you guffaw at your own jokes."

All jokes should be received by the Minstrel Joke Editor, 2463-65 W. Broad-st, on or before Mar. 4.

Veterans State Campaign Objectives

Three objectives underlie the membership recruiting campaign being conducted by Westway Post, No. 3441, Veterans of Foreign Wars, among the eligible overseas veterans of this community and its vicinity. They are (1) Renewal of 1940 members for 1941 (2) Reinstatement of former members and (3) Recruiting of new members.

The entire membership of Post No. 3441 is to be mobilized for the campaign. Commander R. G. Wilson is directing the efforts of all three committees, Senior Vice Commander Herbert Kunzi is chairman of the reinstatement committee which is seeking out former members whose membership has been allowed to lapse, and Junior Vice Commander Roy Polus is chairman of the committee which is securing the 1941 dues from all comrades who were members in 1940.

Past Commander G. M. Chambers is chairman of the committee which is recruiting new members for the post. The members of this committee will conduct a person-to-person canvass of every ex-service man in this vicinity who is eligible to the V. F. W. by virtue of the government campaign medal to which he is entitled.

To Sing At Burgess Church

The men's glee club of Otterbein college will appear in concert on Sunday evening at the Burgess Avenue United Brethren church. The concert will begin at 8 o'clock.

This men's glee club numbers 30 voices and its present director, Professor A. R. Spessard, has been with the club since 1913. It has sung in principal cities and broadcasted from numerous radio stations, having had many return engagements, both in this country and Canada.

It sings sacred and secular music of the highest type, both a capella and with accompaniment. It is noted for its attractive program, its fine interpretations, and its excellent blending of voices.

With the club appears a violin trio, a clarinet trio, whose members are each soloists on their respective instruments; a quartet, a piano soloist, and a tenor and baritone soloist.

Native of Syria Addresses West Assembly

By Jean Louise Young

Salom Rizk, a native of Syria, addressed the West Senior High school assembly Monday, Feb. 26. He gave a brief sketch of his most interesting life.

Salom's parents and brother came to America before his birth. A while later his mother returned to Syria after she had become an American citizen, where Salom Rizk was born.

At about the age of 10 his Syrian teacher told him of his brother in America and that he should go there where there were so many opportunities.

"I camped on the steps of the American Consul for five years," the Syrian recalled. "One day they handed me my American passport and said, 'Congratulations, you ARE Salom Rizk!' I told them that's what I was trying to tell them for five years."

Salom Rizk then pushed memories of invasion of the Turks, persecution of the Christians, and his terrible way of writing lessons in the sand far back in his mind. In 1927 he gazed for the first time at the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor. Rizk only feared that this was all a dream — there couldn't be such great opportunities, but there they were before him!

He left New York after one day and hastened to Iowa and his brother. His brother met him with an automobile. "Only the aristocrats had them in the old country. I never dreamed of riding in a car — and worrying about a parking space," said the clever Syrian.

His brother took him to his home and when they were settled they listened to a radio. Salom was astounded to think sound could carry so many miles through "just a little wire."

Not knowing the English language. Rizk had trouble finding a job. He soon started scrubbing floors and washing dishes at night so he might go to school, which he did one hour each afternoon. After seven months he had to quit and went into the shoe shop business.

Even after he had been forced to leave school he still desired to delve deeper into the English language. He paid a friend a quarter a book to read to him while he pounded on shoes. His friends invited him to their houses, and picnics and sent him books so they might help him in learning the English language. "By all this they left me no time to become homesick or discouraged. I soon got a good job and I made more in my first week than I would in five years at home."

Rizk is now a citizen of the United States and believes, "We Americans should be thankful we cast ballots instead of bullets."

Speaker

George Herman

George Herman, past state president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, will speak tonight at 8 at a pep meeting of the local group.

The meeting will be held in the Eagles club rooms, 2356 W. Broad-st.

The local organization is interested in obtaining 100 new members by Mar. 16 and the Friday night meetings are held in connection with this campaign.

West To Try For Win Over North

The "Standing Room Only" sign is expected to go up early this evening at the West gym, where the Cowboys will meet the North High Polar Bears in the final game of the city league season, and which will also be important in the final deciding of the league standings.

Each team comes into the game with a string of wins and the game is predicted to be another "thriller."

Defeat Aquinas, East

Dick Smith playing in a forward position, was the big gun for the Buckaroos in their 55 to 38 victory over the hapless East Tigers, Tuesday evening. Duck Ucker, West center-captain, was just one back of Smith's 19 points for the evening.

Although the Cowboys won the game by a margin of 17 points, their floor play and ball-handling was not up to the par of their past several games, but accuracy at the foul line made up in large part for the deficiency in pass work.

The Cowboys had relatively little trouble in setting down the Aquinas quintet, who in the first round handed the Westerners their worst defeat of the league season.

Exhibiting a smashing offense, the Bucks, led by Bud Maxwell and Duck Ucker, who scored 16 and 13 points, respectively, captured the lead early in the game and never relinquished it. The score was 25 to 13 at the half, and the entire first squad was removed from the game in the fourth quarter, after they had piled up over 40 points. The Cowboys' defensive work was very effective, due to good floor work on the part of Dick Smith and Dave Wills.

Ministers Seek Law Enforcement

Mayor Floyd Green was called upon to take a definite stand on the matter of law enforcement this week by members of the Hilltop Ministerial association. Following is their communication:

"In view of the facts regarding law enforcement in Columbus for the past year, we, the Hilltop Ministerial association, voted unanimously to protest against present conditions.

"We commend your knowledge of vice in Columbus and are willing to support your honest efforts at enforcement.

"We feel, however, that with the knowledge at hand, the present police force to enforce the law, Columbus should not be a vice ridden city.

"Therefore we earnestly urge your immediate action to make our city into a clean, law abiding place in which to rear our children. This can be done with the present police force and a definite stand on your part, and we believe this is the time to start."

Respectfully submitted.

The same organization voted unanimous approval of the Yoder local option bill.

Nine Hilltoppers Drafted

Nine more members of the Hilltop have been called to begin their year's service with Uncle Sam's forces during the past week.

From board 11, Edward T. Follmer, 99 Schultz-av, left Wednesday, as did Wilmer A. Salris, 3021 Crescent-dr, from board 12.

On Thursday, Jesse W. Redman, 1466 Sullivant-av, Woodrow "Woody" Owens, 40 Clarendon-av, Robert J. Robbins, 117 N. Princeton-av, and Stephen R. Sherman left from board 11. Sherman was the only volunteer. Frank A. Slonager, 217 N. Wheatland-av, also went with this group.

Today, board 13 will send Herbert Harrison, 130 S. Hague-av, and Richard Goodwin, 743 Racine-av, with the selectees from Columbus and central Ohio.

"Woody" Owens Goes To Camp

"Woody" Owens

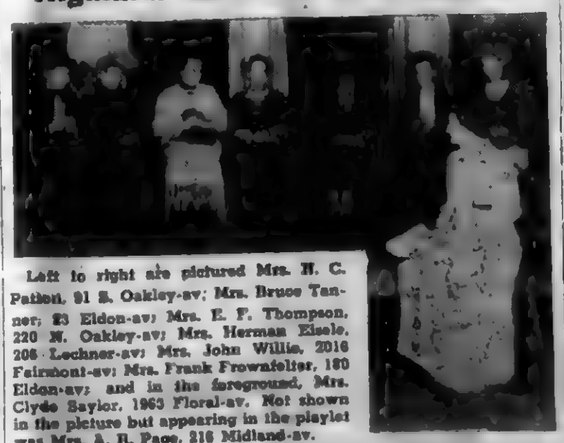
Woodrow (Woody) Owens, 40 Clarendon-av, is a-goin' to camp. The draft got him this week and he'll leave today for training somewhere south or west. The Hilltop—and especially a flock of Hilltop kids—will miss Woody, miss him a lot.

For almost 10 years now, he has coached kid basketball, baseball and football teams in this community; coached with marked success. Half of the West High Buckaroo stars in all sports have played under his leadership in American Legion baseball, bantam-weight football and various basketball leagues at some time or other.

Woody, himself a footballer at West High in the early thirties, graduated from the local school at the height of the depression. He occupied his time during those years organizing and coaching a wide array of teams composed of the Hilltop's young and up and coming athletes.

He tutored the Hilltop Merchant bantams, and guided the outfit to city championships in '33, '35, '36, '37 and '39. His American Legion baseballers copped the district title in '39 and in '34 took the local pennant and went to the state finals against Springfield before meeting defeat. His basketball squad roared through all opposition to take the city junior basketball tournament in 1935. The record speaks for itself.

Besides coaching, Woody has played with innumerable semi-pro outfits in and around Columbus for 10 years.



A vigorous, fighting type of leader and player, and one who plays out the game to the end, regardless of score, Woody's teams represented all that. They were scrapping ball clubs.

The Hilltop is losing an athlete and leader of athletes and Uncle Sam, for a year or more, is going to get a fightin' feller of high calibre. We hope there's a couple of guys like Woody about when Adolph and Muss start movin' in to scoring territory.

And what does Woody think about the draft? Just what you'd expect. "We've got to get ready," he says, "and I'm ready to get ready." And if we get into it, we'll take 'em."

Does he have ANY regrets? Yep, he's gotta leave his girl. "That," says Woody, "is gonna be tough on me. Boy, oh boy, oh boy!"

Highland Mothers Go Dramatic

Left to right are pictured Mrs. H. C. Patton, 91 S. Oakley-av; Mrs. Bruce Tanner, 93 Eldon-av; Mrs. E. F. Thompson, 220 N. Oakley-av; Mrs. Herman Eisele, 208 Lechner-av; Mrs. John Willis, 2016 Eldon-av; and in the foreground, Mrs. Clyde Saylor, 1963 Floral-av. Not shown in the picture but appearing in the playlet was Mrs. A. R. Page, 216 Midland-av.

Members of the Parent Teachers association of the Highland-av school took their turn at going dramatic yesterday afternoon, when they presented a playlet at the school building.

They were attired in elaborate costume as shown above.

Presented before a large gathering, the play is considered one of the high-lights of the year's program.

Students Initiated Into Phi Eta Sigma

On the list of freshmen men who were initiated into the Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic honorary society, at the end of the first quarter, were: Horace H. Coburn, 230 S. Westmoor-av, and James H. Looker, 233 Binns-blvd.

Hilltop Singers Cop Prizes In Eisteddfod

Singing themselves into more than $1,000 of prize money, four Hilltop choruses won major awards in the first annual Central Ohio Eisteddfod held last Saturday at Memorial hall. Capturing the major event with a mixed chorus of 100 voices, which carried a prize of $700, the Hilltoppers also took second place in the male chorus division and another second in the ladies' chorus. Prizes were $200 and $100 respectively. Although unopposed, the West High school chorus was judged excellent and was awarded $75.

Other Winners

Two other awards were won by Hilltoppers at the Central Ohio Eisteddfod last Saturday. Nellie Gray Amabary, 143 Midland-av, won a $10 prize in the short story division and in the recitation contests Bernice Lillian Aston, 589 S. Harris-av, was a winner in the junior division.

Members of the mixed chorus will meet on Monday evening to discuss disposition of the prize money. Due to the scattered membership, no plans for permanent organization are being considered at this time, C. H. Campbell, secretary of the male chorus, said this week.

The competition of the male choruses once again settled down to a duel between Lima and Hilltop. Thus it has been for 10 years, ever since the local contingent walked away with everything but the podium at Jackson in 1932, its first year of competition. Since then, the two groups have competed several times, and the rivalry is spirited. First and second prizes generally go to Lima and Hilltop.

The three former groups sang under the baton of Professor Dale V. Gilliland of the department of music, the Ohio State university. The Hilltop Business Men's male chorus, organized for years and widely known throughout the state, once again bowed to an old competitor when Lima's male chorus edged out the local organization. The mixed chorus was organized only recently, especially for the eisteddfod competition. The West High school chorus was directed by Herbert Hutchison.

Benkovic, who has ranked among the first five bowlers in the A. B. C. competition for the past 10 years, has also rolled 17 perfect 300 games, and 27 games with a score of 299. He also holds many other records, including the all-time series high for the state of Wisconsin.

The bowler will demonstrate the fundamentals of bowling and then offer suggestions to the patrons of the Hilltop Recreation Alleys, who are present at the afternoon and evening demonstration.

Variety Show To Benefit West High School Band

By Margaret More

One of the highlights on the West High Band Variety Night program, scheduled for Friday evening, Mar. 7, will be the clarinet quartet and the boys' vocal quartet.

The idea of a clarinet quartet was started two years ago by Gerald Johnson, a 1939 midyear graduate of West High and champion clarinetist for 1939. As members of this group have vanished by reason of diploma, new experts have been added, thus introducing different techniques to the ensemble. The present members are Dick Blayney, Bob Gulcher, Dick Sinclair, John Patterson. Jerry Johnson's first quartet won the 1939 and 1940 championship and the present group will try for the third year as state champs and also the national championship.

The boys' vocal quartet boasts a very high tenor in the person of Harold Beckett; second tenor, Montie Ball; baritone, Walter Grenell; bass, Charles Williams.

The boys first "got together" last September and after having difficulty in sticking together, decided really to get down and WORK. Macabees Hall, Hilltop Business Men's association, and our West High assemblies have been royally entertained by the quartet.

Individually the boys have had their "big moments." Montie Ball entered last year's Hilltop eisteddfod. All four of the boys sang in "H. M. S. Pinafore," Harold Beckett having a leading role.

Recordings of four favorite songs were made last week by the quartet and we hear they turned out fine.

Robert Morris Chapter Has Inspection

The Robert Morris chapter, No. 372, OES, had a luncheon and the annual inspection on Tuesday, Feb. 18. The luncheon, given in the rose room of the Virginia hotel, honored Worthy Grand Matron Fairy Gingery and Deputy Grand Matron Nell Koontz. Many distinguished guests were present, being introduced by the social club president, Clare Shanks. There were readings by Nell Ralston and songs by Joan Dhume.

In the evening the annual inspection was held in the chapter room of West Gate temple, which was decorated with spring flowers. To approach the East, it was necessary to pass through these flowers.

Amid this floral setting, the Worthy Grand Matron Fairy Gingery was presented to the East after which the star point officers presented her with flowers representing each point. It's All in Your Point of View

I once talked to an old cannibal who, hearing of the Great War raging then in Europe, was most curious to know how we Europeans managed to eat such enormous quantities of human flesh. When I told him that Europeans do not eat their slain foes, he looked at me in shocked horror and asked what sort of barbarians we were, to kill without any real object.—Bronislaw Malinowski.

Joe and Rosalee Agee celebrated their third wedding anniversary Wednesday . . . This week we learn of another of those Sacred Lilies of India. Elmer Henderson had one in bloom at his home at 661 S. The fish fry and host of other good things that went with it were whipped in shape largely through the efforts of Doc Sulzberger, Clarence Story and Curt Wilcox.

In attendance for the festivities were the host, Don Smith, Dr. C. O. Cramer, C. C. Hartley, Clarence Story, Henry Blessing, Dr. Willard Breese, Dr. William Lowry, Curt Wilcox, L. E. Saunders, Pop Waymer, Dr. F. L. Sulzberger, Herb Deems, Gil Smoot, Dr. M. W. Bates and yours truly.

From the sunny south a few days past comes a package for Bill Moore, Record Lino operator, bearing a sample of the rare Floogie Boo Bird. In its native habitat it goes by the more familiar term of "Lucky Worry-bird."

Instructions as to its habits and care included the following:

"Just park him somewhere around the house and turn your worries over to him . . . it probably won't do any good, but he's going to be up all night anyhow. He flies backwards because he doesn't give a darn where he's going, but is anxious to see where he's been."

It was the gift of Frank Prince, fellow operator in the Record shop.

Back in the state of Virginia lived the grandmother of Jack Shank, legendary figure of the Shank clan. A frail little wisp of a woman, she lived to be 104, according to her illustrous grandson. Her reputation as a private consultant must have gained wider fame than Betty Fairfax for the neighbors came from miles around to tell her their troubles.

Granny would just sit in her old rocking chair, gaze into the fireplace and give out words of wisdom. The rest of the story we cannot vouch for but we have Jack's word for it that it was most extraordinary. Ask him for more particulars.

From Camp Shelby Bill Curtiss writes George Hardy that he is going in for basketball in his spare time. The team will bear some semblance to the Hoge Memorial quintet for it will have Curtiss, Neesham, Grubbs and Chrisman at four of the positions. Bill says he is practicing with the band and may start horn tooting regulary again.

AUTUMN

This Autumn season kinda gets a feller
When the leaves are red and the pumpkins are yeller,
And when he goes trampin' in the woods
The ground feels like these here velvet goods.
This brisk, cool air is kinda snappy
And it keeps us fellers from gittin' nappy.
After the cuttin' and threshin's done,
We know summer has lost,
And Autumn has won.

A ROUNDLET

My powder box of gold and jade
Plays tunes that sound like dripping rain.
My powder box of gold and jade
Pipes like a faun in sylvan shade;
The wind-blown bells on temple fane
Are not so sweet as its refrain.

NINA

Nina was a tiny girl. The men,
They always told her,
Would never know she graced the earth,
And for her height they'd scold her.

But Nina married well; a man
So tall, and strong, and brown,
Who passed by Nina's house one day
And happened . . .
to look . . .
down.

Betty Jane Balch,

DISGUISE

I bought a bright red hat today,
And red shoes . . . who will see
That they are my defense — attempts
To hide timidity.
Yes, who will guess I'm no bold thing,
No brazen gypsy maid,
But rather one who seeks to mask
A heart that is afraid.

Claudia M. Adams,

TIME IS A TYRANT

Time is a tyrant
Taking toll from the years;
Swift, silent, relentless,
Marching on a one-way road
To the great unknown—
Now, the present moment,
Stops not nor ever returns—
Tomorrow is never.

The weed will grow some day.

TEMPTING MENUS

by RACHEL HALL

"COOK AND WAITRESS, TOO"

The sensation of riding a teeter-totter is no doubt enjoyable—in its place; but its place is not at the dinner table. However, who hasn't experienced this numerous times? Up to refill the vegetable dish; down to snatch a few bites; up for more meat from the oven where it is keeping warm for father; then the coffee service; and lastly, the dessert. By this time you're so weary that the pie that looked so tempting and delicious an hour ago is now an object of scorn that warrants no more than a nibble. Thus finishes another tiresome and dreaded ride on the eternal "teeter-totter."

Needless to say that with some thought and effort much of this could be avoided. A suggestion might be to arrange the main course on the individual plates in the kitchen and to include a tossed salad in your service. The following recipes are presented to help you when trying our suggestions:

Corned Beef With Lemon Buttered Cabbage

1 head cabbage
1 12-oz. can corned beef
¼ C. butter
2 Tbsp. lemon juice

Cut one head of cabbage into coarse slices. Place in a large kettle of boiling salted water and cook uncovered for 8 to 10 minutes. Slice corned beef and place in a strainer or sieve and let steam until hot over the kettle of boiling cabbage. Keep meat above level of cooking water. Drain cabbage and season with melted butter mixed with 2 Tbsp. lemon juice. Place on platter, and with a spatula, lift slices of corned beef onto cabbage. Garnish with parsley. Serves 5 or 6.

Eggplant With Beef

1 medium-sized eggplant
¼ C. salt oil
2 slices bacon
1 small onion
1 lb. ground beef
Salt and pepper to taste
2 C. canned or stewed tomatoes

Peel eggplant, dice in 1-inch cubes and brown in oil. Chop bacon and fry with the chopped onion until the onion is tender. Add meats and cook 3 minutes. Place alternate layers of eggplant and meat mixture in greased casserole, seasoning with salt and pepper. Have the top layer of meat. Pour on the tomatoes, heated, and cook in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 30 to 40 minutes.

Potato-Carrot and Cucumber Salad

9 medium-sized potatoes
4 small carrots, scraped
2 meduim cucumbers, pared
1-3 C. minced onion
½ tsp. celery seeds
1½ tsp. salt
¾ C. salad dressing
Lettuce

Scrub potatoes, and cook in boiling salted water until tender; then chill, skin, and cut into ½-inch cubes. Grate carrots, using coarse grater; cut cucumbers into thin, 2-inch narrow strips; add, with remaining ingredients, to potatoes. Blend well, tossing lightly with spoon. Serve garnished with lettuce. Serves 8.

Cabbage and Corn Slaw

½ lb. cabbage
1 12-oz. can whole-grain corn
1 peeled small onion, thinly sliced
¼ C. sliced stuffed olives
¼ C. French dressing

Finely shred the cabbage (there should be 6 C.). Add remaining ingredients; toss well; serve. Serves 4.

"Depend On Each Other"

Everything of worth attained on this earth
Requires a terrific price
Constant endeavor in all kinds of weather
Success means sacrifice.
Sacrifice pleasure to attain full measure
Or a scanty measure of worth
Success will attest, we must sacrifice rest
But never sacrifice mirth.

Cheerful and gay along our pathway
That don't require much time
Even though uncouth, reverence the truth.
Honesty is sublime.
Blaze a trail new, in high mountain dew
Leave doubts and fears behind
Nothing of worth is free on this earth
By hard labor is success defined.

Make the endeavor, hope for good weather
And a sky that's always blue
We pay the price while treading thin ice
But it all depends on you.
Whatever our trade we must have your aid
Any moment we may break through
We pay the price—make the sacrifice
But must have help from you.

Life Scouts Must Have 5 Merit Badges

EDITOR'S NOTE: The fourth in a series of descriptions of the requirements which Boy Scouts must meet for advancement through the various classes is herewith presented:

The Scouts who are to be advanced to the rank of Life Scouts have only one more step in Scouting and that step is the coveted Eangle rank.

To become a Life Scout, a boy must serve satisfactorily for a period of three months as a Star Scout and then qualify for 10 Merit badges of which five are required. Scout leaders feel that a fully equipped scout should have certain specific knowledges and skills at his command. The required Merit badges for this advancement are: First aid, physical development, or athletics, personal health, public health, life saving, or pioneering or safety.

Life Scouts are the leaders of their troops and often turn out to be leaders in life. The other scouts will follow that leadership.
